

BOAT IS RAMMED AT NAVAL REVIEW

Exciting Episode of the Show Given in Honor of the President—Torpedo Boat Destroyer Barry Runs Into the Destroyer Decatur, the Latter Having Kermit Roosevelt on Board—Damage Small, but Thrill Immense—Salutes Fired and Toasts Disposed of.

OYSTER BAY, L. I., Aug. 17.—For the first time in the history of the country the president of the United States today reviewed and inspected, in time of peace, a great fleet of United States warships. The ceremony was a magnificent and impressive naval spectacle. It was unmarred by the slightest mishap until just at its conclusion, when the torpedo boat destroyer Barry rammed the destroyer Decatur, doing little damage, however.

The incident was exciting. It occurred just at the moment when the president was receiving congratulations upon the success of the maneuvers.

The first squadron of destroyers, consisting of the Decatur, Bainbridge, Barry, Dale and Chauncey, all under command of Lieut. L. H. Chandler, was approaching the Mayflower at full speed. The vessels were in close formation.

Orders were signaled from the Decatur to the other vessels to form a wedge. In executing the orders the Decatur swung across the bow of the Barry. An instant later the Barry rammed her on the starboard side. As the ships were running twenty knots the blow was tremendous.

Seemed as Though Sinking.
The Decatur listed sharply to port and seemed to be in serious distress. From the Mayflower she appeared to be sinking.

The Mayflower's boats were manned instantly, but were not lowered, as the Decatur was seen to right herself. In a few minutes she hoisted a signal of "no serious damage."

The Barry, which had struck the Decatur a glancing blow, had her bow crippled by the collision, but she was not injured otherwise. The accident put a sudden stop to the maneuvers of the destroyer squadron.

Admiral Dewey ordered Lieut. Chandler to proceed with the five vessels to the Brooklyn navy yard, where such repairs as may be necessary could be made quickly. After the damage has been repaired, the squadron will rejoin the fleet and continue the summer maneuvers.

Both the president and Mrs. Roosevelt noted the accident with great calmness, notwithstanding the fact that their son Kermit was on board the Decatur at the time of the collision. Admiral Dewey said that such an accident was a part of the war game and must, at times, be expected.

CANAL TREATY IS REJECTED BY THE COLOMBIANS

Spooner Amendment Touching Nicaragua Route Was Regarded a Threat—Action of Senator Creates Consternation on the Isthmus.

BOGOTA, Aug. 17.—The Colombian senate has unanimously rejected the Panama canal treaty.

It is reported today that President Marroquin has been authorized by congress to make a new treaty which will not require further ratification, but that the basis will probably prove unacceptable to the United States. It is considered, however, in official circles that the authorization given by congress to make a new treaty will furnish a basis for reopening negotiations. One of the objections to ratification which carried weight in the senate was that the Panama Canal company did not come to a previous arrangement with the Colombian government for the transfer of the concession.

The action taken by the senate,

CROP-MOVING FUNDS ARE NOW IN SIGHT

Treasury Will Not Have to Pay Out Fifty Millions for Panama Canal.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 17.—The news from Colombia that the Panama canal treaty has been rejected will relieve the treasury department from the possible necessity of drawing upon the banks for government deposits to make the two payments, one for $40,000,000 to Colombia and another for $10,000,000 to the Panama Canal company, both of which would have become payable immediately upon the ratification of the treaty.

The payment of this large amount of money at this time has worried treasury officials not a little, particularly as the treasury may be called upon to furnish money to the banks for crop-moving purposes within the next few weeks. The payment of this sum at any time within the next month would have curtailed the treasury's ability to extend aid for crop moving. As matters now stand the treasury is in a position to go to the assistance of the banks for a substantial amount.

BASHI BAZOUKS BEGIN THE WORK OF SLAUGHTER

They Pillage and Destroy Christian Villages, the Turkish Authorities Convinced at the Outrage—Bulgarian Reserves Are Mobilizing.

