

NEWS OF THE CITY

Political Equality Club to Meet

A meeting of the St. Paul Political Equality club will be held Friday evening at the residence of Miss Lucy Forbush, 309 Eighth street.

Jubilee at St. Peter Claver Church

A jubilee in honor of the Immaculate Conception will be held every night this week at the St. Peter Claver Catholic church, the sermons being in charge of Rev. Thomas A. Printon, pastor of the church.

Will Discuss Charter Amendments

The charter amendments will be discussed by the Fifth Ward Improvement association at 8 o'clock Friday evening at St. Francis hall, Warsaw and James street.

Refreshment Pavilion Burns—Fire destroyed a vacant refreshment pavilion at Grand and Cleveland avenues yesterday morning. The building was owned by Mrs. May Tyllian. The loss amounted to $150. It is said that boys set the building afire.

Cody Admits Strong Arm—Albert Cody, eighteen years old, pleaded guilty in police court yesterday to throwing the potato which knocked Louis Strauss unconscious at the market Monday afternoon. Sentence was deferred until Thursday.

W. C. T. U. Entertainment at Hamline—An entertainment, consisting of oratorical and vocal selections, was held at the Hamline M. E. church last night, under the auspices of the W. C. T. U. The entertainment will be repeated at the Dayton Avenue Presbyterian church tonight.

Slot Machine Robber Wants Out—Application for a pardon will be made to the state board of pardons in the interests of Nic Foule, convicted a short time ago of robbing a nickel-in-the-slot machine at a drug store, 545 Mississippi street. Some evidence casting doubt upon the guilt of Foule will be presented.

Files Campaign Expense Account—A statement of campaign expenses incurred before the recent primary election was filed yesterday with the county auditor by Dr. Charles E. Dohn, who sought to become the Democratic candidate for governor. Besides his $10 for Dr. Dohn paid out $28 for distributing cards and $40 for printing and advertising.

TO ASK FOR $700,000

School Board Likely to Request This Sum for Next Year

At the meeting of the board of school inspectors this evening the proposed budget for next year was discussed. The amount of the tax proposed for the coming year will be presented, and although President Holman refuses to talk, there is every reason to believe that the amount asked for will not be in excess of $700,000 compared with $715,000 allowed last year.

This means, according to the members of the board of school inspectors, that the tax on the support of the schools for the coming year will not be as great as it was during the past year. The amount of the tax proposed includes the numerous and expensive repairs rendered necessary by the cyclone, in which two school buildings were badly damaged and others more or less injured.

With $100,000 in bonds that have been issued the grade schools will be in condition to handle the pupils and give them a full day session in all cases, placing the schools in better condition than they have been for the past twenty years.

WILL LECTURE ABOUT YELLOWSTONE PARK

Rev. C. A. Payne, of Milwaukee, to Speak at Plymouth Church

Rev. C. A. Payne, a well known traveler and lecturer of Milwaukee, Wis., is to give an illustrated lecture on the "Yellowstone National Park" at the Plymouth Congregational church, corner of Wabasha street and Summit avenue, Friday, Nov. 4, at 8 p. m., for the benefit of the fund under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor society.

Recently, after a lecture on this subject in New York, Mr. Payne was approached by Rev. Mr. Payne and said: "You have made me very proud of my adopted country."

The record show, however, that only half the people who have visited the park this season just closed, were citizens of the United States.

Mr. Payne has just completed another tour of the Yellowstone park, and is filled with enthusiasm. In a letter to a friend, he comments as follows: "The superlative beauty, the mighty grandeur, the splendid majesty and withal the inscrutable mystery of it has impressed me far more than ever before. If I could I would use it. No word and no possible picture or series of pictures can possibly do it justice. It is simply the Almighty."

The Northern Pacific railway has arranged for all connected with the general passenger department to attend in a body and occupy a special train specially reserved for them. A small admission will be charged.

PARK CONGREGATIONAL HOLDS ANNUAL MEETING

Reports of Treasurer and Trustees Show Flourishing Condition

The annual meeting of the Park Congregational church was held Tuesday evening of last week, at which reports were made showing a prosperous condition in all lines of work.

From the trustees' reports it appears that a total of $12,601 had been raised during the year, which sum has been disbursed for current expenses, payments on the church debt and for missionary and benevolent causes.

The year ending Nov. 1 closes with all expenses paid in full, and besides a large reduction of the church debt, a substantial amount which was not due until next year has been anticipated and paid.

