Gas Company Refuses to Furnish the City Hall and Court House Free.

The city hall and court house commissions yesterday placed a three-year contract with the St. Paul Gas company for heating and lighting the city and county buildings.

The company will receive $13,000 annually for the work, the same as last year. The contract includes the lighting of the approaches to the building until 10 o'clock every night.

Some complaint was shown by the commission when President Lathrop, of the gas company, informed the members that the contract did not include hot water, something the building has always had a great supply of since it was erected.

Hot water is absolutely necessary for the daily cleaning of the building and the commission was somewhat at a loss what to do until Mr. Lathrop suggested that the water heaters be purchased and installed in the building.

Referred to Committee. The members were somewhat dubious regarding the scheme, but finally placed the matter in the hands of a committee to investigate. The heaters will cost about $25 each, and three of them will be required. The cost of gas will be additional. Portions of the building will also have to be piped for the new fuel.

The commission is for installing hot water until informed that it could not get it. Mr. Lathrop announced that the steam plant under the Court block, from which the city hall is supplied, will be shut down in the summer and probably removed.

Plans for the remodeling of County Treasurer Metzford's offices were approved yesterday. The cost is estimated all the way from $4,700 to $7,200.

NEW CALENDARS ARE FINE WORK OF ART

The New Issue Made by the Minnesota Mutual Life Insurance Company Is Well Worthy of Preservation.

During February last, The Globe announced the issuance by the Minnesota Mutual Life Insurance company of a beautiful picture of Minnesota's new capitol building, rendered in the steel engraving process and handsomely framed in Flemish oak, and the additional and supplemental issue of a calendar for 1934, carrying a small reproduction of the same background.

Not only was the issue a novelty as to the form offered, but the pictures themselves were veritable works of art and well worth the having—no such so, that today there is hardly a bank in the state which has not one of its walls, and a majority of the public buildings and schools of the state are also provided for. Of the original issue of the framed pictures, numbering something over 700, there are but few copies now left in the hands of the insurance company.

Even in more popular demand than the large picture, was the calendar issue bearing the smaller engraving. Of this there were over 26,000 issued, and so great was the demand that the company has again arranged for an issue to cover 1934. As with the issue of last year, a copy of the work will be sent free to the publisher, for gratuitous distribution in connection with the small capitol calendar. The pictures are as follows:

The small charge made is simply to meet the demand, and assure the reception of the calendars only by persons who will really appreciate them. The company is issuing five different styles of calendars, smaller in size than the ones described, for gratuitous distribution in connection with the small capitol calendar. The pictures are as follows:

"The Return From the Pasture" is a clever conception under title of which the artist has set forth the longing in a boy's face for "out-door play" during the "spring break" period of his incarceration in school. The view is a school room. In the foreground is a youngster puzzling over some problem set by the master, and looking with longing eyes at the view of the capitol summer sunshine streams in, lighting up the fullness of his young face most wonderfully.

A scene familiar to every one is shown in "Poultry Yard." The typical old country barn and chicken coop with its usual clutter of hay and general litter, the chickens picking at the ground, and the farmer, with a bucket of feed, stands in the foreground, looking at the camera with a contented smile. The picture carries the observer back to his summer visit "on the farm."

"A Safe Retreat" is an exemplification of animal cleverness. It shows a mouse in a hole, with a cat's paw reaching down to lure a diminutive mouse from the refuge it has taken in an overturned bottle. It is remarkably well executed. The picture is a photograph of a woman peering out from a window, with a look of surprise and interest. The picture, with its mount, is 15x20 inches in size.

A series of four productions, "The Seasons," convey in artistic way the lesson of a series of old statuary. In the first of the series, "Spring," two children, a boy and a girl, are represented as bringing gifts from fortune, in preparation for their start in life.

The second, "Summer," shows them grown to man and womanhood, and pictures them walking hand in hand along the roadway of life, beginning their life together.

"Autumn" shows them in their middle age, the man with the fruits of the summer's harvest hanging at his belt, the woman with a babe at breast.

"Winter"—old age. Both of them, bowed with the weight of years, hover over a brazier, eagerly catching the warmth of the low fire which flickers in it.

