

Society

THE holidays are more a time for family gatherings and children's parties than for formal entertaining, and this past week has seen few affairs of more than passing interest. The announcement of the engagement of Miss Mary Saunders, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Saunders, to Mr. Wheaton Kittredge, of Boston, was the most interesting news of the week. Mr. Kittredge is studying law at Harvard and will not finish for another year, so it is not likely the marriage will take place for some time. Rumors of three other engagements are in the air, and while they have been denied, gossip is persistent in asserting they are true. There are still left in St. Paul some old-fashioned mothers who regard the custom of announcing engagements as in wretched taste and of their daughters' affairs we can only learn from the informal announcements.

Ramaley's hall and Miss Loomis' school have been the scenes of almost nightly dances during the past week, and two or three younger sets have danced to their hearts' content. Society has split up considerably during the year which closed last night, and this has been particularly marked among the young people. However, those boys and girls who now separate into cliques will all be united in a year or two when they come out, but for the present a year's difference in age draws the line sharply. Miss Cooper's very beautiful dance and that of the German club were the two affairs of the week for the debutante and older sets, and were gay and pleasant than any dances of the winter. The giving up of the breakfast which Mrs. Ranney and Miss Ranney were to have had tomorrow, on account of a death in the family, was a great disappointment, and will keep Miss Ranney from going into society this winter, where she has become a great favorite.

Miss Ruberta Gotzian gave a luncheon and coasting party Friday at the Country club for the younger set of girls who are home from school for the holidays. Mrs. T. L. Blood gave a theater party and supper last night in honor of Miss Pugh and Miss Charlotte Hardenberg. Mrs. Jagard will give a luncheon tomorrow at the Country club for the same set of girls and in honor of Miss Pugh. Mr. and Mrs. Pugh, Miss Pugh and Miss Hardenberg leave tomorrow night for Philadelphia. Judge and Mrs. Jagard gave a dinner last night for their guests. Miss Virginia Schuneman, of the Aberdeen, was given a grand surprise party Wednesday night. Mrs. John W. Willis gave a small New Year's party last night. Miss Day, of the Angus, entertained informally yesterday for Mrs. John L. Snapp, of Seattle.

Miss Cary, of Summit court, will be home this week from the East. Mrs. D. R. Noyes entertained the younger set last night at the Country club. Mrs. W. G. White gave a dance for young people at Ramaley's hall Thursday night. Mr. Fritz Giffman is visiting his mother, Mrs. C. D. Giffman, of Summit avenue. Mrs. C. E. Furness and Miss Gordon are spending New Year's with Mr. and Mrs. Severance at Cedarhurst. Mrs. Robinson, of Winnipeg, is spending a week with her mother, Mrs. George Armstrong, at the Angus. Mr. Wheaton Kittredge of Boston, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Saunders, of Summit avenue. Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Strickland have come from Omaha and will reside in St. Paul. Mrs. F. E. Weyerhauser, of Summit avenue, will give a New Year's breakfast tomorrow. Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Wright, of Crocus place, will give a large reception tomorrow night. Mrs. Philip Harris, of College avenue, has returned from Maryland. Herr William Scheck, of Castle, Germany, is at the Angus, and will remain several months in St. Paul.

The Cotillion club of girls, which comprises the debutantes and the younger set, have planned a party for Thursday night at Ramaley's hall, invitations to which will be issued tomorrow. The girls are to appear in fancy dress, but the men will wear their usual sober costumes, as St. Paul men can never be induced to "dress up." Mr. Reece Newport Jr. will lead Thursday night. Miss Winnifred Holbert will go to Philadelphia soon to spend the rest of the winter with her sister, Mrs. Risley.

Mrs. B. I. Stanton, of Ashland avenue, gave a small dinner party Friday night. Mrs. A. D. S. Johnston, of Summit avenue, gave a dinner for twelve guests Friday night in honor of her son, Harlan Johnston. Mrs. Emil Zimmerman will give a young people's dancing party tomorrow night at Miss Loomis' school. Mrs. Weyerhauser is entertaining Dr. and Mrs. Jewett, of Chicago. Mrs. W. H. Sanborn, of Virginia avenue, has gone to St. Louis.

Dr. Cornelius Williams gave a New Year's party last night in the form of a housewarming of his new Summit avenue home. Mrs. H. C. McNair, of Laurel avenue, gave a bridge party Friday afternoon. Mrs. Wallace Winter, of Portland avenue, gave a theater party last night. Mrs. L. P. Ordway, of Portland avenue, will entertain the very young set tomorrow night for her son, Samuel Ordway. Miss Moore, of of Summit avenue, is entertaining Miss Holbrook, of Evanston.

Mrs. W. S. Timberlake, of Arundel street, has gone to Milwaukee. Miss Holbert, of Summit avenue, is entertaining Miss Vanter, of Chicago. Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Bingham have gone to Duluth. Mrs. Strauss, of Summit avenue, gave a luncheon Thursday in honor of Mrs. Rosenfield, of Rock Island. Miss Lukin, of Summit avenue, will entertain informally tomorrow night. Mrs. Darling, of Virginia avenue, will give a bridge party Thursday afternoon.

FASHIONS FROM VOGUE

Prepared Specially for THE GLOBE

Although numerous evening gowns of almost regal gorgeousness are seen, the majority are quite simple affairs, most girls and young married women preferring to have a number of inexpensive frocks rather than one or two of a pronounced and very expensive type. Dainty nets, all over Valenciennes or applique lace, chiffon and gauzes are the most used materials and in many cases the gowns are merely trimmed with ruffles or ruffles and very expensive type. long stems, and pink chiffon velvet was used for the girle, which was very high and pointed and fastened with pink chiffon rosettes. Another lovely yet simple gown is shown by the illustration. This is of white net over white taffeta veiled with chiffon, and is made with a full skirt shirred at the top, and again some twelve or fifteen inches below and near the lower edge are inset square medallions of heavy Irish lace. The bodice is cut round at the neck and is trimmed with a wide ruffle of the net bordered with Irish lace. This is cut to form points over the bust and also runs out over the arms, falling in deep points at the back and is headed by a twist of light blue velvet ending in a small bow in front. Straps of the same velvet tied into tiny bows hold the sleeve ruffles and practically form the sleeves, and blue velvet is also used for the crush belt which is fastened at the back by a large jeweled buckle.
