

THE ST. PAUL GLOBE

THE GLOBE CO., PUBLISHERS

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY OF ST. PAUL

Entered at Postoffice at St. Paul, Minn., at Second-Class Matter.

TELEPHONE CALLS. Northwestern-Business, 1065 Main, Editorial, 78 Mals. Twin City-Business, 1065, Editorial, 78.

CITY SUBSCRIPTIONS. Table with columns for By Carrier, 1 mo, 6 mos, 12 mos. Rates for Daily only, Daily and Sunday, Sunday.

COUNTRY SUBSCRIPTIONS. Table with columns for By Mail, 1 mo, 6 mos, 12 mos. Rates for Daily only, Daily and Sunday, Sunday.

BRANCH OFFICES

New York, 10 Spruce Street, Chas. H. Eddy in Charge. Chicago, No. 87 Washington St., The F. S. Webb Company in Charge.

SATURDAY, APRIL 11, 1903.

THE AGRICULTURAL SCHOOL BILL.

There appears to be some slight opposition in the legislature to the Lightly bill, which provides for the raising of a fund to be used in the erection of additional buildings at the state agricultural school.

The Lightly bill provides for the addition of one-fifth of a mill to the tax levy. This will yield a revenue of about $150,000 to be used in the erection of necessary buildings.

The state is spending money lavishly for much less important institutions and there should be no hesitancy about passing the Lightly bill.

The paucity of hosts at the reception given the admiral in Minneapolis must have made the old seadog think that the reception committee was trying to do things on the Schley.

THE KING IN PARIS.

For the first time in his life Edward of England will visit Paris officially May 1. The event is worthy of note from the fact that it may be the forerunner of a new understanding between France and England and have some effect upon world politics.

The last time that a sovereign of England visited Paris there was a Napoleon on the throne and the event was notable because it established the position of the Empress Eugenie among the royalties of Europe.

As the Earl of Chester the present king of England has been a frequent visitor in Paris. There are stories told of him which make much for the reputation of Paris as the center of the great world.

As the Earl of Chester the present king of England has been a frequent visitor in Paris. There are stories told of him which make much for the reputation of Paris as the center of the great world.

STEEL TRUST PROFITS.

Under Republican protection the $1,000,000,000 steel trust is prosperous. Just how prosperous its employees are is not shown by the annual report, although it will be remembered that the big trust had no trouble in defeating a strike for higher wages a few months since.

After paying all expenses for repairs, allowing for depreciation of plant, renewals, dividends on preferred and common stocks, the trust had an undivided surplus of $34,254,000 as a result of its operations for the year.

And now just a word about those dividends on preferred and common stocks. It is well known that at least half the stock of the $1,000,000,000 trust is water and nothing but water—it doesn't represent anything but the cinch the steel magnates have, thanks to the high protective tariff enacted by the Republican congress, and signed by a Republican president.

The trust-bred trust has two sources of strength which make it practically invulnerable: It has a monopoly of the home market and can exact such prices as it sees fit from the home consumer, who can get no other article; and it is so strong by reason of its numerous plants that it can defy its employees. With the enormous capital at its command the steel trust can pile up an immense stock of its product and when its men strike it can shut down for months and never lose a cent; in fact, it can make more money, for, under the pretext of lessened supply, it can raise prices.

But as for the workman with his dinner bucket—there is no more in the bucket and the bucket itself costs more than it did before the trust was organized.

Minneapolis is going in for an auditorium in the top of her court house. Good idea. Why not use the space formerly a jail in the St. Paul court house for a like purpose?

THE DANGERS OF PEACE.

The man behind the gun appears to be in the position of danger. There have been more men killed in target practice with big guns in the American navy than were sacrificed on shipboard in the Spanish war—even though only the accidents of this year be reckoned with.

The catastrophe on the Iowa is the latest in the list and coming as it does within a few weeks after the killing of several men on board another man of war by the explosion of a piece of ordnance, it serves to remind us of the danger of handling explosives under any conditions.

It is not to be doubted that the killing of these men is to be charged to defective ammunition and when shells are defective it may be regarded as very certain that somebody is robbing the government by the use of faulty material.

There were nine men killed or wounded a few weeks ago on the Massachusetts and now eight have laid down their lives or have sustained injuries that will maintain them for life on the Iowa. Army and navy contractors have been known to take long chances on human life in order to save money on their contracts.

