SEASON OF GOLF IN AMERICA REVIEWED

Prediction That Game Would Develop Along Territorial Lines Is Fulfilled.

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—A review of the season now closing reveals a fulfillment of President Robertson's prediction of two years ago, that golf in America was destined to develop along territorial lines. It was in his closing speech as retiring president of the United States Golf association that Mr. Robertson advanced the theory that some day the national golf championships must be left to the competition of men who had previously shown their fitness in local championships, and that the sectional association was the logical outcome of the continued growth of the game.

This development is significant to those who regard it as the ultimate salvation of national tournaments. The growing dissatisfaction with these tournaments is due to the fact that they do not represent what their title indicates. In other words, they are not national at all, usually held in New York, Boston or Chicago, and seldom including a player west of the Missouri river.

Another marked feature of the season just closing has been the prominence taken by women players. Miss Bessie Anthony, winner of both national and Western championships, has decided to withdraw from the game, and, like Mrs. C. T. Stout, she will leave her title to be fought for by other aspirants next season.

The metropolitan championship for men was won by Findlay S. Douglas, of Nassau, who, however, did not figure in any other important match during the year. Walter J. Travis recovered the title of national champion, only to be beaten by C. B. MacDonald for the championship of his home club at Garden City. HOCKEY CLUBS WILL ORGANIZE LEAGUE

Teams From St. Paul and Minneapolis to Meet Tonight at the Clarendon.

This evening the hockey clubs of the city will meet at the Clarendon hotel, and the present plans are carried out of the St. Paul league will either be revived or a new league will be formed.

The meeting of the league will be the first attempt to make the organization a permanent affair. This has been attempted in former years, but the Minneapolis clubs have been backward in joining with the St. Paul teams. This season, however, the conditions are said to be different, and several Minneapolis clubs are expected to have representatives at the meeting this evening.

The meeting will be called to order at 8:30 o'clock. It is understood that only temporary organization will be reached at this meeting, and in this the promoters are wise. In the past the hurry to elect permanent officers for the season before all clubs were offered a voice in the matter of selecting these officers held several clubs from entering the league.

The mascot club has secured the Laurel rink and will have it prepared for play at once.

ST. LOUIS TO HAVE NEW RACE TRACK

Contracts Are Let and Recognition by Western Jockey Club Petitioned.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Nov. 30.—A new race track, and a good one, is nearing completion in St. Louis, and before the end of the week a committee of St. Louis men will be in Chicago for the purpose of seeking recognition from the Western Jockey club and securing dates for 1934.

The new organization has taken the name Union Jockey club. It is composed, it is claimed, of over 100 St. Louis business men, and the president is Joseph A. Duffy, a capitalist with large real estate interests. The original promoter of the enterprise is Capt. P. J. Carmody, who has been in business in St. Louis forty years. In his younger days Carmody used to race quarter horses against Green Morris, the veteran Missouri turfman.

The new course is laid out in a park of 102 acres, on which a lease for five years has been secured, with an option to buy until July 1, 1935. It is a rolling woodland, most of the timber being oak, with a small lake fed by two springs. This lake lies in the infield, where many trees have been felled in order that an uninterrupted view of the course may be secured from the grand stand, which is rapidly approaching completion, the contractor's time limit being Dec. 15.

What the outcome will be should the Western Jockey club deny data to the Union Jockey club is something of a turf problem. Beyond declaring they have laid out too much money to turn back, and insisting they will race at the new track, the directors of the Union Jockey club have little to say when asked about a possible turf war.

Racing at Lake Calhoun.
There was quite a large and interested crowd of horsemen out on Calhoun boulevard yesterday afternoon to see the race between H. A. Childs' horse Ellen C. and Andy Casey's horse Cider Ben. The race was best three in five. Cider Ben won the first and second heats were won by Ellen C. and the next two by Mr. Casey's horse Cider Ben. The race was a very exciting one and Cider Ben was having a fine time until the fifth heat when he was in the lead and his hoof caught over the axle and he was unable to get it down. The race was given to Mr. Childs' horse, Ellen C. The horsemen think that they will soon be able to hold races on the ice if the cold weather continues.

