A report was closely following the original proposition that each association be given representation in the federation, and it is possible that a proposition that the representation be based on the number of members will be adopted. It will be proposed that this central organization take up and consider improvements advocated by the ward organizations, and by acting together bring the necessary pressure to bear upon the authorities.

LIEUT. BUDY'S FATE TO BE DECIDED SOON

Commission Will Consider Evidence Today and Take Action Later

The evidence in the case against Lieut. William Budy will be considered by the police commissioners today, and it is expected that a special session of the board will be held in a few days that will result in a decision.

A majority of the commissioners have expressed themselves as being opposed to discharging Budy on the evidence presented by the citizens' committee of the Midway district, and if they do not change their minds there is every reason to believe that Budy will be told to remain in charge of the Prior avenue station. Some of the commissioners take the ground that if proof of the existence of unlawful places is to be accepted as ground for discharging police officers there would be no end to the hearings that would follow.

Budy was charged with having permitted the existence of blind pigs, the running of a disorderly house and the operation of slot machines, and that in consequence he should be dismissed from the force.

GLOBE GAVE NEWS

Editor A. B. Allen Compliments It for Fairness

Col. A. B. Allen, editor of the Morton Enterprise and a prominent politician of his district, was a caller at the state capitol yesterday. Col. Allen, who is familiarly known to the newspaper fraternity of the state as the "Growler," was defeated in his effort to send a Dumm delegation to the Republican state convention, and says that it was impossible to get news at home from the Republican caucus delegation of the proceedings of the convention until the nomination had been made some hours.

"It is the old case of the baseball team going away from home to play ball. If they win they keep the wires hot, but if defeat gets them, it is hard to learn the result of the game, unless somebody other than the losers tell about it," said Allen.

"By the way," said Col. Allen, "as a newspaper man who believes in giving accurate news of current events, I want to congratulate The Globe on the fairness and accuracy of its political news and forecasts during the last session of the Republican caucus preceding the state convention. Down our way, people who were not partisans and wanted the actual facts of the situation, through the other papers and read The Globe exclusively. If they read the other newspapers of the Twin Cities at all, it was simply to see what new Gulliver tales the Dean Swifts were writing."

STREET RAILWAY SUIT BEFORE FEDERAL COURT

Its Application for Injunction Against City to Be Argued Today

The case of the St. Paul City Railway company against the city, in which an injunction is asked by the company to prevent the city from interfering with the construction of street railway tracks, will come before the United States court today.

Corporation Attorney Michael will appear for the city, and will take the position that the claim of the company that it possesses rights under the old horse car franchise is without foundation. Mr. Michael has brought an acquiescence in the Ramsey county district court asking that the horse car franchise be forfeited.

MURDERER WILL MAKE APPEAL FOR HIS LIFE

Chouard to Ask Board of Pardons for Commutation of Death Sentence

Henry Chouard, the Cass Lake murderer, will make an appeal for his life Monday before the board of pardons. Chouard, who murdered his life Dora in a drunken frenzy at Cass Lake early in January, and was later convicted and sentenced to be hanged at Walker by Judge Spooner, has applied to the board of pardons for a commutation of sentence to life imprisonment. The petition will be considered by the board at its quarterly meeting on Monday.

An immense petition signed by Northern Minnesota people, at the instance of the condemned man's relatives, will be presented to the board. The principal ground on which the petition for clemency is based is that Chouard was so drunk at the time of shooting his wife that he did not know what he was doing. It is considered doubtful if the board will favorably consider the application for commutation.

DONAHOWER WON'T RUN FOR COUNTY ATTORNEY

Attorney General Has Had All He Wants of Running for Office

A boom was started yesterday by his Republican friends for W. J. Donahower for the Republican nomination for county attorney of Ramsey county. A number of Republican lawyers, many of whom were disappointed at Donahower's failure to land the nomination for attorney general in the state convention, began the talk for him in connection with the nomination for county attorney, and from that time several other wards were sent to the attorney general's friends that Donahower would be acceptable. The man most interested heard of the movement late in the afternoon, and it gave him no joy.

"I am after nothing," he said, when the question of his candidacy was broached to him. "I am willing to retire to private life. I want to feel that I can come down town in the morning with my chest thrown out and with the feeling that I don't have to go to work unless I want to. I have two or three plans working for the future, independent of my law practice, and while I appreciate the kind motives that prompt my friends in Ramsey to propose me for county attorney, I decline to be considered in the race for the office."

Refuses to Dismiss Complaint

The defendants' motion to dismiss by striking from the files an amended complaint was denied yesterday by Judge Orr of the district court, in the case of Emil White against Ezekiel White et al., a suit for an accounting of $4,500. Invested in stocks through the defendants. It was struck through the current complaint on the ground that the case was settled two years ago, soon after the first trial brought. The plaintiff now asserts, however, that the settlement then made was accomplished by misrepresentation on the part of the defendants.

