TO RELIEVE SCHOOLS

Eight More Rooms to Be Opened in 1st and 6th Wards

At a meeting of the board of school inspectors this evening the redistricting of the First and Sixth wards will be effected, this being done to arrange the pupils and fill the schools at the Phalen and the Douglas schools that will be opened during the next week.

The formal opening of the additions will result in a greatly improved condition in the wards mentioned, where many children have been attending half-day sessions. In the First ward the principal relief will be to the Cleveland school, where there is an annex and several half-day sessions. There will be four rooms opened in the Phalen school, accommodating 200 pupils, and it is expected that this will result in allowing all pupils to attend school a full day. Some relief will be extended to the Jackson school, which is also overcrowded.

In the Sixth ward the principal relief given by opening the four room addition to the Douglas school will be to the Lafayette school, which will be taken from other schools to fill the four rooms. In this ward it will doubtless be possible to close some rooms and transfer the teachers to the new building.

The opening of these eight rooms puts the grade schools in much better condition than they have been for some years, the policy of the board of school inspectors to construct at least eight rooms a year, having ultimately resulted in freeing the schools from the congestion that existed in previous years.

CONSUL GREETS WIFE

Mrs. Hanns E. Grunow Joins Husband in St. Paul

Hanns E. Grunow, the new German consul stationed in St. Paul, has been connected with the imperial consular system of the German empire for many years. In spite of the fact that he is only thirty-three years old he has held important posts in the service all over the world.

He was acting consul general in Sydney, Australia; diplomatic representative in the Samoan islands, and has been stationed in Turkey and in the foreign office at Berlin, besides a number of other assignments.

"It is surprising," said he, "the amount of business done in the St. Paul offices of the consul, and I am glad that it would not be so heavy, but as a matter of fact it is heavier than I thought."

Speaking of the few snowflakes that drifted down into the streets, Mr. Grunow said:

"For eight years I have not seen winter. My youngest boy, who was born in Samoa, has never seen the snow. It will be great fun for him."

Mrs. Grunow arrived in St. Paul late last night from New York.

TEACHERS GROWING DECOROUSLY RICH

Get More Money This Year Than Before in All Parts of the State

Whoever would ally himself with common sense and wisdom—wherever, to wit, would like to marry a Minnesota schoolm'am, may add worldly wealth to his other treasures, if he holds her small, white hand in Houston county. Because in Houston county the schoolm'am is passing rich. But seek her not in Rice county, unless you're equally romantic and imprudent. The charms of a Rice county teacher are recognized in every meeting of the educational association. But it's whispered at the capitol that wealth is the least of her attractions.

Such a matrimonial guide has been made possible by Superintendent of Instruction Olson. He has compiled for his biennial report statistics that cover the year 1904, ending July 31, 1904. He is prepared to prove that in Houston county any female teachers get higher pay than in any other county—$40 a month, seven months in the year. Were she employed all the year round, like girls that have to look in the book, she would earn $23.33 a month. As she usually lives at home and pays nothing for buggy rides and tickets to all the "entertainments," she is thus comparatively affluent.

Cut Rate in Rice

But her sister in Rice county gains $29.75 monthly during the school year, or the equivalent of $17.37 each calendar month. Even with buggy rides for the hinting, this is not a luxurious income.

The average teacher in the country is neither a Hettie Green nor an Arcadian shepherdess. Her gown this fall will be a 1903 pattern, not yet a dream of 1830. But it will hint, at least, of 1850. For her scholastic stipend last year was $28.27 during the school year, or $21.15 had she counted her long vacation.

Man, who cannot hope for costless courtesies, gets $45.71 a month when teaching country schools in Minnesota, equal to "steady work" at $26.66 a month. In St. Louis county, beneath the shadow of the Rockefellers, he gets $55.06 by the year; and in Roseau county, where everybody reads "The Simple Life," he receipts for $34.50 while he works, or $29.13 a month.

That is a girl in Houston county who asks, "Why is Rhode Island the smallest 'state'?" makes a profit thereby of $3.20 each month of the year in excess of the money that teachers in the same town up in Roseau.

Better in Twin Cities

In St. Paul, or rather in the "independent" school districts of Ramsey county, including St. Paul chiefly, the average salary for women teachers is $45.18 a month. In Minneapolis and the other independent school districts of Hennepin county, she gets $50 monthly for nine months, or $37.50 monthly for twelve months. But the male teachers in St. Paul receive $102.50, or $76.90 a month, as against $112, or $84 in Minneapolis. In all the city schools through the state the average masculine honorarium is $38.81, or $74.10, and the average feminine bargain is $48.26, or $39.47.

