MR. SULLY THRIVES
Makes $600,000 in Cotton
While Baxter & Co. Fail.

Special to The Globe.
 NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—Daniel J. Sully, the cotton king, cleared $600,000 today in the spectacular rise of July cotton, which touched 16.88. He bought 200,000 bales yesterday at 16 and sold out today at an advance of from 60 to 80 points. Directly charged to the operation of Sully was the assignment of A. B. Baxter & Co.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Jan. 30.—Announcement was made on the floor of the cotton exchange of the closing of the house of A. B. Baxter & Co. here today. Baxter & Co. is one of the largest commission houses in the country, with branches in many cities. The violent fluctuations in the cotton market are said to be responsible for their trouble.

Baxter & Co. is the firm which instituted the litigation here in the effort to prevent the New York and New Orleans cotton exchanges from cutting off their quotations. An injunction was issued and the Western Union Telegraph company was forced to continue to serve customers throughout the country even if those customers were unrepresented in either cotton exchange.

It is not supposed that the firm has lost much money here, but through the Middle South it is estimated that it has been losing $10,000 a day for some time past against the long side of the cotton market.

ATLANTA, Ga., Jan. 30.—Following an order issued today by the New York office of A. B. Baxter & Co., cotton brokers, the local office of that concern posted a notice today stating that the Atlanta office had assigned. Baxter & Co. had only recently bought out Murphy & Co., incorporated, one of the largest stock brokerage companies in the country, and had received a capitalization of $200,000. The notice of the failure created a sensation. The defunct company controlled a chain of 125 offices from New York to New Orleans.

GIVE YOUR STOMACH
A NICE VACATION

Don't Do It By Starving It Either—Let a Substitute Do the Work.

The old adage, "All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy," applies just as well to the stomach, one of the most important organs of the human system, as it does to the mind.

If your stomach is worn out and rebels against being further taxed beyond its limit, the only sensible thing you can do is to give it a rest. Employ a substitute for a short time and see if it will not more than repay you in results.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are a willing and most efficient substitute. They themselves digest every bit of food in the stomach in just the same way that the stomach itself would, were it well. They contain all the essential elements that the gastric juice and other digestive fluids of the stomach contain and act just as the same and do just the same work as the natural fluids would do, were the stomach well and sound. They therefore, relieve the stomach, just as one workman relieves another, and permit it to rest and recuperate and regain its normal health and strength.

This "vacation" idea was suggested by the letter of a prominent lawyer in Chicago. Read what he says: "I was engaged in the most momentous undertaking of my life, in bringing about the coalition of certain great interests that meant much to me as well as my clients. I was working night and day almost, when at a very critical time my stomach went clear back on me. The undue mental strain brought it about and hurried up what would have happened later on.

"What I ate I had to literally force down and that was a source of misery as I had a sour stomach much of the time. My head ached, I was sluggish and began to lose my ambition to carry out my undertaking. It looked pretty gloomy for me and I confided my plight to one of my clients. He had been cured by Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and at once went down to a drug store and brought a box up to the office.

"I had not taken a quarter of that box before I found that they would do all the work my stomach ever did; and as a rest or vacation was out of the question for me, I determined to give my stomach a vacation. I kept right on taking the tablets and braced up, and went ahead with my work with renewed vigor, etc. just as much as I ever did and carried out that undertaking to a successful issue. I feel that I have Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets to thank for saving me the handsomest fee I ever received as well as my reputation and last but not least my stomach."

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are for sale by all druggists at 50 cents a box.

CROSBY EXODES
WISDOM ON TIBET
American Explorer Explains
What British Invasion
Really Signifies.

PARIS, Jan. 30.—Oscar T. Crosby, an American explorer, has returned to Paris from a trip to Central Asia, where he explored parts of Turkestan and Tibet never before visited by a white man. On his way to Tibet Mr. Crosby skirted Afghanistan, visited Chinese Turkestan, and, later, traversed Kashmir and the Karakorum caravan route, probably one of the most difficult used by human beings, to India. His investigation developed that China was threatened from another quarter—by her rear door—and that an advance by Russia and Great Britain in this direction may become as important in its possible results to the United States as a move of the European powers from the sea. Mr. Crosby said:

"I left the United States last May, stopping at St. Petersburg to obtain permission to pass through Russian Turkestan. The Russian authorities were courteous and gave me a letter of introduction to Gen. Petrovsky, Russian consul at Kashgar, in Chinese Turkestan. I took the trans-Caspian road to Andijan, its terminus, meeting on the way there Capt. Anginour, of the French army, who joined me in my journey. From Andijan we went by caravan to Kashgar, Chinese Turkestan. At this point the caravan was reorganized and started for Tibet, passing through Yarkand and Kotan, and eventually arriving at Fou, at the base of the Kuenlun mountains.