PLAYGROUNDS ARE OPEN TO CHILDREN

More Than 500 Boys and Girls Visited Them Yesterday Afternoon

That the public playgrounds at Como avenue and Gaultier street will prove a popular institution was indicated by the large number of little children who visited the park yesterday upon the occasion of the opening of the grounds. In spite of the threatening weather and the fact that some of the apparatus which will be part of the playground equipment was not in place, over 500 small boys and girls were present at the formal opening and remained during the afternoon.

Owing to the delay in receiving some of the castings for the swings and other apparatus, the park did not present the appearance of readiness yesterday, but Arthur Leland, the superintendent, decided to open the park for the children and promised them that everything would be in place by Saturday. The children, however, made the most of the things that were ready for them, and when they left last evening it was to assure Mr. Leland and his assistants, Miss Lorna Higbee, that they would be sure to call again.

Pavilion a Feature

A neat pavilion is the most conspicuous figure in the playgrounds. It stands in the middle of a triangle, and is large enough to afford shelter for over one hundred children. Besides a play room in the center, it has shower baths for girls and boys, and its projecting eaves are ample enough to shield a large number of children from sun or rain. The building is tastefully painted in dark green, with red trimmings. Beside the building are three large sand pits, in which the youngest children are allowed to play.

The equipment of the park includes a revolving see-saw, jumping standards, a giant slide pole, several swings for boys and girls, an adjustable horizontal bar, climbing poles and ladders. A basketball court, a tennis court, croquet grounds and a handball court have been laid out. Baseball grounds have also been laid out adjoining the park, and a boy's league will be one of the features of the programme which Mr. Leland is arranging.

Classes will be organized next week, and then such children as wish to take a regular course in gymnastic exercises will be given instruction. Arrangements have been made so that the children taking exercises may have shower baths in the pavilion after their exertions. Various athletic sports will be encouraged, and at the end of the season a field meet will be held in which the members of the classes may contest for honors.

NO EVIDENCE THAT MRS. BROWN STOLE DOG

Canine Was Shot at Her Request and She is Acquitted

Mrs. Annie Brown, 248 Louis street, yesterday tried before Judge Finehout and found not guilty of having stolen a dog belonging to Thomas Gallinger, the court holding that there was no evidence upon which such a charge could be based.

It was elicited from the witnesses for the prosecution that the black collie, alleged to have been worth $15 in the complaint, had become such a nuisance that her owner at one time offered a dollar to anyone who would kill the dog. The latter called Humane Officer Moak, who shot the animal.

CAN'T JOIN IN SUIT AGAINST BOOKBINDERS

Court Refuses West Publishing Co. Permission to Unite With Typothetae

Permission was refused yesterday by Judge Orr of the district court, for the West Publishing company to file a suit itself with the St. Paul Typothetae in the suit brought by the Typothetae against the St. Paul Bookbinders' Union No. 57 because of the recent bookbinders' strike.

In seeking to become a co-plaintiff, the West company, a member of the Typothetae, declared that the union had violated an alleged agreement that there were to be no strikes or lockouts as long as a specified scale was paid.

Sustaining the defendant's demurrer to the West company's complaint, Judge Orr holds that the facts stated in the complaint are not sufficient to constitute a cause of action; that the Typothetae, if it can be disposed of, and the rights of the West company maintained, through prosecution of the suit by the Typothetae.

WILL DECIDE WHETHER LAND IS PUBLIC ALLEY

Omaha Railroad Contends Strip Near Hazel Park is Private Property

Whether a strip of land twelve feet wide and 1,500 feet long, near Hazel Park, is a public alley, was decided before Judge Charles E. Otis, E. M. Stewart and Val J. Rothschild, commissioners appointed to appraise land to be condemned by the Omaha railway company for new yards at Hazel Park and for tracks between the park and Forest street.

Counsel for the railway insisted that the strip of land was private property. But E. B. Graves, speaking for owners of land along the strip, maintained that it was a public alley, and that, if it was vacated for the benefit of the railway, the land owners would lose a driveway and would thus be entitled to damages.

No conclusion was arrived at.

Grants a New Trial

Judge Orr granted yesterday the defendant's motion for a new trial in the case of the Turtle River Supply company against the Loftus-Buried Elevator company. This was an action in which the plaintiff obtained a judgment for $600 for failure to carry out a contract to deliver oats.

Wants to Go to Legislature

Charles J. Berryhill, a local attorney living at Prior avenue and Osceola avenue, in the Eleventh ward, has filed the announcement of his candidacy for the Republican nomination as representative. But he must correct his affidavit, as he failed to state what district he expected to represent if elected.