"Get-rich-quick" is not the teacher's motto in this state. She would write such sentiment upon the blackboard. Yet she is getting rich in Minnesota decorously, grammatically, though not quickly.

In the city schools, for example, her average salary was $44.85 a school month in 1902; $45.74 in 1903, and $45.18 in 1904. For the same time in the country her salary has averaged, respectively, $33.14, $35.25 and $36.27. Men, in the city, sway the vocal chord at $98.81 this year, or obtained $97.57 by the same exercise in 1903, and $93.50 in 1902. At the little red school house—which isn't red—the schoolmaster makes $45.71 this year who earned $45.18 last year, and where he gained $43.46 two years ago.

That is to say, the professor in town has a surplus of $47.79 towards an automobile this year compared with his savings in 1902; the country teacher is $15.75 ahead; the "instructress" in the city can pay $33.39 more next vacation to "the man from Cook's" and the younger brother with the rosier cheeks, may have $21.91 more in bank "when we get married" than she would have had when she was two years younger.

RUN IN ON SUSPICION

C. Brown, who rooms at the Bethel and who was arrested last Thursday by Patrolman Gross, on suspicion of having stolen a cant hook, was released in the police court yesterday. The policeman who reported the loss of the books failed to identify the one found in Brown's possession, and he was discharged.

JUDGE REFUSES TO CUT WIDOW'S INCOME

Mrs. Genevieve Strauch Will Draw $200 Each Month From Estate

Judge Kelly yesterday afternoon confirmed the decision of the probate court granting Mrs. Strauch to receive each the sum of $200 monthly from the estate of the late John L. Strauch, the money lender.

The action was brought by one of the creditors of the estate, John P. Usher, who claimed that the sum was too great, in view of the fact that the estate was much smaller than at first supposed.

LAYS MATCHES AND LOSES HER LIFE

Five-Year-Old Vera Warner Sets Fire to Her Dress and Dies at Hospital

While playing with matches at her home, 619 East Rose street, yesterday morning, Vera Warner, five years old, set fire to her dress and she was so severely burned that she died yesterday afternoon at the city hospital at 3 o'clock.

The child was alone in her mother's bedroom on the second floor, while Mrs. Warner was in the kitchen. Getting hold of some matches which had been left on the dresser the girl proceeded to scratch them, and in a short time her little dress was on fire.

Screaming for help Vera ran into the hall, where she fell. Her mother hurried to her and in attempting to extinguish the flames was herself badly burned about the hands, arms and face. The mother threw the child into the bed and smothered the fire with blankets, and then called for help.

Neighbors summoned Dr. N. W. Foster, and he immediately ordered the child removed to the city hospital. The police ambulance was called and the girl was hurried away.

The child's chest, neck, arms and face were badly burned, and though the physicians at the hospital did all they could to save her she died in the afternoon. The girl's father is Michael Warner, a watchman.

ON MURDER CHARGE

Governor Issues Requisition for Joseph Guilmette

Murder in the first degree is charged against Joseph Guilmette, for whom a requisition was issued yesterday by Gov. Van Sant upon the governor of Rhode Island. Guilmette is now under arrest at Woonsocket.

The requisition will be delivered by Sheriff E. J. Sullivan, of Polk county. Near Grove Park, Polk county, Oct. 17, as a result of the fight with Guilmette and Joseph Monegan, prosperous "chums" from Rhode Island, walked up the railroad track, talking and laughing as they went along. Guilmette carried a shotgun. Fifteen minutes later a report was heard over the prairie. "Guilmette has got a chicken," observed an acquaintance of his, who was also walking up the track. But when he came to blood on the ties it was more blood than a chicken would have shed. He followed the red splashes to a fence under which lay Monegan's body, still warm.

TRIES TO SAVE PAL

Convicted Holdup Man Swears Companion Is Innocent

Coolly and with an unmovable face, Laddie B. Lynch, convicted holdup man, yesterday afternoon faced a jury in Judge Jaggard's court room and made a sensational attempt to free his alleged partner in the crime, Lynch, who both men had been indicted. Lynch stands convicted, and is looking a sentence of ten years in the face, but the instincts of loyalty to a pal appear to persist in his mind, and his chief object now seems to be the freedom of James Riley, who is on trial.

