

HEALING

HER BRIDAL TRIP WAS CUT SHORT

But 18-Year-Old Marion Waltenberger Will Not Believe She Is Deserted.

Marion Valalla Waltenberger, the eighteen-year-old bride of Simon Waltenberger, lost her Teutonic husband in Minneapolis yesterday morning and is now a domestic servant in a hotel at St. Louis Park.

Just where Waltenberger has gone is a mystery that the police of Minneapolis are asked to solve. Waltenberger was a salesman for a tea company in Chicago. He was married to Miss Vallala four days ago at the home of her parents, 478 East Sixty-first street, Milwaukee. At that time he had, as Mrs. Waltenberger declares, $900 in cash and deeds to some lots in South Minneapolis.

The couple came to Minneapolis from Milwaukee, where they remained for two days following the wedding. When they arrived at the Milwaukee depot in Minneapolis yesterday morning, Waltenberger told his young wife that he wanted to go down and arrange for accommodations with a friend, his belief being that friends would be more acceptable to her than hotel living. Mrs. Waltenberger acceded to his proposition that she remain in the depot waiting room until he returned. She waited from 8 o'clock until 11:45, when her feelings overcame her and she wept.

At this juncture the proprietor of a boarding house at St. Louis Park, who was in search of domestic help, saw Mrs. Waltenberger in tears and concluded that she might be looking for a nice quiet home. He asked her if she wanted work, and she met with the response that she wanted her husband. By degrees the story came out and it was arranged that Mrs. Waltenberger should accept a place in the St. Louis Park hotel until she could receive news of her recalcitrant spouse. She entered on the second cycle of her honeymoon last night.

Waltenberger is a St. Paul man. He was formerly employed by a tea company as a solicitor. He has also worked at divers times for concerns that make a business of enlarging photographs. No trace of him had been discovered up to a late hour last night. Mrs. Waltenberger is of Italian parentage and American birth. She is an exceedingly handsome brunette and only met her husband six weeks ago in Chicago. She refuses to believe that she is deserted, clinging to the opinion that Waltenberger has met with an accident and that he will seek her out as soon as he is able to do so.

Johnson Makes Old Plea.
Judge J. H. Steele, attorney for W. H. Johnson, secretary of the board of charities and corrections, on trial on the charge of misappropriating public funds, yesterday made a motion to quash the indictment on the ground that the bill does not state that he is the custodian of the funds of the poor department to which the funds belong. Judge Elliott refused the motion.

Rupture a Thing of the Past.

A Marvellous Discovery Made by a Syracuse Genius by Which He Positively Guarantees Any Rupture Can Be Cured at Home.

Flooded With Letters from All Parts of the Country Which Show Unheard of Cures—A Complete Revolution in Rupture Treatment.

Read this remarkable story. It is only one of thousands now on file in our office which tell a similar story and only at her husband's expense. In my humble opinion there is but one appliance made and that is the Electrus. For 30 years I tried everything there was, only to be tortured, I had been cheated and deceived, boiled, burned, blistered, disappointed, etc., etc. With no money so-called cures that, as you well remember, I wrote you I would bite no more. But I was fascinated by the Electrus and its description and finally concluded to purchase one.

"It was a comfort all the time and in 90 days a complete cure. The least I can say of it is that it is a blessing and I gladly refer all ruptured people to this marvelous Electrus. I was ruptured on the left side and also had varicose and I consider my cure not only a remarkable accomplishment, but the Electrus a most complete and certain appliance for the cure of all ruptures.

"I am satisfied all will have the same splendid experience that I met with and do not hesitate to urge them by all means to try it. Yours truly, J. S. Lambert.

This is the most marvelous discovery and invention made in recent years in the whole science of the medical profession. It was discovered by a Syracuse genius. It is so simple that the medical world is wondering that it has not been discovered before. It makes a perfect home treatment. Absolutely no inconvenience nor loss of time from regular employment. We guarantee the very worst cases. The cure is absolute, positive and sure. It is revolutionizing the entire treatment of this most dangerous and troublesome condition. Operations are no longer necessary. There is no quackery, experiment or "snake" about this. It is a simple, positive and proven home cure, in which examinations do not have to be made and one's nearest friends need not know of the treatment. It is meeting with universal success all over the country, because it cures so thoroughly that there is no danger of its ever breaking out afresh.

Write for our handsomely illustrated 32-page book for men or 64-page book for women entitled, "Rupture a Thing of the Past." They contain photographic pictures showing various conditions of rupture cured by this marvelous Electrus and are thorough and complete treatises on how, why and in what manner they cure. PRISONER'S SEX IN DOUBT.

But "Flossie" or "Jack," He or She, Is Sent to the Workhouse.

