CHURCH IS DRAPED IN GOWN OF SORROW TODAY

Most Impressive Services Will Be Held in the Roman Catholic Church on Good Friday—Other Ceremonials Will Take Place on Holy Saturday.

Today is Good Friday, one of the holiest days in the observance of the Roman Catholic church. So deep is the grief of the church that the offering of the salutary is forbidden, and consequently there is no mass included in the services of the day.

The entire church presents an appearance of sorrow and penance; the altar is draped in black, the benches are uncovered and the candles all yellow in color.

The service of the day consists of four parts: First, the lessons and the psalter; secondly, the prayers; the veneration of the cross and the mass of the presanctified.

In the veneration of the cross the church embraces the whole universe in her charity, and then invites her children to an act of solemn veneration, which is the veneration of the cross upon which the most precious blood was poured forth for our redemption.

This holy ceremony was instituted at Jerusalem in the fourth century. The celebrant first takes off his chasuble, and in the place of the stole wears the reparation which is the sign of the offering of an outraged Christ, may be made with all possible humility. Standing on the steps near the epistle side of the altar, with his face turned to the people, he receives the cross from the deacon, and unveiling the upper part of the cross, he raises it and sings the words:

"Ecce lignum crucis!" "Behold the wood of the cross!" Then, joined by the deacon and the subdeacon, he continues: "On which hung the salvation of the world!" and the people kneel down and venerate the cross, while the choir sings: "Veni adoremus." "Come, let us adore."

The ceremony passes on and in every stage gathers in dramatic intensity until it reaches that part known as the solemn propitiation. The propitiation are chants sung by the clergy, and are among the most beautiful and ancient of the services of the Roman Catholic church. They consist of each propitiation is sung the trisagion in both Latin and Greek, "Holy God, Holy Strong One, Holy Immortal have mercy upon us, who are unworthy and an unusually thin skull, which would be easily fractured.

Mrs. Jacques, the widow, was in court in deep mourning. She testified as to the condition of her husband when he came home after the fight, that he was so badly injured, that he had been struck on the head, and an unusually thin skull, which would be easily fractured.

Something for Mothers to Think About

Lives of Suffering and Sorrow Averted

Aid Happiness and Prosperity Assured by

Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Pills When All Else Fails.

Every child born into the world with an inherited or early developed tendency to distressing, disfiguring humors of the skin, scalp and blood, becomes an object of the most tender solicitude, not only because of its suffering, but because of the dreadful fear that the disfigurement is to be lifelong and mar its future happiness and prosperity. Hence, it becomes the duty of mothers of such afflicted children to acquaint themselves with the best, the purest and most effective treatment available, viz., The Cuticura Treatment.

Warm baths with Cuticura Soap, to cleanse the skin and scalp of crusts and scales, gentle applications of Cuticura Ointment, to allay itching, irritation and inflammation, and to heal, and mild doses of Cuticura Resolvent, to cool the blood in the severer cases, are all that can be desired for the speedy relief and permanent cure of skin troubles of infants and children, and the comfort of weary parents.

Millions of women use Cuticura Soap, assisted by Cuticura Ointment, for preserving, purifying and beautifying the skin, scalp, hair and hands, for annoying irritations and weaknesses, and for many sensitive and delicate purposes which readily suggest themselves.

O'KEEFE TELLS OF THE FATAL FIGHT

Case Will Probably Go to the Jury Before Noon Today.

Patrick J. O'Keefe, twenty-two years old, who is on trial in the criminal division of the district court, charged with manslaughter in the first degree, went on the witness stand in his own behalf yesterday afternoon and told in a quiet yet impressive manner his story of the fight in which he engaged with Joseph W. Jacques on the morning of Aug. 29 of last year, as a result of which Jacques died a few hours later.

The defense is being conducted along the lines that O'Keefe was defending himself from an unwarranted attack at the time the fatal blow was struck. It had been shown by the state's witnesses that Jacques had followed O'Keefe and had struck the first blow.