Assistant County Attorney O'Neil called the convicted man to the stand in the afternoon's session of the court, and attempted to make him tell Riley's part in the job. The move resulted in a commotion for the state, Lynch making every attempt to free Riley, and also to implicate police officers of unwarranted cruelty.

He charged Lynch with beating him and knocking him down when he refused to tell his side of the story. These charges resulted in the captain and Chief O'Connell, who were on the stand, both denying emphatically the prisoner's statements.

ACCUSED OF SPILING COPPER WIRE

Frank Wilozsek, fourteen years old, and Ladislav, fifteen years old, were arrested yesterday by Health Officers Dames and Burnham, charged with stealing forty feet of copper wire from the public, while working on a stand on the upper levee. They were arraigned in court and the cases were continued until today for the purpose of being made public, while Wilozsek is said to be implicated in the theft, in court.

COMMERCIAL BODIES FAVOR ABANDONMENT OF CASE AGAINST COMPANY

When the street railway case is next heard, if ever, it will be in the United States supreme court on the appeal of the city against the Commercial Corporation Attorney Michael, holding that the case will be ultimately heard in the highest court in the country, will not push the case in the state court, but will go directly to the supreme court of the United States and leave with the high tribunal the question whether the city has the power to impose a 5 per cent gross earnings tax and regulate the fare.

A movement has been started in the Commercial club and in other organizations to secure the abandonment of the case against the company in its present status.

Michael Declines to Talk

As to what attitude he will take, Mr. Michael declines to say, although he admits that he has heard of the movement to induce the city to stop the crusade against the company. He does not say what he will do until the question has been brought before the public and discussed, although his action in giving notice of appeal and preparing for the final hearing indicates that he will not be deterred by the city council.

Judge Lochren has granted an order restraining the city from interfering with the construction by the street railway company of certain extensions that have not been authorized by the city council, and specifically mentioned by the street railway company in the case brought by the city. These particular extensions are primarily involved, but the company also contends that it has the right to construct street railway lines of a large magnitude on the streets, while the city holds that it is operating without a charter or franchise and must apply to the city council to secure the lawful use of the streets.

COMPROMISE IS DOUBTFUL

With such a wide difference of opinion it is doubtful if the Commercial club, the Chamber of Commerce and other bodies interested will be able to bring about a compromise on the basis that the company will submit to the gross earnings tax if it is given a new franchise that will not give the city council the power to reduce the fare below 5 cents. It is known that practically this is the proposition of the company.

Mr. Michael is master of the situation. In the absence of a majority vote of both bodies of the city council ordering him to desist. He is defending an action brought against the city, and there is no precedent for a move compelling a corporation attorney to cease defending any action thus brought against the city.

DIAM MADE OF IRON

Mining Engineer Astonished at Energy of Mexico's President

According to "Nels M. Martin," an American mining engineer, with headquarters in Mexico, the republic controlled by the astute Diaz is the place for young, hustling Americans with capital and an inclination to take risks.

Mr. Martin was a guest at the Merchants yesterday, leaving last night for Chicago, where he will visit his parents before returning to his ties in Mexico.

"This man, Diaz is the greatest executive that I have ever seen," said Mr. Martin to a Globe reporter last night. "In Mexico, it is impossible to take large for him to handle. He is made of iron, and seemingly can work all the time. I never saw a man capable of so much mental and physical work."

"He has great judgment, and this judgment is resulting in bringing millions of American capital to Mexico. The mines, plantations and grazing industries are booming all over Mexico, and it is American capital that is behind the whole business.

The recent strike in Colorado, and the manner in which the Republican administration has treated the strikers, has considerable to do with the exodus of American capital to Mexico. I have met a number of men who say that they are going to place their money in Mexican investments, and leave it there, until such a time as the American government guarantees them their work, who will continue at their work and not strike every few weeks.

"Diaz has absolutely guarded against every possibility of a strike in any line of work in Mexico. It is impossible for the workmen to strike for the next decade, so securely has Diaz protected investors. At the same time the workingman is protected, although you must understand, the grade of common laborer in Mexico is far below the American brand.

"I am interested in quicksilver mines and have been writing in a steady manner my original investment, and have only been in the country for the past two years. I am now branching out, and have been prospecting for some silver and lead mines.

