

MRS. NATION LEAVES HER HOME AT HOPE, KANSAS

CARRIE NATION USES JACK FLYNN

Kansas Smasher Delivers a Tirade in a Wabasha Street Establishment and Is Routed by a Siphon of Seltzer.

Carrie Nation was in town yesterday. She made her presence known in less than three minutes after her arrival in the heart of the city. Mrs. Nation was on her way from Minneapolis to Stillwater via the interurban electric line. She had no sooner alighted at the corner of Seventh and Wabasha streets to change from the interurban to the Stillwater line than she proceeded to do some practical temperance work in the short time she had. Getting off the car with a young man companion, she espied across the street the saloon of Himes & Madsen, 432 Wabasha street, which was open and in and out of the front door of which men were passing. Turning to Paul Peterson, who was standing at the corner, she inquired: "When will the Stillwater car arrive?" "In about three minutes, madam," replied the man. While she was speaking to the famous saloon smasher, the policeman turned about and did not note her next movement. She waited for her companion. Thereupon she made a bee line across the street and entered the saloon. She was sitting at the tables and two were standing at the bar. Without warning, she opened a vigorous temperance tirade against the men present and against Jack Flynn, the bartender. "If I had time I'd fix you, you impudent monster!" she cried. "But I've got to take a car for Stillwater." Mrs. Nation, who was standing at the bar, one of whom was a big fat fellow. Turning to the bartender, Mrs. Nation directed her scathing invective at the portly man. "You pig, you, you look like a beer keg with two legs on it!" exclaimed Mrs. Nation, when Lieut. Meyerding took her by the arm and attempted to lead her out. "Come, come, you must get out of here," commanded the officer. With this Lieut. Meyerding led out Mrs. Nation, who yielded when she remembered that she had to catch a Stillwater car. She left the place just in time, for one of the cars was at the corner and she had to run to get it. Her companion, who had waited, joined her. Having boarded the car she saw Patrolman Peterson upon the street and as a parting shot cried out, emphasizing her exclamation by shaking her fist: "I'll be looking for a job before long!" Her words died away as the car started rapidly down Wabasha street. In the saloon there remained a crowd of men who felt as if a tornado had just swept over them. The incident was the topic of much comment among the spectators who told the story of how they had met Mrs. Carrie Nation.

DERBY HORSES IN HARD SHAPE

The Picket Ran His Winning Race While in Crippled Condition.

Special to The Globe. CHICAGO, June 21.—The Picket, winner of the American Derby, met with an accident at the start of the great race Saturday. Either by striking himself or from a kick, the left fore leg of the wonderful colt was hit and bruised. His trainer, Carroll Reid, was concerned today as to the possible effect the injury might have on the future races of the son of Falsetto. There was a report out tonight that an offer of $50,000 had been made for The Picket by Louisville people. Carroll Reid, trainer of The Picket, could not confirm the report. Reid believes the accident will not impair the speed of the colt, and if it were an ordinary selling matter the matter probably would not bother him. To have so valuable a colt as The Picket troubled with a swollen leg is a different matter. There are other big races coming for which The Picket is eligible, but he will be rested until the trainer knows beyond all doubt that the leg is perfectly well. Just how The Picket was injured is a mystery. It certainly did not happen after he took the lead, because he was never interfered with nor off his stride after he once went to the front. The leg was probably hurt either while the horses were at the post or in the first few jumps after the start. In that case The Picket had to start the race after he had received the injury. That the Derby, with its record-breaking field of nineteen starters, was not a gentle race is shown by the injuries the whole list of the candidates received. With The Picket excepted, the following was the condition today of several horses that ran in the Derby: Linguis—Left shoulder scraped on fence. Trainer Phillips says injury is not serious. Claude D—Received cuts on right foreleg and left hind leg. The horse was shipped to Detroit today and the owner, Daly, said the accidents would not necessitate any rest for the triple Derby winner. Bernays—Had temperature of 104 this afternoon and owner, J. B. Respass, was called from the Harlem track to look after the colt. This evening the temperature was slightly lower. The colt did not cool out well after the Derby and had a chill. June Himes went lame in the right fore leg. Trainer Mayberry thinks the track was too hard for the colt and says the lameness, which apparently developed early in the race, caused the poor showing of the horse. Bad News received cuts on the left fore and left hind legs, but they are not serious.