While the departments are being investigated it might be as well to fix, if possible, the blame for the loss of life in the turrets of the American battleships. Flesh and blood is cheap, but not so cheap that we can afford to kill off our fighting men to the end that government contractors may wax fatter.

Now that the cyclone belt has moved down South it is probable that the banana will fail to grow as it used to in South Dakota.

ROOSEVELT SUITS THEM.

Roosevelt's declaration in his Minneapolis speech that the tariff must not be disturbed and that the trust question is entirely apart from the tariff question satisfies the trusts. They are for Roosevelt just as heartily as they were for McKinley.

Hanna, Platt, Quay and the other Republican leaders hate Roosevelt thoroughly and would like to beat him for the nomination, but these same bosses are dependent upon the favor of the trusts for their continuance in office, and they will do the trust's bidding meekly if not joyfully.

The only opposition to Roosevelt in the Republican party comes from the stock speculators and owners of speculative stocks. These men fear him, for there is no telling at sundown what he may do over night to send stocks plunging toward the bottom, thus wiping out the investments and the profits of the speculators and the owners of trust stocks.

Navigation will open next week and Minneapolis will be invited to come over and witness the arrival of the first of the fleet.

Having pledged himself in public to maintain the high protective tariff the trusts are at ease, and as the trusts own the Republican party, body and soul, the insurgents of the Hanna, Platt, Quay and Elkins kind will be compelled to lump it if they don't like it.

Navigation will open next week and Minneapolis will be invited to come over and witness the arrival of the first of the fleet.

Navigation will open next week and Minneapolis will be invited to come over and witness the arrival of the first of the fleet.

Navigation will open next week and Minneapolis will be invited to come over and witness the arrival of the first of the fleet.

Navigation will open next week and Minneapolis will be invited to come over and witness the arrival of the first of the fleet.

Navigation will open next week and Minneapolis will be invited to come over and witness the arrival of the first of the fleet.

Navigation will open next week and Minneapolis will be invited to come over and witness the arrival of the first of the fleet.

Navigation will open next week and Minneapolis will be invited to come over and witness the arrival of the first of the fleet.

Navigation will open next week and Minneapolis will be invited to come over and witness the arrival of the first of the fleet.

Navigation will open next week and Minneapolis will be invited to come over and witness the arrival of the first of the fleet.

Navigation will open next week and Minneapolis will be invited to come over and witness the arrival of the first of the fleet.

Navigation will open next week and Minneapolis will be invited to come over and witness the arrival of the first of the fleet.

Navigation will open next week and Minneapolis will be invited to come over and witness the arrival of the first of the fleet.

Navigation will open next week and Minneapolis will be invited to come over and witness the arrival of the first of the fleet.

Navigation will open next week and Minneapolis will be invited to come over and witness the arrival of the first of the fleet.

Navigation will open next week and Minneapolis will be invited to come over and witness the arrival of the first of the fleet.

Men, Women and Things

The club women of the country are beginning to get about something that occurred last year at the biennial meeting at Los Angeles. It is certainly true that when club women meet together they do not care particularly for masculine orators.

When it is remembered that Wagner wrote the words of his operas, the complete wedding of the music to the sentiment is explained. It is this sympathetic wedding of music and the drama by this superb genius that has endowed his creations with immortality.

Miss Remynson and Mr. Goff—Elizabeth and Wolfram—achieved artistic distinction last night. They sang and acted with fervor throughout.

Mr. Gherardi, one could not help but note was over-weighted vocally with the title role, albeit he took much by the intensity of his acting. It is greatly to his credit that in the last and most exacting scene of all, he proved the most expressive and effective. Favored with a pleasing stage presence, innate dramatic instinct, and a sound voice, he presents a most satisfactory composite.

It is a pleasure to commend the Elizabeth and Wolfram. Her embodiment of this vestal virgin appealed convincingly to the eye, mind and heart. She sings with apparent ease and purity, and her dramatic sense is good.

Another artist adorned the east, Mr. Goff, who impersonated Wolfram. Here is an organic heartiness which work stamps him high. He has presence, he has histrionic ability, he has voice.

The audience first recognized him when he sang the love ode to Elizabeth. The applause was not, however, commensurate with the achievement. In the last act, Mr. Goff sang the "Evening Star" with especial expression. Applause would have jarred upon the scene. To the credit of the audience, there was no demonstration in which the singer was to be regarded as a poor actor when he appeared on the stage; off the stage he is exceedingly good. We know, too, from the public press that the trouble threatened by reason of the financial settlements being not quite satisfactory to the ear, have been adjusted.

