SLED DRAGS DRIVER AND TEAM DOWN HILL

Sleigh Overturns Just in Time to Avert Collision With Freight Car

Dragged all the way down the Jackson street hill, from Third street to the railroad tracks, and powered its way toward a freight car which was hurled against it, a heavy sled team owned by the International Stock Food company and their driver were the victims of an exciting and painful experience yesterday afternoon.

The Jackson street hill is as slippery as glass, and all during the day teams had great difficulty in making the descent, the sleds often turning sideways and threatening to throw the horses off their feet.

Sled Drags Team

About 3 o'clock in the afternoon a truck, belonging to the International Food company and heavily loaded, started down the hill, and when about a third of the way down the heavy sled commenced to slew sideways and before the driver could realize what was happening swung clear around and started down the hill backwards, dragging the terrified team after it.

The driver could have easily jumped from the sled before it gained any momentum, but would not desert his team and tried to run the sled into the sidewalk, but to no avail, and soon the heavy load was slipping along at a rapid pace.

Barely Escape Collision

A switch engine had been pushing freight cars about the yards, and one of the cars was standing directly on the crossing and right in the path of the runaway sled, which was racing down the grade, dragging the horses after it. A collision seemed imminent, but just as the sled reached the foot of the hill the front runners struck the sidewalk curbing, and the load overturned.

The driver was thrown in under the sled, but was not seriously hurt, and the horses escaped with a number of scratches, most of which were received while coming down the hill.

Earlier in the afternoon another sled slipped on the ice and slewed away from the horses, but ran into a telephone pole and was stopped.

University Regents Reported After Larger Appropriation

J. T. Wyman, president of the board of regents of the state university, conferred yesterday at the capitol with Senator R. B. Brower, chairman of the senate finance committee, and Senator G. E. Ward, chairman of the senate committee on education.

It is understood that the conference had to do with estimates of the appropriations desired by the state university and the normal schools. It is said that the university authorities will attempt to obtain from the legislature an appropriation for the new main building much in excess of the estimate asked for by the board of control as requested for an appropriation, which added to the insurance to be derived from the burned structure, would amount to $308,000 for the new building. It is said that the regents and the friends of the university will ask for an appropriation, which augmented by the insurance of $58,000, will give the university an appropriation of $420,000 for the construction and equipment of the building which will replace the old burned structure.

A pretty fight is in prospect over the determination of the board of regents to go beyond the board of control in their request for the additional sum from the legislature.

SAYS WIFE PATTED HIM WITH BROOM HANDLE

Paul Andrew Tullgren Asks Court for a Separation

If the statement of claim filed yesterday in the office of the circuit clerk of the district court by Paul Andrew Tullgren, aged forty years, is to be believed, there can be no doubt of the fact that his spouse, Hannah, who is ten years his senior, rules at the Tullgren home.

Tullgren, who is seeking to dissolve his matrimonial bonds, sets forth that upon one occasion when he was quietly and efficiently preparing the family meal, his features were battered by blows from a broom wielded by his wife, who, at the same time, addressed to him remarks that it would be unseemly to repeat even in the plain speaking pages of a legal complaint. He further states that his honesty and morality have constantly been held up to ridicule by his wife, and that two children are constantly subjected to abuse in word and deed.

The wife answers that Tullgren is a fraud and claims that he is not a success as the supporter of a family. The case will be heard in the district court on Feb. 6, when Tullgren will also ask the custody of the children.

WILL EXAMINE FOR JOBS ON PANAMA CANAL

Applications for Positions as Workers to Be Filed by Feb. 13

The civil service commission at Washington announced yesterday a further examination to secure eligibles to fill vacancies in the positions of foreman, first class workman and helper in each of the following trades: Blacksmith, boilermaker, carpenter, cooper, smith, machinist, mason, mold-maker, painter, pattern maker, pipe fitter, plumber and tinsmith.

All these positions are for appointment under the isthmian canal service, and successful candidates will be ordered at once to Panama to take part in the actual construction of the canal. There will be no written examination for these positions, but candidates will be ranked solely upon their age, physical condition and experience.

All applications must be filed with the commission at Washington before Feb. 13.

Further examinations will be given by the commission on March 1 and 2 to secure eligibles for clerks and teachers in the Philippines.

Sues Railroad Company

Schneider Goes to Work

Because he continued to annoy his former wife, William Schneider was arrested Saturday and sent to the workhouse yesterday for a period of ten days.

