OLD LADY IN CHICAGO ADVERTISEMENTS FOR FRIENDS

The Girl Who Seeks Out Some Poor Old Lady Who is Alone and Spends an Hour With Her Now and Then, is Doing Real Charity Work, for Which She Will Have a Rich Reward

A pathetic little advertisement appeared recently in a Chicago paper asking ladies kindly to call upon Mrs. So and so at a certain number. It was inserted by a dear old lady who said she had lived a stranger for fifteen years at that address and no one had ever called upon her. She was lonely, wanted friends, and as the modern way is to advertise for whatever one wants, she took that means of letting her neighbors know of her friendly desires. It is not likely that this thing could happen in a city the size of St. Paul, but in New York, Chicago or Boston, one could starve to death without one's next door neighbor being the wiser. It is this that makes a large city so undesirable for the poor. But the old lady in question was not starving for food, but for companionship and sociability. She wanted friends and human interests. So do we all.

Now that pathetic little notice teaches us a lesson. Perhaps each one of us may live next door to some lonely old lady whose life we might brighten by an occasional visit. The young woman who has not an old lady friend is unfortunate. For the girl who goes through life selfishly, having to do with none but those of her own age, is shirking responsibility. And as we receive exactly the same treatment we mete out to others, those of us who do not try to brighten the lives of older people, will find when our time comes that we will have a lonesome old age. The girl who makes friends of older people is wiser than the one who devotes her time solely to her own friends. It is excellent practice in unselfishness and patience to choose some old person to visit. The friendly visiting which has been developed by charity workers is the most valuable form of philanthropy. It is not done in a prying professional way, but is one woman putting out a friendly hand to another and offering real friendship instead of money. Very few of us have to go to organized charity to become friendly visitors, for nearly every one has some acquaintance for whom life has been hard and to whom an hour of pleasant talk is a great deal. A great many who are known as society girls are friendly visitors, and while their presence does untold good to an invalid, or to some poor woman who is shut in, the girl gets to look upon these visits as a real privilege, and finds her soul and sympathies enveloped and the better for it.

It is necessary for some persons who are naturally selfish and self-absorbed to cultivate this friendly visiting to the old. The latter are tired, often ill and poor, and many an old lady has not brightness in her life, save the visits of some young girl who chats pleasantly with her. To do this, where she has been and what she has seen. It is well for each of us to remember as we go through life that we are surely some day going to be old, if we live, and when that time comes it is well to have a fund of kindly deeds done in youth to draw upon, and just so surely as we have not forgotten the old when we were young, we will not be left unremembered in old age. It is sometimes very hard for a girl to bring herself to spend even an hour a day or week with some peevish or sick old lady of her acquaintance, but if she makes it a practice and does her charity in that way it will be paid back in good coin. The young like the young, and often do not care to be bothered with grandmother's stories they have heard many times, but if the impatient girl who feels this way only knew the value of the hours she spends unselfishly and what a rich reward they bring, she would seek out some dear old lady like the advertiser first mentioned, and try to make her last years brighter.

Mainly About People

Mrs. W. F. Peet, of Dayton avenue, will give a small tea this afternoon in honor of her mother, Mrs. Lamborn, and Miss Lamborn.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Driscoll, of Summit avenue, have gone to St. Louis.

Mrs. J. A. Brunelle, of Arundel

At Newport's beautiful "bal blanc" the lace gowns were so exquisite and the effect of all white clothes (for both men and women were dressed in white) was so indescribably lovely that the popularity of white, which has been slightly declining during the summer, instantly jumped back into first place. Besides all-lace gowns there were worn beautiful plain and brocaded tissues and chiffons, mousselines, gauzes, nets and even heavier satins and silks, but these materials were used almost without exception only as a background for displaying exquisite flounces, panels and berthas of rare old English point, Flemish, Duchesse, Limonick and other fine laces. Unfortunately real lace is very expensive and it is not every one who can afford to revel in its delights, but imitation lace like imitation jewelry is now so beautifully manufactured that they both may be worn by fastidious women, and in some cases these machine-made articles are so exquisite that it would take an expert to discover them. Among the good manufactured laces are Honiton, Point de Venise, Valenciennes and many of the net top varieties, which when combined with dainty materials, make most charming dress-gowns. A pretty model for a lace trimmed gown is illustrated by the accompanying drawing. It is of pale willow-green gauze over linings of mouseline and liberty satin of the same shade. The skirt is made with five full gores, shirred at the top, and inset below the knees by two wide insertions of Honiton lace. Above the upper insertion is one narrow bias ruffle of the pale green gauze, between the insertions are two similar ruffles, and at the foot of the skirt are three ruffles. The full bodice is cut with a round décolletage and is trimmed with wide Honiton lace flounces arranged to form a short bolero and elbow sleeves, and the folded girdle is of green glace taffeta, shot with pale pink flowers.

