JUDGE HINES DENIES SERIOUS ILLNESS

Writes That He Will Soon Be Able to Attend to His Duties.

Judge Hine, of the municipal court, writes from St. Luke's hospital that his condition is not nearly so serious as has been depicted. He says: "My physicians, Drs. MacLaren and Green, assure me that I will be out and attending to my usual business in the course of four or five days."

The judge says that his long stay at the hospital is due to the fact he is undergoing a special treatment that makes it necessary for him to remain indoors.

GAG RULE DOES NOT PLEASE CANDIDATES

Colonels Wright and Kiefer May Refuse to Have Speeches Trimmed.

A long and earnest search was made at the meeting of the Republican city campaign committee last evening for the person who would publish the "gag rule" adopted Friday. One of the speakers declared that it was a "crying shame that the innermost workings of the Republican party were passed on the city promiscuously." W. L. Ames thought a committee should be appointed to look into the question, asserting that E. P. Wright and the other candidates had been mortally offended because of the publicity given to the action.

"While it's all right," he asserted, "to adopt a rule that all facts to be used in the campaign are to be submitted to a committee, when it comes to publishing the fact to the world, it is the candidates in the position of being mere puppets."

He thought the rule should be rescinded at once, and argued that the committee had acted foolishly in passing upon such an important question before the candidates had paid their assessments. But a majority of the committee thought otherwise. Col. Wright and the other candidates will be required to make a statement of the facts they propose to use in their talks before they can appear at a meeting.

The committee went further, and decided that all speeches for the ratification of the rule, to be held in the future, should be written and submitted to the "press" committee beforehand. Ames was sure that Col. Kiefer would do nothing of the kind, and Ames is so well acquainted with Kiefer that he ought to know.

Col. Wright yesterday gave several callers his opinion of the "gag rule" adopted by his campaign committee, and asserted with considerable force that he believed before this action was taken that the members of the committee were favorable to his candidacy, since which time he had been in doubt.

"The action was uncalled for," he is reported to have said to one caller. "If the members of the committee did not have the necessary confidence in my judgment, it should have passed a resolution asking me to withdraw from the ticket."

The impression received by the visitors was that the candidate will decline to submit his speeches to "Billy" Webster for revision. It is evident that the incident is far from closed.

One of the hardest fights in the city is in the Eleventh ward, and the Democrats figure that they will be able to elect P. B. Lynch over Albert E. Hine, who was renominated by the Republicans. Normally, this ward is Republican by 200 votes, but the administration of the present alderman has been so satisfactory that the election of Lynch is predicted by some of the leading Republicans. Mr. Lynch, the Democratic candidate, is very popular. He is president of the Metropolitan Improvement association and has at all times taken a deep interest in the welfare of the territory where he makes his home.

The Democratic city committee concedes but one alderman to the Republicans. In every other ward there is a good fighting chance for the Democrats, with no chance for the Republicans in more than four wards. In the Seventh ward, Charles Nystrom, a Republican nominee, is without opposition.

Employees of the city in the various departments have reason to favor the Democrats. Under Republican rule it was seldom that the pay rolls were ready before the middle of the month following the one during which the services were rendered. The Democrats established the rule of holding regular council meetings, making it possible to pay salaries during the first few days of each month.

For the first time the First ward is admittedly debatable ground between the Republicans and Democrats, and it is the purpose of Mayor Smith to put in considerable time in that section of the city. The reports from the ward are so encouraging that the Democratic committee feels that there is every reason to believe that a Democratic candidate will be elected. Charles Nystrom, the nominee, is making a strong campaign, and John O. Linden, the Republican candidate, is badly scared. This is evidenced by the fact that a meeting of the ward organization has been called for Monday evening, when Col. Wright, the Republican candidate for mayor, is expected to be present and say a few words in favor of Linden. At a meeting held some ten days ago, Col. Wright declined to mix in the aldermanic fight, thereby offending the Linden followers. The Democrats of the ward are openly defying him to make a speech favoring Linden.

The St. Paul Republicans in favor of the candidacy of R. C. Dunn for mayor have their second wind and are again demanding that the fact of Warner sever all connections with the local campaign, asserting that the fact he is a leader in Collins' camp is doing the local Republican ticket considerable harm.

At the recent meetings of the Republican campaign committee the nominees of the party have been conspicuous because of their absence. In the case of Col. Wright this can be accounted for because of the passage of the "gag rule," but a member of the committee explains why other candidates do not come around in this way: "The day before the committee sent out its notice of assessments the rooms were crowded with candidates, but since that time they have carefully avoided the location. I understand," he continued, "that Col. Kiefer has said that he will not pay the assessment levied against him."

Rather than face an open revolt among the colored people the Republican campaign committee has conceded to add Harry Howard to their number. The colored people were preparing to hold an indignation meeting, and it is doubtful if the fact that the Republicans were covered in recognizing one of their number will assist the party at the polls. The disposition to ignore the colored people was apparent.

John J. Leighton certifies to the county auditor that he spent an even $100 in his unsuccessful effort to secure the Republican nomination for mayor. Other who have filed their primary expense account are: E. J. McNair, $27.50; J. F. Caldwell, $13; Joseph Burger, $27.50; S. S. Crooks, $10; Republican candidates for the assembly, John J. Gieska, candidate for the Democratic nomination for mayor, says that he expended $32.50, and Andrew Dahlgren, Democrat, for the assembly, admits that it cost him $36. Peter J. Quint that it cost $7 to make an unsuccessful effort to secure the Republican nomination for constable, while August F. Michel and Willis C.