BY BILLY MAC.
While a continued and more exhaustive search might make a change or several changes in the above list, we offer it as the All-Western football team selected by the football critics of St. Paul, Minneapolis, Chicago, Milwaukee and Detroit.

Using the selections offered by ten newspaper critics of five cities, these and the selections made by Fred Loventhal, the well known Chicago football authority, we find that the above players are the popular candidates for the positions on the All-Western eleven. In the end and guard positions are found three instead of two names. As to the end position, Redden wins his position without a contest but Rogers and Abbott are picked for the other positions. For the places at guard Berke, Rothgeb and Phillips are tied, each being named by five men. Thorpe comes next, being named by three critics.

Strathern wins the center position in a center, Gregory only being named by two of the eleven critics. Eckersall and Heston are named by three critics. Heston is named by ten critics for a halfback position, while Loventhal places the Michigan man as fullback. Gregory's considerable dispute over the place with four points, beating Vanderboom by one. Salmon, of Notre Dame, is the popular selection for fullback. The table of the vote of the eleven critics follows:

Redden, of Michigan 9
Rogers, of Minnesota 9
Abbott, of Wisconsin 8
Hammond, of Michigan 1
Schacht, of Minnesota 11
Maddock, of Michigan 19
Berke, of Wisconsin 5
Rothgeb, of Illinois 5

Halfbacks—Heston, of Michigan 10
Rogers, of Minnesota 4
Vanderboom, of Wisconsin 4
Schaer, of Chicago 2
Phillips, of Northwestern 1
Graver, of Northwestern 1
Fullback—Salmon, of Notre Dame 7
Curtis, of Chicago 1
Curran, of Minnesota 1
Heston, of Michigan 1

WISCONSIN WILL HAVE PILE OF NEW TIMBER
Number of High School Players Express Intention of Joining Badgers.

MADISON, Wis., Nov. 30.—In addition to the regular men who will be back to Wisconsin next year, a number of new players have expressed their intention of entering the university next fall. Among the new stars who are to attend the state university are Roseth, the captain and star fullback of the champion Eau Claire high school team; Quartrback, Steffen, High school star of Coahoma, the star of the North Division High of Chicago, a strong fullback from the North Dakota state school, who played on the team coached by Edward Cochem, this year and several other prominent high school players in the state.

Curts, although he had not yet signed a contract to coach the Badger eleven for next year, an agreement has already been reached whereby he will again be in charge of the eleven at Madison in 1934.

There is a possibility that Joe Fogg, the quarterback on the varsity eleven, will be back in school next year, and in case of his return he will be a strong candidate for the captaincy with Edward Vanderboom, of Marinette. Irving Bush, of Milwaukee, who has played on the team for two seasons, is also being mentioned for the position.

WILLIAMS IS WILLING TO ENTER HIS MEN
Minnesota Athletic Director Denies Any Opposition to Olympic Games.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Nov. 30.—Dr. Henry L. Williams, coach of the University of Wisconsin football eleven and athletic director at the university in Minneapolis, while in the city last week, denied the report in which he was credited with saying that he was opposed to the Olympic games at the St. Louis World's fair next year.

Dr. Williams while here met W. H. Linsinger, president of the A. A. U., and informed the official of the union that he had been promised to see the Olympic games which was sent out from Minneapolis. He told Mr. Linsinger that the only thing he objected to in the Olympic games was the annual conference meet at the world's fair instead of Chicago, where it has always been held.

He further stated that he was heartily in favor of holding the big college meet at the world's fair and hoped that all the leading universities in the country would enter their best men in the games.

Dr. Williams said that he would send his best athletes to compete in the St. Louis meet and he also assured the official that he would send several of his men would be here for the annual indoor meet of the central association, which the games be held in Milwaukee again.

BREAK RECORD AGAIN

Capitol Bowling Team Piles up Total of 2,946 Pins.