CAR DRAGS HORSE

Animal's Front Foot Is Caught in Platform Gates

A curious accident occurred yesterday afternoon, when a horse and cutter driven by George Wendal, living at 88 Upper levee, collided with a Selby car at Fourth and Exchange streets.

Wendal attempted to cross in front of the car, but was too late, and the sleigh was struck by the fender, throwing the driver out into the street and swinging the horse around against the rear of the car. In some unaccountable manner the shoe on the left forefoot of the animal caught in the gate of the car and the horse was dragged almost a block before the shoe came off.

The horse was uninjured by its wild ride, but was badly frightened and started up Fourth street at a livid clip. The animal was captured at Seven corners.

The cutter was demolished, but Wendal escaped injury.

REFORMATORY INMATE FUGITIVE FROM IOWA

Charles W. Young Will Be Taken There on Charge of Horse Stealing

When Charles W. Young is released early in February from the St. Cloud reformatory, where he is serving a sentence for grand larceny, he will be turned over to an officer from Iowa, county, Iowa, and will be returned to that county to answer to a charge of horse stealing.

Young is alleged to have stolen a horse in Louisiana county Dec. 22, 1901, and his whereabouts were unknown until recently, by means of the Bertillon system of measurements, he was recognized as a fugitive from Iowa. Gov. Johnson yesterday honored a requisition from Gov. A. B. Cummins, of Iowa, for the person of the man. Young is twenty-seven years old.

GROCER'S TEAM IS STRUCK BY STREET CAR

John Peterson Has Narrow Escape in Collision on Fourth Street

John Peterson, proprietor of a grocery store at Stryker avenue and Dearborn street, collided with a Merriam Park car while driving on Fourth street, near Exchange, yesterday afternoon and is fortunately still alive to tell the tale.

Peterson was returning to his store with a load of paper bags and attempted to cross in front of the car, but his horse was not fast enough and he was spilled out into the street and his sled demolished. His cap and paper bags were rolled under the car wheels and were dragged about a block, but the grocery man was fortunate enough to roll in the opposite direction and escaped with a few scratches.

FINDS CODE FAULTY

Fullerton Says It Will Handicap Game and Fish Commission

A special meeting of the state game and fish commission will be held at the state capitol today, when the statute revision commission's code of game and fish laws will be considered.

Executive Agent S. T. Fullerton contends that the new code will seriously handicap the commission in its efforts to check depredations on the game and fish of the state, and it is possible that the game commission may ask the legislature to substitute the old game and fish laws for the new code proposed.

One of the objections which members of the game commission urge to the new code is that it fails to give justices of the peace jurisdiction of infractions of the game laws.

HEIRS DISPUTE THE OWNERSHIP OF LAND

Bring Action Against One of Their Number to Set Aside Deed

Judge Bunn, in the district court yesterday, heard much evidence regarding a transfer of property in Ramsey county. The property fell to the heirs of Ludwig Janke, which heirs, being unlearned in the management of it, allowed Ernst Seidenkranz, one of their number, to care for their interests in the land, and that he might the better do this, gave him a warranty deed of the property, by reason of which he now claims the land. Such is the story of the plaintiff heirs, who are Paul, Anna and Louise, the son and daughters of the elder Janke, and their respective wives and husbands and R. H. Janke, an infant son.

Seidenkranz, who is defendant in the action brought to set aside the warranty deed and to have an account taken, declared that to him was due thanks and not abuse, for he had managed well and truly, and prevented the sale of the property to satisfy liens and had only taken it unto himself after his bill against the estate had grown beyond the value of the land.

W. H. Sauser, formerly a resident of West St. Paul, has been arrested in Pittsburgh, Pa., after avoiding the authorities for eleven years, and will be brought back to this city for trial.

CAPTURES FAT BOY

Detective Finds Runaway Youth on Seventh Street

Recognized by the description furnished by his father, Alfred Scheir, age seventeen, 5 feet 11 inches tall and weighing 230 pounds, was arrested by Detective O'Brien on lower Seventh street last night.

The boy ran away from his home at New Richmond, Wis., a week ago, and was traced by his father to this city. Mr. Scheir notified the police, giving a good description of the boy, and Detective O'Brien was assigned to the case.

As the detective was going down Seventh street he observed a young man of large proportions standing on a corner and the object of great curiosity.

After carefully examining him the detective decided that the boy weighed in the neighborhood of the required 230 pounds, so he was asked to accompany O'Brien to the central station. The captured lad proved to be the one wanted and was taken charge of by his father, while O'Brien received the congratulations of the officers at the station for his clever work.

