GERMAN BARON IS SOUGHT IN ST. PAUL

Reinstatement to His Rights in the Fatherland Awaits Von Puttkamer.

Baron von Puttkamer, descendant of a wealthy and noble Prussian family, is believed to be in St. Paul, and the police have been asked to locate him.

Just where he is, or what he is doing in this city is not known. The St. Paul police would like to find him, because the New York police want him, and the New York police want him because the police of Stettin, Germany, have asked the New York officers to locate Baron von Puttkamer, the father, and young Jesco von Puttkamer, his son.

The father and the son, Jesco, are the son and grandson of the Baron von Puttkamer, who served long in the Prussian cabinet as minister of the interior and vice president of the Prussian council of state.

KRAHMER'S NERVE FAILS HIM AT THE CRITICAL MOMENT

Declines to Assume the Responsibility of Fathering a Resolution for Raising the Assessment on Goods.

County Auditor Krahrmer reneged at the meeting of the board of equalization yesterday when it was put up to him to make the motion for the passage of a resolution providing for a 20 per cent increase in the assessment of goods and merchandise, an increase suggested by the county auditor himself.

The county auditor did not care to assume the responsibility of fathering the resolution, and there being no other person on the board anxious to take the burden off his shoulders, Mr. Krahrmer was silent while his pet scheme was being relegated to the rear.

Early last week Auditor Krahrmer announced to the board of equalization that he would present a plan whereby the total personal property tax assessment could be increased some $5,000,000, but the plan called for a radical change in the assessment as returned by Assessor Conley and the board refused to adopt it, preferring to stand by the county assessor in the matter.

Following this defeat Auditor Krahrmer, on Friday, proposed that all goods and merchandise as returned by the assessor be raised 20 per cent, which would increase the total tax roll more than $1,000,000, and the matter was made a special order for yesterday morning, it being expected that Mr. Krahrmer would endeavor to have a resolution providing for the increase passed.

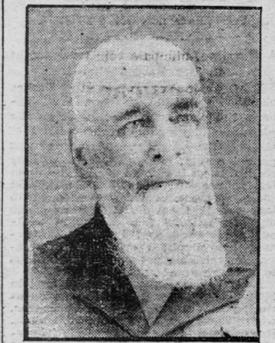

Krahrmer is Silent. But when the board of equalization met yesterday Mr. Krahrmer was astonishingly silent on the matter of the proposed increase, and the matter was not mentioned until Commissioner Pottgieser, who also favors the increase, inquired of Mr. Krahrmer:

"Well, why don't you offer your resolution now, Mr. Krahrmer, and let us see how the board stands on the matter of an increase?"

The question appeared to anger the county auditor, who is said to want the increase, but wants it made so that the "credit" will be placed on the shoulders of the board or on some one other than himself.

"I don't know as it is my duty to offer the resolution," warily replied Mr. Krahrmer, and after some words had been passed it became apparent that he had no intention of so doing.

The other members of the board sat by and waited, but no one offered the resolution, and the board finally adjourned without any action having been taken.

Auditor Has Authority. "If the county auditor wanted such a raise it was his duty to try and get it through the board," said one of the members at the meeting. "It appears very much as though he desired such a raise but wanted the responsibility for it to rest on some one else. Hereafter, if objections were made to the high rate of taxation, it could be pointed out that a Democratic board did it." No such political game can be played on this board. The majority of us are satisfied with the assessments as returned by Assessor Conley and do not propose to be hoodwinked into any scheme to 'knock' him simply to make campaign material for the Republicans. If Mr. Krahrmer believes the assessments as returned by Mr. Conley are too low he has an opportunity to correct them and he need not even come before this board to do it."

It was pointed out that the law gives the county auditor the power to correct assessments which he believes to be wrong, or where the return is too small, and should Mr. Krahrmer desire to change the assessments on goods and merchandise, he may do so himself, should he care to shoulder the responsibility for the raise himself.

