

McQUAID'S

All Day Saturday

7 A. M. until 10 P. M.

Beautiful Roses 30c

Dozen

With each dozen of roses purchased we shall give, besides the 60c regular stamps.

$5.00 in Stamps Free

We have contracted for 20,000 Roses and will sell them as long as they last Saturday at 30c per dozen, and with each dozen you get $5.00 in stamps. These same roses would cost you $1.00 to $1.50 per dozen elsewhere. Why not decorate your Sunday table?

Candy-Candy-Candy

With each pound of our regular 60c candy at 50c per pound we shall give all day Saturday, besides the regular $1.00 in stamps.

$7.00 in Stamps Free

This candy is the highest grade and is put up in handsome one-pound boxes. It cannot be bought at candy stores for less than 75c to 85c per pound. It will add daintiness to your Sunday dinner.

Table Queen Baking Powder

With each can of Table Queen Baking Powder (our Coffee Department) you will get, all day Saturday, besides your regular 2 for 1 stamps.

$5.00 Stamps Free

This powder has always been sold by Yerxa at 45c per pound, and at that price was a big bargain, for it is as good as any baking powder made. Our price is 40c per pound, and with each pound you get $5.00 in stamps.

Sum up your possibilities for Saturday's shopping. You may buy any one of the above bargains or all or two of each, but two is the limit. Just see how easily you can fill up a book of stamps:

With 1 dozen Roses you get in stamps $5.00
With 1 pound of Candy you get in stamps $8.00
With 1 pound of Baking Powder you get in stamps $5.80

TOTAL $19.40

Just think, you get $19.40 on an expenditure of only $1.20, and by taking two of each you get, on a $2.40 expenditure,

$38.80 in Stamps

NOW LET THE "TOY GROCERS" TEAR THEIR HAIR. WE ARE AFTER YOUR TRADE. DON'T YOU THINK YOU CAN AFFORD TO PAY CASH?

Meat Market

Rib Roast, lb. 10c to 12 1/2c
Prime Rib Roast, lb. 15c
Rolled Roast, lb. 15c
Pork Roast, lb. 12 1/2c
Boston Butts, lb. 11c
Pork Shoulder, lb. 10c
Leg Mutton, lb. 13c
Shoulder Mutton Chops, lb. 10c
Pot Roast, lb. 7c
Shoat Roast, lb. 8c
Pork Steak, 3 lbs. 25c
Hams, per lb. 14c
California Hams, per lb. 11c
Lard, lb. 12 1/2c

Some grocers say we are going to break up because we are giving such rash bargains. It behooves you to take advantage of our bargains while we last.

Uneda Biscuit Free!

With each package of Graham or Oatmeal Crackers purchased we give a Package of Uneda Biscuit Free.

Fresh Bread, per loaf. 2/5c
Fresh Buns, per dozen. 5c
Home-Made Doughnuts, 2 dozen. 15c
Hot Mince Pies, each. 5c
Cottage Home-Made Bread (worth 15c per loaf), 2 loaves. 15c
Large Loaves of Rye Bread, 2 loaves. 15c
Regular 40c round 3-layer cakes, each. 25c
Regular 25c square 3-layer cakes, each. 15c

Home recipes are followed in our Bakery Department and our products are not light, fluffy and tasteless, as bakery products usually are.

Early June Peas, per can. 4c
Best Standard Corn, can. 7c
Best Standard Tomatoes, can. 7 1/2c
White Wax Beans, can. 6c
Cremo Cigars, 5 for. 25c
Belle of Boston Beans, can. 5c
Pearl Tapioca, can. 3 1/2c
20 lbs Best Granulated Sugar. $1.00
Best Creamery Butter, lb. 25c

This is Mayflower Brand, the very best on earth.

Round pkg Arm & Hammer Soda. 5c
Mustard Sardines, can. 7c
Parlor Matches, 12 boxes. 20c
Gallon Apples, per can. 20c
3-lb Pumpkin, can. 5c
3-lb Apples, can. 9c
Heavy Syrup Apricots, can. 11c

MINNESOTA EDITORS START EAST TONIGHT

They Will Visit the National Capital and Cemetery.

Members of the Minnesota Editorial Association spent yesterday in St. Paul, making preparatory arrangements for the annual excursion, which will start from this city this evening.

The party will go from St. Paul to Chicago, and thence south to Harper's Ferry, arriving in Washington, D. C., Monday morning. The various points of interest in and around Washington will be visited, including a steamboat trip on the Potomac river to Mount Vernon. The party will also visit the National cemetery at Arlington, to be present at the unveiling of the monument to the late C. K. Davis. Returning, the tourists will leave Washington Friday night.

THE BUSY MARKET.