The defendant's story, which was not completed when court adjourned last night, was to the effect that he had been employed at the Great Northern shops as a night watchman during the time they were having trouble with striking machinists last summer. Jacques had upon several occasions threatened him and the day preceding the fatal fight he had met Jacques on Robert street, in front of the insurance patrol, at which time Jacques cursed him, called him vile names and invited him into an alley to fight. Upon that occasion an uncle of O'Keefe's, who was present, struck Jacques in the face.

The morning of the fight O'Keefe was starting to leave the shops and had started up the stairway toward the Jackson street bridge. At the top of the landing he was overtaken by Jacques, who struck him a blow in the back of the head. When he turned around Jacques attacked him again, and the two became involved in a bloody fight. Blow after blow was exchanged, the men clinched, and first one was on top and then the other. A crowd of a dozen or more machinists had been attracted to the scene, but none interfered with the fighters. Finally Jacques received a fracture of the skull in some manner and went home, it not being known at the time that he was so badly injured. O'Keefe went to the shops, washed the blood from his face and hands and went to his boarding house. He was arrested the same afternoon before he had left the house. At the time of his arrest O'Keefe was informed that Jacques was dead, and he was very much affected. O'Keefe denied that he had used a revolver to strike his opponent with, and with one exception none of the state's witnesses had seen him use one. He carried a revolver, but it had fallen from his pocket during the struggle and O'Keefe will be on the stand again for a short time this morning and after two or three more witnesses have been called the case will be submitted to the jury. It will doubtless be finished and in the hands of the jurors before noon.

County Attorney Kane, for the state placed ten witnesses on the stand, but none of them gave very damaging testimony against the accused. William S. Ashton, who witnessed the fight, swore that O'Keefe had struck Jacques with a revolver, but his testimony was not supported by that of any other witnesses.

Mrs. Jacques, the widow, was in court in deep mourning. She testified as to the condition of her husband when he came home after the fight, that he was so badly injured, that he had been struck on the head, and an unusually thin skull, which would be easily fractured.

CHARLES PETWICK EXPIRES AT HIS HOME

Was Afflicted With Paralysis for a Quarter of a Century.

Charles Petwick, who has been a familiar figure about St. Peter street for many years, died yesterday afternoon at his home, 229 W. 2nd street, at the age of fifty-one years. He had been afflicted with paralysis for twenty-five years, his legs being useless. For several years he and family kept a small grocery store on St. Peter street, opposite the new jail building.

The object of the funeral will be in the morning from the undertaking parlors of J. W. Gross, Seven corners. The interment will be in Forest cemetery.

DR. BOYLE CORRECTS A WRONG IMPRESSION

Says He Did Not Criticise the House of Hope Church.

In an interview yesterday evening Rev. Dr. Boyle, pastor of the House of Hope church, said:

"I am sorry that, through a typographical error in your report of the congregational meeting of the House of Hope church in this city, it was made to say that 22,000 Presbyterian churches did not report a single addition in membership last year. This should have been 2,200. And it was in this connection that I said, 'I do not refer to the local House of Hope church.' I also said that the success of institutional work done in Hope chapel ought to be a stimulus to introduce some of the same methods in the main church.

FAILS TO SHOW THE CITY WAS AT FAULT

Carrie Borgstrom's Suit for Personal Injuries Dismissed.

After a jury had been secured to hear the personal injury damage suit brought by Carrie Borgstrom against Judge Lewis in the courts of this city, the court sustained a motion of Corporation Attorney Michael to dismiss the suit on the ground that the complaint did not show negligence on the part of the city.

Judge Lewis granted the plaintiff permission to amend her complaint and the case will be placed on a day calendar. The suit grew out of an accident which is alleged to have been the result of a defective sidewalk on De Soto street, between Cass and York streets, last October. Damages in the sum of $5,000 were asked.