"I feel very sorry for that down-trodden citizen, John D. Rockefeller, an American who has been writing in a steady manner his original investment, and has only been in the country for the past two years. I am now branching out, and have been prospecting for some silver and lead mines.

Mrs. C. W. Fairbanks the Guest of Honor at State Conference of Daughters

There was a large gathering of Minnesota women at the Congregational church at St. Anthony Park yesterday morning, at the tenth annual state conference of the Daughters of the American Revolution, and to do honor to the chief executive of that organization, Mrs. Charles W. Fairbanks.

The meeting began at 10:30, with Mrs. W. M. Liggett, state regent, presiding. Upon the platform besides her were Mrs. Fairbanks, president general; Mrs. W. P. Jewett, of St. Paul, vice president general; Mrs. Rising, of Winona, ex-state regent; Mrs. Ell Torrance, of Minneapolis, ex-state regent; Mrs. Thompson, of Minneapolis, state vice regent; Mrs. Van Sant, Mrs. Plant, of St. Anthony Park, state secretary, and Mrs. Brown, of St. Paul, a real daughter much honored by the society.

After the invocation by Mrs. Edwards, of St. Paul, and the singing of "America," Mrs. Liggett delivered an address of welcome in which she spoke of the great honor paid to Minnesota in the presence of the president general, Mrs. Fairbanks, and then reviewed the work of the past year, which she declared had been a most prosperous one. A beautiful response was made by Mrs. J. L. Washburn, of Duluth. The business of the conference then proceeded after the singing of "Red, White and Blue" by Mrs. De Wolf, her beautiful voice arousing the daughters to such a pitch of enthusiasm that they demanded an encore, which was accorded.

Chapters Are Flourishing

The reports of chapter regents were then called for, and responses were made by women from Duluth, Rochester, Mankato, Fairbault, Winona, Red Falls and the local chapters of the Twin Cities. Favorable progress was reported and much patriotic work done and undertaken. Mrs. De Wolf then sang the "Battle Hymn of the Republic" thrillingly, and when the programme was suspended to allow the women to partake of a luncheon served in the parlors of the church by the women of the congregation.

At 2 o'clock the programme was resumed, some belated business dispatched and ex-state regents delivered short addresses, after which Miss Liggett read a patriotic story with much expression. Mrs. W. P. Jewett told of the present amount of the Continental hall and the progress of the building which the society is erecting as a great memorial to their ancestors, and announced that the large central hall of the building will be ready for occupancy by the next continental congress of daughters, which will convene in Washington next April. This elicited cheers and applause. Mrs. Jewett paid a beautiful tribute to Mrs. Fairbanks and told of her untiring work to further the great memorial and the immense sums of money which had been gathered during the past year.

Mrs. Fairbanks Speaks

The speech of the day was made by Mrs. Fairbanks, who spoke eloquently of the labors of the national society and of the great ideals for which the Daughters of the American Revolution stood and would stand for all time. She urged the members not to become too rich, not to forget the simple, heroic lives of the women who went before them, but to keep ever before their eyes and minds the principles of liberty, which animated and inspired their forefathers. She spoke with much feeling of the beautiful memorial hall which is to stand for all time on the banks of the Potomac to perpetuate the memory of the brave men who fought for freedom and to embalm the efforts of the women who are striving to do them honor. Mrs. Fairbanks besought the women of Minnesota to help in this great work, and announced that if each woman did something toward it the building would be a completed reality within two years. Mrs. Fairbanks' words were received with much applause and appreciation.

After adjournment the women attended a reception given by Mrs. Liggett at her home in honor of her distinguished guest, Mrs. Fairbanks, who assisted Mrs. Liggett and attended the meeting were Mrs. Van Sant, Mrs. Ed-ward Gheen, Mrs. Edgerton, Mrs. Van Senter, Mrs. Willis, Mrs. McGregor, Mrs. Bigelow, Mrs. Hanson, Mrs. Knuppe, Mrs. Prouty, Mrs. Follett, Mrs. Fagley, Mrs. Sanborn, Mrs. Dibble, Mrs. Sperry, Mrs. Ray, all of St. Paul; Mrs. Darro, Mrs. Corbin, Mrs. Wynn, of Minneapolis; Miss Van Horne, of Fairbault; Mrs. Standish, of Mankato; Mrs. Marfield and Mrs. Little, of Winona; Mrs. McKeown, of North St. Paul; Mrs. Pace Morris; Mrs. Hugo, Mrs. Washburn, of Duluth, and many others.