The Northwestern five-man team record for three games was again broken by the Capitol bowling team of the City league on the Pfister alleys last night. The total pins for the three games was 2,946.

The bowlers of the City league were on their mettle last night and excellent showings were made on both the Pfister and Court alleys. At the Court alleys the Court team rolled a total of 1,000 in its first game.

The new mark set by the Capitols is a hard one to reach, but this team without doubt will get the figures still higher before the season is over. Nov. 17 they reached a total of 2,821 and in but two more match games have again cracked the record. The scores follow:

CENTRAL HIGH BASKET BALL TEAM STARTS WORK

Twenty Men Out at First Practice to Try for School Team.

Twenty boys who are trying for the Central high school basketball ball team held their first practice in the high school gymnasium yesterday afternoon.

The captain of the team, Arthur McDonald, received a letter from Supt. A. P. Sutren yesterday stating that the board of education had decided to allow the boys to play under certain conditions. The gymnasium suits must include long trousers instead of shorts or trunks; players must retire to their dressing rooms between the halves and immediately after the game; the roster must not make personal remarks about either boy or girl players, and must not sing "Mary Had a Little Lamb," one of the school songs.

The practice yesterday was very light, as many of the men out had never played basketball before.

"U" Basketball Team Out.
The University basketball team will hold its first regular practice tomorrow evening in the gymnasium. A few of the men have been practicing for three weeks but as several of the best players were on the football squad nothing really important has been done as yet. The prospects for this year's team are very bright.

Badger Basketball Team Busy.
MADISON, Wis., Nov. 30.—Practice for the games of the fourth season of basketball at the University of Wisconsin began last week in the gymnasium under the direction of Faust and Potter, guard and forward on last year's five.

FERGUSON-JOHNSON FIGHT IS POSTPONED

Promoters Delay a Week to Allow Sports to Revive Their Rolls.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Nov. 30.—Sandy Ferguson, the big New England fighter, who is slated to fight Jack Johnson in this city, yesterday fled in a panic from George Gardner's training quarters. He had a bad dream that told him a persistent hoodoo was haunting the training ground of the man Bob Fitzsimmons defeated, and as soon as his eyes were open this morning he started to pack up in great haste.

The Fitzsimmons-Gardner fight left rather a bad taste in the mouths of the followers of the game here, although there is no suspicion that any crookedness of any kind is attached to the battle. It was simply such a great disappointment, not only in its ferocity, but in the result as well, many who backed Gardner being loud in their claims that he is an exploded phenomenon. The reports were that he would more than hold his own with the old timer, and when he failed to justify these predictions, those who bet on him were angry.

Then, too, the public here has had a lot of it, the Britt-Cancle battle a short time before the other one exhausting more than one moderate pocketbook. Sizing all these things up with rare managerial insight, the promoters of the Ferguson-Johnson fight have decided to postpone it for at least a week. This is done with the full consent of the men, who are working on a percentage basis.

Arrangements have been completed by the managers of the men to have Eddie Hanlon meet Jimmy Britt some time along about the latter part of January, providing, of course, that Hanlon defeats Sloan. It is so, too, that Hanlon feels that making a weight better than 125 or 129 pounds is no longer to have safety in his fighting strength and therefore he has decided that the full-fledged light weight class will be about his cut in the future.

Decide Sloan Case Next Month.

PARIS, Nov. 30.—Further argument was held in the case of the American jockey, Sloan, against the French Jockey club for $40,000 damages for being taken such action as will tend to clear the name of the club. A decision is expected about the middle next month. Jockey Shields will sail Wednesday for America and return next year for service with the Leigh stable.

Will Clear Its Name.

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—Formal announcement of the intention of the Commonwealth Trust company, formerly the Trust Company of the Republic, to start an investigation into the connection of the company with the formation and flotation of the United States Shipbuilding company, and to make such action as will tend to clear the name of the company, was made today by President Scarritt, of the Commonwealth Trust company.