It is very hard to wait, and yet there are some minor details of the wedding of Miss Thaw, of Pittsburg and Washington, and the Earl of Yarmouth, which we may not know for nearly two weeks. Of course, the Thaws are doing the best they can and are doing well in the press tonight, and we must remember that they cannot tell what they are going to do until they know themselves. It is not to be thought, if possible, still we would like to know more. We have the word of Mrs. Thaw that the wedding will occur in Pittsburg on the 27th of April, and that the family will leave Washington two weeks before that day and proceed to Pittsburg, where they will be joined by the noble Earl of Yarmouth. The earl was regarded as a poor actor when he appeared on the stage; off the stage he is exceedingly good. We know, too, from the public press that the trouble threatened by reason of the financial settlements being not quite satisfactory to the ear, have been adjusted.

It is very hard to wait, and yet there are some minor details of the wedding of Miss Thaw, of Pittsburg and Washington, and the Earl of Yarmouth, which we may not know for nearly two weeks. Of course, the Thaws are doing the best they can and are doing well in the press tonight, and we must remember that they cannot tell what they are going to do until they know themselves.

It is very hard to wait, and yet there are some minor details of the wedding of Miss Thaw, of Pittsburg and Washington, and the Earl of Yarmouth, which we may not know for nearly two weeks. Of course, the Thaws are doing the best they can and are doing well in the press tonight, and we must remember that they cannot tell what they are going to do until they know themselves.

It is very hard to wait, and yet there are some minor details of the wedding of Miss Thaw, of Pittsburg and Washington, and the Earl of Yarmouth, which we may not know for nearly two weeks. Of course, the Thaws are doing the best they can and are doing well in the press tonight, and we must remember that they cannot tell what they are going to do until they know themselves.

It is very hard to wait, and yet there are some minor details of the wedding of Miss Thaw, of Pittsburg and Washington, and the Earl of Yarmouth, which we may not know for nearly two weeks. Of course, the Thaws are doing the best they can and are doing well in the press tonight, and we must remember that they cannot tell what they are going to do until they know themselves.

It is very hard to wait, and yet there are some minor details of the wedding of Miss Thaw, of Pittsburg and Washington, and the Earl of Yarmouth, which we may not know for nearly two weeks. Of course, the Thaws are doing the best they can and are doing well in the press tonight, and we must remember that they cannot tell what they are going to do until they know themselves.

It is very hard to wait, and yet there are some minor details of the wedding of Miss Thaw, of Pittsburg and Washington, and the Earl of Yarmouth, which we may not know for nearly two weeks. Of course, the Thaws are doing the best they can and are doing well in the press tonight, and we must remember that they cannot tell what they are going to do until they know themselves.

It is very hard to wait, and yet there are some minor details of the wedding of Miss Thaw, of Pittsburg and Washington, and the Earl of Yarmouth, which we may not know for nearly two weeks. Of course, the Thaws are doing the best they can and are doing well in the press tonight, and we must remember that they cannot tell what they are going to do until they know themselves.

It is very hard to wait, and yet there are some minor details of the wedding of Miss Thaw, of Pittsburg and Washington, and the Earl of Yarmouth, which we may not know for nearly two weeks. Of course, the Thaws are doing the best they can and are doing well in the press tonight, and we must remember that they cannot tell what they are going to do until they know themselves.

It is very hard to wait, and yet there are some minor details of the wedding of Miss Thaw, of Pittsburg and Washington, and the Earl of Yarmouth, which we may not know for nearly two weeks. Of course, the Thaws are doing the best they can and are doing well in the press tonight, and we must remember that they cannot tell what they are going to do until they know themselves.

It is very hard to wait, and yet there are some minor details of the wedding of Miss Thaw, of Pittsburg and Washington, and the Earl of Yarmouth, which we may not know for nearly two weeks. Of course, the Thaws are doing the best they can and are doing well in the press tonight, and we must remember that they cannot tell what they are going to do until they know themselves.

It is very hard to wait, and yet there are some minor details of the wedding of Miss Thaw, of Pittsburg and Washington, and the Earl of Yarmouth, which we may not know for nearly two weeks. Of course, the Thaws are doing the best they can and are doing well in the press tonight, and we must remember that they cannot tell what they are going to do until they know themselves.