The law which gives Mr. Krahrmer the power to correct assessments without consulting with any one else is found in the General Minnesota Statutes of 1894, section 1631, reading as follows:

"If any real or personal property shall be omitted in the assessment of any year or years, and the property shall thereby escape taxation, when such omission shall be discovered the county auditor shall enter such property on the assessment and tax books for the year or years omitted, and he shall assess the same and extend all arrears of taxes properly accruing against said property, with 7 per cent interest thereon from the time said taxes would have become delinquent, and the same shall be extended against such property on the tax list for the current year."

HOW TO FIND OUT

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains the linen it is evidence of kidney trouble. To quell desire to pass it, or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

WHAT TO DO.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney and bladder remedy, fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage.

Swamp-Root is a natural and gentle remedy, and its effects are felt in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to get up during the day and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is the highest of its kind, and its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes.

You may have a sample bottle of Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, and a book that tells all about it, both sent absolutely free by mail. Address, Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing be sure to mention that you read this in the highest of its kind, the St. Paul "Sunday Globe." Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

BREAKS SPINE BY FALL IN CHICAGO

C. C. Morrisette Lies in a Critical Condition as Result of Accident.

C. C. Morrisette, superintendent of the Palace Clothing company's St. Paul store, residing at 611 Aurora avenue, is in a critical condition at St. Joseph's hospital, Chicago, as a result of falling from the third story window of a residence of that city last Monday night. Morrisette was visiting in Chicago on his vacation, and being in a nervous condition he arose in his sleep and walked to a window from which he fell thirty feet to the pavement of the alley behind the building.

As a result of the fall he sustained a serious fracture of the spine and many bones of his body were broken. So grave is his condition that he is not expected to recover. He was immediately taken to St. Joseph's hospital, where he was operated upon. It was found impossible, however to set the fractured bones of the spine.

Morrisette has been connected with the Palace Clothing store during the past five years. He is married and is thirty-two years old.

Two ribs were fractured, his spine was injured and he was badly shaken up. He was taken care of by friends in the Windy City, and at his request was placed upon a train and brought to St. Paul, where he arrived yesterday morning. He is under the care of Dr. William Davis.

Arcker Post Plans to Erect Monument in Summit Park at Cost of $9,000—First of Kind in the State.

Nov. 1 Arcker post, G. A. R., intends to dedicate the first large monument to the state to the soldiers and sailors in the Civil war. Summit park, at the intersection of Summit avenue and Third street, has been selected as the site.

The shaft, it is expected, will cost $9,000. It will consist of a base of Minnesota granite, a monolith of Vermont marble twenty-six feet high, and the whole surmounted by the figure of a soldier in bronze, the height from base to top to be fifty-two and one-half feet.

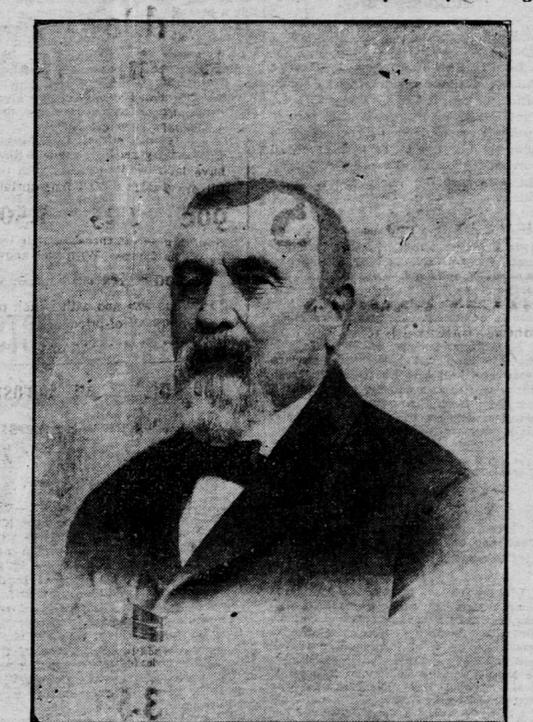

This monument will not only commemorate the deeds of the Union soldiers, but it will stand as a testimony to the fact that Minnesota furnished the first volunteer in defense of the Union, as well as the first regiment, as the model for the figure of the soldier will be Comrade Josias R. King, of Arcker Post, the first man to sign the roll after the call for volunteers.