Law's attention. Whatever there is in the line of sentimentality can perhaps be told best by Craig Wadsworth, who has been constant in his attention to the beautiful widow. Mrs. Law still has her millions and still is in the set with Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish, Mrs. George B. de Forest and Mrs. Hermann Oelrichs, to which she was introduced by Mrs. Arthur Paget.

Dealers in vellings haven't had such a boom in business for many a season, and the demand, which always increases at this time of year, has a new impetus through a harmless bit of feminine vanity. In the "between season" when it is still too late for a summer hat and its too early for fall headgear, the woman of alert and economical mind takes to a veil, ostensibly to enhance her appearance, but in reality to conceal the summer straw and give it the suggestion of autumn

Mrs. Haskell, Worthy Vice Templar, Independent Order Good Templars, of Silver Lake, Mass., tells of her cure by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM: Four years ago I was nearly dead with inflammation and ulceration. I endured daily untold agony, and life was a burden to me. I had used medicines and washes internally and externally until I made up my mind that there was no relief for me. Calling at the home of a friend, I noticed a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. My friend endorsed it highly, and I decided to give it a trial to see if it would help me. It took patience and perseverance for I was in bad condition, and I used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for nearly five months before I was cured, but what a change, from despair to happiness, from misery to the delightful exhilarating feeling health always brings. I would not change back for a thousand dollars, and your Vegetable Compound is a grand medicine.

"I wish every sick woman would try it and be convinced."—Mrs. IDA HASKELL, Silver Lake, Mass., Worthy Vice Templar, Independent Order of Good Templars.

When a medicine has been successful in more than a million cases, is it justice to yourself to say, without trying it, "I do not believe it would help me"?

Surely you cannot wish to remain weak, and sick and discouraged, exhausted with each day's work. You have some derangement of the feminine organism, and Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you just as surely as it has others.

Mrs. Tillie Hart, of Larimore, N. D., says:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM: I might have spared many months of suffering and pain if I had known of the efficacy of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a few months sooner, for I tried many remedies without finding anything which helped me before I tried the Vegetable Compound. I dreaded the approach of the menstrual period every month, as it meant much suffering and pain. Some months the flow was very scanty and others it was profuse, but after I had used the Compound for two months I became regular and natural, and so I continued until I felt perfectly well, and the parts were strengthened to perform the work without assistance and pain. I am like a different woman now, where before I did not care to live, and I am pleased to testify as to the good your Vegetable Compound has done for me." Sincerely yours, Mrs. TILLIE HART, Larimore, N. D.

Be it, therefore, believed by all women who are ill that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the medicine they should take. It has stood the test of time, and it has hundreds of thousands of cures to its credit. Women should consider it unwise to use any other medicine. Mrs. Pinkham, whose address is Lynn, Mass., will answer cheerfully and without cost all letters addressed to her by sick women. Perhaps she has just the knowledge that will help your case—try her to-day—it costs nothing.

GOSSIP FROM GOTHAM

Whether Mrs. George Law is here for sentimental reasons or for sentimental combined with business, as is known, of course, only to herself, but it is certain there is one business affair she may take up before she returns to Europe, and that is the suit brought against her by the widow of Dr. L. N. Love to recover $5,000 which Mrs. Love says her husband earned as his fee in performing an operation and in subsequent professional attention. Dr. Love died on the Cunard Aurania in June, 1903, when returning from England, whither he had gone as physician to the rich widow. After Dr. Love's death, Mrs. Love alleged that her husband had not been paid for his services, and she brought suit. This in all probability will be one of the business affairs which will demand Mrs.

out delay and without discussion of the measures.

The effort of Gov. Garvin to obtain the three amendments to the constitution was frustrated by the failure of the general assembly to act on any of them, although there was a spirited debate in both branches. Both branches, however, passed a resolution condemning the action of the governor in calling the extra session and calling for an adjournment until Nov. 15.

The resolution condemning the governor was introduced by Senator Stinson, Republican, but the debate was called almost entirely by the Democratic members, as the governor failed to recognize any of the Republicans. The concurrent action of the house on the resolution brought the session to a close.

Prize Court Decides Calchas Case

VLADIVOSTOK, Sept. 15.—The prize court has decided to release the British steamer Calchas (captured white bound from Russia sound ports to Japan by the Vladivostok squadron) and also the neutral portions of the vessel's cargo. That part of the cargo consigned to Japan, consisting of flour, cotton and timber, is confiscated. The Calchas will be detained three months in order to allow its owners time for an appeal from the prize court's decision. The Russian naval representative before the court protested against the release of the vessel.