The users' committee reported a steady increase in the attendance at both the morning and evening services of the church, and the same gratifying growth has taken place in the Sunday school, Ladies' Social and Young People's societies.

Dr. McGreggor, in a brief address, congratulated the members of the church and congregation on the happy results of last year and on the united spirit and hopeful outlook for the future of the church.

ORDER ALTERNATIVE BIDS ON PAVING

Aldermen Concur With the Assembly in the O'Brien Resolution

By a vote of eight to two Assemblyman O'Brien's resolution obliging the board of public works to secure alternative bids on street paving was passed last night by the board of aldermen. Ald. Huber and Moriarty voted no. Ald. Bantz, the first to vote, hesitated. At length he said he believed he would "give the public a chance to make their own choice" of pavements and he would vote aye. Most of his associates proved equally indulgent.

Mr. O'Brien, personally urging the adoption of his measure, explained that it would require the board of public works, whenever it advertised for bids on paving, to ask for bids not only on the material named in the final order but also on other materials—brick, sandstone, asphalt, etc., whichever were not named by the final order. Competition would be assured.

"If such an ordinance had been in force during the last three or four years," the assemblyman declared, "it would have saved the taxpayers of St. Paul $100,000."

City Engineer Favors It

City Engineer Rundlett spoke favorably of the suggested change, as did Ald. Corning.

But Ald. Bantz was in doubt. "There is a combination between the pavers," he said, "and how would this ordinance prevent it?"

Mr. O'Brien means simply absolute competition on all bids. It's an opportunity to break up the trusts. People are howling about trusts all over the country. Give us a chance to break 'em up."

After the session President Huber explained that, as he believed, the people had the chance now to make their own selection. In several cases he had secured the choice of a different material when that first adopted by the board proved unsatisfactory to the property owners.

The aldermen adopted the "cyclone relief" resolution—that is, a resolution pledging the council to place in the tax levy for next year the amount necessary to repay, with interest, the $10,493.33 advanced, through the council relief committee, to sufferers by the August cyclone.

Mayor Smith informed the board in a letter that, as he had learned, Twin City days would be observed at the St. Louis fair during the present week—Monday day for each Twin. No comment was made and the communication was placed on file.

Telephone Company Gets Privilege

Permission was granted to the Twin City Telephone company to erect poles and string wires along various alleys and on Fauquier street, between De Soto and Westminster streets; on Wilkitt street, between De Soto and De Soto; on Westminster, between Minnehaha and Whitall. The resolutions referring to the streets named were badly damaged and others more or less injured.

LOYAL LEGION WILL MEET ELECTION NIGHT

Minnesota Division of the Order Announces Banquet at Ryan

A meeting of the Minnesota division of the Loyal Legion of the United States will be held at the Hotel Ryan, Tuesday evening, Nov. 8, at 6:30 o'clock. The board of officers will convene at 7 o'clock, and have its reports ready for the members at the regular meeting. A banquet will be served at 7:30 in the hotel ball room.

The recorder's report of the condition of the organization shows a total membership of 287, of which 168 are regular members of the St. Paul commandery.

WILL PLAY THE LAST DAYS OF POMPEII

Drama for Benefit of Liberty Hive, Ladies of the Maccabees

The Christian drama, "The Last Days of Pompeii," which is to be presented for the benefit of Liberty Hive No. 46, Ladies of the Maccabees, at Mozart theater, Thursday evening, Nov. 3, promises to be an excellent entertainment. The play is founded upon Bulwer's immortal story.

The principal role will be assumed by John Fay Palmer, and the opposite character is to be portrayed by Rachel Lewis, whose work as the blind girl, has elicited much praise.

The proceeds of the evening are to be devoted to the benefit fund of Liberty Hive No. 46.

STATE TREASURER WADES IN MONEY

More Than One Million Dollars Is Handled During Month

The state treasurer's office handled over $1,300,000 during the month of August, the total amount including some $800,000 disbursed in school funds apportioned to the different counties. Checks aggregating $1,287,235 passed through the treasurer's office for the month ending Oct. 31.

Driver Injured in Runaway

Abraham Grossman, 363 Constans street, was injured yesterday evening by being thrown from his buggy at East Seventh and Kitson streets. The horse became frightened and started on a mad dash up the street. At East Seventh and Rosabel streets the horse collided with a buggy driven by William Dindorf, and the remains of Grossman's rig were left in a heap on the pavement. Dindorf's buggy was also damaged, but he escaped injury. The horse was stopped by Patrolman Galvin.

