AMALGAMATED MINES IN MONTANA CLOSE

This Is the Result of Judge Clancy's Decision That the Minnie Healy Property Belongs to Heinze—Officials of the Amalgamated Company Say the Works Will Remain Closed Till the Courts Protect the Company.

Special to The Globe. BUTTE, Mont., Oct. 22.—Supt. John Gillis, of the Amalgamated company properties in Montana, tonight issued an order for the suspension of all operations of the Amalgamated mines, smelters, collieries, lumber plants and quarries. In fact, everything owned by the big mining combine comes to a standstill as the result of two decisions rendered by Judge William Clancy today, when he decided that the famous Minnie Healy mine, a $10,000,000 property and estimated to be one of the richest mines in the Butte camp, belonged to F. Augustus Heinze and granted Heinze an injunction against the Boston & Montana company property, the best producer owned by the Amalgamated company.

close affects every county in the state, and from 15,000 to 20,000 men will be made idle. Tonight the night shift in the mines were called off and the men told the properties had closed indefinitely. Tomorrow the fires in the Washoe smelters, at Anaconda, which are the largest in the world, will be drawn and 3,000 men thrown out of work. The electrolytic works at Great Falls, employing 2,000 men, will also suspend tomorrow. About 6,500 men are employed in the Butte mines and smelters and their wages amount to $50,000. Over 9,500 tons of ore are produced daily. The Amalgamated officials declare all operations will be suspended until the company can be given some protection in the courts, as it is useless to run and have their properties looted. Judge Clancy's decision, they say, brands the Amalgamated company as an outlaw and bars them from con-

DRIVER OF A SPRINKLER DOUSES A STATESMAN

Congressman Baker, of Ohio, Figures in an Incipient Riot and Is Arrested.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Oct. 22.—Congressman Robert Baker, of Brooklyn, and others have been holding meetings here for some time in the interest of Mayor Tom L. Johnson's candidacy for governor. During a meeting this afternoon, Anthony L. Scholer, driving a sprinkling cart, drove into the crowd, very nearly running over Congressman Baker. The latter protested, and then the driver used his whip on Baker and others. An incipient riot followed until the police arrested both Baker and Scholer. Baker was released and Scholer was held on bail.

IS HUBBARD LOST?

Assistant Editor of Outing Penetrates Labrador Wilderness.

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Leonard Hubbard Jr., whom traders returning to St. John's N. F., from Labrador, report as lost in the Labrador wilderness, is the assistant editor of Outing. He left New York last July to explore the heart of Labrador. Ten weeks ago he started from Rigolette, on the east coast of Labrador, with a Cree Indian guide and one white companion. They were to travel by canoe and on foot through an entirely unknown country to the George river, along which the last tribe of primitive North American Indians gather at this time of the year to fill their canoes. This point is 700 miles beyond the last Hudson Bay company's post. No white man has ever penetrated as far as Mr. Hubbard intended to go. Regarding Mr. Hubbard's disappearance, Caspar Whitney, editor of Outing, said: "I think there is more sensation than fact in the report of Mr. Hubbard being lost. My experience has been with this class of traders that they are always prone to start sensational stories of any one who plunges into the country beyond any point where the trappers happen to have been and who fails to come out on a railroad schedule time. I have every confidence that Mr. Hubbard will come out safely and very soon."

PRESIDENT PARDONS A WAYWARD BANKER

Teller Tyler Is Thought to Have Been Punished Sufficiently.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 22.—The president has pardoned Joseph Tyler, former teller of the Safety Fund National bank, of Pittsburg, Mass., who has served two and a half years of a five-year sentence for temporarily appropriating several thousand dollars to his own use. Tyler pleaded guilty and made the money good. The district attorney and the sentencing judge a year ago recommended a pardon on the ground that the prisoner had been sufficiently punished. LYONMISTEK, Mass., Oct. 22.—Tyler was convicted of robbing $13,000, his defalcation being for the time covered by false entries, but a complete restitution was made to the bank. Before Tyler was arrested every effort was made by friends to affect a compromise with the bank and prevent criminal prosecution. It was claimed at the time by his friends that the bank officials agreed that in case restitution was made Tyler would not be proceeded against. Nearly a year after restitution was made, it is alleged, in violation of their agreement, the bank officials had Tyler arrested and indicted for defalcation. He was charged with twelve counts and convicted on two. Judge Lowell imposed the minimum sentence of five years. Tyler is forty-five years of age.

ALLEGED POSTOFFICE ROBBER IS KILLED

MOUNTAIN GROVE, Mo., Oct. 22.—C. R. Roney was killed near Hartsville, Mo., today by Deputy United States Marshal W. T. Brown, of Springfield, and Deputy Marshal Thomas, of Norway. Roney was with his nephew, Con Roney, and both were armed with rifles. When ordered to halt by the officers a battle ensued. C. R. Roney was killed almost instantly and Con Roney was wounded, but not seriously, as he escaped. C. R. Roney was an alleged postoffice robber.

PERHAPS THEY'RE BOTH RIGHT.

PURSUES CHILD-WIFE AND LANDS IN JAIL

Minnesota Farmer Has Trouble In Checkmating Divorce Proceedings in Wisconsin.

Special to The Globe. MADISON, Wis., Oct. 22.—William Burnham, a wealthy farmer and stockman, of Perham, Minn., came to Madison in pursuit of his nineteen-year-old wife and landed in jail for contempt of court. He defied and cursed an order to pay $100 suit money and $25 a month maintenance, the order being issued by Court Commissioner Crawford J. Harper, and Sheriff Robert J. McWatty hauled the farmer out of bed at the Hotel Main and cast him into a cell in the Dane county jail. He will remain there until he hands over the money. Four years ago Burnham married the girl, then only fifteen years old, the girl left and came to Madison, working out as a domestic servant, managing to earn a poor living, and finally making her home in the family of Asa T. Hill. Divorce proceedings were brought in the circuit court for Dane county. Asa T. Hill was appointed guardian ad litem of the girl for the purposes of the divorce proceedings, she being too young to carry the action in her own name. Service of the summons and complaint was made by publication, as the defendant resided outside of Wisconsin, but a copy of the papers was mailed to him. Had he remained in Minnesota it

LIVES WITH PART OF BACKBONE GONE

Iowa Miner May Survive a Peculiar Injury.

Special to The Globe. DES MOINES, Iowa, Oct. 22.—With one joint of his vertebrae removed, Ernest Foreman, of this city, is living, though his condition is serious. Foreman is a miner and a large piece of slate fell upon his back. The bone was crushed and a vertebrae split. The latter was removed, the patient going through the operation well. Foreman is twenty-one years of age. The accident happened in the Gibson coal mine shaft, near Altoona, 175 feet deep.

TO SNUB DIVORCEES

Cardinal Gibbons Gives Advice to Catholic Women.

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Rev. J. H. McMahon, director of the cathedral library, lectured tonight on the subject of "Divorce on Its Practical Aspects to Catholics." He began by quoting expressions of opinion secured from Cardinal Gibbons and Archbishop Farley. Cardinal Gibbons' opinion was given in a note signed by his secretary. "His eminence would say" runs the note, "that Catholic ladies cannot well take upon themselves to regulate the customs of society, situated as they are in this country. Therefore he would not say that they should not meet married divorced people in general gatherings. But he would advise them neither to invite such people to their social functions nor to accept any invitations from them." Archbishop Farley's opinion is thus expressed: "There should be no question among Catholics as to their attitude toward persons living in open violation of the most sacred law of matrimony. Would such be suitable society for their children?"

BANK AT LE SUEUR GOES TO THE WALL

Liabilities Are $80,000 and Most of the Depositors Are Neighboring Farmers

Special to The Globe. LE SUEUR, Minn., Oct. 22.—The Farmers' and Merchants' bank, of Le Sueur, owned by W. H. and W. A. Patten, suspended payment today. The liabilities are about $80,000. It is impossible to say what the depositors will realize. This bank was organized six years ago and it was largely patronized by farmers. W. A. Patten, the cashier, was treasurer of the Minnesota Valley Canning company and of the Farmers' and Merchants' Telephone company. Both of these institutions will probably lose something in the failure. The owners of the bank have endeavored to organize a national bank here and already the building was undergoing repairs for the change of this institution into a national bank. Neither of the co-partners would make any statement as to the cause of the failure, nor of the financial condition of the bank, further than to give the liabilities. The bank was not licensed under the state banking laws and had no capital stock. It is alleged that over-speculation was the cause of the failure.

ST. LOUIS BOND JUMPER IS CAUGHT IN MEXICO

Charles Kratz's Good Time Seems to Have Come to an End.

GUADALAJARA, Mexico, Oct. 22.—Charles Kratz, a member of the St. Louis city council, indicted on a charge of bribery, who jumped $20,000 bond, was arrested today by the local authorities on orders from the federal government at the City of Mexico. He will be held until officers with requisition papers from the United States arrive.

The sweepstakes prize for the junior and senior Galloway champion cow or heifer was won by the Brookside farm's Adella, of Brookside (Fort Wayne, Ind.), and C. E. Clark's Dainty, of Waverley (St. Cloud, Minn.), respectively.

SHE REFUSES TO WED UNDER WRONG NAME

Miss Marie Buckendahl Declines to Be Married as Delia Oyster House.

A strange and peculiar matrimonial transaction which came to light at the clerk of court's office in Minneapolis is one which took place Wednesday, when George Dohn secured a license to marry Delia Oyster House. This appeared upon the record and nothing was thought of it at the time, but yesterday the unusual name disappeared and in its place was the name of Marie D. Buckendahl. Upon investigation it was learned that when Dohn first appeared for the license he did not know the name of his fiancée and was obliged to go out to get it. When he returned he had the first name referred to on a slip of paper and all went well. The wedding was to take place Wednesday evening, but the young woman refused to be married as Miss Oyster House. She had Name Changed. The wedding was postponed and yesterday the woman came to the clerk's office and asked to have the name changed on the license, as her name was Marie D. Buckendahl. The clerk said that he could not do this, as the man who had secured the license had sworn to his statements, and he did not know whether she was making the right claims. She was informed that her prospective husband would have to come to the office and swear that she was the same person whom he had named Delia Oyster House. The man was finally brought in and the desired alterations made. Dohn claimed that Miss Oyster House was a girl that he had formerly kept company with, and that when he went to get a license to marry his last choice he got mixed up and went out and got the wrong name, which he admitted he had some one else write for him. Cruiser Denver Falls. BOSTON, Mass., Oct. 22.—The second-class protected cruiser Denver failed to make her contract speed, seven days and an hour in the government's trial test off Cape Ann today. The Denver averaged 16.28 knots, and while the tidal corrections will probably be in her favor, they will not be sufficient to bring her up to the required speed.

SENDS A FATAL CUP

Charming Little Toy Figures in Dismissal of Grand Vizier.

BRUSSELS, Oct. 22.—Letters from Belgian officials employed in the Persian customs finance department bring an amazing story today concerning the recent removal from office of the Persian grand vizier, Mirza Esfghar Khan. Some weeks ago the governor of the province of Ratch received a golden cup containing poisoned coffee, which the shah sends to officials which he wishes to banish from the world. The governor drank it, and, of course, died afterward. It was discovered that the golden cup had not been sent by the shah, but by an unknown person. The grand vizier was accused of being the sender and of having planned the death of the governor, whose growing influence made him jealous; whereupon the shah dismissed the grand vizier. The latter, expecting also soon to receive the fatal golden cup, in his turn asked and obtained leave to go on a pilgrimage some miles from Teheran and fled to the coast, where he sailed for Europe. He must now be in Vienna or Paris. Since the vizier's flight the shah has constituted a sort of cabinet in which the most important post has been intrusted to M. Naus, the Belgian director of customs.

WHAT THE ALASKAN AWARD SIGNIFIES

Vice President Clough, of the Great Northern, Points Out the Advantages Derived by American Interests, Especially the Railroads—Great Benefit Is to Have Both Ends of Transit Controlled by the United States.

Special to The Globe. NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Col. W. P. Clough, vice president of the Great Northern railway, and also of the Northern Securities company, was asked today how the Alaskan boundary decision would affect American railroad and commercial interests. He said: "The decision of the Alaskan boundary commission gives the United States government control of the approaches by sea to the entire British Klondike region and all that part of British North America lying north of 54.40 degrees north latitude. Naturally American carriers will have a greater advantage in handling business into the general Alaskan regions. "This decision merely confirms the things that have existed for forty years, with some changes of comparatively little importance. British maps for the past forty years have preserved the same Alaskan boundary line practically as it is now. The principal port of entrance into the Klondike gold regions is Skagway, and there are existing arrangements for passing goods in bond through United States territory. "One of the advantages that the American carriers will derive from the definite settlement of this boundary question will be the advantage that must naturally exist from having both ends of transit controlled by the United States government. The Canadian contention was for a boundary line that would cut across the deep inlets between their mouths and their heads so as to leave the heads in British territory. This important point the Canadians lost. The western terminus of the projected Grand Trunk Pacific railway will be at Port Simpson, which is at the mouth of the Portland canal, the boundary was between British North America and Alaska. FOUND A RARE PRIZE IN CHICAGO PAWN SHOP

South Dakota Man Just Learns That He Possesses a Guaranius Violin.

Special to The Globe. HURON, S. D., Oct. 22.—It has fallen to the lot of H. C. Middlebrook, of Highmore, to be the possessor of a genuine Guaranius violin. Prof. Voigt, of the musical department of Huron college, while on a visit to Highmore a few evenings since, made the discovery. H. C. Middlebrook, of that place, attended the recital and after the programme was concluded asked Prof. Voigt to come to his store and examine an old violin which he had there. The professor compiled and upon examination of the instrument at once pronounced it a very valuable one. Closer examination convinced him that it was a masterpiece, and after spending several hours upon it, pronounced it a genuine Guaranius, made about the year 1740 at Cremona, Italy. Guaranius violins are the best in the world and the one Mr. Middlebrook finds himself possessed with is worth thousands of dollars. Mr. Middlebrook is a lover of the violin, a connoisseur of the instrument, and one day while in Chicago he was inspecting some old ones in a pawn shop and purchased one. The dealer was so apparently well pleased with the sale that he made the purchaser a present of an old, cracked and comparatively worthless instrument, covered with black paint and the midwife of ages. Middlebrook took the violin home, removed the paint, fixed it up for use and was both delighted and astonished at the one. Consequently he kept the instrument, and now through Prof. Voigt is apprised of its great value.

