SAINTS ARE BLANKED BY THE HOTTENTOTS

Central Leaguers Play All Around Mike Kelley's Pen-nant Winners.

Special to The Globe.
TERRE HAUTE, Ind., April 6.—Kelley's pennant winners from the far north looked like a shime outfit this afternoon when compared with the aggregation wearing Terre Haute uniforms. A five-inning game was played between the two teams and during the contest the Hottentots pushed the noses of the Saints into the ground and then dragged them backward.

There was nothing to the contest but Terre Haute, and Kelley's men never had a look in at a chance to score. The result was an awful jolt to Kelley, just as he supposed his troopers were rounding to in form, but it simply couldn't be helped. The Hottentots played ball and the Saints were out of it.

Kelley said tonight that he didn't expect to win anything so early in the season, but he really didn't think there was such a drubbing in the deck for him before the cards were shuffled. With Bartos in the box and the heaviest hitters on the team in use, Kelley expected to at least finish inside the flag.

Up until today Kelley's aggregation has made a fine showing, but there was nothing in their work-out at Central League park this afternoon which gives promise of a crack bunch later in the season. Kelley said it was "too early in the season to expect much from the men," but their work was so hopelessly bad in today's contest that there will have to be an awful improvement within the next dozen days if last year's pennant winners expect to make a showing against Columbus.

Almost every man on the team appeared to be off today. They couldn't bat, and they fielded badly. When it came to throwing the ball their work was simply bad. It is nothing in the world of the Hottentots that they only scored twice in the five innings. Kelley's men have their eyes on the prize which they won in the contest and Kelley sent Sullivan in to relieve him. Only two or three times did a Saint connect safely with the ball, and when it did happen they ran bases so badly that there was not once a chance of their scoring.

Bartos was in the box, and he was real good when the contest was closed after five innings had been played. The small boys who came out to root for the Hottentots were in a lather. Kelley's men were along with his choice assortment of curves and straight ones, but he connected with one of Mr. Bartos' snappers and had reached the third station before being stopped.

Kelley issued an ultimatum at the close of the game, and this evening the Saints wandered into the Filbeck house from their several pastures in the world. He listened to a heart to heart talk from their manager.

Kelley is not the happiest man in town tonight, and he has threatened to even tip matters when the two teams meet Saturday and Sunday. The Saints will be out for practice a half hour earlier than usual tomorrow morning.

PLAN NEW BOAT FOR SEAWANAKA RACES

White Bear Yacht Club Will Spend $5,000 in Cup-lifting Effort.

The White Bear Yacht club will spend $5,000 to lift the Seawanaka cup now held by the Royal St. Lawrence Yacht Club of Montreal. Of this amount seventeen members of the club have subscribed $200 each, making a total of $3,400, and ex-Commander Griggs has just addressed a communication to the club members asking for individual subscription to raise the amount to the required sum. The principal reason for this is that the special race committee, which has charge of the White Bear end of the Seawanaka races, has decided to build a fourth boat. Three boats are already under construction, and one of them will be ready for the races.

In his letter to the yachtmen, Capt. Griggs says in part: "At the time of the annual meeting I felt that our selection of the three designs picked out covered the ground, but since then I have had evidence of the power of the Canadian pointed-nose type, and of at least 8 feet 3 inch-beam. I find that the Montreal boats of the last two years have been 8 feet 4 inch-beam, and are hard and full in their midship sections."

"The problem for us to solve is simply this: Can our western scow, for which eight feet seems to be the most efficient beam, defeat the pointed-nose type of boat in heavy breezes and big waves, providing the latter has sufficient beam or power to compensate for the lack of inclined water line—the scow having naturally a longer inclined water line than can be given a pointed-nose boat, and hence, from this source, more power for the same sail."

"The Canadians evidently feel convinced that since the double boards have been used the scow can no longer do the trick. In heavy seas and high winds the pointed-nose boat has some natural advantage over the scow, and it is blown off less to windward than the scow."

"For these reasons it is absolutely necessary for us to have a pointed-nose boat of sufficient beam for a thorough test. We are now building a 3 foot 3 inch-beam. We need one of at least 3 feet 5 inch-beam. We have selected a fourth design, one by Dr. Welch, of our own club, and will start building her today."

Dr. Welch is well known among local yachtmen as a designer, and his ideas are being put into effect. The boat he comes to building new boats. He has done very little designing in the past two or three years. Among the most successful of Dr. Welch's designs was the Keowaywin, which won the championship of the twenty-foot class in 1899 and is still on the lake.

TENNIS CONTEST IS NOW BETWEEN TWO

With Games All But Finished, Championship is in Doubt.

NEW YORK, April 6.—The contest for the national court tennis championship has practically narrowed down to a duel between Joshua Crane Jr., of Boston, and C. S. Sands, of this city. The work of each today was enough to show that the contest will be a close one.

Joshua Crane Jr., Boston, defeated Austin Potter, Boston, 6-1, 6-4, 6-4.

Chicago Athletic Association Team Wins From Eastern Champions.

BIG FIGHTERS NOW EN ROUTE TO COAST

Jeffries and Munroe Start West to Train for Their Battle.

Jack Munroe and Jim Jeffries are both en route to San Francisco, where they are to battle for the world's heavyweight championship on May 30. Munroe, accompanied by his trainer, has left New York for the coast, but it is expected that he will stop off at two or three of the large cities so as to pick up a little training in giving sparring and wrestling exhibitions. St. Paul will probably be one of Munroe's stopping places. He has planned to arrive in Frisco about the last week in April, so that he will have about five weeks for actual training. In the meantime, however, the minor will do light training while on the road, so that he will be prepared for the harder exercises when the time arrives.

Jeffries is in no hurry to get into his training camp. Heretofore the champion has trained hard for six or seven weeks prior to a battle. This, Delaney has concluded, is too much of a strain, and he does more harm to a fighter than good when he overdoes it.

The champion has fully two months to get into shape, and he will stop off at Chicago and St. Louis to give boxing exhibitions. When Jeffries reaches San Francisco he will plunge into active training, and although he is confident of beating his opponent, he does not mean to take any chances in regard to his condition.

GEORGETOWN PITCHER UNDER ASSUMED NAME

Special to The Globe. INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., April 6.—It developed here today that Tate Cromley, the Georgetown pitcher, has been shut out both Yale and Princeton within the last week, is the youngest who pitched the closing series with Indianapolis last week.

Cromley is signed with Indianapolis for this season and will appear later on an assumed name. The town story, says President Chapman, of the Indianapolis club, says that Cromley did not receive any money from him last season, but that he played under an assumed name to avoid having any question raised about his amateur standing.

In their former match it took Beal sixty-eight minutes to throw Blume.