SERGEANT GRANT

Gen. W. T. Clark, His Chief of Staff, Visits St. Paul

In the person of Gen. William Thomas Clark, who is stopping at the Egan hotel, St. Paul is entertaining the last of the illustrious chief of staff of Gen. Ulysses S. Grant's famed Army of the Tennessee.

Gen. Clark is a well preserved, active man of seventy-one, and is an inspector of collectors of internal revenue. He is engaged in making his annual inspection of the St. Paul, Minn., office of the collector of internal revenue for Minnesota, and says that he finds no offices better conducted than those in charge of Maj. Von Stambach.

"I miss old friends when I come to St. Paul nowadays," said Gen. Clark yesterday. "Gov. Ramsey, whom I knew during the war times, is dead, and since my last visit my old friend Gen. John B. Sanborn has gone. It is a singular fact and one, I think, not generally known, that Gen. Sanborn's death occurred on the anniversary of the battle of Champion Hills, where he won his general's star. He was a true type of soldier-statesman, and was one of my best friends. It does not seem just right to come to St. Paul and not meet the general."

Gen. Clark entered the treasury department in 1877, retired in 1884 and resumed his old position in the army a few years later. Despite his age he travels 25,000 miles a year, is at home in Washington but about two weeks of the year and is constantly in contact with agents of the national government.

As a member of congress from Galveston, Tex., in 1869-73, he secured the appropriation of $100,000 for the beginning of the important harbor improvements for that city.

RIGHTS OF LAWYERS

Debtor Pays Money to Unauthorized Attorney

That a client who has secured a judgment through one attorney may then collect the judgment through another attorney, without taking any formal step or proceeding was decided yesterday by Judge Kelly, of the district bench, in an order vacating a writ to show cause why Clerk E. G. Ross should not be allowed to collect a judgment for $850 recovered by Samuel C. Ray against the Jones & Adams company and the Manhattan Light, Heat and Power company.

The judgment was obtained in a suit to recover damages for personal injuries received. During the prosecution of the case Mr. Ray employed as counsel F. H. Griggs, of St. Paul, and S. P. Crosby, a former member of the local bar.

Crosby filed a claim for his fee as an alien upon the judgment. But June 4 last the order staying the payment of the judgment was, by stipulation, discharged. The same day Mr. Griggs notified the defendant companies that he had been specially retained by Mr. Ray to collect the judgment. Nevertheless, the defendant companies through their attorney, H. S. Crosby, paid the money over to Mr. Crosby.

In declining to recognize this payment as satisfaction of the judgment, Judge Kelly says: "Was it necessary that plaintiff take any formal step or proceeding to substitute Mr. Griggs for Mr. Crosby to collect this judgment?"

"The statute requires none nor does the common law. Any notice that brings home to the judgment creditor the killing of twelve head of oxen adds a point of special interest to the bar."

"This seems to be an attempt by the plaintiff to place his first and original attorney at a disadvantage in collecting his compensation; and if so, the court has no sympathy for it. But as the law is, Mr. Conlin, after notice to the defendant companies, acted as attorney to enforce the judgment, and the plaintiff has no authority to substitute for it the plaintiff."

LA FOLLETTE SAYS HE'S SURE OF RE-ELECTION

Wisconsin Legislator Quotes Governor as Confident of Victory

James A. Frear, member of the Wisconsin assembly from St. Croix county, and the man who made the nomination of La Follette as governor in the Wisconsin state convention that nominated the Wisconsin governor for re-election, was in St. Paul yesterday, and said that Gov. La Follette's chances of a re-election have not been in the least injured by the action of the national republican committee.

"I have just returned from St. Louis, where I attended a convention of the Wisconsin state convention," La Follette declared that he had been elected to the Cook ticket were increasing daily. "Mr. Frear said that the decision of the national committee of frears in favor of La Follette was a great material aid by the drastic action taken at Chicago, and that he would be elected."

Warrant Brings Boy Into Court

John Ebbs, a boy living at 372 Dayton avenue, was before Judge Finehout in police court yesterday, accused of having on July 3 violated the ordinance prohibiting the discharge of firearms in the city limits. Patrolman Kirshmeier says that on the date mentioned young Ebbs discharged a gun and that he was arrested and made to arrest him he ran into the house and the policeman was ordered away by the boy's father. A warrant was secured and the boy brought into court. The trial will take place Friday.

NEW INCORPORATIONS

The Winona Malt company yesterday filed articles of incorporation with the secretary of state. The new company, which will manufacture malt from grains, has capital stock of $200,000. Fred E. Bullen, A. F. Bullen and H. E. Blair are the incorporators, and these, with M. S. Bullen and C. A. Purcell, constitute the first board of directors.