LEAVE IT TO THE PENSION SYSTEM FOR NURSES AT ST. PAUL HOSPITALS

Member of Board of Control in Address Before Superintendents of State Institutions Answers Criticisms and Outlines His Position—Declares Nurses Deserve Place With the Heroes of the Army and Navy—Purchase of Contract Flour Thoroughly Discussed

At the quarterly meeting of the superintendents of the state institutions, held at the state capitol yesterday, a renewal of the discussion of a pension system for state employees. Mr. Leavett, of the board of control, presented his views at some length on the subject and claimed he had been misinterpreted in the past.

At the discussion of the topic, three months ago there was a discussion of the subject, and Chairman I. E. Jacobson, of the board of control, took strong ground against the proposed plan of pensioning employees of the state in its state institutions.

At the quarterly meeting of the superintendents of the state institutions, held at the state capitol yesterday, a renewal of the discussion of a pension system for state employees. Mr. Leavett, of the board of control, presented his views at some length on the subject and claimed he had been misinterpreted in the past.

At the discussion of the topic, three months ago there was a discussion of the subject, and Chairman I. E. Jacobson, of the board of control, took strong ground against the proposed plan of pensioning employees of the state in its state institutions.

At the quarterly meeting of the superintendents of the state institutions, held at the state capitol yesterday, a renewal of the discussion of a pension system for state employees. Mr. Leavett, of the board of control, presented his views at some length on the subject and claimed he had been misinterpreted in the past.

At the discussion of the topic, three months ago there was a discussion of the subject, and Chairman I. E. Jacobson, of the board of control, took strong ground against the proposed plan of pensioning employees of the state in its state institutions.

At the quarterly meeting of the superintendents of the state institutions, held at the state capitol yesterday, a renewal of the discussion of a pension system for state employees. Mr. Leavett, of the board of control, presented his views at some length on the subject and claimed he had been misinterpreted in the past.

At the discussion of the topic, three months ago there was a discussion of the subject, and Chairman I. E. Jacobson, of the board of control, took strong ground against the proposed plan of pensioning employees of the state in its state institutions.

At the quarterly meeting of the superintendents of the state institutions, held at the state capitol yesterday, a renewal of the discussion of a pension system for state employees. Mr. Leavett, of the board of control, presented his views at some length on the subject and claimed he had been misinterpreted in the past.

At the discussion of the topic, three months ago there was a discussion of the subject, and Chairman I. E. Jacobson, of the board of control, took strong ground against the proposed plan of pensioning employees of the state in its state institutions.

At the quarterly meeting of the superintendents of the state institutions, held at the state capitol yesterday, a renewal of the discussion of a pension system for state employees. Mr. Leavett, of the board of control, presented his views at some length on the subject and claimed he had been misinterpreted in the past.

At the discussion of the topic, three months ago there was a discussion of the subject, and Chairman I. E. Jacobson, of the board of control, took strong ground against the proposed plan of pensioning employees of the state in its state institutions.

At the quarterly meeting of the superintendents of the state institutions, held at the state capitol yesterday, a renewal of the discussion of a pension system for state employees. Mr. Leavett, of the board of control, presented his views at some length on the subject and claimed he had been misinterpreted in the past.

At the discussion of the topic, three months ago there was a discussion of the subject, and Chairman I. E. Jacobson, of the board of control, took strong ground against the proposed plan of pensioning employees of the state in its state institutions.

At the quarterly meeting of the superintendents of the state institutions, held at the state capitol yesterday, a renewal of the discussion of a pension system for state employees. Mr. Leavett, of the board of control, presented his views at some length on the subject and claimed he had been misinterpreted in the past.

At the discussion of the topic, three months ago there was a discussion of the subject, and Chairman I. E. Jacobson, of the board of control, took strong ground against the proposed plan of pensioning employees of the state in its state institutions.

At the quarterly meeting of the superintendents of the state institutions, held at the state capitol yesterday, a renewal of the discussion of a pension system for state employees. Mr. Leavett, of the board of control, presented his views at some length on the subject and claimed he had been misinterpreted in the past.

At the discussion of the topic, three months ago there was a discussion of the subject, and Chairman I. E. Jacobson, of the board of control, took strong ground against the proposed plan of pensioning employees of the state in its state institutions.

