

ARMOUR THRIVING VERY NICELY IN WHEAT

He Gets the Profits and the Other Fellows the Experience -- Two Days' Winnings Go Over the Million Dollar Mark.

Special to The Globe. CHICAGO, April 11.—Wheat prices went wild on the Board of Trade today, when J. Ogden Armour gave traders a foretaste of what is in store for them if they try to follow his operations.

The battle began at the tap of the bell. A. I. Valentine, who is managing the Armour deal, put twenty-five brokers into the pit with orders to buy. May wheat went from 73 1/2 cents to 77 1/2 cents, and July from 71 1/2 cents to 75 1/2 cents in fifteen minutes.

Great excitement prevailed during the slump. Brokers with orders to buy occupied every place of vantage in the pit. Hundreds of small speculators who tried to follow the Armour plunges were caught in the stampede, and after an hour of the fiercest fighting ever seen on the board, found that Armour had made the money while they had accumulated a considerable line of valuable experience.

Yesterday's government report indicates a crop of winter wheat 12,000,000 bushels larger than ever raised in the United States in any previous year. The traders therefore look upon lower prices as inevitable for the new crop and are disposed to act accordingly.

VANDERBILT HORSE WHIPS A CAMARA FIEND

Reginald Distinguishes Himself in the Eyes of His Fiancee.

NEWPORT, R. I., April 11.—Reginald C. Vanderbilt yesterday horse-whipped a photographer in the presence of his fiancée, Miss Kathleen Neilson, who was driving with him.

Mr. Vanderbilt and Miss Neilson were riding down Bellevue avenue. Just as they reached the Reading Room, the fashionable men's club, the young man halted his trap and started to run across to the Hilltop cottages, all of which have been engaged for his friends for Tuesday's wedding.

"I'll teach you a lesson," shouted the photographer, trying to protect his face from the stinging cuts. "I don't care," yelled Mr. Vanderbilt. "I'll teach you a lesson."

"I was only taking pictures of the cottage across the street," protested the photographer, "when you came along."

Realizing that perhaps he had made a mistake, young Mr. Vanderbilt sheathed his whip and started towards a policeman. "I have stood everything, but I won't stand that," he declared.

DAMAGED IN THE SILENCE OF NIGHT

Automatic Sprinkler Does More Harm Than the Fire It Puts Out.

Special to The Globe. CHICAGO, April 11.—That a fire causing damage of $20,000 could start and rage and be extinguished in the dead of night in the heart of the city without anybody knowing anything about it is a fact which Fire Marshal Musham and the insurance men are pondering.

D. W. Gillen, commander of the fire insurance patrol, has reported the circumstances to the board of underwriters. He found that some time after the engineer of the building at Van Buren and Market streets had left his post for the night fire broke out on the fourth story, occupied by E. E. Strauss & Co., tailors. The fire started in the middle of the large room, presumably because of a cigar end thrown among pieces of cloth.

Army Officers to Leave Club Because He Was Affronted.

Special to The Globe. WASHINGTON, D. C., April 11.—In retaliation for the affront offered Gen. Henry C. Corbin the high officials of the army and navy are preparing to resign in a body from the fashionable Metropolitan club.

At a meeting held by the Corbin supporters called by Gen. S. M. B. Young the best way of securing it was discussed and it was practically agreed that by resigning in a body they would be able to show in the most emphatic way their disapproval of the club's action and their loyalty to the adjutant general of the army.

Society women of Washington have taken a hand in the fight. Upon receiving negative replies to the letters which they sent their men friends requesting favorable action on Gen. Corbin's name they decided to cut the names of their enemies in the club from their invitation lists.

Threat to resign is carried out it will remove from the club such prominent army and navy officers as Gen. Young, Paymaster General Gates, Gen. Gillespie, Gen. Wallace F. Randolph, Gen. HICKEY PASSES HIS BOND BILL

Authorizes Issue of $600,000 and Creates Sinking Fund.

Representative James R. Hickey's bill authorizing St. Paul common council to issue bonds for public improvements and creating a sinking fund passed the house yesterday.

The bill provides that the council may, by a three-fourths vote, issue bonds to defray the costs of public school buildings, bridge and sewer construction to the aggregate of $600,000.

Not more than $200,000 worth of these bonds may be issued in any year.

To liquidate the bonds the bill provides a levy of one-half mill annually.

This levy is to constitute a sinking fund for the redemption of the city's bonded indebtedness, which, it is claimed, will be ultimately wiped out.

Aside from the measure ultimately wiping out the bonded indebtedness and distributing the cost of permanent improvements over a period of years, it is claimed that the measure will reduce the present direct tax by about 25 per cent.

Chincock Bill Providing for Higher Grade Illuminant at Lower Rate Unanimously Indorsed by Districts Affected—First Cut of 20 Cents Per 1,000 Feet to Go Into Effect July 1.

Representative Chincock's dollar gas bill will come to the house Monday morning, with the unanimous indorsement of the Ramsey, Hennepin and St. Louis delegations.

The bill will come to the house with several radical changes from its original form. As originally drawn, the bill provided for a twenty-two candle power gas and a gradual reduction in rate per 1,000 feet until the minimum rate of $1 should be reached July 1, 1907.

In its present form it provides for a gas of not less than twenty-five candle power and a graduated reduction which will give St. Paul consumers the $1 per 1,000 feet rate July 1, 1905.

The $1 reduction of 20 cents per 1,000 feet is to go into effect July 1, 1903, when, under the provisions of the bill, the net rate per 1,000 feet is to be $1.10. July 1, 1904, another reduction of 5 cents per 1,000 feet is to go into effect and endure for one year, after which the $1 rate is to become permanently operative.

There was not a dissenting vote against the bill in the triple delegation. The amendments increasing the quality of the gas and hastening the reduction in price were offered by Mr. Shearer, of the Hennepin delegation, and their adoption was as unanimous as was the indorsement of the object of the bill.

Mr. Chincock asked that his companion measure, which provided for a state gas inspection, be reported for indefinite postponement, as the time left for consideration of bills would make its passage by both houses next to impossible.

The bill recommended for passage by the triple delegation was originally considered and recommended for passage by the committee on corporations. Members of that committee assert that at a hearing given to representatives of the gas companies, it was demonstrated that gas may be furnished St. Paul consumers at 80 cents per 1,000 and still render a fair profit to the producer.