447-449 Wabasha Street.

Both Phones 471.

11 lbs. Best Leaf Lard. $1.00
Boston Butts, 10c
Best Loin Pork Roast. 12 1/2c
Veal Stew. 5c, 7c
Veal Roast. 8c, 10c
Rib Roast. 10c, 12 1/2c
Corn Beef. 4c, 6c, 8c
Bacon, by the strip. 13c

All kinds of Fresh Fruits and Vegetables, fresh every day; plenty of fancy Ripe Strawberries, Butter, Eggs and Cheese; a complete line of Canned Foods and Pickles. We give no Trading Stamps.

McQUAID'S

Seventh and Cedar, Superior, Minn.

City News.

Dr. Smith's Last Sermon

The services at the People's church Sunday will be the last Dr. Smith will conduct before leaving for Europe.

Garfield Post to Give Musicals

Garfield post, G. A. R., will give a musical in the school hall, Sixth and Washington streets, this evening.

Miss Ellen Wheelock Ill

Miss Ellen Wheelock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Wheelock, is at the St. Luke's hospital recovering from an operation for appendicitis, which was performed Thursday.

Carmen's Union Initiates Sixty Members

The Railway Carmen's union last night initiated sixty new members at Federation hall. In the past two weeks 120 members have been added to the union.

Mr. Sorenson Will Give Demonstration

Frank Sorenson will give a fifteen-minute talk and practical demonstration on "Photographic Water Tone Paper" today at 1 p. m. in the smoking room of the Commercial club.

Discusses "The Ideal Teacher"

Prof. S. A. Farnsworth of the Cleveland high school delivered an address before the Odd Fellows of Hutchinson last evening, and this morning will talk to the members of the McLeod County Teachers' association on "The Ideal Teacher."

Pomplun Appointed Inspector of Cattle

W. J. Pomplun has been appointed as inspector of cattle for the new state live stock sanitary board. Mr. Pomplun has served in the years in the capacity for the veterinary department of the state board of health.

Supreme Court Holds Imprisonment Sentence of Keepers of Disorderly Houses Is Valid and Warranted by Law—Decision of Judge Hine Sustained.

Ninety days in the workhouse is the purport of the supreme court's decision yesterday to Tom Ireton and Max Groszofski, or Groszovsky, who were some time since convicted in the Ramsey county district court of having kept disorderly houses.

Both of these cases were stubbornly fought in the trial court, and by reason of the instances brought to bear in behalf of the defendants, and the fact that in the present judgment rests the precedent for a number of other cases of similar character, troubles of Ireton and Groszovsky have assumed more than their intrinsic interest.

On behalf of the defendant, Groszovsky, it was contended that the court erred in imposing sentence of ninety days, this contention being based upon chapter 158, of the Laws of 1897, which, the attorneys argued, covers the offense of keeping a disorderly house and prescribes a penalty of not less than $5 or more than $50. In this point the state took the ground that the indictments came properly within the scope of chapter 158, of the Laws of 1897, amending section 575 of the General Statutes, and expressly defining the keeping of a disorderly house as a misdemeanor.

Judge Brill denied the defendant's motion for a new trial on the ground stated, and on an appeal the supreme court has upheld Judge Brill in his position. The opinion in the Groszovsky case is written by Chief Justice Start, who says:

"If the contention of the defendant be correct, the keeper of a disorderly house or place of public resort by which the peace, comfort and decency of the neighborhood is habitually disturbed, can only be punished by a fine not exceeding $50, while the owner of the building may be imprisoned for three months, a result clearly not intended by the legislature. Chapter 108 simply declares the punishment for keeping a disorderly house, but does not define the term, hence the common law determines the offense. The term as defined by common law is one of a wide range, including any house or place, the inmates of which behaved so badly as to make it a nuisance. If chapter 108 fixes the punishment for keeping a disorderly house of all kinds, the keeping of a house of ill-fame is only punishable by a fine not exceeding $50. It is obvious that some other condition must be given to chapter 108, and we hold that it provides for the punishment of persons keeping disorderly houses not defined and punished by our penal code, and has no application to the punishment for the offense defined under section 6575. Even if it were otherwise, chapter 108, so far as it affected section 6575, was repealed when this section was amended and re-enacted by chapter 158, Laws of 1897. It follows that the defendant was properly sentenced to the workhouse."

The syllabus in this case is as follows:

The defendant was convicted of the crime of keeping a disorderly house as defined by chapter 108, Laws of 1897, and sentenced to the workhouse. Held, that chapter 108, Laws of 1897, does not punish for such offense, and further, that the sentence was authorized by General Statute 1894, section 575, which is still in force. —Start, C. J.