The Egg Flake company, a St. Paul corporation, formed to manufacture food products, filed its articles yesterday. The capital stock is $50,000, and the incorporators are C. N. Lovene and Andrew Erwin, of St. Paul, and F. A. Kennard, of St. Paul Park.

LIGHTING FIXTURES BOUGHT FOR CAPITOL

Commission Awards Contract for $11,000 Worth - Will Request Bids for Grading

E. E. Corliss, the Pergusa Falls member of the state capitol commission, put his position as expressed in an interview in The Globe Wednesday morning before his fellows, of the commission at yesterday's session, and declared that the new state capitol must be ready for occupancy at any cost. The burden of Corliss' declaration was the people expect the building to be ready for the 1905 session of the legislature and it will not do to await the completion of every little detail before the building is to be occupied.

Channing Stearns, the St. Paul member of the commission, is conservative and told the commission that he did not believe it wisdom to move in until the building is completed in almost every essential particular.

After a conference between Cass Gilbert, architect of the building, and representatives of contractors seeking the work of installing electric light fixtures, the commission yesterday decided to award the contract for general fixtures to the Mitchell-Vance company, of New York, at $11,405.70, but for the special designed fixtures for which the firm asked about $77,000, the commission decided to refer the work to the architect with instructions to eliminate some of the more costly details which would not reduce the beauty and utility of the general electrical plan. His detailed report is to be submitted to the next meeting of the commission, scheduled for Aug. 9.

Will Buy Registers in Open Market

Since but one bid was received for the register faces required to complete the heating and ventilating of the building, and the sum asked was considered high, the bid for this work was referred to Cass Gilbert, with instructions to buy the registers in the open market if he could obtain registers that would conform in a general way to the specifications. The need of the registers to complete the interior of the building is, however, imperative.

Authority was given the officers of the commission to advertise for bids for grading the grounds leading up to the new capitol. Since the building is not completed and the season is somewhat advanced, the commission will not put into effect this year any general plan of landscape for the grounds, but will simply terrace the grounds and sow grass seed. There are nearly nine acres in the capitol grounds and eventually it is proposed to form one of the finest parks in the West from the grounds.

The board decided for the present not to install any system of clocks in the new state capitol. The lack of funds is assigned as the cause, and the clocks will await a later date for their purchase.

LARGE ATTENDANCE AT SUMMER SCHOOLS

Many Teachers Take Advantage of Chance to "Brush Up"

Reports received by J. W. Olsen, state superintendent of public instruction, indicate large attendance at the nineteen summer training schools which opened for terms of four weeks on Monday. Rock county was the first to report and the statistics show an attendance of nearly 100 pupils.

Reports from other counties indicate that the teachers are taking advantage of the opportunity to "brush up" in methods and the branches taught in the summer schools. The nineteen schools, with their conductors, which opened this week, are:

URGES SINGLE LABEL

J. H. Gieske Proposes That Unions Adopt Universal One

At the meeting of the Label league in Federation hall last evening J. H. Gieske, delegate from the barbers' union, proposed that the unions adopt a universal label, this signifying that one label should be used by all the different unions. Gieske argued at some length upon the necessity of such a move, contending that as matters now stand each union is principally concerned in pushing its own label to the front, and is not particularly anxious as to the calls for goods bearing the label of other unions. In his judgment there should be but a single label, issued by the American Federation of Labor, and this label should appear on all productions of union labor.

"As the matter stands at the present time," explained Gieske, "the label is beneficial only to a few unions, such as the cigarmakers, the printers, the garment workers, the shoemakers and others, and the furniture industry. A universal label would prove of benefit to all members of organized labor. The label would be the label of the barbers and other unions, with the result that all organized labor would be compelled to uphold it by purchasing goods bearing the insignia."

There was considerable opposition to the proposition from delegates from other unions, it being contended that it would be useless to undertake such a radical departure from present custom in St. Paul, and that it would be better to wait until the American Federation has declared for such a plan.

Gieske replied that it would be to the advantage of the St. Paul unions if the agitation for such a label is started here, and that if necessary the local Trades and Labor assembly set the example by issuing such a label, thus demonstrating in a practical way that the plan will work satisfactorily.

The proposition was laid over for further consideration.

WANTS ALIMONY AND CUSTODY OF CHILD

Mrs. Carrie Gilbertson Makes Application to District Court

At a special term of the district court yesterday Judge Jaggard announced that he would require additional affidavits before acting upon plaintiff's motion in the divorce suit of Mrs. Carrie Gilbertson against Andrew Gilbertson. Mrs. Gilbertson desires $10 a week temporary alimony and the custody of her seven-year-old son.

Supporting this motion, the plaintiff declared by affidavit that the father took the child away from her and entrusted him to a woman whose character was a subject of gossip. The defendant, in turn, submitted an affidavit that he secured the child without force and that the woman to whom the boy was entrusted had been slandered.
