ODDS ON FAVORITE LOSES AT OAKLAND

Six to One Shot Gets Off Flying and Is Never Headed

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Dec. 15.—At Oakland today the seven-furlong race resulted in an upset. Venator was an odds on favorite, with a 6 to 1 chance.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Dec. 15.—Gus Heidem and Rankin were the only beaten favorites today. Heidem, who had the mount on Shock the Talent, was severely bruised by the horse falling at the half-mile post.

HEAD SOLD SORE Awful Suffering of Baby and Sleepless Nights of Mother. CURED BY CUTICURA Skin Fair as a Lily with no Scar to Recall Awful Sore Writes Mother.

"I herewith write out in full the beginning and end of that terrible disease, eczema, which caused my babe untold suffering and myself many sleepless nights. My babe was born seemingly a fair, healthy child, but when she was three weeks old a swelling appeared on the back of her head, and in course of time broke. It did not heal but grew worse, and the sore spread from the size of a dime to that of a dollar. I used all kinds of remedies that I could think of, but nothing seemed to help; in fact, it grew worse. Her hair fell out over the sore, and I feared it would never grow again."

PUGILISTS' WAGES WILL SOON BE CUT

San Francisco Clubs Have Monopoly on Fighting Game

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 15.—The pugilist of reputation is not to be so well cared for in the future in a financial way at San Francisco. It is said that after the first of the new year prize fighters who appear in California rings will find the good old times gone and that the fierce rivalry between the various clubs, which gave the boxers big percentages of the gate recept, will be a thing of the past. While the clubs were fighting to secure the big percentage the boxers were in a position to name their own terms. It was no common thing for the fighters to battle for 70 per cent of the gross receipts. When it is taken into consideration that the club must foot all the bills, advertise, put on the preliminaries, pay the help, rent, light and license, etc., this percentage was a big one. Under the conditions the club could not very well make much profit. Invariably the earnings from these fights go through many channels before anything is straightened out. Some of these clubs have from two to six partners, and they all expect a liberal share. Then the referee has to be cared for, and his bit is not much less than $100 for each important mill in which he officiates.

habits, and to the local ring goer about $10. The last fight between Jim Jeffries and Jim Corbett at San Francisco drew a nearly $50,000 gate. In New York, if one of the championship matches went below this amount the club and the fighters were disappointed. Liberal percentages were allowed to the principals, and they abused the public's encouragement and patronage by putting in shady encounters. The clubs are compelled to pay handsomely for licenses in San Francisco to hold fights. In New York there was no such tax. Outside of paying for rent, lights, preliminary bouts, the club expenses were small. In bouts between third-raters at the Broadway A. C., the Coney Island, and Lenox A. C., which were held about four times each month, the receipts averaged no less than $5,000 for each mill. One club alone, it is said, cleared $100,000 in one year.

Just now California is the only state where championship battles are countenanced by the authorities. There is talk of new arenas entering the field once more. But at present there is no reliable foundation for the report. The recent mill between Battling Nelson and Young Corbett drew something like $15,000. The same contest in New York would have played to nearly three times that amount.

Walcott's Aspirations Joe Walcott wants to fight again. The fact that the once noted negro pugilist carries a bullet hole in his right hand makes a difference to Walcott. The "Barbadoes" says that the reason why he wishes to shine again in the ring is that he is in need of money, and must do something to stave off the oncoming poverty must be taken with a grain of salt. Joe is not poor, nor is there any danger of his starving. He had a pretty penny hoarded away. Not so long ago he told a reporter that he owned several pieces of property in one of the Boston suburbs. There is no direct evidence that his real estate has since been confiscated. The general public is prejudiced against Walcott not because of his color, but for some of the fake bouts in which he has been one of the offending parties. Walcott never engaged in a contest that he did not have nine-tenths the better of it. And Walcott always receives more money than his rival, whether he won or lost. His articles of agreement usually had a clause which stipulated that he was to receive half of the purse, no matter how the mill went, and as he won most of them it has been a large side of the register. Walcott's friends are trying to arrange a benefit for him. If the affair was held in New York it is said betting that it would be a frost. Walcott is not popular with his own race, and few of the white sports have any sympathy for him. He has earned over $250,000 as a boxer. As he was never known to dissipate or engage in any unwholesome speculation, it is reasonable to infer that he has a good part of this fortune left.