In the Ireton case the additional point was raised, and not heard, because of the evidence that the character of the place at the corner of Eighth and Jackson streets was such as to disturb the neighborhood, and hence it was not a disorderly house. Chief Justice Collins, who wrote this opinion, says in the syllabus:

"The keeping of a disorderly house, prohibited by Laws of 1897, section 2, may consist in its drawing together idle, vicious, dissolute and disorderly persons, who engage in immoral practices, thereby endangering the public peace and the good morals of the neighborhood. The keeper of such a house cannot excuse himself by alleging that the public has been openly disturbed and has no complaint.

"The decency of a neighborhood is habitually disturbed and disgraced when unfit and unbecoming acts of common occurrence at a house therein, although they may not be of a particularly serious or disturbing nature, or quiet in that vicinity. It is enough if the acts performed are contrary to law and subversive of public morals."

Order affirmed. —Collins, J.

On behalf of Ireton his attorney will ask Judge Hine to modify his sentence from imprisonment in the workhouse to a fine of $100.

Judge Hine Sustained.

In the case of Dr. W. D. Kelly, of this city, against the Maryland Casualty company, the supreme court upholds Judge Hine, of the municipal court in his judgment that Dr. Kelly may recover $150 from the company for medical services to Mary Flick.

The Flick girl was employed in the Cascade laundry, kept by Charles Kennedy and was carried an indemnity insurance policy in the Maryland Casualty company insuring him against loss in damages to any of his employees. The girl was injured while at work, and Dr. Kelly was called by Kennedy to attend to her. He found amputation of one of the arms to be necessary. In a damage suit the girl recovered from Kennedy $5,000, which was paid by the Maryland company, but when the doctor's bill of $150 for surgical treatment of the injured girl was presented the company refused to pay that.

Judge Hine decided that "Kennedy, by

POLICE ROUND UP HENRY SLIPKA

St. Anthony Hill Terror and Degenerate Is in the Toils Again.

Henry Slipka, notorious a few years ago as the "St. Anthony Hill Terror," is again in the toils of the police. He is charged with the commission of an offense near Fort Snelling Thursday afternoon.

He was arrested last evening on South Robert street after attempting to evade the police. A citizen informed Patrolman Hanft that Slipka was in hiding in a building at 84 South Robert street. Slipka in the meanwhile became aware that the police knew of his whereabouts and made an effort to escape. He was spotted and climbed out of a back window, down the side of the house and entered the saloon at the rear.

Patrolman Hanft was going after him when Patrolman Paulson, who had just been relieved from duty and was on his way home, came along the street. Together the two officers went after Slipka. One going to the rear door and the other to the front they succeeded in cornering him.

Slipka was then taken to the Ducast street police station, every precaution being taken to prevent his escape. The police were careful with Slipka, for when he was arrested July 25, 1899, he was charged with the commission of a crime from the patrol wagon in front of the central station, dashing down over the bluff. At that time three shots were fired and he was found later taking refuge under a freight car in the yards below the bluff, suffering from a severe wound.

The charges against Slipka is preferred by Miss Lemke, who says that she was assaulted and robbed by Slipka Thursday afternoon.

She says that with two girl companions she was going to her home on Cleveland avenue from a visit to Fort Snelling. When quite a ways beyond Harris park she says a way was made for her to go to her home. She says she seized her pocketbook containing $3, and that she struck him with a bottle which she had in her hand. The contest growing too warm for the man he broke away and ran.

She complained to the police and her description of the man corresponded to that of Slipka. Slipka had a black eye and said last night that he had been struck by a young woman. He had been working near Fort Snelling.

MAIL CLERKS MEET PRESIDENT KIDWELL

They Entertain Head Officer of Association, Who Is Touring the West.

John A. Kidwell, president of the National Railway Mail Clerks' association, arrived in St. Paul yesterday, and was entertained by local mail clerks. He is touring the West in the interests of the association. He will remain in the Twin Cities till tomorrow morning.

He was met at the depot yesterday morning by a committee consisting of J. O. Hall, D. R. Darby, James Elliott and E. S. Moskal. He was entertained yesterday noon at luncheon, and in the afternoon was taken for a drive about the city.

Dinner was taken at the Windsor, after which an informal reception was held in the parlors of the hotel. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Young, of Tracy, Minn. Mr. Young is president of the Tenth division, including Minnesota and adjacent states.

Mr. Kidwell will spend today in Minneapolis, and in the evening a meeting will be held at the Windsor. Speeches will be made by Mr. Kidwell and Congressman Stevens and Tawney.

Lunch at the New Restaurant, 404-408 Jackson, between Sixth and Seventh.

THE BUSY MARKET.

447-449 Wabasha Street.

Both Phones 471.