At the quarterly meeting of the superintendents of the state institutions, held at the state capitol yesterday, a renewal of the discussion of a pension system for state employees. Mr. Leavett, of the board of control, presented his views at some length on the subject and claimed he had been misinterpreted in the past.

At the discussion of the topic, three months ago there was a discussion of the subject, and Chairman I. E. Jacobson, of the board of control, took strong ground against the proposed plan of pensioning employees of the state in its state institutions.

At the quarterly meeting of the superintendents of the state institutions, held at the state capitol yesterday, a renewal of the discussion of a pension system for state employees. Mr. Leavett, of the board of control, presented his views at some length on the subject and claimed he had been misinterpreted in the past.

At the discussion of the topic, three months ago there was a discussion of the subject, and Chairman I. E. Jacobson, of the board of control, took strong ground against the proposed plan of pensioning employees of the state in its state institutions.

At the quarterly meeting of the superintendents of the state institutions, held at the state capitol yesterday, a renewal of the discussion of a pension system for state employees. Mr. Leavett, of the board of control, presented his views at some length on the subject and claimed he had been misinterpreted in the past.

At the discussion of the topic, three months ago there was a discussion of the subject, and Chairman I. E. Jacobson, of the board of control, took strong ground against the proposed plan of pensioning employees of the state in its state institutions.

At the quarterly meeting of the superintendents of the state institutions, held at the state capitol yesterday, a renewal of the discussion of a pension system for state employees. Mr. Leavett, of the board of control, presented his views at some length on the subject and claimed he had been misinterpreted in the past.

At the discussion of the topic, three months ago there was a discussion of the subject, and Chairman I. E. Jacobson, of the board of control, took strong ground against the proposed plan of pensioning employees of the state in its state institutions.

DR. H. A. TOMLINSON Chairman of Committee Considering Proposed Pension System

When the recommendation was inserted in the report in question, it was unanimously agreed to by all the members of the board. Whether any of them have experienced the heart, I do not know, but for one I am still of the opinion that a law along the lines in question would greatly assist in assuring aged, experienced nurses in the service, and that without becoming burdensome to the state.

Newspapers, politicians, office-seekers, and some good people as well, tumble over each other in their advocacy of pensioning those who have been disabled in the military and naval service, and as a result "Amen," but never soldier who found his death upon the battlefield, or sailor who died bravely at sea, or a higher order, greater patriotic devotion to country, than does the intelligent nurse who planningsubmits to the humbling indignities necessary in the care of the insane, or the aged and infirm.

I speak feelingly upon the subject because I believe in it. I bring it up at this time because I believe in it. I bring it up at this time because I believe in it.

Dr. H. A. Tomlinson, chairman of the committee to whom had been referred the subject of pensions for old (disabled) employees, reported yesterday for further time for consideration, and there was no discussion of Mr. Leavett's paper. Dr. Tomlinson also read extracts from his forthcoming biennial report, advertising the housing of the state hospitals for the insane, and insisted that discipline, a higher efficiency of nursing and the elevation of nursing to the professional plane were prerequisites for the change from the present system of having the nurses in the hospital wards.

The two topics discussed by the superintendent of the department of hospitals yesterday related to the purchase of supplies and economy in their distribution. At the morning session Dr. F. K. Kilbourne, on a paper on "Purchase of Supplies, Conservation of Quality," and in the afternoon Henry Wolf, warden of the Stillwater penitentiary, discussed "Economy in Distribution and Use of Supplies." Both papers aroused discussion.

