SAYS FARMER STOLE HIS OWN HORSE

Sheriff Justus Arrests Wealthy Agriculturist Who Threatens to Make Him Trouble.

W. P. Vietsch, a wealthy and prominent farmer and land owner, whose home is near Rush City, was brought to St. Paul yesterday on a warrant sworn out by Sheriff P. C. Justus, who charges Vietsch with horse stealing.

The arrest was made by Deputy Sheriff Reichow, who brought Vietsch to St. Paul, where he was released on $500 bond, when arraigned before Judge Hine yesterday afternoon.

Vietsch indignantly denied the charge. His hearing was set for Sept. 5. The arrest of Vietsch grows out of the mysterious disappearance of one of his own horses from Shea's barn, on Fifth street, early this week.

Vietsch brought the horse to St. Paul two weeks ago and placed it in the care of Oscar Scott, but after Scott had possession of the horse a few days, there is said to have arisen some trouble over a settlement, and Vietsch, in order to get possession of the horse, which is a valuable animal, sued out a writ of replevin, which was served by Sheriff Justus, who took charge of the horse pending the settlement of the replevin suit. Sheriff Justus placed the horse in Shea's barn, from which place he charges Vietsch with taking it.

According to the story told by the employees at Shea's barn, a man called there Tuesday and secured possession of the horse, representing that he wanted to take it to a blacksmith and have it shod. The horse has not been seen since it was taken from the barn that day.

Sheriff Justus, who was in legal possession of the animal, was informed of its disappearance, and after an investigation swore out the warrant charging Vietsch with stealing the horse. Vietsch was not known to the people at Shea's barn, but the sheriff says he has sufficient proof to convince him that it was Vietsch who took the horse from the barn.

On the contrary, Vietsch denies the charge and declares most emphatically that he did not take the horse and that he has no knowledge of its present whereabouts. He was very indignant at the arrest, and said he would sue Sheriff Justus for trouble.

Mr. Vietsch is the owner of a large farm near Rush City and is said to be highly respected in the community in which he lives. He also owns three other farms and is reputed to be worth more than $50,000.

Every precaution was made yesterday to keep the arrest of Vietsch a secret, but the story leaked out when he was arraigned in court.

FALLS FROM BOX CAR AND FRACTURES SKULL

Unknown Man Meets With Serious Accident in Railroad Yards.

Shortly after 7 o'clock last evening an unknown man fell from a box car in the Northern Pacific yards, at the foot of East Fourth street. He sustained a bad scalp wound and probably fractured his skull.

The man was riding on one of the box cars which was being switched into the yards. He was standing on the top of the car, falling to the ground, a distance of sixteen feet. When picked up by the train crew he was unconscious. The police ambulance was called, and the injured man was taken to the city hospital.

There was nothing in his pockets which would aid in his identification. Up to 2 o'clock this morning the man was still unconscious. The attendants at the city hospital say he will recover.

PIONEER RESIDENT DIES AFTER A YEAR'S ILLNESS

John G. Petter Had Lived in the City Since 1854.

John G. Petter, for many years a resident of St. Paul, died last night at the family home, 265 Carroll street, after an illness of more than a year's duration. He was seventy-one years of age.

Mr. Petter was born in Germany in 1825, and came to America in 1854, settling in St. Paul. He had since resided here, and for the past forty years had been engaged in the carpenter business. He served in a Minnesota regiment during the Civil war, and prior to coming to America was a soldier in the German army.

Four children survive Mr. Petter—Miss Lizzie H. Miss Annie, and F. L. Petter. All, with the exception of F. L. Petter, live in St. Paul. The funeral arrangements have not yet been made, but the burial will probably take place Sunday afternoon at Oakland cemetery.

UNION MEETING BREAKS UP IN A RUCTION

Two Members Get Belligerent in an Argument.

While attending a meeting of the Maricutters' union at Columbia hall, yesterday evening, W. Hoff and Stradley became involved in a dispute over the management of the union, which for a while threatened to end in a free-for-all fight.