11 lbs. Best Leaf Lard. $1.00
Boston Butts, 10c
Best Loin Pork Roast. 12 1/2c
Veal Stew. 5c, 7c
Veal Roast. 8c, 10c
Rib Roast. 10c, 12 1/2c
Corn Beef. 4c, 6c, 8c
Bacon, by the strip. 13c

All kinds of Fresh Fruits and Vegetables, fresh every day; plenty of fancy Ripe Strawberries, Butter, Eggs and Cheese; a complete line of Canned Foods and Pickles. We give no Trading Stamps.

WOMEN MISSIONARIES MEET.

Several St. Paul women went to Farmington, Minn., yesterday for the purpose of attending the fourth quarterly meeting of the Women's Home Missionary Society of the Minnesota Conference. Among those from this city who attended was Mrs. John Grove, president of the society, and also representatives of the Merriman Park, Central Park, Clinton Avenue, Hamline and First M. E. churches. The feature of the meeting was an address by Miss Corbin, a prominent worker in home missions.

WOMEN MISSIONARIES MEET.

Several St. Paul women went to Farmington, Minn., yesterday for the purpose of attending the fourth quarterly meeting of the Women's Home Missionary Society of the Minnesota Conference. Among those from this city who attended was Mrs. John Grove, president of the society, and also representatives of the Merriman Park, Central Park, Clinton Avenue, Hamline and First M. E. churches. The feature of the meeting was an address by Miss Corbin, a prominent worker in home missions.

WOMEN MISSIONARIES MEET.

Several St. Paul women went to Farmington, Minn., yesterday for the purpose of attending the fourth quarterly meeting of the Women's Home Missionary Society of the Minnesota Conference. Among those from this city who attended was Mrs. John Grove, president of the society, and also representatives of the Merriman Park, Central Park, Clinton Avenue, Hamline and First M. E. churches. The feature of the meeting was an address by Miss Corbin, a prominent worker in home missions.

WOMEN MISSIONARIES MEET.

Several St. Paul women went to Farmington, Minn., yesterday for the purpose of attending the fourth quarterly meeting of the Women's Home Missionary Society of the Minnesota Conference. Among those from this city who attended was Mrs. John Grove, president of the society, and also representatives of the Merriman Park, Central Park, Clinton Avenue, Hamline and First M. E. churches. The feature of the meeting was an address by Miss Corbin, a prominent worker in home missions.

BATHHOUSE KEEPER MUST GO TO THE WORKHOUSE

Supreme Court Holds Imprisonment Sentence of Keepers of Disorderly Houses Is Valid and Warranted by Law—Decision of Judge Hine Sustained.

Ninety days in the workhouse is the purport of the supreme court's decision yesterday to Tom Ireton and Max Groszofski, or Groszovsky, who were some time since convicted in the Ramsey county district court of having kept disorderly houses.

Both of these cases were stubbornly fought in the trial court, and by reason of the instances brought to bear in behalf of the defendants, and the fact that in the present judgment rests the precedent for a number of other cases of similar character, troubles of Ireton and Groszovsky have assumed more than their intrinsic interest.

On behalf of the defendant, Groszovsky, it was contended that the court erred in imposing sentence of ninety days, this contention being based upon chapter 158, of the Laws of 1897, which, the attorneys argued, covers the offense of keeping a disorderly house and prescribes a penalty of not less than $5 or more than $50. In this point the state took the ground that the indictments came properly within the scope of chapter 158, of the Laws of 1897, amending section 575 of the General Statutes, and expressly defining the keeping of a disorderly house as a misdemeanor.

Judge Brill denied the defendant's motion for a new trial on the ground stated, and on an appeal the supreme court has upheld Judge Brill in his position. The opinion in the Groszovsky case is written by Chief Justice Start, who says:

"If the contention of the defendant be correct, the keeper of a disorderly house or place of public resort by which the peace, comfort and decency of the neighborhood is habitually disturbed, can only be punished by a fine not exceeding $50, while the owner of the building may be imprisoned for three months, a result clearly not intended by the legislature. Chapter 108 simply declares the punishment for keeping a disorderly house, but does not define the term, hence the common law determines the offense. The term as defined by common law is one of a wide range, including any house or place, the inmates of which behaved so badly as to make it a nuisance. If chapter 108 fixes the punishment for keeping a disorderly house of all kinds, the keeping of a house of ill-fame is only punishable by a fine not exceeding $50. It is obvious that some other condition must be given to chapter 108, and we hold that it provides for the punishment of persons keeping disorderly houses not defined and punished by our penal code, and has no application to the punishment for the offense defined under section 6575. Even if it were otherwise, chapter 108, so far as it affected section 6575, was repealed when this section was amended and re-enacted by chapter 158, Laws of 1897. It follows that the defendant was properly sentenced to the workhouse."