Breathe Rarefied Air.
 "Here we began to ascend the Tibetan plateau elevations, which range from 15,000 to 18,000 feet high. We traveled at this height for eight weeks, suffering from the rarified air and cold. As we could carry supplies for only twenty days we endeavored to make Rudek, in Tibet, whence we intended to strike toward Lhasa. Unfortunately I lost my chronometer and nautical almanac and was unable to take observations. We consequently took a more southerly course than desired.

"It was impossible to correct the mistake because the country was trackless and uninhabited for hundreds of miles. We could find no openings in the mountains to Rudek, but we crossed an unexplored region known as the White desert. Our horses died rapidly and we had but a few days' supplies left when two Chinese trusted men were sent on the last animals able to travel in search of aid. They rode 100 miles before they found anyone. At the end of eleven days, our two men returned with camels and provisions. The Nomads, who are like our Indians, refused to go into Tibet, so there was no change of plan. We were forced to an uninhabited region known as Little Tibet, which forms part of British Kashmir.

"My purpose in visiting Central Asia was to study the past political and racial questions connected with that region. I did not believe it possible to reach Lhasa except by force or in disguise, and therefore proposed merely to go as far as I could.

Can't Resist the British.
 "The British expedition under Col. Younghusband will be able to enter Lhasa. The Tibetans cannot resist. Those I saw were mild and peaceful people, governed by priests, who, so far as we know, do not inculcate them with the military spirit, which is contrary to the precepts of Buddhism and Lamaism. The result of the expedition will be some form of British control.

"Russia is doing nothing to prevent its success, and I do not think anything can be done. I do not believe Russia seriously contemplated acquiring that country, for if a natural frontier ever existed to their empire, it certainly lies north of the vast deserts and tremendous mountains which must be crossed before inhabited Tibet can be reached. Russia can stand British control of Tibet, because she will take Turkestan as a setoff. The inhabited part of this territory is rich and populous. Three oases contain 1,500,000 persons, who live by irrigation.

"The Russians can have the control of the commercial situation of all this region because of its proximity to their railroad. Chinese Turkestan is still Chinese to the outward appearance, but the officials appointed from Peking, etc., but the Russian consul general at Kashgar, who is guarded by sixty Cossacks, is the real power to the natives and Chinese there. Even if they wished to do so, which I doubt, they would be powerless to resist the Russians. Consul General Petrovsky, while courteous to us, seemed to disapprove the appearance of any other than Russians and Chinese in Turkestan, taking the ground that the question of Chinese Turkestan is no great importance to the world at large, and that it concerns merely Russia and India.

Means China's Dismemberment.
 "The importance of the question lies in the fact that the taking of that territory or Tibet, which is under Chinese suzerainty, will be dismembering China. The object of the British is to make it impossible for the Russians to establish themselves in Tibet, and to do this effectively they will have to institute some kind of control. Nevertheless the United States, which is interested, must turn her attention to the back of the empire and keep an eye there while watching the sea-coast.

"With respect to Afghanistan, both the Russians and British recognize its value as a buffer state and do not desire to disturb this situation, though each fears the other may get the ascendancy above the ameer.

Mr. Crosby has been invited to deliver lectures before the London and French geographical societies. He will not return to New York before the last of February.

Goes Right Back to Persia.
 NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—All Asghar Khan Atabek Asam, wealthiest of Persians, and until four months ago grand vizier of his country, sailed for Europe. He had just arrived here from the West and is said to have been summoned home by the shah to again take office. His reason for leaving Teyheran last September is wrapped in mystery, but it is apparent that he temporarily fell from power and found it advisable to leave the country without delay.

CHICAGO, Jan. 30.—James Tilbery, formerly coachman for Mrs. Hollis Thurston, who has been on trial for several days on a charge of attempting to blackmail Mrs. Thurston, was tonight acquitted by a jury.

Mrs. Thurston charged that Tilbery had threatened her with a revolver and declared that if she did not give him $12,500 he would kill her. He also threatened, she declared, to publish 192 letters, which she said he had received from her. Tilbery could not produce the letters at the trial and told conflicting stories concerning them.

During the hearing of the case it was brought out that Mrs. Thurston had gone on an extensive automobile tour with Tilbery as chauffeur and that they registered at "Mr. and Mrs. James Gordon" at a hotel in Dixon, Ill. She did not deny the evidence relating to the automobile trip, but insisted that Tilbery had attempted to blackmail her. She said she did not think it improper to occupy the same room with a man. Mrs. Thurston is wealthy and has been prominent in society.

COACHMAN TILBERY IS ACQUITTED
 But Mrs. Thurston Gives Extremely Interesting Testimony.

PREMIER COMBES RESISTS PRESSURE
 Will Adhere to His Project Forbidding Religious Instruction.

PARIS, Jan. 30.—From all the high relatives of the Catholic church in France protests are coming to President Loubet against the project of Premier Combes, which is now pending in the chamber of deputies, prohibiting instruction of any kind by members of a religious order.