LOVERS DECIDE TO DIE TOGETHER

Bullet Ends His Life and Carbollic Acid May Be Fatal to Her.

SCRANTON, Pa., June 21.—A pair of young lovers, Ernest Schmie and Miss Jennie Brennan, both of Greenwood, were the participants in a double tragedy this morning, which has resulted in the former's death and which will probably also prove fatal in the case of the girl. The two had loved each other devotedly for several months, but another woman from Schmie's old home interfered a week ago and sought to hold him to an alleged engagement with her. This led the pair to seek refuge in death and they apparently planned tonight's affair with much deliberation. Miss Brennan purchased a bottle of carbollic acid this morning and shortly afterwards both started on their way. They strayed to a secluded spot in the midst of a forest and spent the entire afternoon sitting side by side on a rock. They were seen by several other ramblers in the woods and this led to the search by the girl's cousin, Thomas Cavanaugh, and several of his friends. When the party came to the sight of the place Miss Brennan put the bottle of acid to her lips and drained it. As she did so Schmie, who was lying on his back, drew a revolver and fired upon them three times and, then stopping, turned the barrel of his weapon against himself twice. He fell dead instantly. The girl suffered great agony and her physicians held out scant hope for recovery.

Brings Sensational Action to Secure Accounting in Firm of Forbes Bros.

Special to The Globe. Forbes against Robert Forbes and his wife, Emma E. Forbes, will be heard. HANNA REFUSES TO BE SHELVED

He Says He Will Not Have the Vice Presidency Forced Upon Him.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, June 21.—In an interview today Senator M. A. Hanna reiterated his recent statement that he is not and would not be a candidate for the vice presidency, and if his nomination was made he would decline to accept it. He said further that his ambition was to be the director of the White House and that nothing could induce him to alter his decision in the matter. Col. Myron T. Herrick, whose name also has been mentioned in connection with the vice presidency, said that his sole political ambition was to be elected governor of Ohio. Col. Herrick thinks that the whole discussion relative to the vice presidential nomination is, inopportune. When the action of President Roosevelt towards the vice presidential nomination was cited to him as an instance of how public men sometimes change their views with regard to political nominations when the statement of the people demanded it and they were compelled to accept office, Senator Hanna said that men in public life who knew him know very well that nothing can be forced upon him.

MITCHELL'S COLLAPSE IS FROM LACK OF REST

He Declines to Take Vacation From His Strenuous Work.

Special to The Globe. INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., June 21.—President John Mitchell of the United Mine Workers, whose falling health has become a matter of alarm to his associates was slightly improved today. He followed the command of his physician and threw off all official cares, though protesting that he was not a sick man. Lack of proper rest seems to be the real cause of his collapse and his physicians and friends are trying to persuade him to take a long vacation but it is doubtful if they succeed, as he has expressed a determination to go to Kansas City next week.

AMALGAMATED CHARGES COURT WITH BIAS

Cases Involving the Company Taken from Judge Clancy.

BUTTE, Mont., June 21.—In proceedings that have begun in the supreme court an attempt is being made by the Amalgamated Copper company, through the Amalgamated company, to take mining litigation in which that company is involved from the control of District Judge Clancy. On application of the Amalgamated company, writs of supervisory control have been issued by the supreme court in two cases of John M. Hickey against the Amalgamated company and the case of Michael Hickey against the Amalgamated company and in the suit of the Nippon company against the Parrot company. In the petitions, in response to which the writs were issued, a number of statements are made in support of the claim that Judge Clancy is biased in favor of the interests of F. Augustus Heinz and the Montana Ore Purchasing company as against the Amalgamated interests. It is stated that the judge is so prejudiced against the Amalgamated company that it is impossible to obtain a fair and impartial trial upon the matter in which the Amalgamated company is directly or indirectly interested.