It is very hard to wait, and yet there are some minor details of the wedding of Miss Thaw, of Pittsburg and Washington, and the Earl of Yarmouth, which we may not know for nearly two weeks. Of course, the Thaws are doing the best they can and are doing well in the press tonight, and we must remember that they cannot tell what they are going to do until they know themselves.

It is very hard to wait, and yet there are some minor details of the wedding of Miss Thaw, of Pittsburg and Washington, and the Earl of Yarmouth, which we may not know for nearly two weeks. Of course, the Thaws are doing the best they can and are doing well in the press tonight, and we must remember that they cannot tell what they are going to do until they know themselves.

It is very hard to wait, and yet there are some minor details of the wedding of Miss Thaw, of Pittsburg and Washington, and the Earl of Yarmouth, which we may not know for nearly two weeks. Of course, the Thaws are doing the best they can and are doing well in the press tonight, and we must remember that they cannot tell what they are going to do until they know themselves.

It is very hard to wait, and yet there are some minor details of the wedding of Miss Thaw, of Pittsburg and Washington, and the Earl of Yarmouth, which we may not know for nearly two weeks. Of course, the Thaws are doing the best they can and are doing well in the press tonight, and we must remember that they cannot tell what they are going to do until they know themselves.

It is very hard to wait, and yet there are some minor details of the wedding of Miss Thaw, of Pittsburg and Washington, and the Earl of Yarmouth, which we may not know for nearly two weeks. Of course, the Thaws are doing the best they can and are doing well in the press tonight, and we must remember that they cannot tell what they are going to do until they know themselves.

What the Religious World Is Thinking About and Doing

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON AND YOUNG PEOPLE'S TOPIC

COMMENTS BY WILLIAM T. ELLIS.

THE CHRISTIAN AS A CITIZEN

International Sunday School Lesson for April 19—"The Law of Love." Romans xiii., 1-14. (Temperance Lesson.)

It is not to be forgotten that, as Mrs. Stevens says, "The assassin of President McKinley imbibed his first lesson in anarchy in his father's saloon, which was the headquarters of anarchists; and a Buffalo saloon was a home while he was nursing himself to criminal crime in a political liquor does not figure. Today the most powerful agency for debauching American manhood is the saloon. It is degrading the characters, debasing the affections, weakening the intellects and emptying the purses of our citizens at a rate that should give us pause. There is a pathetic little poem, "How My Day Went Down," which might properly proceed from the lips of Columbia, although it is often seen as the plaint of an individual mother.

It was on the field of battle, It was not with a ship at sea; But a fate far worse than either, That stole him away from me. 'Twas the death in the rum and gin cup, 'Twas the reason and senses drownd, He drank the aluring poison, And thus my boy went down.

Down from the heights of manhood, To the depths of disgrace and sin; Down from the heights of glory, From the hope of what might have been. For the brand of a boat booted He bartered his manhood's crown, My poor, weak, wretched creature!

Some Temperance Sayings. Grape juice has killed more than grape shot.—Spurgeon. Every moderate drinker could abandon the cup if he would; every inebriate would if he could.—John B. Gough.

Temperance puts wood on the fire, and in the barrel, flour in the tub, money in the purse, credit in the country, contentment in the house, clothes on the back and vigor in the body.—Benjamin Franklin.

William H. Graves, M. D., after thorough research, gives the annual expenditure for strong drink in the United States at $1,448,887,598. The indirect cost of drinking in the United States, etc., is estimated at $1,678,504,864. To offset these figures is the revenue derived from the liquor traffic, which is $141,000,487.

O thou invincible spirit of wine, If thou hast no name to be known by, let us call thee—devil.—Shakespeare.

THE SUNDAY QUESTION.

Terse Comments on the Uniform Prayer Meeting Topics of the Christian Endeavor Societies, the Baptist Young People's Union, etc., for April 19—"The Sacred Sabbath," Matt. 12, 1-13.

The Bible deals with principles, and men in every generation twist these into rules. Thus in the fourth commandment Jehovah laid down a great principle, which was to be observed out the whole of human history. But in the time of Jesus the ecclesiastical lawyers had made of it innumerable rules, governing all of man's actions on the Sabbath. These specific requirements almost nullified the beneficent purpose of the divine commandment. So Jesus did not hesitate to go directly against regulations! He disobeyed the ecclesiastical law, but He kept the Sabbath. His answer to the horrified and angry Pharisees reached the heart of the matter, and is today the best interpretation of the law of a rest day: "The Sabbath was made for man, and not man for the Sabbath."