A member of Arcker post, speaking of the action of the post in deciding to erect the monument, said: "For a number of years various efforts have been made looking toward the erection of a monument in St. Paul, commemorative of the services of the Union soldiers and sailors in the Civil war. Recently it was decided that if ever such a monument was to be erected, steps should be at once taken, in order to have it up before the boys were all gone to their final resting place."

"Within the past six months Arcker Post No. 21, G. A. R., of this city, took the matter in hand, and the result is that on Nov. 1 the monument will be dedicated and offered to the park board to care for. The spot selected

THEODORE HAMM

Prominent St. Paul Man Who Passed Away Friday Evening.

The death of Theodore Hamm, which occurred Friday night, created widespread regret among his hosts of personal friends in St. Paul. It is expected that the funeral, which will be held this afternoon, will be one of the largest ever seen in the city.

Services will be held at the late home of Theodore Hamm, Cable and Margaret streets, at 2:15, after which services will be held at the Church of the Sacred Heart, corner of Arcade and East Sixth streets, at 2:30. The interment will be at Calvary cemetery.

A profusion of floral offerings were received at the house last night. Besides Mr. Hamm's numerous personal friends the members of the Druids and the Badischer Verein will attend the funeral.

The honorary pallbearers will be George Benz Sr., M. Deifel, F. J. Gleason, Philip Heck, Christ Fiege, Martin Feish, Philip Thon and Theodore Rold. The active pallbearers will be A. J. Schweizer, John Hemsch, E. H. Bohn, George Rank, George Benz and W. W. Dunn.

A double quartette of the Mozart club will furnish selections at the house and at the church.

for the monument to stand is an ideal one, as it marks the line of march of the Legion G. A. R. parade, which was held during the encampment in St. Paul in 1896.

"It will cost $9,000, and of this sum $7,500 has been provided for. This amount raised does not include the various sums collected some four or five years ago by committees in the interests of a proposed monument, following the G. A. R. encampment in this city. The amount collected at that time was small and will undoubtedly be turned over towards the cost of the present one."

"In all the cities of any size in the South there are numerous monuments commemorating the services of the soldiers in the Revolutionary war, the War of 1812 and the War of the Rebellion. As one comes North the absence of any monuments of this kind is particularly noticeable. The one to be erected in St. Paul will be one of the finest in the country, and will be a tribute to the brave and gallant deeds of the volunteer soldiers of the Civil war."

KING CHARLES FOLLOWS EDWARD AND WILHELM

Portugal's Monarch Visits the Brooklyn and Swaps Taffy With Cotton.

LISBON, Aug. 1.—King Charles, in the uniform of an admiral, the prince royal, Louis Philippe, the young Prince Dom Manuel and Premier Balsemão today embarked at the naval dock yard on the river Tagus for their visit to the American squadron. They were accompanied by the dignitaries of the national cabinet of Portugal. The royal ministry of marine. Every honor was accorded to the royal and state barges as they moved out of the river, both the American and Portuguese men-of-war, which were gallily dressed for the occasion, firing salutes.

As the barges neared the flagship Brooklyn the band aboard played the national anthem of Portugal. The royal personages were received at the head of the ladder by Admiral Cotton, who was surrounded by his chief of staff, the commanders of the other ships and United States Minister Bryan. Flies of sailors manned the gangway.

The king and his entourage made a tour of the Brooklyn. The king made a complete examination of the equipment, guns and armor of the ship, his conversation on this subject with Admiral Cotton being very interesting and cordial. The visit ended after a luncheon on board the Brooklyn, at which the king and Admiral Cotton exchanged compliments.