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Aug. 17.—A dispatch received here from Uskub says that 600 Bashi Bazouks, under the command of Albanian chiefs who are notoriously cruel, have pillaged and destroyed Christian villages in the districts of Debre and Okrida. The Turkish authorities, it is added, convicted at the outrages, and furnished the Bashi Bazouks with old uniforms, in order that they might appear to be regular soldiers.

Orders have been issued for the mobilization tomorrow of two divisions of reserves. It was rumored that they will be employed in strengthening the forces on the frontier to prevent the passage of Bulgarian bands from Macedonia. The officials, however, state that this rumor is unfounded.

SENATORS FORM A FINANCIAL PLAN

Subcommittee Finally Unites Upon a Programme—It Includes Removal of Restriction Upon Retirement of Bank Note Circulation and Deposit of Surplus Customs and Internal Revenue Receipts With National Banks, Accepting State and Other Bonds as Security.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 17.—The subcommittee of the senate finance committee at last united on a practical plan to urge congress to provide at once the remedies it believes the country demands. These are:

Removal of the restriction upon the retirement of bank note circulation, which makes the maximum limit $3,000,000 a month.

Authorization for the secretary of the treasury to deposit surplus receipts from the custom houses as well as receipts from internal revenue taxation in national banks, accepting as collateral security state, municipal and railway bonds.

A majority of the committee are now in favor of a provision requiring that where securities other than government bonds are taken for public deposits at least 50 per cent of the collateral shall be government bonds. This is practically the whole extent of the committee's present programme.

What attitude Mr. Cannon will take on these proposals is not known here. As to the time when the extra session will be called together, the best informed opinion here is that nothing has been determined. Much probably depends upon the condition of the money market. If the markets remain quiet and undisturbed during the next fortnight or three weeks the chance of an early session in October will be improved. Any serious unsettlement which would seem to give to the early calling together of congress a special significance would undoubtedly lead to the carrying out of the original programme, under which the extra session was to be called on Nov. 8 or later.

GAME BIRD IS DEATH OF A CHILD

Two-Year-Old Tot in Indiana Is Badly Mutilated and Its Clothes Are Torn Completely Off.

Special to The Globe.
ELWOOD, Ind., Aug. 17.—The two-year-old child of William Hopkins, of this city, met a peculiar death this afternoon. The child was playing in a yard while the mother was busy with her housework in the kitchen.

Mr. Hopkins is the possessor of a fine specimen of a game cock. In some manner the child attracted the attention of the fowl and he made a furious attack upon the little one. Both the child's eyes were torn from their sockets, its clothes were torn from its body and it was so severely injured that it died a few hours after being rescued by the frantic mother.

TURKEYS WILL BE SET UPON GRASSHOPPERS

Montana Ranchmen Will Import Thanksgiving Birds From the East.

COLUMBUS, Mont., Aug. 17.—The cattlemen and the sheepmen of the portion of the state swept by a plague of grasshoppers are beginning to import large flocks of turkeys in the hope that the birds will eat all the hoppers and thus save for the sheep and the cattle the little grass that remains on the ranges. Ranchmen all over the state are greatly alarmed, especially as the grasshoppers are eating the roots of the grass thus spoiling the ranges for next year.

Several of the stockmen at a recent meeting decided that the best way to meet the situation would be to import turkeys to purchase all the birds they can get. It is estimated that the turkeys will cost $75,000.

Grasshoppers are so thick that they are plastered each day on the locomotives of trains and the wheels are so slippery that when the locomotives stop it is difficult to start them again. They have eaten the ranges bare.

LARGEST BABY SLEEPS ITSELF TO DEATH

Weighs Fifteen Pounds at Birth and Lives but Two Days.

SPECIAL TO THE GLOBE.
SPRINGFIELD, Minn., Aug. 17.—Mrs. Nels Nelson gave birth to a boy who weighed fifteen pounds and is believed to have been the heaviest child ever born in this locality. The child went to sleep after the first day and slept steadily for one day and a night, when it died.