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 15.—The decision of the Russian government in regard to contraband of war will probably be communicated to Ambassadors McCormick and Harding tomorrow.

and 24 she is clever she can do this so well that the ordinary masculine eye is unable to detect the deception. This has been the way of it for years, but the best style of veils that commands the best sale is of the sort used in automobiles, and it is real joy for the girl who hangs to straps on surface and leaved curls to sweep down Broadway in a swagger gown and with a great fluffy mass in ingeniously graceful folds, concealing the too summered complexion. The "between season" demand for veils is a little greater than usual, but the automobile deception is responsible for the additional 25 per cent in sales, for these is not one woman in a hundred who would not be pleased to have it believed she had just dismissed her driver.

Glad tidings for the economical, as well as for those extravagant in other ways, is the edict that straw hats will be worn well into the fall, and though mason and maid are expected by the milliners to buy special autumn creations, many a one will eke out her allowance by disguising two or three of August's leftovers for September, and even October use. The new hats shown are of heavy straw, with garlands of autumn leaves or appetizing fruits. Flowers whose hues suit the season are permitted to bloom above the fashionable woman's tresses, but they are not so stylish as the other ornaments. Large hats are on the cards—the Directoire, with sweeping plumes, being the favorite in this class—but small ones, particularly tricorne or tubans, are expected to attract the attention of the most fastidious. Burnt orange is the check for ribbons and feathers, unless one prefers to run the gamut of the browns, all of which are sanctioned. The small hats also are adorned with gooseberries and great bunches of luscious-looking purple grapes, festooned carelessly over the backs of the turbans and imparting an engaging air to the whole.

LAURENCE PHIPPS GETS HIS DIVORCE

Mrs. Phipps Is to Have the Income From $750,000 Steel Bonds

DENVER, Col., Sept. 14.—Laurence C. Phipps, the Pittsburg millionaire, was granted a divorce from Genevieve Chandler Phipps on the ground of desertion by the district court today. No defense was made, and no evidence was introduced to support the charge. It was ordered by the court that the agreement entered into between the husband and wife be made a part of the decree. Under the agreement, Mrs. Phipps obligates herself to convey to Mr. Phipps the property at Pittsburg now occupied by her as a residence, and also the property in Denver occupied by Mrs. Phipps as a residence. She agrees to sign and transfer to Mr. Phipps all the bonds of the United States Steel corporation now standing in her name, $500,000. In consideration of the latter action Mr. Phipps agrees to place $750,000 of steel company bonds with a Pittsburg trust company, the income of which shall be paid to Mrs. Phipps so long as she remains unmarried. Should she marry again she will have a life income from the bonds of the trust company, the income from the remaining $500,000 to be paid to the children of Mr. Phipps by his first wife and those by his second wife, share and share alike. The fact that the couple are to remain with each parent six months of the year, the place of residence selected by Mr. Phipps to be the residence also of the children when in the custody of either parent, was not made a part of the agreement.

Won't Amend Constitution

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Sept. 15.—The legislature met in extraordinary session today, having been called together by Gov. Garvin to determine whether or not it will submit certain constitutional amendments to the people at the election in November. These amendments were outlined in a message from the governor to the legislature.

The first is known as the "constitutional initiative" and provides that 5,000 voters of the state may, by petition, propose a specific and particular amendment to the constitution and have that amendment submitted to the people at the general election next succeeding. A second amendment confers upon registry voters the right to vote in the election of city councils. The third provides that the governor's veto may be overruled by a majority of all the members elected to each house.

The Republican members are much opposed to the special session and did not conceal their purpose to bring about adjournment of the session without delay.

Negro Does Some Accepting

DES MOINES, Iowa, Sept. 15.—George L. Moore, of Ottumwa, Iowa, presidential nominee of the National Liberal party, today sent his letter of acceptance to Stanley P. Mitchell, of Memphis, chairman of the notification committee. The National Liberal party represents an independent movement of negroes of the country. Mr. Moore's letter is devoted in the main to a discussion of negro disfranchisement. It is bitter in its arraignment of both Democrats and Republicans, and it holds the latter especially responsible for the failure of the negro to get full political recognition. He accuses the Republicans of having betrayed the negro, while holding out false inducements to him. He appeals to the negroes of the country to stand their ground and insists that in that way

Will Reduce Philippine Army

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 15.—With a view to a reduction in the expense of maintaining large military establishments in the Philippines, Lieut. Gen. Chaffee, chief of staff, recently called an inquiry to Gen. Wade, commanding the Philippine division, asking if conditions in the islands would not justify the reduction of the present military force there from four regiments of cavalry and nine of infantry to three regiments of cavalry and seven of infantry. Gen. Chaffee received a reply from Gen. Wade expressing the opinion that the proposed reduction of military strength was not only practicable but advisable. It is more than probable arrangements will be made to bring home the troops in excess of the number regarded by Gen. Chaffee and Wade as essential to the situation.

ST. The foreign office has no actual information of the presence of a Japanese column at Simintin, but says that if the report is true it is another plain violation by Japan of China's neutrality.