Dr. J. J. Dow, of the school for the blind, Faribault, urged an expert buyer for the state institutions. Warden Wolf declared that there had been a great improvement in the quality of goods in recent years without any corresponding increase in the cost. Mr. Leavett asked why the superintendent of the department of hospitals could not select goods for their own institution, and Supt. P. L. Randall, of the St. Cloud reformatory, said that if the state possessed the necessary technical knowledge, he would be glad to purchase goods for his institution. Mr. Kilbourne questioned whether or not a recent contract for 5,000 barrels of flour was in standard in quality. He cited the fact that the flour was now being delivered to the institutions in unmarked bags. There had been a great improvement in the quality of flour in two grades, and he feared the barrel was being given the lower grade at the higher price. Chairman Jacobson assured that the flour was in standard in quality. He cited the fact that the flour was now being delivered to the institutions in unmarked bags. There had been a great improvement in the quality of flour in two grades, and he feared the barrel was being given the lower grade at the higher price. Chairman Jacobson assured that the flour was in standard in quality. He cited the fact that the flour was now being delivered to the institutions in unmarked bags. There had been a great improvement in the quality of flour in two grades, and he feared the barrel was being given the lower grade at the higher price. Chairman Jacobson assured that the flour was in standard in quality. He cited the fact that the flour was now being delivered to the institutions in unmarked bags. There had been a great improvement in the quality of flour in two grades, and he feared the barrel was being given the lower grade at the higher price. Chairman Jacobson assured that the flour was in standard in quality. He cited the fact that the flour was now being delivered to the institutions in unmarked bags. There had been a great improvement in the quality of flour in two grades, and he feared the barrel was being given the lower grade at the higher price. Chairman Jacobson assured that the flour was in standard in quality. He cited the fact that the flour was now being delivered to the institutions in unmarked bags. There had been a great improvement in the quality of flour in two grades, and he feared the barrel was being given the lower grade at the higher price. Chairman Jacobson assured that the flour was in standard in quality. He cited the fact that the flour was now being delivered to the institutions in unmarked bags. There had been a great improvement in the quality of flour in two grades, and he feared the barrel was being given the lower grade at the higher price. Chairman Jacobson assured that the flour was in standard in quality. He cited the fact that the flour was now being delivered to the institutions in unmarked bags. There had been a great improvement in the quality of flour in two grades, and he feared the barrel was being given the lower grade at the higher price. Chairman Jacobson assured that the flour was in standard in quality. He cited the fact that the flour was now being delivered to the institutions in unmarked bags. There had been a great improvement in the quality of flour in two grades, and he feared the barrel was being given the lower grade at the higher price. Chairman Jacobson assured that the flour was in standard in quality. He cited the fact that the flour was now being delivered to the institutions in unmarked bags. There had been a great improvement in the quality of flour in two grades, and he feared the barrel was being given the lower grade at the higher price. Chairman Jacobson assured that the flour was in standard in quality. He cited the fact that the flour was now being delivered to the institutions in unmarked bags. There had been a great improvement in the quality of flour in two grades, and he feared the barrel was being given the lower grade at the higher price. Chairman Jacobson assured that the flour was in standard in quality. He cited the fact that the flour was now being delivered to the institutions in unmarked bags. There had been a great improvement in the quality of flour in two grades, and he feared the barrel was being given the lower grade at the higher price. Chairman Jacobson assured that the flour was in standard in quality. He cited the fact that the flour was now being delivered to the institutions in unmarked bags. There had been a great improvement in the quality of flour in two grades, and he feared the barrel was being given the lower grade at the higher price. Chairman Jacobson assured that the flour was in standard in quality. He cited the fact that the flour was now being delivered to the institutions in unmarked bags. There had been a great improvement in the quality of flour in two grades, and he feared the barrel was being given the lower grade at the higher price. Chairman Jacobson assured that the flour was in standard in quality. He cited the fact that the flour was now being delivered to the institutions in unmarked bags. There had been a great improvement in the quality of flour in two grades, and he feared the barrel was being given the lower grade at the higher price. Chairman Jacobson assured that the flour was in standard in quality. He cited the fact that the flour was now being delivered to the institutions in unmarked bags. There had been a great improvement in the quality of flour in two grades, and he feared the barrel was being given the lower grade at the higher price. Chairman Jacobson assured that the flour was in standard in quality. He cited the fact that the flour was now being delivered to the institutions in unmarked bags. There had been a great improvement in the quality of flour in two grades, and he feared the barrel was being given the lower grade at the higher price. Chairman Jacobson assured that the flour was in standard in quality. He cited the fact that the flour was now being delivered to the institutions in unmarked bags. There had been a great improvement in the quality of flour in two