The Sabbath is the best day and should be put in the best use. It is a perversion of the spirit of the Master's words to plead that the Sabbath was made for man's dissipation, idleness or worldly-mindedness. It was made for the best that is in man; for his higher, spiritual self, and to keep clear and definite the image of the divine upon his soul. The Sabbath is abused if it is not used for the cultivation of our highest capabilities.

Christ found the Sabbath a day of restraint and repression; He made it a day of liberty and helpfulness.

Times change, but principles remain. The danger is that we shall fail to adapt the principles to the changing conditions. The Sunday question has been beclouded by many minds by the endeavor of some to observe the day in the old-fashioned way. Now, what is wanted in this year, 1903, is not a Sabbath kept in the spirit of the Pharisee, but a Sabbath kept in the spirit of the fourth commandment, and in the spirit of the teachings of Jesus. This observance will necessarily differ from that of our grandfathers, just as our clothes and home, and transportation, and entire civilization have ever made the Sabbath keep a twentieth century Sunday, seen in accordance with the unchanging principle of the law of God as an individual man. It tells of and is interpreted by the example and teachings of Jesus.

The Sabbath day is a day for devotion. It is the occasion when men should stately give themselves to the cultivation of the interests of the inner life.

Because it is a holy day, Sunday should not be a hard day. Into it should be put the best that makes for pure joy, for brightness and for beauty. The Lord is scarcely acceptably worshipped unless in "the beauty" of holiness.

That Sunday falls of its first purpose which does not bring to men's hearts thoughts of God. Primarily the day is a memorial. It tells of the goodness of God to the children of men. Its message is that we are His children and that He is our Father and our Lord. He declares that He cared for us in the day of creation, and that He cares for us still. For the Christian Sabbath speaks of the resurrection as well as of the creation.

Man's body should rest and his spirit should exercise on the Sabbath day.

The difference between the Sabbath and other days should be emphasized by every means. For it is the day that is best, as well as our employments, our reading, our conversation and our very thoughts, should have a different character on this day that is dedicated to God.

One of the ancient religious rites of the American Indians was the placing of a dead man's possessions in his grave. A newspaper in Indian territory declares that, on account of white men's thievery, the Indians now place money in the bank and put the certificate of deposit in the coffin of the dead Indian!

It is folly to close our eyes to the fact that perils beset our national life, and it is not wisdom to shut our ears to the voices which proclaim impending danger. It is the duty of every citizen to be alert, and to be ready to do his part. The words of Lord Wolsey, former commander-in-chief of the British army, may be applied to our own land. He said: "There are yet some great things to be encountered by the United Kingdom, but the most pressing enemy is drink. It kills more men than all our newest weapons of warfare, and not only destroys the body, but the mind and soul also."

The mayor of New York has recently

TODAY'S WEATHER.

Table with columns for Minnesota-Rain Saturday; high east winds. Sunday fair; colder. Upper Michigan-Rain Saturday. Sunday fair or snow and colder; high east winds Saturday.

SOME SELECTED OPINIONS.

The Steel Trust Unafraid. From the Rochester (N. Y.) Herald. "The Iowa idea" is all well enough for those statesmen who represent the agricultural districts of the West and who do not have to rely upon trust contributions to their campaign funds to obtain a re-election. It must not overlook the possibilities of stress and stringency in the party treasury in 1904. So the steel trust is undisturbed by the dissenting voices from Iowa and the Northwest. It has been watching the senate and listening to the president's recantations of his tariff reform promises, and it can assure its English rivals that the tariff will remain untouched as long as revision depends upon Mr. Roosevelt and a Republican congress.

Trying to Suppress Facts.

Pressure of all kinds is brought to bear on the president to put a stop to the investigation of the postoffice department. Perry S. Heath, of Cuban unsavory fame, secretary of the national Republican committee, has appeared, and so has James S. Clark, once the "axman" in the department, urging a cessation of the inquiry. The rottenness of the one department of government held up as a sample of municipal management is something amazing even in these times of big hauls from the treasury. Where the political boss is there is plunder.

Left the President Hungry.

BISMARCK. On April 10, at an amusing event in connection with an president's visit occurred at the barbecue. The president made away with two roast beef sandwiches, and as he left a section of a third and laid it down to speak to the crowd, the big improvement is already started.

Wires Go Underground.

LA CROSSE, Wis., April 10.—The La Crosse Telephone company has decided to put all wires on Main street under ground to the work of the big improvement is already started.