The two men first engaged in a talking match, which finally led to blows. Both were backed by friends, and it looked for a few minutes as if the entire crowd would be embroiled in the fight. Someone sent for the police and the timely arrival of a patrolman put a stop to the quarrel. Both Hoff and Stradley were taken to the Prior avenue police station, charged with disorderly conduct. They were released on bail.

N. D. FARMERS SEND REQUEST FOR HELP

Say They'll Lose Much Grain If They Can't Get Men.

There is a scarcity of help in the North Dakota harvest fields and the local employment agencies have been appealed to by the farmers. In the Devil's Lake district the scarcity is acute.

The officials of the Great Northern road yesterday received appeals for help. The letter, which was from the Farmers' Grain and Shipping commission of Devil's Lake, stated that the situation was critical and that unless more hands were secured many thousands of bushels of grain would be lost.

Because of the high wages now prevailing in the cities and the heavy demand for men, the move to the harvest fields this year has not been as heavy as usual. Fancy prices have to be paid to get harvest help.

COSTELLO GETS IT

Once More Becomes Secretary to Mayor Smith.

Michael J. Costello was yesterday appointed secretary to Mayor Smith. George F. Moser, resigned, Mr. Costello enters upon his new duties today.

Following upon his financial troubles of some weeks ago Moser's resignation did not elicit much surprise, though Moser insisted that his retirement was not compulsory.

"I resigned because I have other things in view," he explained. Mr. Costello was Mayor Smith's secretary previous to Moser's appointment. He resigned the office because of other business that was more remunerative, but Mayor Smith, it is understood, had some weeks ago, and he immediately made overtures to Mr. Costello to take the office again.

Moser's salary will continue until the close of the month, though in presenting his resignation he desired that the time of acceptance be Oct. 1. Mayor Smith refused to consider it and made the date Sept. 1.

UNCLE SAM HEADS OFF THE STRONG-BOX BURGLAR

Puts a New Alarm Device on All Federal Building Safes.

The festive burglar, who tampers with the safes and vaults in the big federal building from now on will think he has run into a hornet's nest.

For the better protection of the big amounts of money and valuable papers that are housed in the several dozen strong boxes that form a part of the equipment of the big building, Uncle Sam is having the vaults enclosed in electrical cabinets.

The cabinet is a wooden casing and is so wired that when penetrated by a tool from the outside or disturbed by dynamite an alarm is set off in the police station or the offices of the A. D. T., the owners of the patent. Even tampering with the outside lock will cause an alarm.

The device is in use in many banks and is being put in all the buildings owned by the United States. The protection afforded will cost Uncle Sam $750 a year for royalty on the appliance.

FORMER ST. PAUL PEOPLE FIND MARRIAGE A FAILURE

Were Once Prominent in Social Life of This City.

A New York dispatch announces the appointment in that city of a referee in the divorce suit of Miss Fannie P. Snow against E. J. Gray Snow Jr. The local feature of the contest is that Mr. and Mrs. Snow were formerly of St. Paul, having been quite prominent socially. Mrs. Snow is the daughter of a wealthy ranch owner, R. F. Pickett, and while on a visit to St. Paul met her husband. They were married in August, 1893.

Snow, since his separation from his wife, has been trying to get possession of his two children, which are with the mother. He secured a writ, but the mother prevented its execution by locking the children and herself out of her apartments. Both are prominent in Eastern society circles.

THE PINKHAM CURES

ATTRACTING GREAT ATTENTION AMONG THINKING WOMEN.

Mrs. Frances Stafford, of 243 E. 114th St., N.Y. City, adds her testimony to the hundreds of thousands on Mrs. Pinkham's files.

When Lydia E. Pinkham's Remedies were first introduced skeptics all over the country frowned upon their curative claims, but as year after year has rolled by and the little group of women who had been cured by the new discovery has since grown into a vast army of hundreds of thousands, doubts and skepticisms have been swept away as by a mighty flood, until to-day the great good that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and her other medicines are doing among the women of America is attracting the attention of many of our leading scientists, physicians and thinking people.