Citizens of the village, who were awakened by a terrific explosion, found Marvin lying unconscious near the store with one arm blown away and his body terribly mangled. When the doctor approached a second man ran away, making his escape. In that accidental dropping of a can of nitroglycerine was the cause of the explosion.

RUSSIAN BEAR IS TIGHTENING HIS GRIP

Every Move Seems to Bring New Demands Against China.

TOKIO, June 6, via Victoria, B. C., June 21.—The situation in Manchuria remains practically unchanged, only a part of Shin King province having been evacuated by the Russian troops. Trade in Manchuria is reported to be at a standstill owing to the unsettled state of affairs. It was expected that developments would have superseded upon the arrival of Mr. Leszar, Russian minister at Peking, on May 29, and especially as M. Plancon, the Russian chargé d'affaires, who put in the two sets of demands on China, informed the Chinese government on that day that in view of Mr. Leszar's arrival an immediate answer to the demands was required. So far the only outcome to M. Leszar's presence has been a statement alleged to come from him that the publication of the terms of the demands was regarded by Russia as a breach of faith on the part of China and that thereafter it would be necessary for China in future negotiations to appoint two commissioners, who should be held personally responsible for the success of the negotiations. The Japanese press denies Russia's right to impose any such conditions on China. The Yalu difficulty continues. It now appears that the Russians have purchased twelve acres of land at Hong An Pho in the name of their Korean interpreter and are busily engaged in collecting coal and building materials. The connection between this settlement and the Russian lumbering concessions of the Yalu is problematical. The Korean government has addressed protests to the Russian representative at Seoul regarding the alleged despoils and the desecration of graves by Russian subjects in Korean territory. The Russians are said to be surveying for a railroad by Liao Yang and via Fengshwang and roads fit for artillery have been built in that region which commands the Korean border.

MANNING SUPERSEDED IN WAR ON MAD MULLAH

Gen. Egerton With Troops From India Sent to Somaliland.

SIMLA, India, June 21.—Maj. Gen. Charles Comyn Egerton, who has been in command of the Punjab frontier force since 1898, has been appointed to the command of the Somaliland expeditionary force which is operating against the Mad Mullah, superseding Brig. Gen. W. H. Manning. Gen. Manning, who took command of the English expedition in Somaliland last November, after a reverse suffered by Col. Swaine, has not proved successful in his campaign. Columns detached from the force have been badly mauled by the Mullah's followers, the most serious British defeat being the ambushing of Col. Plunkett's flying detachment of 208 men, with two Maxim guns, on April 17, when Col. Plunkett, all his officers and practically the entire force was wiped out. The last day's advice received in London, June 14, was to the effect that Gen. Manning himself was surrounded, and unable to assist Col. Cobb, whose column was in a serious position at Calady and on half rations. One of the causes of the non-success of the expedition has been the cowardice of the native Somali regiment, of which so much was hoped when it was formed recently. Only a few days ago the news came that the native camel corps had mutinied. The operations against the Mad Mullah, who first raised the tribes against the British in 1899, have already cost $2,000,000. A desire has been manifested to abandon the campaign, but in view of the predicament of Gen. Manning's forces it has been found necessary to order British troops from India, and when they arrive the British expedition in Somaliland will consist of 30 British, 1,200 Indian troops, and 4,000 natives.

LABOR UNIONS LIABLE FOR BREACHES OF CONTRACT

To What Extent Are Individual Members of Those Unions Holden for the Acts of the Entire Body?--Great Labor Leaders Differ in Their Opinions.