The campaign, which was started by Cardinals Richard and Jaugenieux, is carried among the people and some of the Clericals in letters published, assert that their congregations are also behind the movement.

It is said that Premier Combes has no intention of withdrawing the project.

Jimlinz Is Promised Cartridges.
 CAPE HAITIEN, Jan. 30.—The Dominican cruiser President returned yesterday. She took on board several cases of cartridges placed at the disposal of President Morales by the Haitian government and departed last night.

A telegram from New York says: "We will send on Jan. 9 100,000 cartridges to Jimlinz, Washington refuses to recognize the government of Morales in Santo Domingo."

It is learned that the troops of President Morales have been victorious at Sacama and San Pedro de Macoris.

SIR MORTIMER IS DINED SOME MORE
 President Schurman Puts in a "Plug" for John Hay.

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—A complimentary dinner was given tonight at the Lotus club to Sir Henry Mortimer Durand, British ambassador. After Sir Mortimer's health had been drunk, the ambassador thanked the members for their greeting.

In speaking of the unity of the Anglo-Saxon race, he said:
 "There is nothing in the world I have desired more than to see England and America stand together. Not an alliance; that is not necessary. But what was wanted to come has come, to stand together and to think together, thank God."

President Schurman, of Cornell, said:
 "I know nothing more remarkable in history, or nothing fraught with more hopeful significance, than the development in the last half dozen years of the deep, genuine good feeling that now binds the English and American peoples and governments together. Vexed questions have been settled, such as the Alaskan boundary, thanks especially to the courageous, high-minded and judicial attitude of Lord Alverstone. To Gladstone we are indebted for the settlement of the ugly Alabama question, the treaty of Washington and the Geneva arbitration.

"Two names there are which history will especially exalt as the conscious master builders of this temple of Anglo-American concord and amity, Lord Salisbury and John Hay. The former inherited, along with the ancestral caution, an unparalleled capacity of detachment from popular passion and the scientist's gift of seeing the events of the passing day in their relation to the past and the distant future.

"John Hay is a man without whose agency the friendly and cordial relations between the English and American peoples and governments would not have developed to anything like the extent and intensity of which we are conscious."

Thanks From the Kaiser.
 BERLIN, Jan. 30.—Emperor William has published a rescript expressing his thanks for the congratulations and good wishes given him on his birthday and on account of his recovery from his recent illness. He alluded to the celebrations abroad in which citizens of foreign states joined with Germans, declaring that such sympathy contributed materially to his enjoyment of the day. Concluding, Emperor William said: "While God grants me life and health I shall not cease to devote my energies to the welfare of the fatherland and to the welfare of the German peoples of all conditions and employments."

JOE MILLER KILLS HIS LANDLADY
 He First Causes the Woman's Husband to Leave Her.

DETROIT, Mich., Jan. 30.—Mrs. James T. Seville was stabbed to death today and the police are searching for Joe Miller, the boarder with the Sevilles. Miller rushed out of the building just as Mrs. Seville ran down stairs and collapsed. There were nine wounds in her back, chest and arms and one of them had penetrated her heart.

Seville said that Miller had caused him to leave Mrs. Seville by telling of intimate relations between Miller and Mrs. Seville.

Lieutenant Faces Serious Charge.
 WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 30.—Second Lieutenant Pratt, on duty at Fort Wayne, Mich., has been detained in this country after having been ordered to the Philippines, because of more serious charges than those preferred against him in Manila, which he was returning to face. He is charged with gambling in Manila and with being short in his funds $7,500. He has explained that the missing money was placed in an envelope and left at the place where the mail was collected.

Better Protection for Hospitals.
 CHICAGO, Jan. 30.—Building Commissioner Williams has notified eight large hospitals that they must receive no more patients until specified changes are made to provide against fire.

FOLEY BROS. & KELLY'S NEW HOME.

Six Story Building at Broadway and Prince Street, in Which the Firm Will Transact Business Tomorrow.

WHEN business is resumed tomorrow after the Sunday holiday, Foley Bros. & Kelly's big wholesale grocery establishment will be housed in its new home at Prince street and Broadway.

The old establishment was shut down yesterday afternoon at 1 o'clock, and by tonight the concern's great stock will be stored in the new building. Fifteen drays and fifty men were employed all day yesterday moving the wares, and will continue their work today.

For several weeks the firm has been gradually removing its stock to the new building, and it will be at least another week before all the heavy manufacturing machinery is placed in position.

The new home of the grocery firm is a six-story building, occupying half a square. It has a floor capacity of 150,000 square feet. The old building at Sibley and Third streets had a capacity of only 87,000 square feet.

The firm has occupied the old building for the past thirty-one years. It was built for the firm of P. H. Kelly Mercantile company, which was the predecessor of the present concern.