The syllabus in this case is as follows:

The defendant was convicted of the crime of keeping a disorderly house as defined by chapter 108, Laws of 1897, and sentenced to the workhouse. Held, that chapter 108, Laws of 1897, does not punish for such offense, and further, that the sentence was authorized by General Statute 1894, section 575, which is still in force. —Start, C. J.

In the Ireton case the additional point was raised, and not heard, because of the evidence that the character of the place at the corner of Eighth and Jackson streets was such as to disturb the neighborhood, and hence it was not a disorderly house. Chief Justice Collins, who wrote this opinion, says in the syllabus:

"The keeping of a disorderly house, prohibited by Laws of 1897, section 2, may consist in its drawing together idle, vicious, dissolute and disorderly persons, who engage in immoral practices, thereby endangering the public peace and the good morals of the neighborhood. The keeper of such a house cannot excuse himself by alleging that the public has been openly disturbed and has no complaint.

"The decency of a neighborhood is habitually disturbed and disgraced when unfit and unbecoming acts of common occurrence at a house therein, although they may not be of a particularly serious or disturbing nature, or quiet in that vicinity. It is enough if the acts performed are contrary to law and subversive of public morals."

Order affirmed. —Collins, J.

On behalf of Ireton his attorney will ask Judge Hine to modify his sentence from imprisonment in the workhouse to a fine of $100.

Judge Hine Sustained.

In the case of Dr. W. D. Kelly, of this city, against the Maryland Casualty company, the supreme court upholds Judge Hine, of the municipal court in his judgment that Dr. Kelly may recover $150 from the company for medical services to Mary Flick.

The Flick girl was employed in the Cascade laundry, kept by Charles Kennedy and was carried an indemnity insurance policy in the Maryland Casualty company insuring him against loss in damages to any of his employees. The girl was injured while at work, and Dr. Kelly was called by Kennedy to attend to her. He found amputation of one of the arms to be necessary. In a damage suit the girl recovered from Kennedy $5,000, which was paid by the Maryland company, but when the doctor's bill of $150 for surgical treatment of the injured girl was presented the company refused to pay that.

Judge Hine decided that "Kennedy, by

WOMEN MISSIONARIES MEET.

Several St. Paul women went to Farmington, Minn., yesterday for the purpose of attending the fourth quarterly meeting of the Women's Home Missionary Society of the Minnesota Conference. Among those from this city who attended was Mrs. John Grove, president of the society, and also representatives of the Merriman Park, Central Park, Clinton Avenue, Hamline and First M. E. churches. The feature of the meeting was an address by Miss Corbin, a prominent worker in home missions.

WOMEN MISSIONARIES MEET.

Several St. Paul women went to Farmington, Minn., yesterday for the purpose of attending the fourth quarterly meeting of the Women's Home Missionary Society of the Minnesota Conference. Among those from this city who attended was Mrs. John Grove, president of the society, and also representatives of the Merriman Park, Central Park, Clinton Avenue, Hamline and First M. E. churches. The feature of the meeting was an address by Miss Corbin, a prominent worker in home missions.

WOMEN MISSIONARIES MEET.

Several St. Paul women went to Farmington, Minn., yesterday for the purpose of attending the fourth quarterly meeting of the Women's Home Missionary Society of the Minnesota Conference. Among those from this city who attended was Mrs. John Grove, president of the society, and also representatives of the Merriman Park, Central Park, Clinton Avenue, Hamline and First M. E. churches. The feature of the meeting was an address by Miss Corbin, a prominent worker in home missions.

WOMEN MISSIONARIES MEET.

Several St. Paul women went to Farmington, Minn., yesterday for the purpose of attending the fourth quarterly meeting of the Women's Home Missionary Society of the Minnesota Conference. Among those from this city who attended was Mrs. John Grove, president of the society, and also representatives of the Merriman Park, Central Park, Clinton Avenue, Hamline and First M. E. churches. The feature of the meeting was an address by Miss Corbin, a prominent worker in home missions.

WOMEN MISSIONARIES MEET.

Several St. Paul women went to Farmington, Minn., yesterday for the purpose of attending the fourth quarterly meeting of the Women's Home Missionary Society of the Minnesota Conference. Among those from this city who attended was Mrs. John Grove, president of the society, and also representatives of the Merriman Park, Central Park, Clinton Avenue, Hamline and First M. E. churches. The feature of the meeting was an address by Miss Corbin, a prominent worker in home missions.

WOMEN MISSIONARIES MEET.