BEARS ARE DIVERTED BY HYMN-SINGING

Woman With Presence of Mind Saves the Lives of Her Children.

SPECIAL TO THE GLOBE.
ANACONDA, Mont., Aug. 17.—By means of a hymn, "My Soul Be on Thy Guard," and a tin can, Mrs. Walter Bierman, of Helmsville, has saved the lives of her two little girls, which were threatened by a huge cinnamon bear. Mrs. Bierman and the two children went over into Nevada valley yesterday to spend the day and incidentally gather berries. Late in the afternoon the mother lay down in the shade, with the little ones at her side, and was soon in dreamland.

As she slept a mother bear, accompanied by a young cub, approached. How long she slept she does not know, but finally Mrs. Bierman was awakened by a sense of impending danger. Opening her eyes she saw, less than two rods away, and gazing at the children, who had wandered into a little ravine near by, the mother bear and cub, which were gradually drawing nearer to the children.

"Oh, mamma, see the pretty dogs," suddenly cried one of the little girls, as she turned and saw the bears.

Then the bears began to advance in earnest on the infants, while the mother sprang to her feet, half wild with fright. Suddenly she was seized with an inspiration. Grasping the pall, in which she had a lot of berries, she turned it bottom side up and began gently beating on it, at the same time singing the hymn that was running through her mind.

The noise attracted the attention of the bears, which ceased their advance toward the children and turned to the woman, who walked toward them. For a moment the animals gazed at the woman, then turned and disappeared in the underbrush. Mrs. Bierman took the children and beat a hasty retreat.

GIRL GETS $1,000 FOR USING RIFLE

Saves Life of Woman Tourist and May Gratify Her Desire for Education.

SPECIAL TO THE GLOBE.
RED LODGE, Mont., Aug. 17.—Because she knows how to use a rifle and is a brave girl, little Helen Johnson, daughter of a rancher living near the park line, has saved the life of a woman tourist and has been made $1,000 richer.

Mrs. G. H. Sanderson, of San Francisco, in company with her husband, has been doing the park, and yesterday met with an adventure which has transformed Miss Johnson into a heroine. While walking in a deep canyon at the western edge of the park Mr. and Mrs. Sanderson were attacked by a bear. Mr. Sanderson, being unarmed and a cripple, was unable to help his wife, and so climbed into a tree.

The woman was speedily overtaken by the bear and knocked senseless. Walking over to where she lay the bear was beginning to sink his claws into her tender flesh when a rifle shot rang out in the distance, and the bear, with a snarl of pain, turned to face the enemy. Mrs. Sanderson, who had by this time partially recovered, rolled out of reach of the animal, which, wounded in the front legs, was unable to follow her. A moment later a second shot was heard and the bear dropped with a bullet in his head. While Mr. and Mrs. Sanderson were wondering where the shots came from Helen Johnson appeared.

"I was sitting up on that rock," said the girl, pointing to a crag far up the canyon, "when I saw the bear attack you. I knew I had not time to reach you, so I took a chance and fired from where I was. I'm considered a good shot, and I think I did the business."

Mrs. Sanderson went to the home of the girl and there gave her $1,000, which comes in very handy for the maiden, whose one desire in life has been to secure an education. She is now in a position to go to college, and Mrs. Sanderson has promised to aid her all in her power.

EASY MINING BRINGS MONTANANS FORTUNES

Work Over the Tailings of Big Mines With or Without Permission.

SPECIAL TO THE GLOBE.
HELENA, Mont., Aug. 17.—Many men here in Montana who do not own mines and who a short time ago were engaged in almost every business under the sun, have found a new way to get rich out of the mines of other persons. They are working over the tailings of the big producing mines of other days, and in nearly all cases are cleaning up fortunes. In a few cases these men have come to an understanding with the owners of the tailings, but in others they are working without permission, and lawsuits may follow.

Ever since mines were opened here the tailings have been allowed to run down the creek. Within the last two years ranchers along the creeks have taken to installing small cyanide plants and working over the tailings. Mining in this district is experiencing a boom, and more ore, copper, gold and silver is being taken out than ever before.

