SHERIFFS EXPLAIN BY DENYING IT ALL TO GOVERNOR

In Letters to Governor They Fail to Tell Where They Were With Tanke All That Saturday Night, Which Particular Drink Was the "Only One" Tanke Had, and Why Tanke Became So Sick.

The silence of the sheriffs charged with keeping Frank Tanke, the convict, under guard, at night and making a round of St. Paul saloons and other resorts while en route to Stillwater with his prisoner one week ago last night has at last been broken officially.

Letters addressed to the governor were received at the capitol yesterday from Sheriff Forsythe, Sheriff James, and Sheriff Williams, of Mankato, in which each of the officials denies the newspaper charges made against him. The sheriffs express their willingness to cooperate with the governor and "show the governor" that they did not have Tanke out on a drunk. They admit that they allowed the prisoner to "go to the bar" but deny that they make a denial of all the charges against them. In the letters the officials assure the governor that they will have no trouble in clearing themselves should an investigation be ordered.

Gov. Van Sant was out of the city yesterday and it is not known what his next step will be, but it is not believed that the governor will permit the matter to drop with the bare assurances received from the sheriffs that they were misrepresented. There are a great many things which the sheriffs failed to explain in their letters.

One of the most important of the charges which both of the sheriffs failed to explain was the fact that while their party arrived in St. Paul before 8 o'clock Saturday evening, they did not go to bed until after 8 o'clock the following morning, and then only after Tanke had become so ill that he had to be taken into the Astoria hotel. They do not tell why they gave him a bromide to cure his illness, when he had taken "but one drink," and they also overlooked an explanation of where they spent the night. Another incident overlooked in the "explanation" of the sheriff is why it was necessary for two men to assist Tanke to the room when he was taken to bed Sunday forenoon.

In the opinion of the state house officials the letters received from the sheriffs yesterday explain but little.

It is beyond dispute that the party arrived in St. Paul Saturday night, and it is also known as exclusively announced in The Globe last Sunday morning, that upon their arrival in the city they commenced drinking at the bar in the Sherman hotel, this being one of the first bars reached by them, after leaving the city at their own expense.

Sheriff Forsythe, who was in charge of Tanke, admitted to The Globe last Monday night that they had visited a number of saloons, and this same official also admitted that the only hotel at which they stopped was the Astoria, although the records of this hotel show that no room was secured there until after 8 o'clock Sunday morning, when Tanke, after a "night of it" was no longer able to stay on his feet. The sheriffs say nothing of having taken the prisoner to a St. Peter street resort, where considerable time was spent, although one of them, when questioned by The Globe, admitted that they might have been in a St. Peter street resort, as he did not know where St. Peter street was located.

It is well known that the sheriffs paraded their prisoner about the city all night long, going into one saloon and then another, where Tanke, the murderer, was kept in a room which was watched over by him. It was necessary to distinguish the prisoner from the rest of the party, all of whom appeared to be having a royal good time. Owing to the fact that Tanke is known to have been given a drink upon the arrival of the party in the city, that he is known to have taken several drinks during the night, and for the further reason that he was given a farewell drink Sunday afternoon before his departure for Stillwater, where he is sentenced for life, there is some speculation as to just which one of these drinks will be admitted by the sheriffs when the investigation is commenced.

The remarkable brevity of the epistles written to the governor by the sheriffs left but little space for an explanation of the "doings" of the party on Saturday night, and it is regarded as certain that Gov. Van Sant will give the officials another opportunity to tell what they really might know concerning the matter.

THE AMERICAN GAME.

There is a Fascination in the Crack of the Bat and the Long Hit.

Some people will say that men go for recreation. True enough, but that is a platitudinous, shallow generality. There are all sorts of recreations, but what one of them holds a mass of people in business hours, day after day, for a season, and season after season? Merit goes wild over golf, and not a long time ago a Boston manufacturer failed because he could not keep at his desk. But everyone knows that the golf spirit is on the wane, and that an attack of the fever has its limits—with some a month, with others a year—and there is a very large class of immunes. Taking baseball in its own class, that of

INDIANA GIRL DIES IN DEFENSE OF HER HONOR

Negro Prisoner May Never Have a Formal Trial.

GUILFORD, Ind., May 23.—The body of Miss Rosa Kaiser, of Manchester, was found in Taney's creek today, her skull having been crushed and her face bruised and gashed. She was not outraged, but died in defense of her honor. It is supposed she was attacked on Thursday evening where her father, who was close behind her, returning home, was knocked down and left unconscious until the next morning. Louis Everson, a negro, is thought to be the assailant. He is under arrest and may be lynched.

Colorado Won't Pay.