Several St. Paul women went to Farmington, Minn., yesterday for the purpose of attending the fourth quarterly meeting of the Women's Home Missionary Society of the Minnesota Conference. Among those from this city who attended was Mrs. John Grove, president of the society, and also representatives of the Merriman Park, Central Park, Clinton Avenue, Hamline and First M. E. churches. The feature of the meeting was an address by Miss Corbin, a prominent worker in home missions.

WOMEN MISSIONARIES MEET.

Several St. Paul women went to Farmington, Minn., yesterday for the purpose of attending the fourth quarterly meeting of the Women's Home Missionary Society of the Minnesota Conference. Among those from this city who attended was Mrs. John Grove, president of the society, and also representatives of the Merriman Park, Central Park, Clinton Avenue, Hamline and First M. E. churches. The feature of the meeting was an address by Miss Corbin, a prominent worker in home missions.

WOMEN MISSIONARIES MEET.

Several St. Paul women went to Farmington, Minn., yesterday for the purpose of attending the fourth quarterly meeting of the Women's Home Missionary Society of the Minnesota Conference. Among those from this city who attended was Mrs. John Grove, president of the society, and also representatives of the Merriman Park, Central Park, Clinton Avenue, Hamline and First M. E. churches. The feature of the meeting was an address by Miss Corbin, a prominent worker in home missions.

WOMEN MISSIONARIES MEET.

Several St. Paul women went to Farmington, Minn., yesterday for the purpose of attending the fourth quarterly meeting of the Women's Home Missionary Society of the Minnesota Conference. Among those from this city who attended was Mrs. John Grove, president of the society, and also representatives of the Merriman Park, Central Park, Clinton Avenue, Hamline and First M. E. churches. The feature of the meeting was an address by Miss Corbin, a prominent worker in home missions.

Swift's Premium Hams and Bacon

are cured in a mild, sweet pickle and slowly smoked over hickory wood smoke.

Each piece is branded on the rind

SWIFT'S PREMIUM U.S. HAMS

Swift & Company, Chicago
Kansas City, St. Joseph, Omaha, St. Paul, St. Louis, Ft. Worth

JURY FAILS TO FIND ANDERSON GUILTY

Some of Them Believe That He Bought Those Chickens.

The jury which heard the case against Andrew A. Anderson, who was tried before Judge Fincham in police court Thursday, failed to agree and was discharged by the court. Anderson was charged with stealing three chickens and when the jurors retired to the jury room the chickens, which were one of the plaintiff's exhibits, were sent in with other exhibits.

When the jury reported to Judge Fincham, he presented to him freshly laid eggs, on which had been written:

"We have agreed to disagree"

The court received the verdict and dismissed the over-worked jurors, who not only receive nothing for their services, but have to furnish their own meals while doing jury duty in the municipal court. The case will be tried again next Monday.

FORFEITS HER BAIL RATHER THAN APPEAR

Mrs. John Bair Prefers Not to Answer to Charge of Drunkenness.

Mrs. John Bair, who was married to John Bair Wednesday afternoon at a time when both herself and her husband were too drunk to realize what they were doing, had not appeared in police court yesterday to answer to the charge of drunkenness against her. Her bail of $10, furnished by her husband, was forfeited.

Bair, who hails from Stillwater, came to St. Paul Wednesday, commenced drinking and, meeting Mary O'Keefe at her home, got so drunk that she did not without hesitation. Bair returned to Stillwater, forgot he had a wife, and the woman proceeded to get drunker and drunker. She was finally arrested by Officer Sullivan, who took her to the central police station, where she spent her wedding night. Thursday her husband came over from Stillwater and bailed her out.

THREE YOUNG MEN ARE ACCUSED OF FORGERY

Charged With Passing Bogus Checks on Sajokeepers.

Three young men, who gave their names as Steve O'Connell, J. Turner and T. H. Stahlmann, were in police court yesterday charged with forgery. They are said to have passed bogus checks to the amount of $62 on various saloons in the city.

The unique schemes to get the checks cashed, so the police say. They are charged with representing themselves to be employees of the city, and to have obtained the checks by passing bogus checks to the amount of $62 on various saloons in the city.

After visiting a number of uptown saloons they were arrested by Detective Ahern in a saloon on South Washington street. In police court they pleaded not guilty and the cases against them were continued.

THREE YOUNG MEN ARE ACCUSED OF FORGERY

Charged With Passing Bogus Checks on Sajokeepers.

Three young men, who gave their names as Steve O'Connell, J. Turner and T. H. Stahlmann, were in police court yesterday charged with forgery. They are said to have passed bogus checks to the amount of $62 on various saloons in the city.

The unique schemes to get the checks cashed, so the police say. They are charged with representing themselves to be employees of the city, and to have obtained the checks by passing bogus checks to the amount of $62 on various saloons in the city.