Greatest Bargain Event of the Century

Having bought the large wholesale bankrupt stock of Holmes, Cassidy & Co., of New York, at 48c on the dollar, we are offering the same at the lowest prices ever heard of. We are positively offering many of the goods at less than HALF ACTUAL VALUE, most of them at just half value, and the balance at much less than the actual cost of production. The shipments have continued to arrive from time to time and are now nearly all here; a limited portion is still in transit, which will all be marked proportionately low as soon as they reach here. Come at once and lay in your spring and summer supply, as the extreme low prices will induce thousands of purchasers to take advantage of this sale and snatch up the goods in a hurry. As our reputation for always having everything exactly as advertised is so thoroughly established, we cannot afford to risk running out of any of the advertised goods, and leave the impression that we never had them, we therefore may be compelled to limit quantities in order to have all the advertised articles last the entire day (tomorrow). We will not do this, however, until we find we are running low on any such articles. The quantities of the advertised goods are so large that we can almost state with certainty that they will last the entire day tomorrow; but it is advisable to come as early in the morning as possible, as later in the day we may be forced to limit quantities. The earlier you visit the better your chances of getting all the goods you want.

THE FOLLOWING ARE JUST SAMPLE PRICES—ALL OTHER GOODS SOLD EQUALLY AS CHEAP

We do not consider it necessary to spend money for large ads when selling goods at such astounding low prices. We are certain that we will have all the business we can handle. All we ask is an inspection of our stock and the noting of our prices, and if our promise of supplying you with goods at about half the prices you have to pay for the same goods at other stores is not true, then we do not want you to buy from us.

WIFE OF CONTRACTOR SWEARS OUT WARRANT

Mrs. Axel Nystrom Claims Husband Struck Her While Taking Household Goods.

Behind a charge of assault and battery on which Axel Nystrom, contractor, was arrested Friday morning, is a story of hardship told by Nystrom's family. Nystrom was arraigned in police court before Judge Finehout Friday morning, and was released on recognizance until next Friday morning, when the case will be heard.

Left alone at her home, 175 Pleasant avenue, from which she claims Nystrom took by force most of the household furniture Thursday morning when the alleged assault took place, Mrs. Nystrom and her two children, a daughter and son, are in a serious predicament.

Mrs. Nystrom charges her husband with assaulting her twice while he was taking the furniture from the house Thursday morning. Nystrom only desisted in his attempt to disman the home, Mrs. Nystrom says, when a policeman came in response to a call from a passer-by, who heard her cries for help, and who with several other men came to her assistance.

Nystrom, she claims, then left with his wagon and the three men who had been assisting him, but in the afternoon he secured a writ of replevin for a leather bed, two galvanized wash-tubs, six pillows, one dozen pillow cases, six sheets, four comforters and a gold watch chain which he said was torn from him before leaving, and had a constable seize the goods.

"I don't know what I shall do," exclaimed Mrs. Nystrom bursting into tears yesterday afternoon as she sat in her parlor, which was stripped of its furniture and ornaments. "The trouble started over a week ago, when my husband made up his mind to move. Without telling me anything a 'For Rent' sign was put on the front of the house, which I discovered the next morning. I then went to the renting agent and learned that the house was not for rent. When I got home the sign was gone. Last Monday evening Mr. Nystrom began packing up the furniture, and I did not say anything while he packed his own, but when he began packing mine I told him to stop, but he carried several things down stairs. When I tried to get them he struck me and knocked me down.

Thursday he came to the house with three men and a wagon and began moving the furniture out of the house. I did not resist till he got into kitchen and began taking the cooking utensils. I grabbed the coffee pot from him and then he struck me a blow that knocked me down backward. Shortly after that he went up stairs with the other men and they took the ax and broke open the door of a room in which a young woman, roomer, was living. Again I tried to stop him, and again I was beaten. I cried for help and my daughter and the young woman also screamed. About five men who were passing came running in and one of them went after a policeman. One of the men told my husband to stop beating me, and that he would have him arrested. My husband became alarmed and left soon after the policeman arrived. The policeman told me he could not arrest my husband without a warrant. I swore out a warrant later in the day. I am feeling very weak, as I was down with the typhoid pneumonia last winter.

New Policeman Breaks Up Service and Calls Patrol Wagon.

Salvation Army service was abruptly stopped at the corner of Seventh and Jackson streets Friday night by a new policeman on the beat, who had not been informed of the special privilege accorded the army.

When Adj. De Garres refused to move on at the command of the policeman he was seized and led to the patrol box. The other members, undaunted by the display of authority on the part of the policeman, boldly held their ground and sang with zeal a hallelujah song. Angered, the officer returned and gathered in two others with their musical instruments and banners. As the army is allowed to hold meetings at certain specified points, the men were released when they reached the central station.

Alex Nystrom denies the statement that he had trouble with his wife. Mrs. Nystrom declares that he asked his wife to move with him and when she refused he merely attempted to remove his furniture to the new house he had rented. Mrs. Nystrom, according to her husband, violently resisted his attempt to take his goods, but he refused to quarrel and insists that he had no trouble with his wife.