One of the handsomest calendars of this set is the panel carrying a picture entitled "Purity." The subject is a young girl's head and draped bust and shoulders. The girl is looking at a white rose, full-blown, which she holds in her hand. The picture, with its mount, is 10 by 20 inches. The black background of the picture itself, together with its white border and the black card on which it is mounted, combine to make a very attractive offering.

These six pictures are reproductions from famous statuary of the Greco-Roman period, and are well worth framing for permanent preservation.

An exceedingly artistic offering is the four-page calendar carrying the pictures of the world's most famous stars of grand opera. The pictures, each of them 7x9 inches, are excellent examples of the engraver's art in imitation of photographic style, the subjects being Mrs. Nellie Melba, Emma Eames, Emma Calve and Lillian Nor-

CONSCIENCE MAKES SHOPLIFTER CONFESS

Woman Returns Stolen Articles—Is Arrested and Placed on Probation.

Alexio Petrena, forty-four years old, was arrested yesterday afternoon by Detectives Sweeney and Daly in a Seventh street department store charged with stealing three watch charms. Petrena bought one watch charm for 29 cents, and while pretending to examine a number of charms in a tray, palmed three more, it is alleged. The clerk missed the charms and described the man to who was later arrested by the detectives.

A woman who gave her name as "Mrs. Fox," was in police court yesterday, self-confessed shoplifter. She told the judge that she had "lifted" from a department store a number of articles, including an ink well. She has taken the articles to her home and decided to return them to the store. When she gave the things up she was placed under arrest and sent to the police station. She is placed on probation on probation for a term of six months.

ARE YOUR KIDNEYS WEAK?

Thousands of Men and Women Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect It.

To Prove What the Great Kidney Remedy, Swamp-Root, Will Do for YOU, Every Reader of the Globe May Have a Sample Bottle Sent Absolutely Free by Mail.

It used to be considered that only urinary and bladder troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all diseases have their beginning in the disorder of these most important organs.

The kidneys filter and purify the blood—that is their work.

Therefore, when your kidneys are weak or out of order, you can understand how quickly your entire body is affected, and how every organ seems to fall to do its duty.

If you are sick or "feel badly," begin taking the great kidney remedy, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, because as soon as your kidneys are getting better they will help all the other organs to health. A trial will convince anyone.

I was a constant sufferer for a number of years with weakness of the kidneys and back and frequent desire to urinate, but after using Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, I am entirely cured and cheerfully recommend this wonderful remedy to anyone who may suffer from these common complaints. Most truly yours, W. C. Baily, 2nd Lieut. U. S. Army, Columbus, Ga.

Weak and unhealthy kidneys are responsible for many kinds of diseases, and if permitted to continue much suffering and fatal results are sure to follow. Kidney trouble irritates the nerves, makes you dizzy, restless, sleepless and irritable. Makes you pass water often during the day and obliges you to get up many times during the night. Unhealthy kidneys cause rheumatism, gravel, catarrh of the bladder, or dull ache in the back, joints and muscles; make your head ache and back ache, cause indigestion, stomach and liver trouble, you get a sallow, yellow complexion, make you feel as though you had heart trouble; you may have plenty of ambition, but no strength; get weak and waste away.

The cure for these troubles is Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the world-famous kidney remedy. In taking Swamp-Root you afford natural help to Nature, for Swamp-Root is the most perfect healer and gentle aid to the kidneys that is known to medical science.

How to Find Out. If there is any doubt in your mind as to your condition, take from your urine on rising about four ounces, place it in a glass or bottle and let it stand twenty-four hours. If on examination it is milky or cloudy, if there is a brick-dust settling, or if small particles float about in it, your kidneys are in need of immediate attention.

Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and is used in the leading hospitals, recommended by physicians in their private practice, and is taken by those who are simply observing the bladder, because they recognize in it the greatest and most successful remedy for kidney, liver and bladder troubles.

SPECIAL NOTE—You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful remedy, Swamp-Root, sent absolutely free by mail, also a book telling all about Swamp-Root, and containing many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from men and women who owe their good health, in fact their very lives, to the great curative properties of Swamp-Root. In writing to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure to say you read this generous offer in The St. Paul Sunday Globe.