After visiting a number of uptown saloons they were arrested by Detective Ahern in a saloon on South Washington street. In police court they pleaded not guilty and the cases against them were continued.

THREE YOUNG MEN ARE ACCUSED OF FORGERY

Charged With Passing Bogus Checks on Sajokeepers.

Three young men, who gave their names as Steve O'Connell, J. Turner and T. H. Stahlmann, were in police court yesterday charged with forgery. They are said to have passed bogus checks to the amount of $62 on various saloons in the city.

The unique schemes to get the checks cashed, so the police say. They are charged with representing themselves to be employees of the city, and to have obtained the checks by passing bogus checks to the amount of $62 on various saloons in the city.

After visiting a number of uptown saloons they were arrested by Detective Ahern in a saloon on South Washington street. In police court they pleaded not guilty and the cases against them were continued.

THREE YOUNG MEN ARE ACCUSED OF FORGERY

Charged With Passing Bogus Checks on Sajokeepers.

Three young men, who gave their names as Steve O'Connell, J. Turner and T. H. Stahlmann, were in police court yesterday charged with forgery. They are said to have passed bogus checks to the amount of $62 on various saloons in the city.

The unique schemes to get the checks cashed, so the police say. They are charged with representing themselves to be employees of the city, and to have obtained the checks by passing bogus checks to the amount of $62 on various saloons in the city.

After visiting a number of uptown saloons they were arrested by Detective Ahern in a saloon on South Washington street. In police court they pleaded not guilty and the cases against them were continued.

THREE YOUNG MEN ARE ACCUSED OF FORGERY

Charged With Passing Bogus Checks on Sajokeepers.

Three young men, who gave their names as Steve O'Connell, J. Turner and T. H. Stahlmann, were in police court yesterday charged with forgery. They are said to have passed bogus checks to the amount of $62 on various saloons in the city.

The unique schemes to get the checks cashed, so the police say. They are charged with representing themselves to be employees of the city, and to have obtained the checks by passing bogus checks to the amount of $62 on various saloons in the city.

After visiting a number of uptown saloons they were arrested by Detective Ahern in a saloon on South Washington street. In police court they pleaded not guilty and the cases against them were continued.

THREE YOUNG MEN ARE ACCUSED OF FORGERY

Charged With Passing Bogus Checks on Sajokeepers.

Three young men, who gave their names as Steve O'Connell, J. Turner and T. H. Stahlmann, were in police court yesterday charged with forgery. They are said to have passed bogus checks to the amount of $62 on various saloons in the city.

The unique schemes to get the checks cashed, so the police say. They are charged with representing themselves to be employees of the city, and to have obtained the checks by passing bogus checks to the amount of $62 on various saloons in the city.

After visiting a number of uptown saloons they were arrested by Detective Ahern in a saloon on South Washington street. In police court they pleaded not guilty and the cases against them were continued.

THREE YOUNG MEN ARE ACCUSED OF FORGERY

Charged With Passing Bogus Checks on Sajokeepers.

Three young men, who gave their names as Steve O'Connell, J. Turner and T. H. Stahlmann, were in police court yesterday charged with forgery. They are said to have passed bogus checks to the amount of $62 on various saloons in the city.

The unique schemes to get the checks cashed, so the police say. They are charged with representing themselves to be employees of the city, and to have obtained the checks by passing bogus checks to the amount of $62 on various saloons in the city.

After visiting a number of uptown saloons they were arrested by Detective Ahern in a saloon on South Washington street. In police court they pleaded not guilty and the cases against them were continued.

IVERSON WILL KEEP TAB ON STATE LANDS

Auditor Confirms Reports Concerning Fraud in the Payment of Mineral Royalties—Will Make Several Tours of Investigation Throughout the State.

"My understanding of the law is that, as auditor and state land commissioner, and the particular officer responsible for the state lands, and that it is my duty to familiarize myself with those state lands and everything pertaining to them. I can see no better way to do this than by personal inspection, and the trip from which I have just returned is only the first of a series of regular tours which I am going to make among not only the mineral, but also the timber lands of the state."

This statement was made to The Globe yesterday by State Auditor Iverson, on his return from an official trip to the northern part of the state, some of the features of which were published in The Globe of yesterday.

Mr. Iverson expressed regret that there had been published at this time any announcement that question had arisen as to the accuracy of returns on ore royalties under state leases, but he did not deny that such is the case. In fact, although not admitting that he has reason to believe that there is a very general shortage in the returns made to the state, his remarks throughout were of a tenor to justify that conclusion. He said:

"I have been asked in The Globe, in the northern part of the state, and while there I visited a number of the mines that are located on state lands, among them the big Oliver mine, one of the largest on the range. But I am sorry that it has been made to appear at this time that I have discovered wholesale fraud in the payment of royalties. It would be folly for any man, even though he were a mining expert, to come back here and particularly with what is of those mines, such as I was able to get, and make any definite accusation of fraud."

