SHAMROCK III. SHOWS WINGS

Spinnaker of Challenger Shows More Cloth Than Any Yet Made.

GOUROCK, April 2.—The third series of trials of Shamrock III was held today under conditions similar to those of yesterday. The wind had rather less strength, but it was fresh and squally at times. The challenger, as yesterday's display of the challenger for America's cup left a suspicion among some yachtsmen that there might be conditions under which Shamrock I could almost, if not quite, hold the new boat. The latter's gear, which was checked on yesterday's strain, was set up afresh yesterday evening.

The boats started on the first trial today off Toward point. Their sheets were trimmed and they reached in close company until abeam of Skelmorie buoys where they luffed and beat to windward to Rothery, three miles. In cross tacking in a fresh breeze the challenger again showed great ability on this important point of sailing and went further ahead and further to windward on every tack and in a half hour's sailing beat Shamrock I by four minutes.

The next trial was a spinnaker run down the wind. The breeze was steady and of moderate force. Shamrock I was given a lead of exactly one minute, but in a twenty-minute run the challenger closed the gap, overlapped her and then sailed on a broad reach clear ahead, the distance covered being between four and five miles. Although the challenger proved faster in this run before the wind, she hardly demonstrated the superiority expected.

After starting on another turn to windward, from Largs to Rothery, about six miles, Shamrock III again outdistanced her opponent on every tack. The wind freshened, but the fresher it became the better it seemed to suit the new boat, which finished this beat to windward in five and a half hours.

On turning the yachts set their spinnakers for another trial down the wind. Shamrock I, about three minutes astern of the challenger, had drawn a wind from the bay she shortened the gap until she was barely two minutes behind. These positions were maintained to the end of the race.

Starting on another beat back across the fifth Shamrock III excelled all her previous performances on this point of sailing and gained considerably over a mile on the beat of about five miles, and when they squared away for the run home she led by two and a half miles. On the broad, easy reach up channel Shamrock I had the advantage of a big, reaching jib topsail against a small similar sail on Shamrock II. Nevertheless, the former was not able to hold the challenger, which dropped her rapidly astern.

This finished the trial on the Clyde. They will be resumed off Weymouth early next week, with set races over measured courses. Shamrock II has her tonight in tow for Weymouth.

The challenger and the Erin leave for Glasgow Saturday. It is expected that the two yachts will race on Tuesday. Today's trials were planned on the principle of the majority of the American club of yachts going to windward and to leeward, and consequently remarkable for the first appearance of the challenger under her spinnaker which was a final trial.

YOUNG CORBET WILL TAKE A REST

Champion Says Benny Yanger and Others Must Wait.

Y. SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., April 2.—"Benny" Yanger and the others, including Jimmy Britt, will have to wait to get a chance to fight me. I am going to take a rest for a time, and I think the fight followers will agree with me when I say that I am entitled to a rest."

This is what Young Corbett told his friends and the newspaper men. The bright-faced little fellow was told that he was being besieged with challenges and that answers are wanted for them by the fight fans.

Corbett laughs at the idea of anyone forcing him into a meeting for the championship. He says McGovern tried that and then dodged a half a dozen chances to fight. "I would like to see a little sincerity on the part of the men who are snapping at my heels," he said laughingly. "Terry and I have been trying for over a year to get another chance at each other. McGovern himself has said he is entitled to another meeting with me, but I cannot see him at all. I have beaten him twice and knocked him out in clean fashion over the top of his head. I had to work like a dog to make the weight that McGovern insisted upon shows that I need a little rest at least. A fighter has got many a night that one in him, and there is nothing like hard training to sap vitality."

Corbett is much amused at McGovern's statements that he was the holder of the decision by a fast or short count. McGovern continues to make a hue and cry over the matter, but so does Sam Harris and the noisy Joe Humphreys. The latter is one of the most persistent of the entire McGovern camp, and is calling people names at a great rate and getting audiences to make his statements wherever he goes. Young Corbett is a very popular young fellow, despite the fact that the stories that were circulated about his having fixed fights, but he is losing interest in the business of the talk he and his friends are making. The men who are concerned in the count in the eleventh round are reputable men and are not likely to be swayed by statements by McGovern cannot dull.

SOUBALNE ABOUT CHALLENGE.

As Losers, Oxford-Cambridge Should Send It to Harvard-Yale.

LONDON, April 2.—It is not thought here that the question whether the inter-national athletic challenge comes from Harvard-Yale or from Oxford-Cambridge will affect the meeting of the varsities which is to be held at Cambridge on Saturday. A representative received suggests that, in view of the fact that Oxford-Cambridge lost the match in 1902, they should send the challenge. The difficulty over is not inclined to make either side, but it is also decided to leave the matter to the varsities. The indications are that Crans will be able to successfully defend the title of champion which he has held for two years.

ROADSIDE GOLF CLUB ENDS ITS EXISTENCE.

Disbands Because It Cannot Longer Maintain Links in the City.

The Roadside Golf club is no more. William Lang, secretary of the club, announced yesterday that the organization had disbanded by mutual consent of its members. The reason for this is that the club no longer possesses links on which to play. Since its organization four years ago the members have played over the links that begin at Summit and Lexington and extend almost to Snelling avenue. But the grading of the streets has broken this stretch of territory and rendered it unfit for golf purposes.