grades, and he feared the barrel was being given the lower grade at the higher price. Chairman Jacobson assured that the flour was in standard in quality. He cited the fact that the flour was now being delivered to the institutions in unmarked bags. There had been a great improvement in the quality of flour in two grades, and he feared the barrel was being given the lower grade at the higher price. Chairman Jacobson assured that the flour was in standard in quality. He cited the fact that the flour was now being delivered to the institutions in unmarked bags. There had been a great improvement in the quality of flour in two grades, and he feared the barrel was being given the lower grade at the higher price. Chairman Jacobson assured that the flour was in standard in quality. He cited the fact that the flour was now being delivered to the institutions in unmarked bags. There had been a great improvement in the quality of flour in two grades, and he feared the barrel was being given the lower grade at the higher price. Chairman Jacobson assured that the flour was in standard in quality. He cited the fact that the flour was now being delivered to the institutions in unmarked bags. There had been a great improvement in the quality of flour in two grades, and he feared the barrel was being given the lower grade at the higher price. Chairman Jacobson assured that the flour was in standard in quality. He cited the fact that the flour was now being delivered to the institutions in unmarked bags. There had been a great improvement in the quality of flour in two grades, and he feared the barrel was being given the lower grade at the higher price. Chairman Jacobson assured that the flour was in standard in quality. He cited the fact that the flour was now being delivered to the institutions in unmarked bags. There had been a great improvement in the quality of flour in two grades, and he feared the barrel was being given the lower grade at the higher price. Chairman Jacobson assured that the flour was in standard in quality. He cited the fact that the flour was now being delivered to the institutions in unmarked bags. There had been a great improvement in the quality of flour in two grades, and he feared the barrel was being given the lower grade at the higher price. Chairman Jacobson assured that the flour was in standard in quality. He cited the fact that the flour was now being delivered to the institutions in unmarked bags. There had been a great improvement in the quality of flour in two grades, and he feared the barrel was being given the lower grade at the higher price. Chairman Jacobson assured that the flour was in standard in quality. He cited the fact that the flour was now being delivered to the institutions in unmarked bags. There had been a great improvement in the quality of flour in two grades, and he feared the barrel was being given the lower grade at the higher price. Chairman Jacobson assured that the flour was in standard in quality. He cited the fact that the flour was now being delivered to the institutions in unmarked bags. There had been a great improvement in the quality of flour in two grades, and he feared the barrel was being given the lower grade at the higher price. Chairman Jacobson assured that the flour was in standard in quality. He cited the fact that the flour was now being delivered to the institutions in unmarked bags. There had been a great improvement in the quality of flour in two grades, and he feared the barrel was being given the lower grade at the higher price. Chairman Jacobson assured that the flour was in standard in quality. He cited the fact that the flour was now being delivered to the institutions in unmarked bags. There had been a great improvement in the quality of flour in two grades, and he feared the barrel was being given the lower grade at the higher price. Chairman Jacobson assured that the flour was in standard in quality. He cited the fact that the flour was now being delivered to the institutions in unmarked bags. There had been a great improvement in the quality of flour in two grades, and he feared the barrel was being given the lower grade at the higher price. Chairman Jacobson assured that the flour was in standard in quality. He cited the fact that the flour was now being delivered to the institutions in unmarked bags. There had been a great improvement in the quality of flour in two grades, and he feared the barrel was being given the lower grade at the higher price. Chairman Jacobson assured that the flour was in standard in quality. He cited the fact that the flour was now being delivered to the institutions in unmarked bags. There had been a great improvement in the quality of flour in two grades, and he feared the barrel was being given the lower grade at the higher price. Chairman Jacobson assured that the flour was in standard in quality. He cited the fact that the flour was now being delivered to the institutions in unmarked bags. There had been a great improvement in the quality of flour in two grades, and he feared the barrel was being given the lower grade at the higher price. Chairman Jacobson assured that the flour was in standard in quality. He cited the fact that the flour was now being delivered to the institutions in unmarked bags. There had been a great improvement in the quality of flour in two grades, and he feared the barrel was being given the lower grade at the higher price. Chairman Jacobson assured that the flour was in standard in quality. He cited the fact that the flour was now being delivered to the institutions in unmarked bags. There had been a great improvement in the quality of flour in two grades, and he feared the barrel was being given the lower grade at the higher price. Chairman Jacobson assured that the flour was in standard in quality. He cited the fact that the flour was now being delivered to the institutions in unmarked bags. There had been a great improvement in the quality of flour in two grades, and he feared the barrel was being given the lower grade at the higher price. Chairman Jacobson assured that the flour was in standard in quality. He cited the fact that the flour was now being