Surprised to See the Auditor.

"I am convinced that a proper performance of my duty as land commissioner and custodian of all state lands will require that I make a personal inspection of all of those properties and familiarize myself with what is going on. While traveling about that country I met a number of people who seemed surprised to meet me there, and while they did not show any resentment at my presence, appeared to think that I should be satisfied to remain in the office here and administer the functions of my office from this end of the line.

"That is not my purpose, and I intend to make regular trips to the range and to other state lands to learn what is going on, and in case I should find anything that does not look right I shall have it investigated."

"For the purpose of this trip I found that one piece of state land is being used regularly as a jumping ground for a mine on an adjoining tract. I am not familiar with the law as to that point, but it does not look right to me, and I am going to see what can be done about it."

"I am not prepared at present to make any allegations of fraud, and as I said before, I think it would be foolish to do so on such meager information as I have been able to gain in this trip, but I am going to look more closely into conditions as to the state lands, and I find some indications that things are not right, which I shall promptly have them investigated."

WOMEN MISSIONARIES MEET.

Several St. Paul women went to Farmington, Minn., yesterday for the purpose of attending the fourth quarterly meeting of the Women's Home Missionary Society of the Minnesota Conference. Among those from this city who attended was Mrs. John Grove, president of the society, and also representatives of the Merriman Park, Central Park, Clinton Avenue, Hamline and First M. E. churches. The feature of the meeting was an address by Miss Corbin, a prominent worker in home missions.

WOMEN MISSIONARIES MEET.

Several St. Paul women went to Farmington, Minn., yesterday for the purpose of attending the fourth quarterly meeting of the Women's Home Missionary Society of the Minnesota Conference. Among those from this city who attended was Mrs. John Grove, president of the society, and also representatives of the Merriman Park, Central Park, Clinton Avenue, Hamline and First M. E. churches. The feature of the meeting was an address by Miss Corbin, a prominent worker in home missions.

WOMEN MISSIONARIES MEET.

Several St. Paul women went to Farmington, Minn., yesterday for the purpose of attending the fourth quarterly meeting of the Women's Home Missionary Society of the Minnesota Conference. Among those from this city who attended was Mrs. John Grove, president of the society, and also representatives of the Merriman Park, Central Park, Clinton Avenue, Hamline and First M. E. churches. The feature of the meeting was an address by Miss Corbin, a prominent worker in home missions.

WOMEN MISSIONARIES MEET.

Several St. Paul women went to Farmington, Minn., yesterday for the purpose of attending the fourth quarterly meeting of the Women's Home Missionary Society of the Minnesota Conference. Among those from this city who attended was Mrs. John Grove, president of the society, and also representatives of the Merriman Park, Central Park, Clinton Avenue, Hamline and First M. E. churches. The feature of the meeting was an address by Miss Corbin, a prominent worker in home missions.

WOMEN MISSIONARIES MEET.

Several St. Paul women went to Farmington, Minn., yesterday for the purpose of attending the fourth quarterly meeting of the Women's Home Missionary Society of the Minnesota Conference. Among those from this city who attended was Mrs. John Grove, president of the society, and also representatives of the Merriman Park, Central Park, Clinton Avenue, Hamline and First M. E. churches. The feature of the meeting was an address by Miss Corbin, a prominent worker in home missions.

WOMEN MISSIONARIES MEET.

Several St. Paul women went to Farmington, Minn., yesterday for the purpose of attending the fourth quarterly meeting of the Women's Home Missionary Society of the Minnesota Conference. Among those from this city who attended was Mrs. John Grove, president of the society, and also representatives of the Merriman Park, Central Park, Clinton Avenue, Hamline and First M. E. churches. The feature of the meeting was an address by Miss Corbin, a prominent worker in home missions.

WOMEN MISSIONARIES MEET.

Several St. Paul women went to Farmington, Minn., yesterday for the purpose of attending the fourth quarterly meeting of the Women's Home Missionary Society of the Minnesota Conference. Among those from this city who attended was Mrs. John Grove, president of the society, and also representatives of the Merriman Park, Central Park, Clinton Avenue, Hamline and First M. E. churches. The feature of the meeting was an address by Miss Corbin, a prominent worker in home missions.

WOMEN MISSIONARIES MEET.

Several St. Paul women went to Farmington, Minn., yesterday for the purpose of attending the fourth quarterly meeting of the Women's Home Missionary Society of the Minnesota Conference. Among those from this city who attended was Mrs. John Grove,