Merit alone could win such fame; wise, therefore, is the woman who for a cure relies upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Promises to Support His Wife. T. D. O'Connell, 655 Third street, was in police court yesterday charged by his wife with failure to support his family. He pleaded guilty, but gave the excuse that he had been out of work and unable to secure employment. O'Connell agreed to furnish his wife with $25 a month as soon as he secures work. So Judge Hine dismissed the case.

PUBLIC BATHS CLOSE ON SEPT. 8

Dr. Ohage Says He Will Cease Soliciting Funds, but Will Accept Contributions.

Dr. Ohage announces that he will close the public baths for the season on Sept. 8, and also that there will be no more begging done by him for their maintenance and improvement.

"I would close the baths Monday were it not for the fact, but I know there will be lots of visitors who will want to see the place, and for that reason I will keep them in charge on duty another week," said Dr. Ohage yesterday.

"The weather has been the worst I have seen in years," he added, "and it has materially cut into our receipts. I had hoped to see a profit this summer, but instead we will be about $2,000 The attendance was large, considering, but the trouble was that it was only at times.

PUBLIC BATHS CLOSE ON SEPT. 8

Dr. Ohage Says He Will Cease Soliciting Funds, but Will Accept Contributions.

Dr. Ohage announces that he will close the public baths for the season on Sept. 8, and also that there will be no more begging done by him for their maintenance and improvement.

"I would close the baths Monday were it not for the fact, but I know there will be lots of visitors who will want to see the place, and for that reason I will keep them in charge on duty another week," said Dr. Ohage yesterday.

"The weather has been the worst I have seen in years," he added, "and it has materially cut into our receipts. I had hoped to see a profit this summer, but instead we will be about $2,000 The attendance was large, considering, but the trouble was that it was only at times.

"One thing I hope to improve next year is the 'Zoo' never knew what delight it afforded until I put in a few small animals. Hundreds of persons came solely to see the animals, and they have proved such a feature of the exhibit next year."

In line with his intention not to ask the public for any more funds, Dr. Ohage says that heretofore he will depend solely on the council and conference committee for sufficient money to keep the island open and the grounds and building in repair.

"The public I know," said Dr. Ohage yesterday, "is getting tired of this continual request for funds for the public baths, and I intend to quit asking for any. Of course, voluntary contributions will be accepted with thanks, but the council will have to foot the bill hereafter. When the budget is made I will submit a statement showing the amount of the improvements contemplated, and I am satisfied it will be given."

One of the improvements contemplated next spring is the use of the sand dredge in filling up the marshy edges of the island. If this is done about eight acres of new swampy land will be made habitable, and the area of the island considerably enlarged. In order to provide a solid footing for the shores in the event the fill is made, Dr. Ohage has been collecting old planks all summer.

An effort will also be made to induce the council to provide enough money to put in a new drainage system. Make-shift cages now house the animals, and they are inadequate to the demand. The "Zoo" has become a great feature and is visited by thousands of children.

WEDDED TELL WOES IN DIVORCE COURT

Two Wives and One Husband Ask Dissolution of the Tie.

Mrs. Letha L. Listebarger yesterday began suit in the district court for a divorce from her husband, Louis H. Listebarger. She alleged habitual drunkenness. The wife is twenty-one years old, the husband thirty-four, and they were married in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, in June, 1900.

Emma Winkel asks the court for a divorce from Bernard J. Winkel, whom she married at St. Peter, Minn., Oct. 25, 1887. She says he has deserted her. There are two children, aged four and six years respectively.

H. P. Winterhalter says his wife left him shortly after they were married, in Grand Rapids, Mich., December, 1899, and he wants the court to give him a divorce. The husband is twenty-six and the wife twenty-one years of age. There are no children.

