Wheat closed lower yesterday after irregular session. Early the market showed considerable strength, but on the advance there was considerable profit taking and prices eased off towards the close.

Wheat—The market was erratic, prices showing a number of rapid changes. After opening on the indifference displayed by cables, our advance of 1/2 cent was made under the influence of the Minneapolis December option. On the advance there was general profit taking and prices eased off towards the close.

Corn—Corn was easier from the start and trade lacked snap. The excellent export business and the steady demand reported Thursday had a firming effect, but prices gave way when edge corn from Chicago continued to move, which is fast depleting our stock of mill sample and the movement of the shipping demand slim.

Oats—The market displayed the best strength in the wheat market, but a break in the other classes, influenced by strength to the close. The cash market is the feature of the market. The demand is large and steady. Receipts here were moderate and percentage of O'Connor and Van Bergen's stock letter says:
