REJECTED LOVER TAKES HIS LIFE

fired through the window, proceeded to start the yard back of the house. He discovered the body of Ewald lying on the back porch in a pool of blood.

Beside the young man's body lay a 38-caliber double-action revolver, and a hole in his head behind the right ear showed where the fatal shot had taken effect. The bullet lodged in the brain and did not penetrate the skull at the opposite side.

Lived in Fear of Him. "We have been living in fear of Ewald ever since a month ago," said Miss Jacomet, when seen last night. "He had three times threatened to take my life and my own, and I was afraid that he might do it. He was arrested a month ago for threatening to shoot me, and since then I have been in fear he would do something desperate."

"John and I went together for nearly two years, but since last July I had not seen him for a month. I found that he had deceived me several times, and I did not want to have anything more to do with him. He asked me to marry him last July and I told him then that it was impossible. When I said this he became greatly excited and exclaimed: 'I wish I had a rifle; I would end both our lives.' I did not pay much attention to his threat at the time, and I kept away from him as much as possible, thinking that he would notice my treatment and come to me. But he continued coming, and again he became desperate, saying that if I still refused to marry him he would throw himself in front of a railroad train."

A month ago he came to the house, and after knocking at the kitchen door, asked me to step out into the yard. I told him that I did not want to see him, and he would have to come into the house, and he then entered. He sat down on a chair and spoke threateningly. He declared that he had been in a cross his path, and that I went with another man he would kill me both. I became alarmed and was terrified when he dropped a revolver on the floor and came toward me. I ran to the window, picked it up and threw it out the window. He then ran after it and I ran into the front room and called for help.

"He then went to a saloon where he was shortly arrested. He was discharged from the county and since then I have been in terror. Mr. McDonald asked me to stay in the same room with her and we always kept the curtains down. Tonight we had the curtains up and he came in from the middle room while Corenus was playing the piano. Suddenly we heard a shot and a crash and I jumped up. I did not realize my narrow escape till I saw the bullet hole in the wall. The next we heard the shot and then run upstairs together."

Had Carefully Planned the Deed. Ewald had evidently planned the deed carefully, for on his body was found a box of cartridges from which only a single load had been taken. He was seen at a saloon a short while before he ended his life and to a friend he had said that he would never be seen again.

Miss Jacomet is a handsome Swiss girl, aged nineteen. Ewald was twenty-five and resided with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Ewald, at 830 Sims street. He was a steamfitter and had been employed by Holt & Dalby during the past few years. He is survived by his parents, two sisters and six brothers. A cousin of Miss Jacomet is married to William Ewald, brother of John, and resides at 1033 Minnehaha street.

Cars Leave the Rails.

Special to The Globe. ELK RIVER, Minn., Nov. 11.—A wreck occurred early this morning on the Great Northern road at Bailey's siding, where by about fifty head of Montana steers were killed and much railroad property destroyed. The train was running forty miles an hour, and when the switch at the west end of the siding was reached six cars of stock, two cars of fish and six cars of shingles left the rails and piled up in a mass, at the same time tearing up six or eight rods of rails. Either the switch was defective or had been left unlocked by some preceding train crew.

THEY GET AFTER ARMOUR IN IOWA

Packing Company Seems Cornered After Three Escapes on Technicalities.

Special to The Globe. DES MOINES, Iowa, Nov. 11.—After escaping a trial for violating the oleomargarine law of Iowa three times on technicalities, the Armour Packing company will have to prove to the Polk county law court that it has not violated the Iowa statute. Today Judge James A. Howe ruled on a demurrer to the indictment returned by the grand jury against the company. It was overruled. The company contended that the indictment was in fault in that it did not name the substance which it was claimed it placed in the product to give it the appearance of butter. Judge Howe held:

"As I interpret the law, it prohibits in the making of a substitute for butter the combining of any substance with anything of any kind or nature for the purpose or with the effect of imparting to the compound the color of yellow butter. The statute also prohibits the sale of such product and this is what the indictment charges. It may contain surplusage, but, as I understand the law, it contains all that is necessary to charge an offense under the law. I see no reason for believing the statute is unconstitutional."