KIDNAPER DRIVES A WOMAN INSANE

Iowa Farmer's Wife Escapes After Being Held for $50,000 Ransom.

SPECIAL TO THE GLOBE.
DAVENPORT, Iowa, Aug. 17.—A most daring kidnaping took place near Bennett late last night. Mrs. John Hilrow, wife of a wealthy farmer, was kidnaped, imprisoned in the cellar of a deserted farm house, and held for a ransom of $50,000.

A stranger called at the home and told Mr. and Mrs. Hilrow that their son, living at Wolcott, was very sick and they were wanted at once. They immediately drove off with the stranger. When within two miles of Sunbury the husband was thrown out of the buggy and told that he must bring $50,000 to a secluded spot near Bennett. He was also told that if he informed the police he would be killed.

The man then drove on with Mrs. Hilrow for several miles until they had arrived opposite a corner school house. Here the kidnaper tied his horse and dragged the woman to a deserted house, where she was imprisoned in the cellar.

During the night Mrs. Hilrow escaped and was found this morning in the farm yard of Henry Ruesser, insane and very ill. She was recognized and news of her discovery telephoned to the Bennett police. The case was then investigated, and after considerable difficulty, so great was the old man's fear of the kidnaper, the facts were brought out. Mr. Hilrow has offered $1,000 reward for the capture of the man, and the sheriff immediately collected a posse and started in pursuit. Up to a late hour tonight no clew has been unearthed.

SEARCHERS ARE OUT FOR LOST CHILDREN

Seven Little Ones Go Berry Picking at Hayward and Do Not Return.

SPECIAL TO THE GLOBE.
HAYWARD, Wis., Aug. 17.—Seven children, aged from three to seven years, have been lost in the woods. Search parties are being formed. The little ones went berry picking early in the afternoon and much alarm is felt for their safety because of a storm which struck here tonight.

CROSSES THE ARCTIC CIRCLE IN HIS AUTO

Charles J. Gliddon Gives Sweden a Relic of His Achievement.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 17.—Postmaster General Payne today received a cablegram from Charles J. Gliddon, who is making an automobile tour of Europe, saying that he had so far covered 8,900 miles and had crossed the Arctic circle in his machine. He also stated that he had officially deposited with the Swedish government an American flag which he had carried across the arctic-circle.

CARRIE NATION IS LOCKED UP AGAIN

Policeman Stops the Knocking of Pipes From the Mouths of Men.

BAYONNE, N. J., Aug. 17.—Mrs. Carrie Nation was locked up here this evening charged with disorderly conduct. She collected a crowd by haranguing on a street corner, and then ran around among the men striking cigars, pipes and cigarettes from their mouths until a policeman arrested her.

REARS 25 ADOPTED CHILDREN

Then Mrs. Shuey, Aged 87, Almost Weeps Because She Can Help No More Motherless Ones.

SPECIAL TO THE GLOBE.
CHICAGO, Aug. 17.—Holding the world's record for adopting and rearing the largest family of other people's children, Mrs. Mary Shuey almost wept recently when she saw motherless children playing about a south side orphanage and realized that her old age—she is 87—would not permit her to adopt and rear another large family. At 87 Mrs. Shuey is spry and can outdance her niece. She enjoys a life as much as she did in the early pioneer days when she danced on punch-oven floors in the log and sod houses of Virginia. At 47, Mrs. Shuey, who had been married for a score of years, was childless. Her heart yearned for the company of a child.

"I just wanted company, and I told my husband that I had to have a child about the house," she said in relating of the first adoption, which occurred just forty years ago. "Joe Richey was our first boy." Then one day in Kansas Mrs. Shuey's attention was attracted to a boy who was about to be sold or bound out to the highest bidder. She entered the bidding contest and soon had another homeless lad under her protection. This boy, Benjamin S. Bain, is her name, is now a prosperous Oklahoma farmer. Only one of her family of twenty-five children died while in her care.