GREAT HANDKERCHIEF DEAL

Between Field, Schlick & Co. of This City, and a Belfast Linen Manufacturer. For the second time a large sum has been paid to import duty on what is known in the dry goods world as "handkerchief seconds." The first one occurred a little over a year ago, and the duty was then paid by the same firm, Field, Schlick & Co.

The handkerchiefs, which are of the highest grade of Irish linen, are manufactured by the firm of John S. Brown & Sons, Belfast, Ireland. Their linens are known over the length and breadth of America as the finest that come to this country, a reputation which has been acquired in part by their rigid attention to the perfection of their products. Every piece of linen cloth undergoes careful scrutiny by experts when it leaves the loom, and the slightest irregularity or imperfection brands it as "second."

In the case of handkerchiefs the finished article is again submitted, and a thick or a thin thread is sufficient to cause its retirement to the ranks of "seconds."

It is claimed that many manufacturers pass as perfect handkerchiefs which this Belfast concern throws into the imperfect class. From the foregoing some idea can be gathered of what is in store for the lovers of linen handkerchiefs in St. Paul and adjacent territory, for the low price at which this class of goods can be bought will make the sale of them an event of surpassing interest. Field, Schlick & Co. control the product of the John S. Brown & Sons' mills for St. Paul.

The handkerchiefs above spoken of are to be sold tomorrow, and the firm is making unusual preparations for the reception of the crowds which are sure to attend.

GARFIELD POST SUFFERS CAPTURE

Veterans of Civil War Are Made Prisoners at Point of Bayonet.

Veterans of Garfield post, G. A. R., will not be able to boast hereafter that they have never been captured, for last night while enjoying a quiet meeting at Central Annex hall, indulging in recollections of the days when they fought on Southern battlefields, or endured the hardships of mountain or wilderness, they were surprised by an invading force armed to the teeth, and were compelled to make an unconditional surrender.

About 9 o'clock there was an ominous knock on the outer door of the hall. The guard who went to answer the summons was quickly seized, overpowered and bound. The invaders then advanced single file in skirmish style. The guard of the inner door was seized, gagged and bound in the manner the outer guard had been treated.

Within, unaware of the danger that threatened the grizzled veterans, who knew every device and trick of war, but were not suspecting any hostile demonstration, continued their meeting. Suddenly, however, the quiet of the hall was broken, the door was dashed open and fifty men in uniform with set bayonets advanced into the room.

With the instinct bred of years of campaigning the veterans' first impulse was to resist the invasion. There were no weapons in the hall, however, the only warlike implement being the old cannon in the center of the floor, and for that there was no ammunition. Seeing the hopelessness of their position the veterans gathered in a group only to be surrounded by the invaders.

Commander J. A. Lathrop, of Garfield post, was seized and dragged from his throne. A strong guard was placed over Capt. L. L. Mahan, department commander of the G. A. R., and Adjt. A. L. Kendrick was subdued at the point of the bayonet.

The invaders then took formal possession of the meeting. Capt. E. L. De Lestry, who headed the invaders, declared that the meeting of the post was adjourned and that a special meeting of Camp 1, Sons of Veterans, was called. Capt. Mahan, Commander Lathrop and Adjt. Kendrick, all being sons of veterans as well as veterans themselves, were mustered into Camp 1, Sons of Veterans, and were presented with badges.

A musical programme was then given to console the old veterans who never before had suffered a defeat, and addresses were made by Capt. E. L. De Lestry, Capt. Arthur Jones, of Minneapolis, and Capt. Al Sorter, of Mason City, Iowa.

The invaders, having anticipated a more prolonged struggle than they encountered, had come provided with ample rations. Having expected that a long siege might have been necessary before the veterans could be captured, they had brought with them such a liberal supply of provisions that after the conclusion of the musical programme the commissary announced that supper would be served in the adjoining room. Thither sons and fathers, captured and vanquished, repaired and celebrated a complete but bloodless victory.