The company will fight the case bitterly. The prosecuting witness is Dairy Commissioner Wright, who is confident that the Armour Packing company has been violating that provision which prohibits coloring imitation butter to resemble the genuine.

CHURCHES GET MONEY.

Methodist Missionary Committee Awards $ums to the Northwest.

OMAHA, Neb., Nov. 11.—At the opening session of the general missionary committee of the Methodist Episcopal church today the report of the treasurer of the missionary society, Dr. Homer Eaton, of New York, was the principal business. The report was for the year ending Oct. 31 and showed the missionary gifts of the denomination have surpassed those of any former year in the history of the church. The receipts for the year amount to $1,654,223, passing the million and a half mark for the first time. The increase for the year, aside from special gifts, amounted to $138,974. The disbursements for the year for all purposes were $1,200,000, of which $715,420 went to foreign missions and $475,570 to home missions.

The general appropriations made at the morning session left $1,235,000 to be appropriated to the various missions, home and foreign. A report was read which provided for the appropriation of $75,000 for property interests in the foreign mission. West Wisconsin was granted $4,200 and Wisconsin $3,600. These sums are used to supplement pastoral support in charges and are turned over adequately to provide for their own pastors.

The following appropriations were made: Black Hills mission, $4,000; Dakota, $5,000; Montana, $3,200; North Dakota, $5,700; $500 of this for new work; Northwest Iowa, $2,455.

ADJUDGED A MURDERER.

Mrs. FLOOD IS CONVICTED OF KILLING JOHN LONDON.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Oct. 11.—Mrs. Nancy Jeanette Flood was today found guilty of the murder of John London at the farm on April 21. The evidence was largely circumstantial, the prosecution's case being based on discrepancies between Mrs. Flood's story and that of Barney Fingleton, who waits table on the same charge. London was insured for $1,000. He was eating a meal at Mrs. Flood's table when he was shot to death.

Omaha Has Grain Exchange. OMAHA, Neb., Nov. 11.—The Omaha grain exchange was permanently organized at a meeting this afternoon with a membership of 121. McWhorter; second vice president, E. E. Bruce; secretary, A. B. Juchacz; treasurer, A. L. Edgar. The exchange will be incorporated with a capital of $250,000, of which $75,000 will be taken at once by the members. The exchange will have its market established in thirty days.

Machinery Dealer in Trouble. ST. CLOUD, Minn., Nov. 11.—The International Harvester company has placed an attachment for $4,500 against the machinery store of M. Desenau, and the business is in the hands of the sheriff. The Bradley-Clark company of Minneapolis is involved to the extent of $3,000 secured by notes, and F. M. Wengert for $2,000 secured by mortgage. The assets are principally notes given by farmers. Slow collections given as the cause of the difficulties.

Ugly Little Object. MADISON, Wis., Nov. 11.—The town of Oregon, Dane county, is stirred up over the finding of a machine in the Grand Central hotel. The explosive was in the shape of dynamite, which filled a cigar box. The machine was placed underneath the clerk's desk and contained enough of the explosive to demolish the hotel in the vicinity. No motive can be assigned for the deed.

DISCUSS METHODS OF CHARITY WORK

Second Day's Session of the State Conference Is Largely Attended.

The attendance at the twelfth annual state conference of Charities and Corrections at Plymouth church yesterday increased to 400 and included many prominent men and women of the Twin Cities. The most notable speaker of the conference was Edward T. Devine, general secretary of the charity organization of New York city, who last night spoke on the proper administration of charitable relief. "Organized charity," he said, "stands for the development and encouragement of charitable impulses. If the world-wide desire to help others can be organized, associated and directed, we shall see the end of one half of the world's misery."

Mrs. C. H. Higbee, of St. Paul, made a plea for "Personal Service." She pointed out the mistake of depending upon theory rather than personal influence as a power with which to shape character and events.

At the morning session Judge J. W. Finehout, of St. Paul, suggested a law compelling a husband to labor for wages in a workhouse as a remedy for desertion. The present law compels the state to care for the deserted family and the deserted husband as well.

Frank L. Randall, of the St. Cloud reformatory, thought that the confinement in jail of prisoners in idleness while awaiting trial is a bad thing, and recommended that prisoners confessing to a felony be set to work in a reformatory or penitentiary without waiting for the convening of a grand jury.