"Flossie" Haggerty, otherwise Florence, but most usually Jack, stirred up a lot of trouble in the municipal court yesterday. Jack looked so utterly Flossie that even the hardened officials of the court refused to undertake the responsibility of an investigation. They made Flossie, alias Jack, or vice versa, ride to the bridge with the woman's companions, of the Black Maria, whereupon, by or she cursed volubly and alternately in a piping treble and a grumbling basso profundo.

Flossie-Jack was pinched on Saturday night when she rode the bridge and baggage of the Milwaukee train and it put up so good a bluff with the station officials that the latter were most respectful in their treatment of the unfortunate young lady.

Miss Flossie's story of misfortune and an aching desire to reach the bedside of a living relative, was a person with the susceptible bluecoats and Flossie was given the best quarters. She was treated with the profound respect of the kind-hearted policemen on duty and sent to court with hopes for her acquittal.

Flossie's story of the municipal court, is the unimaginative India; she faintly infallible memory blew the game. His spotted Flossie as a person of his extensive acquaintance and insisted on an explanation of Flossie's name. She admitted that she was erstwhile Jack and that she would prefer to ride to the workhouse than side of the equipage. It was only a three-day job that the court gave Flossie, and she wanted to put herself right before the public as soon as possible.

Detective Dougherty is the valiant hero who has been caught the flutter of a fraudulent skirt on the blind baggage of the Hastings and Dakota train. He arrested the wearer of the skirt and never suspected that there was a man under it. He admitted in court that it was a man and explained his desire to get rid of the silk petticoat he had swiped from his sister-in-law. But it was impossible to convince Lieut. Copeland of the masculinity of the prisoner and he insisted on Flossie's riding to the workhouse on the woman end of the wagon.

MAY BE JUMPED FROM BRIDGE

Milkman John Sundeley Missing—Believed He Committed Suicide.

John Sundeley, one of the drivers for the Northwestern Milk company, is supposed to have committed suicide yesterday by jumping over the Franklin avenue bridge. The 24 which the missing man drove was found driven near the east end of the bridge.

Tucked in one of the pockets of his vest, which was found in the wagon, was a note written in Swedish and addressed to his children. It read as follows:

"I will not come home. Mamma says I am spending all my time in the saloons. Live good, my children. I have home.

Several policemen searched the river bank near the bridge for some trace of the missing man, but found none. No one can be found who saw him after 9 o'clock in the morning.

It is noted that he had left the house in the morning in his usual good spirits and she is at a loss to give any reason for his disappearance. He is a man of model habits and as far as known was not given to spells of despondency. There are two children in the family.

AMES' BONDS ARE NOT READY.

Convicted Man Will Be Given Reasonable Time to Arrange for Appeal.

The crowd which assembled at the court house yesterday for the purpose of being present at the imposition of sentence upon Dr. A. A. Ames, former mayor of Minneapolis, who has been convicted of the charge of receiving a bribe, was disappointed. The former mayor did not appear, and he will not be sentenced until some time this week, as stated yesterday in The Globe.

Ames' appeal bond had not been perfected yesterday and the state is not inclined to press the matter. In the matter Judge Elliott indicated what sentence he will impose on the former mayor and all reports are merely speculations.

LATEST MANCHURIAN BREEZE IS EXHAUSTED

Russian Occupation of New Chwang Only Temporary and All Is Explained.

PEKING, May 9.—The official at New Chwang who sent yesterday's news of Russia's alleged action at New Chwang and elsewhere in Manchuria, telegraphs today that the occupation of the forts at the mouth of the Liao river was temporary and that the Russians have now withdrawn.

ST. PETERSBURG, May 9.—The foreign office here strongly deprecates the excitement concerning Manchuria and it believes mischief makers are responsible for the reports and says the arrival of troops at New Chwang was due to the retirement of troops from Mukden province, southward, instead of northward. The troops depart by sea. The other alleged warlike preparations in Russia are ridiculed.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 9.—The state department has received from Minister Conger confirmation of the report that the new mayor of the Twin City, which of course, precludes all chance of his running for the office again. That St. Paul may have the honor this year will be the trend of all the voting done at the convention by the representatives of 8,000 St. Paul union men and women.

Of course, Cornelius Guiney, of the Minnesota Union Advocate, will be voted by the local delegates the publisher of the official union paper of the state. Last year in this respect Minneapolis held just one-half the number of votes contained in the state—81. When the polls were counted 85 showed to the credit of the Minneapolis publisher. Although not spoken to on the subject, it is said that Guiney may consider the proposition of trying for the official organ once more at Little Falls.

CHARGED WITH LETTING THE PRISONERS GO

Chief of Police of Colorado Springs Is Indicted.