"I am proud of my family," said the old woman. "Not one of my children ever disappointed me. None of them ever went wrong."

MAN IS SAVED BY HIS CELLULOID COLLAR

It Prevents His Being Killed by a Footpad With Razor in Hand.

SPECIAL TO THE GLOBE.
CHICAGO, Aug. 17.—With blood streaming from wounds on his head and face and a gash on the right side of his neck, Frank Berger walked into the Harrison street police station early today and said that he had received the wounds in a fight with two hold-up men at Clark and Van Buren streets. The wounds had been inflicted with a razor and Berger says that if he had not had on a celluloid collar which bore the brunt of the last slash from the razor, he would have been killed. He said that when the men ordered him to throw up his hands, instead of obeying he seized one of the men by the collar and was striking him over the head when the other man cut him with a razor.

The first slash made a deep cut in the back of Berger's neck. Another slash made a cut over the right ear. The third cut was the deepest, and according to physicians, would have caused his death had he not worn a celluloid collar. As it was the razor cut through the collar and only scratched the skin over the jugular vein.

SNATCHED FROM THE WHIRLPOOL'S EDGE

Prominent Young Woman of La Crosse Is Rescued by Unknown Riverman.

SPECIAL TO THE GLOBE.
LA CROSSE, Wis., Aug. 17.—After struggling with almost superhuman power against the deadly power of "Death Hole" whirlpool, Miss Ethel Laue, a prominent young woman of this city, was saved today from death by an unknown riverman. Miss Laue grasped the edge of a raft that hung near the spot as she was being swept into the vortex and held on until assistance reached her.

No other has ever been in "Death Hole" whirlpool and lived to tell his experience. Miss Laue fell from a handsomely appointed house boat, where she was spending the afternoon.

WILL SURRENDER IF GRANTED A DUEL

Butte Detective Accepts Challenge of an Escaped Prisoner.

BUTTE, Mont., Aug. 17.—Pat Rogers, one of the six men who broke from the Butte jail on the night of Aug. 8, has written a letter in which he says he will give himself up if City Detective Murphy will fight a duel with him.

Murphy today accepted the challenge.

FALL KILLS CONTRACTOR.

J. C. Frankson, of Mankato, Finishes His Building Work.

SPECIAL TO THE GLOBE.
MANKATO, Minn., Aug. 17.—J. C. Frankson, contractor, was instantly killed by a fall of eighty-two feet from the upper floor of a building he was constructing for the Birebar Maltng company, this afternoon. A concrete floor in which Frankson stood between two iron joists gave away without warning. He was badly mangled.

THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY IS HARMONIOUS.

From the Faribault Pilot.

The St. Paul Daily Globe had a timely article one day last week on the prevailing harmony in the Democratic party. Some of its Republican neighbors scoffed at the statements of The Globe in regard to the Democracy being united, and quoted from Bryan's recent speech in Ohio, in which he called Grover Cleveland a bunco steerer, to show that there is still enmity existing between prominent Democrats who pose as leaders.

The Globe is correct, that on the pending political issues the Democratic party is harmonious. When the great masses of a political organization have agreed as to the questions or issues on which they desire to go before the country in a national contest, then it may be truthfully asserted that such a political party is united.

The Democrats have unanimously elected tariff revision and reduction as the leading issues for the presidential contest next year. There is not a dissenting voice as to the wisdom of this choice. The party is united on the one great question, and will force it as an issue until the Dingley bill is repealed and there is a reduction in the tariff schedules.

The masses of the Democratic party care little for the personal animosities existing between Mr. Bryan and Mr. Cleveland. There is not one Democrat in a hundred that will support Mr. Bryan in his ridiculous efforts to incorporate a free silver plank in the Democratic platform next year.

The Democratic party does not consist of Mr. Cleveland and Mr. Bryan, but of seven millions of voters, who have with one voice agreed that the robbing Dingley tariff law must be repealed and a just and equitable tariff law enacted in its stead.