SUMMONS WAS DATED ONE YEAR TOO SOON

Court Orders It Corrected and Considers Garnishment Case

In the case of George E. De Neen versus Abraham J. Cummings, before the United States circuit court, a hearing was granted yesterday upon the return of the garnishee summons from the First National Bank of St. Paul.

Orville Reinhart appeared on behalf of the plaintiff, and Henry C. James for the defendant, who moved to dismiss the garnishee on the ground that the original summons had been made returnable upon an impossible date, that is, on the 18th of January, 1904, when the date should have been 1905.

The court ordered that the summons be amended to the latter date and the bank was ordered to retain possession of the garnishee funds, amounting to $10,160.83, till the further order of the court. The garnishment had originally been made by De Neen to recover $25,000 from Cummings, to whom, in his capacity of grain and stock broker, the money had been given for investment. Action was brought on the ground that the money was not invested in a legitimate manner.

CHILDREN ARE LOCKED IN BURNING ROOM

Two Little Tots Escape Flames by Crawling Under Bed

Locked in a room with a burning wood box, the two small children of M. Beveney, South Park, narrowly escaped death by suffocation Sunday afternoon and were only saved by their uncle, who, smelling smoke, broke into the room.

The children were locked in by their parents, who were visiting, when the wood box caught fire from an overheated stove and terrified by the smoke and flames, the little ones crawled under the bed and wrapped themselves up in a quilt. They were unconscious when discovered by their uncle, but were soon revived and will suffer no ill effects from their experience.

GUS SCHULTZ BREAKS UP WEST SIDE DANCE

Loaded With Liquor, Man Pulls Gun and Frightens Dancers

Having partaken of intoxicants, Gus Schultz, of 314 Lawson street, went to a dance at Arcade and Fauquier streets on Saturday night. On arriving there, the dance not meeting with his approval, he set to work to give a graphic and somewhat profane description of the function as it appeared to him, and, when remonstrated with, produced a revolver to back his arguments. The dancers decamped in search of safety and the police.

Yesterday Gus was asked to pay a fine of $10 and to deliver up his gun in police court, which he accordingly did.

Ferguson Named as Guardian

An order of Judge Hallam, filed yesterday, appoints A. F. Ferguson guardian of Arthur S. Ferguson for the purposes of an action to be brought for the latter against Adolph T. Rosen for personal injury.

DETECTS DESERTERS

Those Who Return to Army Sure to Be Discovered

The system of measurements in use in the United States army to detect and identify deserters is declared to be at least as effective as the Bertillon system, which is used in the case of criminals by the civil authorities.

At the time of enlistment the candidate is required to strip, and aside from the most careful and detailed measurements, each mark, defect and peculiarity is noted on a chart which is filed with his papers.

In case the man deserts or disappears the chart is produced and the notations upon it very frequently result in the capture of the deserter.

An officer who has long been connected with the recruiting service of the army said yesterday that it was remarkable how many deserters drift back into the army. He understood by this that it was difficult for a deserter to get on in any other line of labor and he naturally re-enlisted as soon as he considered a sufficient time had elapsed to let the fact of his desertion cool off.

"They eventually apply for service," said he, "and then they are fairly in the grasp of the authorities. A new chart is made and some of them are very clever in the art of covering up the marks that they know have been noted by the enlisting officer who passed them on the first trial for the army. Sometimes these marks are very small, and the men will go to the length of submitting to elaborate tattooing in order to obliterate them, but that does not help much, for a tattoo mark on a new chart in the place where a scar or mole existed on the person of a man who deserted always arouses suspicion and suspicion leads to the inevitable inquiry and detection."

CONSTABLE IS ALMOST NABBED AS HORSE THIEF

Seizes Horses and Owners Ask Warrant for His Arrest

Because he took possession of another man's horse without the aid of a writ of replevin, Constable Boyd, of Justice Mills' court, narrowly escaped being arrested by the irate owner of the animal yesterday afternoon. D. W. C. Ruff, an attorney, claimed to have a chattel mortgage on the horse and turned the papers over to Boyd with instructions to get the irate owner of the animal yesterday afternoon. D. W. C. Ruff, an attorney, claimed to have a chattel mortgage on the horse and turned the papers over to Boyd with instructions to get the irate owner of the animal yesterday afternoon.

In the meantime Kennedy Bros., proprietors of a livery stable in Wabasha street, held Sunday from the family was rented by the day to the peddler, had learned of the state of affairs and demanded that the horse be returned. The case will go to the courts before it is settled.