LOSSES $1,500,000 IN STATE CAPITOL

the value of the contents of the envelope, and when he was afterwards informed that his guardian had got away with it, he was very much surprised. Recently, however, he says, he has been making an investigation of the matter and was led to believe that the envelope had never been taken from the vault in which it was placed. He does not remember in what vault this office was located, and he has visited the state historical society and the offices of the state auditor and treasurer. His search in these places was fruitless, and he declared he would place the matter in the hands of an attorney, with a view of ascertaining what had become of his fortune.

Picard declined to give the name of the man who he believed as his guardian, but said if he could find an attorney, whose office was in the Globe building, but whose name he does not remember, he thinks he could get some trace of the papers. The attorney, he says, advised him to place the money in the vault at the capitol for safe-keeping.

When asked to explain why he had never before attempted to secure possession of papers of such great value, Picard said he had been a rather wild young man and that he had decided to leave the papers until he was able to properly care for such an amount.

Picard is a painter and has lived in St. Paul almost twenty years. He says his father was a wealthy French marquis.

Some One May Have Stolen It. Picard intimated in his conversation at the capitol yesterday that some state official had stolen by his having the valuable papers, and said he would secure the services of an attorney and investigate the matter thoroughly. He requested "The Globe" reporter to keep the story out of the paper.

"You see," he said, "I have a wealthy brother in New York, and if he learned of this he will want his share of it. I was young and wild, and the favorite of my father, and my brother was cut off without anything."

Picard devoted an hour or more to looking for his fortune at the capitol yesterday, and visited the vaults of the number of the capitol employees in the search.

The officials were inclined to discredit the weird story related by Picard, although serious was made of some of the vaults in the building for the missing papers.

NEW RULE GOES NOW PROTESTS AGAINST LOSING HIS JOB THEY WANT A RAISE

Odd Fellows May Confer High Degrees Anywhere.

The first special session in the history of the Minnesota grand lodge of Odd Fellows will be held today at Brainerd.

At the last regular annual session of the grand lodge an innovation in the conferring of grand lodge degrees was suggested and adopted. The new regulation provides for the conferring of grand lodge degrees at special sessions and which formerly could only be had at the annual session in St. Paul.

The grand lodge is authorized to hold from two to ten special sessions annually in different sections of the state, to give grand lodge degrees to past masters who have been unable to attend regular sessions.

The session today at Brainerd will be given special attention from the fact that it marks the beginning of the new order of procedure, and will be attended by prominent Odd Fellows from points throughout the state. Grand Secretary A. L. Bolton, Grand Master E. A. Farnsworth and Past Grand Warden Winn Powers, of St. Paul, will leave with a party this morning to conduct the session.

Line of Least Resistance. Everybody naturally takes the line of least resistance—that is the direction in which he meets with the least opposition. We all want to "take things easy," and the articles that make things easier for us are the most popular. The newspaper contributes to the world's ease by making known the "easy" things in every line. The "easy" medicine, "Cascarets," Candy Cathartic, is easy to buy, easy to give, children, easy to carry and easy in its action. Medicine-giving and taking used to be a hardship, but the ease-loving world progresses.

ROBBERS FIND A LITTLE AMUSEMENT IN KANSAS Lock Up Others.

McFARLAND, Kan., Aug. 28.—Early this morning six masked men heavily armed attempted to hold up a freight train and started to enter the office door. Conductor Monahan, of a freight train which had pulled in, and Night Baggageman Charles Toler attempted to block the door, but the robbers forced an entrance and after taking a few dollars and watches, beat the railroad men into insensibility.

They then rifled the depot of its contents, and going to the eating house, held up and took all the valuables from a half dozen men on the platform employed at the roundhouse and a part of the train crew. Passengers at the lunch counter scurried upstairs and blocked the entrance effectively. The bandits then looted the eating house cash register and silverware. They then carried six of the roundhouse employees, including the night hostler and Baggageman Toler, locked them in a refrigerator car and disappeared. The bandits secured eight watches and probably $150. They left McFarland on foot. The sheriff and posse are in pursuit.