Secretary J. F. Jackson, of the Minneapolis Associated Charities, characterized the Hennepin county jail as the worst school for crime in the Northwest, as hardened criminals corrupt first offenders by being confined with them.

In the afternoon Judge E. W. Bazille, of St. Paul, read a paper on "Neglected and Dependent Children in the Probate Court." He called attention to the fact that twenty-five years ago the bringing of such children before the probate court was an almost unheard-of occurrence, and cited these reasons for the increase—the perforce of civilization; the greater and more seductive temptations leading to the weakening of family ties; the congestion of large centers of population where parents are unable to properly teach and guide their children. In his experience he had not found the officers of the humane society and other charitable organizations zealous in trying to separate children from objectionable parents, as has often been charged. He considered that the homes whose only want is poverty should not be interfered with.

Mrs. H. A. Tomlinson, Mrs. W. E. Bramhall, St. Paul; Mrs. C. G. Higbee, Mrs. Lydia F. Schaeffer, and Mrs. E. M. La Penotiere were among those who took part in the discussion. Mrs. Higbee asked why, if one bad woman is as bad as seven men, she is given seven times less protection than man. A reception at the parlors of the Commercial club during the afternoon was a feature of the day. The conference will close with a reviewing session today.

HAVE STRANGE HALUCINATION.

They Believe Some One Is Trying to Chloroform Them.

Laboring under the hallucination that they are in danger of being chloroformed, two elderly sisters of Mandan, N. D., are being held at the county jail until an examination can be made as to their sanity. The two women, Lilly and Cora Marcy, twenty years teachers in the Mandan, Dakota public schools, form one of the most pitiful cases ever cared for in the city.

"Unceasingly they talk of the danger of being chloroformed, declaring that persons have already made one attempt to put them out of the way and been killed to protect them. It is believed, it is said, that their loved ones are being murdered for their safety. Their mother died last January, and two months later a brother followed her, leaving the women without relatives.

Both have the same hallucination. While they were at the central station under the care of Mrs. Schaeffer yesterday afternoon one of them suddenly rose from her chair and tottered forward. "She was chloroformed the other night and hasn't yet recovered from the effects of it. I am forced to constantly keep her, or else I fall asleep, when I would never again wake."

One of the women bears the marks of a bruise on her right hand which her sister declares was sustained when she jumped from the car window Tuesday night.

Both women are well educated, and although the clothes are shabby and old-fashioned, they bear every mark of refinement.

ELOPERS TRACED TO OREGON.

Deserted Husband Says He'll Chase Them to the Earth's End.

August Miller, of 205 Central avenue, who eloped with Mrs. Sumner E. Russell, of 601 Central avenue, taking along Mrs. Russell's three daughters, aged 7, 9 and 12 years, has been traced to Portland, Or. The arrival of the eloping couple has been reported by the authorities of that city, but it is said they have left Portland and their whereabouts are unknown. Russell has sworn out a warrant for the arrest of Miller and his wife and says he will pursue them to the ends of the earth.

A pathetic feature of the elopement is that Miller left an invalid wife without money and she has been obliged to apply to the poor department, which has sent her to relatives in Menomonee, Wis., to be cared for.

CHESTER MILL WILL SPEAK.

Problem Before American Association of Fairs and Expositions.

Special to The Globe. MADISON, Wis., Nov. 11.—Chester R. Smith, of St. Paul, is the featured speaker at the annual convention of the American Association of Fairs and Expositions, to be held in Chicago, Dec. 1, on the subject, "Night Entertainments at Fairs." This question has been perplexing the managers of state fairs for years, particularly in those states where the fair grounds are in or near a large city, where city patronage and night attendance can be made profitable by the provision of electric lighting systems and "midway" or carnival attractions. The other side is whether or not the matter is yet undetermined and Indiana is practically in the same situation. In the year of the world's fair in Chicago, 1893, not a state fair in the West escaped financial loss. The association is made up of the managers of fairs and expositions through the country. C. N. Cosgrove, of Le Sueur, Minn., is president; J. S. Stucky, of Van Wert, Ohio, vice president; George H. Madden, of Mendota, Ill., treasurer,