GARDNER WINS BOUT

O'Keefe's Seconds Give Up in the Twelfth

BUTTE, Mont., Dec. 15.—Jimmy Gardner, of Lowell, Mass., defeated Jack O'Keefe, of Chicago, here tonight in seven rounds of what was to have been a twenty-round contest. When the gong sounded for the twelfth round O'Keefe's seconds threw up the sponge. After the first round Gardner showed his superiority by landing vigorous rights and lefts frequently to O'Keefe's wind and face. In the seventh round O'Keefe was smeared with blood which came from an ugly cut in his under lip. In this round both men rushed and at the end were noticeably weak.

Davidson and Bapte are willing to meet Dorlon and Shimmid at Pittsburg for from $200 to $500 a side.

CURRENT IS CAPTAIN

Fullback Will Lead Minnesota Football Team Next Year

Earl Current, of New Ulm, was elected captain of the 1905 football team last night after the annual banquet to the team in the West hotel. The election was unanimous and gave general satisfaction to players, students and alumni. Current has been at the university two years and his work on the team has always been of high order. He was picked by some of the all-Western fullbacks as being considered by all as a first-class player on the offense and defense.

SPORTING MELANGE

Ed Corrizan is reported to be taking flu jitsu training for the special benefit of the Western jockey club. Pat Carmody has provided himself with the more elemental brick.

Labor Commissioner Carroll D. Wright can secure some valuable campaign material by studying the prize fights of Minnesota at present. In no other line has the amount of work been so shortened. The following account of the death of Sam Collyer throws some interesting light on this phase of the subject:

"The death of Walter Jamieson, known in the pugilist world thirty odd years ago as 'Sam Collyer,' was deeply mourned by the 'old timers.' Sam was champion lightweight of America under the present prize rules before some of the present day boxers were born. He fought his first battle on March 18, 1886, when he was twenty-four years old, his opponent being Mike Carr, whom he defeated in four rounds. On Jan. 15, 1887, he defeated his title against Johnny McGlade, whom he defeated in forty-seven rounds.

On June 13, the same year, he lost the title to Barney Aaron in sixty-eight rounds. Aaron fought Sam repeatedly, almost blinding him, but the gang was with Barney and everything went. Aaron refused to fight Sam again and lost the title for which Collyer and Billy Kelly fought on Nov. 27, Sam winning in the thirteenth round. On Aug. 21, 1888, he lost his championship to Billy Edwards in forty-seven rounds, and on March 2, 1870, was again beaten by Edwards in forty rounds.

"This battle was fought at 124 pounds, the highest weight Billy would agree to fight at. Collyer asking him to match at 126 or 128. This was Collyer's last fight. During and after his fighting career he and two boys known as Danny and Eddie Collyer did a turn at clog dancing and club swinging in vaudeville, then known as variety houses.

Tod Sloan Wins Case PARIS, Dec. 15.—The court of appeals has confirmed the judgment of the lower court, favorable to 'Tod' Sloan, the American jockey, and against the jockey club.

Sloan sued the jockey club for $40,000 damages for being warned off the turf in connection with Rose de Mal's winning the Prix de la Seine at the Chantilly races in May, 1902.

Willie McGill Lands INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Dec. 15.—Edward G. Barrow, who arrived here from Detroit today to assume the management of the American Association Baseball club, has announced the signing of the following players: Jack Thibault, an outfielder, last season with the New York Americans; Champ Osteen, former shortstop for the same team; Nickerson, who last year played with the Nashville, Tenn., club, and Willie McGill.