delivered to the institutions in unmarked bags. There had been a great improvement in the quality of flour in two grades, and he feared the barrel was being given the lower grade at the higher price. Chairman Jacobson assured that the flour was in standard in quality. He cited the fact that the flour was now being delivered to the institutions in unmarked bags. There had been a great improvement in the quality of flour in two grades, and he feared the barrel was being given the lower grade at the higher price. Chairman Jacobson assured that the flour was in standard in quality. He cited the fact that the flour was now being delivered to the institutions in unmarked bags. There had been a great improvement in the quality of flour in two grades, and he feared the barrel was being given the lower grade at the higher price. Chairman Jacobson assured that the flour was in standard in quality. He cited the fact that the flour was now being delivered to the institutions in unmarked bags. There had been a great improvement in the quality of flour in two grades, and he feared the barrel was being given the lower grade at the higher price. Chairman Jacobson assured that the flour was in standard in quality. He cited the fact that the flour was now being delivered to the institutions in unmarked bags. There had been a great improvement in the quality of flour in two grades, and he feared the barrel was being given the lower grade at the higher price. Chairman Jacobson assured that the flour was in standard in quality. He cited the fact that the flour was now being delivered to the institutions in unmarked bags. There had been a great improvement in the quality of flour in two grades, and he feared the barrel was being given the lower grade at the higher price. Chairman Jacobson assured that the flour was in standard in quality. He cited the fact that the flour was now being delivered to the institutions in unmarked bags. There had been a great improvement in the quality of flour in two grades, and he feared the barrel was being given the lower grade at the higher price. Chairman Jacobson assured that the flour was in standard in quality. He cited the fact that the flour was now being delivered to the institutions in unmarked bags. There had been a great improvement in the quality of flour in two grades, and he feared the barrel was being given the lower grade at the higher price. Chairman Jacobson assured that the flour was in standard in quality. He cited the fact that the flour was now being delivered to the institutions in unmarked bags. There had been a great improvement in the quality of flour in two grades, and he feared the barrel was being given the lower grade at the higher price. Chairman Jacobson assured that the flour was in standard in quality. He cited the fact that the flour was now being delivered to the institutions in unmarked bags. There had been a great improvement in the quality of flour in two grades, and he feared the barrel was being given the lower grade at the higher price. Chairman Jacobson assured that the flour was in standard in quality. He cited the fact that the flour was now being delivered to the institutions in unmarked bags. There had been a great improvement in the quality of flour in two grades, and he feared the barrel was being given the lower grade at the higher price. Chairman Jacobson assured that the flour was in standard in quality. He cited the fact that the flour was now being delivered to the institutions in unmarked bags. There had been a great improvement in the quality of flour in two grades, and he feared the barrel was being given the lower grade at the higher price. Chairman Jacobson assured that the flour was in standard in quality. He cited the fact that the flour was now being delivered to the institutions in unmarked bags. There had been a great improvement in the quality of flour in two grades, and he feared the barrel was being given the lower grade at the higher price. Chairman Jacobson assured that the flour was in standard in quality. He cited the fact that the flour was now being delivered to the institutions in unmarked bags. There had been a great improvement in the quality of flour in two grades, and he feared the barrel was being given the lower grade at the higher price. Chairman Jacobson assured that the flour was in standard in quality. He cited the fact that the flour was now being delivered to the institutions in unmarked bags. There had been a great improvement in the quality of flour in two grades, and he feared the barrel was being given the lower grade at the higher price. Chairman Jacobson assured that the flour was in standard in quality. He cited the fact that the flour was now being delivered to the institutions in unmarked bags. There had been a great improvement in the quality of flour in two grades, and he feared the barrel was being given the lower grade at the higher price. Chairman Jacobson assured that the flour was in standard in quality. He cited the fact that the flour was now being delivered to the institutions in unmarked bags. There had been a great improvement in the quality of flour in two grades, and he feared the barrel was being given the lower grade at the higher price. Chairman Jacobson assured that the flour was in standard in quality. He cited the fact that the flour was now being delivered to the institutions in unmarked bags. There had been a great improvement in the quality of flour in two grades, and he feared the barrel was being given the lower grade at the higher price. Chairman Jacobson assured that the flour was in standard in quality. He cited the fact that the flour was now being delivered to the institutions in unmarked bags. There had been a great improvement in the quality of flour in two grades, and he feared the barrel was being given the lower grade at the higher price. Chairman Jacobson assured that the flour was in standard in quality. He cited the fact that the flour was now being delivered to the institutions in unmarked bags. There had been a great improvement in the quality of flour in two grades, and he feared the barrel was being given the lower grade at the higher