COLORADO SPRINGS, Col., May 9.—The grand jury returned indictments today against Chief of Police Daniel King and David Joel Atkinson, charging each with suffering the escape of a prisoner. They are charged with aiding in the escape of confidence men and bunco men who are said to have been playing their trade on the railroads. Bonds to the sum of $500 was given in each case.

DEATHS OF THE DAY.

NEW YORK, May 9.—Gardiner G. Howland, 67, died suddenly at the New York Herald, after a long illness. He was a prominent member of the New York Press Club.

ST. JOHN, N. B., May 9.—The Rev. Michael J. Corduk, head of the Redemptionary Society, died at the age of 65. He was a prominent member of the St. Peter's church, died to-day of cancer of the throat at the age of 65.

GREENWOOD, Iowa, May 9.—Mrs. John Y. Stone, wife of former Attorney General John Y. Stone of Iowa, died here today, aged eighty years.

Biggest Newspaper.

NEW YORK, May 9.—The New York World will issue tomorrow an edition of 100 pages, said to be the largest paper ever printed. It will mark its twentieth anniversary under Mr. Pulitzer's management. Besides a review of the past, prophecies will be published as to the next twenty years, the principal contributors being ex-President Cleveland, A. J. Balfour, prime minister of England, Justice David J. Brewer, of the United States supreme court, Cardinal Gibbons, W. E. H. Locky, Bishop Potter, Admiral Dewey, Miss Julia Ward Howe, ex-President Kruger, members of the cabinet, senators and ex-presidents, almost every field of endeavor.

Among the Labor Unions

In one month the State Federation of Labor convention will open in Little Falls, Minn., at which representatives of 20,000 union men and women of the state will be present.

It is estimated by Boyce's Weekly that on the first of May less than 75,000 men were employed in the result of strikes in the United States. This number includes 30,000 Italian excavators in New York, and a building trades strike of 100,000 in Philadelphia. Toronto, Can., had a building trades strike of large proportions, 5,000 men being involved.

It is possible that St. Paul will have a new union in railway circles. Last Tuesday Organizer Hall, of the Railway Car Men, with George A. Harvey, of the Federal Labor union, addressed 1,500 employees of the Northern Pacific shops on the benefits of organization, and it is likely that a new union may result. It is said that the railway authorities favor such a move.

More than a week has now passed since the Sheet Metal workers of the city went on strike for a wage of 40 cents an hour and a day of eight hours. At the time of going out not one employer had taken any notice of his intention of signing the demand, yet on Friday last the number who had placed their names on record as being willing to pay the desired scale was seventeen and more wavering.

The greater number of the men have secured work elsewhere and whether a settlement is effected or not many of the employers will be under the necessity of securing strangers.

On Friday evening the Railway Car workers held their regular meeting at Federation hall and initiated sixty members into their ranks.

and one optimistic editor, who can see sermons in stones and lessons in running brooks, says that one good will be accomplished in riding the Windy City of its superfluity of rats. Another equally enthusiastic and withal inventive newspaper man suggests that the hotel towels be rolled and twisted up and used as baseball bats before the game become too stiff and fall on the floor and break.

The latest issue of the Minnesota Union Advocate contains the following editorial: "Nothing in the history of unionism in St. Paul better indicates its phenomenal growth than the gains made by Musicians' Union No. 30 during the twelve months ending May 1. This organization, which a year ago had sixty-three members on its roster, checked up this week and found on its books 248 members in good standing. Every musician in the city is now a union man."

LEE CONFESSES THAT HE WAS A BOODLER

Former Lieutenant Governor Distributed $10,000 and Kept $1,500.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., May 9.—Former Lieut. Gov. Lee's statement detailing his knowledge of hoodling in the legislature was presented to Circuit Judge Jerry Folk today. Several startling assertions are made in the paper, but throughout the greater part of it the former lieutenant adopts a moralizing tone. In a general way he charges several men with being corruptionists.

The statement is prefaced with this expression: "If I do not ask, nor do I expect sympathy for any mistake I may have made." In detailing his connection with alum baking powder legislation, the former lieutenant governor says he was given $10,000 to distribute among seven senators. Of this amount he retained $1,500, he said. Mr. Lee said his direct knowledge of hoodling in the general assembly related to the legislative session of 1901 entirely, and that only in connection with baking powder measures.

STREET RAILWAY PLAN AGITATES STILLWATER

Division of Sentiment on the Abandonment of Wilkin Street Line.

The question of abandoning the Wilkin street car line in this city in order to secure an extension of the local lines to South Stillwater is receiving serious consideration here, favoring the proposition is divided. Many are in favor of abandoning the line, while others residing on the north hill say they will never consent to the proposition. The argument advanced by those favoring the proposition is that a great many more people would be accommodated by the South Stillwater extension than by the Wilkin street line.