Special to The Globe. CHICAGO, June 21.—Can labor unions held legally liable for breach of trade agreements or contracts with employers? Can members of unions be held individually liable for breach of contracts and for acts detrimental to employers and non-union workers, committed by "Members of a voluntary organization," said John S. Miller, "are not relieved of just liability merely because their association is unincorporated or because each individual was not personally and actively a participant in incurring liability. Voluntary associations are more like partnerships than anything else. In a partnership of course each partner is liable for the acts of the others. Members of a voluntary association consequently are responsible through its officers when such acts do not exceed the scope of authority given by the association and if they thus make a contract every member of that association becomes responsible for all of that contract and liable for breach of it." "Contracts, with employees," said Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, "are enforced on our side by our organizations. There is no law for hauling a union into court and no need of such law. Unions keep their agreements, and if employers do the same there will be little trouble." "Trade unions are not incorporated organizations," says Clarence S. Darrow. "They have no property, are not meant to do business or make money and under ordinary rules cannot be held responsible in damages on the theory laid down in the Taft-Vale decision, but with the interpretation of the law by judges who are not in sympathy with the working class the law may be construed to hold them responsible. For instance, in the city of Chicago, Judge Holdom issued an injunction in which he forbade men engaged in a strike from patrolling the streets or from collecting money to go to work to fill a striker's place. The decision of Judge Holdom means absolute slavery and would work the destruction of every trade union in the United States if it were followed or obeyed. As to contracts between trade unions and employers doubtless there is no way to compel their enforcement. I should say of hand that any man or body of men, whether a union, an employer or a union of employers, should be held responsible for its acts." Said George W. Perkins, for twelve years president of the cigar makers international union: "Our organization has not had much experience with them as we do not ask for contracts. Do not even ask for recognition of the union."

AMERICA PAYS FOR IMMIGRANTS

Money Sent to Old Countries Is an Offset for Their Loss of Subjects.

COPENHAGEN, June 16.—The emigration figures for recent years show that twice as many persons emigrated from Denmark to America as during the same period last year, and the "American fever" shows no signs of abating. It is shown, however, that the money sent back by Scandinavian settlers in the United States offsets to a large degree the loss to the country caused by the emigration of so many of its best citizens. Figures recently published in Christiania show that during 1902 a total of 14,000 kroner was remitted in this way to Norway alone in bank drafts, postal orders and through steamship companies. A considerable sum is also sent back every year in the shape of loose bills included in letters.

TEXTILE STRIKE IS DECLARED OFF

Men Concede Their Defeat in the Long Contested Labor War.

LOWELL, Mass., June 21.—The textile council this afternoon declared the strike in the Lowell mills is an end. Every union affiliated with the council was represented and the vote was unanimous. Mule spinners and loom fixers were included in this vote, despite statements to the effect that they would oppose a return to work until a statement, President Conroy said: "We now worship at the altar of defeat, but later we shall rise again and conquer." Agent William S. Southworth, secretary of the employers said: "It will be impossible to start the remainder of the machinery so as to employ at once all who will come back. Running with incomplete force for three weeks has disturbed the balance that usually exists between stock and prices in the various departments. A mill may have depleted stock in certain kinds of yarn and for that reason be unable to start all of its looms, even if the full complement of help is available. The selling agents and the treasurer to decide, in view of the market, whether we shall attempt to run in full. The strike began on March 30 and involved about 7,000 operatives. The mills were shut down until June 1, when the agents opened the gates and the majority of the operatives went back to work. The strike has cost in wages growing crops for 100,000 operatives and it is understood that the agents will take back the old help they have room for and will make no discrimination against the leaders of the strike movement. The high prices of cotton precluded any hope of the success of the strikers' campaign for the 10 per cent increase."

ROME, June 21.—F. Wilbur Stokes, the American artist, delivered today with great success a lecture in French on the coloration of the polar regions. The lecture was given under the auspices of the Geographical society and the hall of the Colosseum, which was filled with a distinguished audience.