price. Chairman Jacobson assured that the flour was in standard in quality. He cited the fact that the flour was now being delivered to the institutions in unmarked bags. There had been a great improvement in the quality of flour in two grades, and he feared the barrel was being given the lower grade at the higher price. Chairman Jacobson assured that the flour was in standard in quality. He cited the fact that the flour was now being delivered to the institutions in unmarked bags. There had been a great improvement in the quality of flour in two grades, and he feared the barrel was being given the lower grade at the higher price. Chairman Jacobson assured that the flour was in standard in quality. He cited the fact that the flour was now being delivered to the institutions in unmarked bags. There had been a great improvement in the quality of flour in two grades, and he feared the barrel was being given the lower grade at the higher price. Chairman Jacobson assured that the flour was in standard in quality. He cited the fact that the flour was now being delivered to the institutions in unmarked bags. There had been a great improvement in the quality of flour in two grades, and he feared the barrel was being given the lower grade at the higher price. Chairman Jacobson assured that the flour was in standard in quality. He cited the fact that the flour was now being delivered to the institutions in unmarked bags. There had been a great improvement in the quality of flour in two grades, and he feared the barrel was being given the lower grade at the higher price. Chairman Jacobson assured that the flour was in standard in quality. He cited the fact that the flour was now being delivered to the institutions in unmarked bags. There had been a great improvement in the quality of flour in two grades, and he feared the barrel was being given the lower grade at the higher price. Chairman Jacobson assured that the flour was in standard in quality. He cited the fact that the flour was now being delivered to the institutions in unmarked bags. There had been a great improvement in the quality of flour in two grades, and he feared the barrel was being given the lower grade at the higher price. Chairman Jacobson assured that the flour was in standard in quality. He cited the fact that the flour was now being delivered to the institutions in unmarked bags. There had been a great improvement in the quality of flour in two grades, and he feared the barrel was being given the lower grade at the higher price. Chairman Jacobson assured that the flour was in standard in quality. He cited the fact that the flour was now being delivered to the institutions in unmarked bags. There had been a great improvement in the quality of flour in two grades, and he feared the barrel was being given the lower grade at the higher price. Chairman Jacobson assured that the flour was in standard in quality. He cited the fact that the flour was now being delivered to the institutions in unmarked bags. There had been a great improvement in the quality of flour in two grades, and he feared the barrel was being given the lower grade at the higher price. Chairman Jacobson assured that the flour was in standard in quality. He cited the fact that the flour was now being delivered to the institutions in unmarked bags. There had been a great improvement in the quality of flour in two grades, and he feared the barrel was being given the lower grade at the higher price. Chairman Jacobson assured that the flour was in standard in quality. He cited the fact that the flour was now being delivered to the institutions in unmarked bags. There had been a great improvement in the quality of flour in two grades, and he feared the barrel was being given the lower grade at the higher price. Chairman Jacobson assured that the flour was in standard in quality. He cited the fact that the flour was now being delivered to the institutions in unmarked bags. There had been a great improvement in the quality of flour in two grades, and he feared the barrel was being given the lower grade at the higher price. Chairman Jacobson assured that the flour was in standard in quality. He cited the fact that the flour was now being delivered to the institutions in unmarked bags. There had been a great improvement in the quality of flour in two grades, and he feared the barrel was being given the lower grade at the higher price. Chairman Jacobson assured that the flour was in standard in quality. He cited the fact that the flour was now being delivered to the institutions in unmarked bags. There had been a great improvement in the quality of flour in two grades, and he feared the barrel was being given the lower grade at the higher price. Chairman Jacobson assured that the flour was in standard in quality. He cited the fact that the flour was now being delivered to the institutions in unmarked bags. There had been a great improvement in the quality of flour in two grades, and he feared the barrel was being given the lower grade at the higher price. Chairman Jacobson assured that the flour was in standard in quality. He cited the fact that the flour was now being delivered to the institutions in unmarked bags. There had been a great improvement in the quality of flour in two grades, and he feared the barrel was being given the lower grade at the higher price. Chairman Jacobson assured that the flour was in standard in quality. He cited the fact that the flour was now being delivered to the institutions in unmarked bags. There had been a great improvement in the quality of flour in two grades, and he feared the barrel was being given the lower grade at the higher price. Chairman Jacobson assured that the flour was in standard in quality. He cited the fact that the flour was now being delivered to the institutions in unmarked bags. There had been a great improvement in the quality of flour in two grades, and he feared the barrel was being given the lower grade at the higher price. Chairman Jacobson assured that the flour was in standard in quality. He cited the fact that the flour was now being delivered to the institutions in unmarked bags. There had been a great improvement in