BURDETTE WILL HAVE A MILLION-DOLLAR TEMPLE

Humorist Preacher Will Hold Forth in a Palatial Church.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Oct. 22.—A $1,000,000 building will be erected here for the New Temple Baptist church, of which Rev. Robert J. Burdette, the noted humorist and lecturer, is pastor. The plans contemplate as a part of the gigantic structure a public convention hall, the whole making a double building. The Baptist auditorium will resemble the Mormon tabernacle at Salt Lake City. A stock company is being formed to construct and operate the building, and assurance is given that an Eastern multimillionaire Baptist is ready to put up $500,000 for the project, while the remaining half will be provided locally. Burdette is in the East and will interest financiers if necessary. The temple is to be built in the business center of the city.

AIDED BY THE WEED

Man Recovers Lost Speech by Chewing Tobacco.

MUNCIE, Ind., Oct. 22.—F. W. Wolf, living near Stone Station, who has been dumb for more than two years, has recovered his speech as the result of chewing tobacco. Two years and a half ago Wolf was struck by lightning and until last Sunday had been unable to utter a sound. Some of the leading specialists in the state were consulted and declared that Wolf was afflicted with permanent paralysis of the vocal organs. Last Saturday night Wolf dreamed that a chew of tobacco would restore his speech. The man had been an habitual user of the weed before the accident which deprived him of his speech, but which returned the habit became annoying to him and made him sick. This caused him to quit the habit entirely. Acting on the dream, he took a chew of tobacco Sunday morning, and a few hours afterward he was able to make slight vocal sounds. He kept on chewing and soon was able to talk. Physicians say they can give no scientific reason for the cure.

DEVERY HAS TO GO BACK ON SAM PARKS

Says the Agitator Is an Ingrate and Carries Water on Both Shoulders.

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Up to midnight Parks was still in a cell in the Tombs, he having been unable to secure a bondsman. William S. Devery, who had originally procured a bondsman for Parks to the amount of $15,000, has declined to aid him any longer. In a long statement issued tonight, Mr. Devery gave his reasons, saying: "I had already procured bondsmen for Parks in the penalty of $15,000. This was done merely as a matter of friendship to him and because I believed he was a persecuted man. I have not seen Parks since Oct. 7, when he returned from Kansas City. Since then he has been consorting with Mr. Murphy and his friends, and they have been undertaking his defense, so I am informed. I will not stand for any man who carries water on both shoulders and who is not as straight in his friendship to me as I am to him. Parks has acted the part of ingrate to me."

GEN. CLAY'S HOME IS BEING SOLD

Portions of the Estate Disposed of Bring Nearly $50,000.

RICHMOND, Ky., Oct. 22.—Whitehall, the famous home of the late Gen. Clay, was sold at public auction today to Warfield Bennet, a grandson of the "Sage of Whitehall." The estate proper, containing 350 acres, was sold for $29,225. That part of the estate which is separated from Whitehall and known as the Ann Clay Crenshaw property, containing 275 acres, was sold for $20,525. The Bellevue portion of the estate, containing 325 acres, will be sold tomorrow. The five miles left by the late Gen. Clay, mostly in favor of his late wife, Dora Clay Brock, are still being contested. In the last will, on which the principal contest is being centered, Gen. Clay provided that "Whitehall" should become the property of the United States government and that on its site a national park should be founded.

Must Surrender Church Property.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 22.—By a decision of Justice Wagoner, rendered today, Father Joseph Maszotas must surrender possession of the Lithuanian church property at East St. Louis to Bishop Janssen. Maszotas' attorneys took an appeal to the circuit court, thereby assuring the priest possession of the property until Jan. 11. Bishop Janssen removed Father Maszotas last July. The priest declined to give up either his church or the church property. The case finally reached the papal delegate, Mgr. Falconio, at Washington, who decided in favor of the bishop.

Is It Wentz's Body?

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 22.—The dead body of an unknown man was found today by a roadside near Clinton, Tenn. Nothing could be found to indicate his identity. He wore a "K. A. E. O." lodge pin. He was well dressed. It has been suggested that the dead man may be E. L. Wentz, the young Philadelphia millionaire, who has been missing from Big Stone Gap, Va., for the past week.