DENVER, Col., May 23.—Colorado has again declined, in a communication from the governor to the secretary of state at Washington, to reimburse William Radcliffe, an Englishman, for his property at Grand Mesa lake, which was burned by a mob two years ago. This refusal is based upon a report from the district attorney at Grand Junction that he could ascertain no facts that would make it incumbent upon the state to pay damages.

Curious Watch Glass.

When the late Gen. Macdonald last visited his relatives in Scotland he wore a very curious watch. Curiously did not lie in the watch itself, which was very rough and made of glass, but for its purpose as well as another. Macdonald's story with much circumstance. One day during the Sudan campaign he had broken the original glass and was puzzled to find a substitute for it in the desert. At last, however, he smashed a tumbler. The bottom of the glass was so hot that it was fine enough and the side of the tumbler it fitted right into the setting. And when he returned home, he never had removed.

She was stricken with nervous prostration last August, and since then her condition has several times caused her husband the keenest anxiety. The strain resulted in his collapse five weeks ago, when a slight cold developed into bronchitis.

Messrs. Walthour and Bill, World's Champion Roller Cyclists, Credit Their Power of Endurance and Nerve to DUFFY'S PURE MALT Whiskey. They Say it is Their Only Stimulant and Tonic.

Both replied, "We use Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey and nothing else. It is a great stimulant and tonic, it gives us more endurance than any food we ever tried; we do not know what we would do without Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, it keeps us from contracting colds and coughs when we are over-tired."

LABOR NEWS

One week has worked a wonderful change in the attitude of the striking workmen of St. Paul. Last Sunday a meeting was held at the Waldorf hotel, at which 350 molders were ordered to go on strike, and in little more than half a week every man returned to work.

The Hardenburg leather workers are all back at work and a who now remain on strike are the sheet metal workers, for whom there seems as little chance of reconciliation with the employers as at the first. Not more than one dozen of the original number of the strikers remain in the city.

As an outcome of one strike, St. Paul will have another industry. The striking cooper has formed a co-operative company, to be known as the St. Paul Co-operative Coopers, with quarters on East Seventh street, where they will endeavor to show the public in general, and the brewers in particular, that barrels can be made cheaper than the brewers have been producing them.

St. Paul Local No. 98, Cigarmakers' union, has appointed an agitation committee, which will start operations by first visiting all the other unions and presenting each member a handsome comb in a dainty cover bearing a fac simile of the well known "blue label."

The local Cigarmakers' union has also done good work in its efforts to bring about a settlement of the Minneapolis cigarmakers' strike. A committee visited all the local dealers and succeeded in getting them to bring their influence to bear upon the employers of the striking men, to such an extent that the firms conceded enough to permit of the men going back to work, pending the unionizing of the shops.

The local union of cigarmakers has also invested in 2,000 two-sheet posters bearing the blue label, and they will soon be seen upon the bill boards.

The St. Paul barbers have gotten out 20,000 schedules of the different ball games to be played at home. They bear the union ship card on the cover and are for gratuitous distribution.

At the last meeting of the Trades and Labor assembly that body was made the recipient of a handsome water color reproduction of the "Labor Window" in the People's church, by the pastor, Rev. S. G. Smith, who presented it in person, with an appropriate short talk. President of the Assembly C. E. James responded with a brief acknowledgment.

By a unanimous vote of the Trades and Labor Assembly $5 was sent to the relief of the striking button workers of La Crosse, Wis.

The organizing committee of the Trades and Labor assembly was instructed at the last meeting of that body to assist the steamfitters of the city in their endeavors to unionize.

ness and base-running; a third felt sure a man's carriage, quickness and cleanness in movement and play did the trick, while a fourth thought it was put-outs and assists that were the best pleasers of the crowd.

A Perfect Cripple. It is told of the French novelist, Joris Karl Haysmans, that once while delivering a lecture upon the text that God doeth all things perfectly, he insisted upon the absolute truth of this text with great fervor, but a cripple in the audience said that such a statement staggered belief. He accented Haysmans' staggered belief, and twisted frame, he said: "Look at me, monsieur. How can you reconcile with your text a man like me?" Haysmans replied: "You, as a cripple, are excellently made. I have seldom seen a more perfect cripple than you."

Oil to Kill Plague Germs. The health authorities of Muzant have ordered that the streets and the walls of houses shall be washed with petroleum once every month hereafter to kill plague germs. In the towns of Stillquieres and Villa Union there are still eighteen people sick of the plague. Thirty-six are confined in the observation camp. The Confetti ranch, near Mazatlan, was recently burned by the health officers because it was discovered that several persons there had the plague were living there.—Chicago Inter Ocean.