BRIDE OF SOLDIER

Musician Erlitz Wins Pretty Christina Schauberg

Gen. Corbin's recent proclamation regarding a man, wearing Uncle Sam's uniform and drawing less than $150 a month fighting shy of the matrimonial meshes, has not so far attracted the attention of Rudolph Erlitz, of the Twenty-first infantry, was concerned. About 3 o'clock in the afternoon Rudolph and the smiling and blushing Mrs. Erlitz walked arm and arm out of Judge Gallic's office, and Rudolph mutual friend introduced him to Miss Christina Schauberg, of 21 South St. Paul street, and in a short time he capitulated.

Yesterday the pair wedded their way to the county building, where a license was secured and in a short time they were made one. Musician Erlitz will leave Fort Snelling in a steady stream of eternal allegiance forever and a day to a newly made of object of devotion.

The young soldier has out a few more months to serve before Uncle Sam will turn him loose. He has been stationed at Fort Snelling and the charms of a St. Paul girl proved too many. He met her, he won her and she conquered him. A mutual friend introduced him to Miss Christina Schauberg, of 21 South St. Paul street, and in a short time he capitulated.

THE automobile is responsible for a lot of good things.

None more comfortable and serviceable than the automobile fur coat.

Designed to allow the greatest possible freedom of movement, and to protect from the most violent cold and wind, the most furious rain or snow, this coat is just as useful to the farmer as to the motorist.

The Gordon Automobile Coat is the result of a good deal of experimenting—made for your benefit. It is splendidly generous in cut, yet it has a "GO" that well-dressed men understand.

Made in all good furs, Raccoon skin is perhaps the most satisfactory. Prices for good Raccoon coats, $50 to $75. You have to take a lot on faith when you buy furs. It's well to know you have Gordon & Ferguson back of every Gordon Coat.

THE POLITICAL PUZZLE PAGE

The Successful Contestants Are:

- To the First... $10.00
- To the Second... $5.00
- To the Third... $2.00
- To the Fourth... $1.50
- To the Fifth... $1.50
- To the Sixth... $1.00
- To the Seventh... $1.00
- To the Eighth... $1.00
- To the Ninth... $1.00
- To the Tenth... $1.00

All of the contestants have been notified by mail of their success. Upon presenting their letters at the Globe Business Office they will receive the prize they are entitled to.

The Globe's advertising innovation, started last Sunday has proved a great success and created a decided sensation in local business circles. The interest shown by readers in the advertisements, and the fact that the readers and the advertisers have been drawn closer together than ever before again brings out the fact that The Globe is the best advertising medium in the Northwest.

The scheme, which was scattering over various advertisements of the several parts of the photograph of one of the prominent candidates for a county office, was something absolutely new. The picture of Dr. Arthur W. Miller, the Democratic candidate for coroner, was cut into many parts, and sections placed inside of the spaces reserved by advertisers in last Sunday's issue.

Twenty-five dollars in prizes was given to those who successfully cut out the pieces, pasted them together, told the names of the advertisers in whose sections the pieces were placed, and mailed the full picture to The Globe. Hundreds of answers were received, these answers pointing in a steady stream into the Globe office, starting a few hours after the paper was on the street, and ending only last night.

As in all contests, a number of unique letters were received, and the names of more than one person were placed below the picture. P. J. Metzdorf, county treasurer, and Edward Kramer, county auditor, were several of the names which were looked upon as those of the candidate.

The first letter received bore a special delivery stamp, as did several hundred in the next mail. Letters from all over Minnesota continued to stream in Monday forenoon, and Tuesday an entire mail-bag was received with answers from the Dakotas and other states, the Northwest being brought to the front in an emphatic manner.

The success of the scheme shows that it is one which appeals to the reading and intelligent public, and after careful consideration, The Globe advertising department has decided to continue it indefinitely. Next Sunday the picture of another candidate for public office will be presented for the reader's study, and every Sunday until further notice the work will be continued. After election, faces of prominent men in every walk of life will be used, and the contest continued until some other scheme, equally effective, can be inaugurated.

Second Anniversary of Church to Be Held Tonight

The second anniversary of the Union Gospel Mission, located at 443 Jackson street, will be held this evening in the House of Hope, Presbyterian church. Rev. W. H. W. Boyle, the pastor of the church, will act as chairman.
