BENCH AND BAR PAY GLOWING TRIBUTES

Memorial Services Are Held in Honor of the Late M. D. Grover

Members of the Ramsey county bench and bar met in district court room No. 1 yesterday afternoon in a memorial meeting for the late M. D. Grover, general counsel of the Great Northern Railway company. Judge Brill, as the senior member of the bench, presided over the meeting and a number of the professional associates of the deceased delivered appreciations of the man and his work.

William R. Berg, who studied law in Mr. Grover's office, and was afterwards associated with him in active practice, told of Mr. Grover as he had known him and of the active friendship generally felt for him by his associates. In the course of his remarks Mr. Berg said:

He was a staunch friend, loyal through good repute and ill; a generous, warm-hearted man, quickly touched by human suffering and who no needy or unfortunate person was ever turned away from him without encouragement and assistance. His was a kindly, helpful, and melting charity. He possessed a great knowledge of human nature. His insight into and analysis of the springs of conduct was subtle and accurate.

Was an Ideal Type

John D. O'Brien also spoke in a highly eulogistic tone of Mr. Grover, declaring that the profession of law drew to its practice some of the most talented and most honorable men in the country and that Mr. Grover presented the ideal type of the American lawyer.

James D. Armstrong, a president of the Ramsey County Bar association, presented a memorial which had been prepared by a committee consisting of Thomas Wilson, Charles W. Bunn and John D. O'Brien, which he moved should be inscribed on the court records. The memorial was as follows:

Marcus D. Grover died at his home on Summit avenue, this city, on the 18th day of December last. He was born in the town of Wells, Rutland county, Vermont, on June 18, 1837. He was educated in the public schools of that town and at the academy at Poulton, in that state. He studied law in the office of E. Nicholson, at Wallingford, Vermont, and later in the office of Tremaine & Peckham, at Albany, N. Y. He was admitted to the bar of Rutland county in September, 1862, and at about the same time to the bar of Benning county, N. Y. Without changing his domicile from his native town he at once entered into a partnership with R. C. Berry in the practice of law at Granville, N. Y. Soon thereafter he was elected a member of the house of representatives of the Vermont legislature, which office, by re-election, he continued to hold for four years, and was the most prominent and chairman of the legislative committee on corporations.

In January, 1874, he removed to Fort

TONS OF COAL PURY UNCONSCIOUS MAN

Open Chute Almost Proves Death Gate for Harry Goodnow

Hurled down a coal chute into a flat car in an unconscious condition and completely covered by tons of falling coal was the fate of Harry Goodnow, employed at the East St. Paul yards of the Omaha road, yesterday evening. Goodnow was employed filling a string of flat cars and was operating the chute leading from the sheds into the cars, when in some manner he lost his footing, striking his head against a post and falling unconscious into the chute.

Caught by the moving coal the man was carried into the car and buried by the stream that poured down the chute. A few minutes later he was missed by the yard foreman, and although his companions searched the yards for an hour, the missing man could not be found. Finally some one remembered seeing Goodnow near the chute and the coal sheds were included, but to no purpose, and as a last resort the searching party visited the coal car. There was nothing to be seen, however, and the disappointed men were about to leave when one of the party noticed a peculiar formation of the coal in one corner of the car and taking a stick pushed off the top pieces, disclosing the unconscious man.

Still unconscious, Goodnow was taken to the East St. Paul depot and the police ambulance called. Police Surgeon Moore succeeded in restoring consciousness and the man was hurried to St. Luke's hospital. His injuries consist of several severe contusions about the head, neck and shoulders and his left arm is badly sprained. It is thought he will recover. Goodnow is twenty-four years old and recently came to St. Paul from Northern Wisconsin.

Bannon Block Made Safe by Its Removal

The heavy cornice which was loosened from the front top of the four-story Bannon building during Wednesday night's fire was yesterday taken down. On the night of the fire the cornice in its partially loosened, hanging position was a constant peril to the firemen in their work. There was an ever-present danger of its falling that hastened the workmen in their efforts to loosen it and lower it to the street.

Since the fire Bannon & Co. have been fairly overwhelmed with offers of assistance, both in the way of cash loans and of heavy credit, in re-establishing their credit to its former position. While the receipt of these proposals have naturally been a source of great gratification to the members of the firm they are no less gratified that they are able to publish a note of thanks expressing their appreciation of the spirit in which the offers were made, but declining outside assistance.

DONAHUE AFTER HIS FORMER WIFE'S ESTATE

Action to Set Aside Divorce Decree Begins in Court

An action to set aside a decree of divorce granted six years ago in the district court at the request of a plaintiff now dead, was begun yesterday before Judge Orr by John H. Donahue, 1239 Madison street. Donahue has given a divorce from John H. Donahue, but through some oversight the clerk whose duty it was to do so neglected entering the decree. Mrs. Donahue died some weeks ago, leaving an estate amounting to about $2,000. Shortly after her death her mother, Mrs. Christine Koester, asked that the decree be set aside, as any dispute over the property might be impossible. In asking that the decree be set aside Mr. Donahue contends that the decree was not validly entered and that unless he is given a divorce from John H. Donahue, he will be unable to collect the estate.

PUPS IN DISPUTE FOUND DEAD IN BED

Constable Abducts Canine Family in a Blanket

Whether or not the owner of a dog is also the owner of her puppies is a question that will probably have to be decided by the law in the near future. E. L. Clark, of this city, owns a valuable setter, "Flossie," and recently loaned her to Miss Luez Rhodes, as he had no place to keep the animal. A short time ago Flossie added to her entourage to the extent of nine puppies, and Clark, when informed of the happy event, was delighted and came after the dog and her family—but was informed by Miss Rhodes that the dog was his, the puppies belonged to her and that unless he was willing to part with $25 the baby dogs would remain where they were.

How Sickness Starts in the Inside Nerves

Most forms of sickness start with the inside nerves. Indigestion, sour stomach, heartburn, dyspepsia—weak kidneys, diabetes, Bright's Disease—Liver irregularities—Heart irregularities—Bowel irregularities—all of these ailments and the ailments which they, in turn, bring on, are due directly to derangements of certain nerve centers in the inside of the body. Understand first that we have two entirely separate nerve systems. When we walk, or talk, or act, we call into play a certain set of nerves—nerves which obey our mental commands. That is why the arm can be raised, or the mouth opened, or the eye shut, at the slightest desire. That is why your fingers can delicately pick up a pin one moment, and hold a heavy hammer the next.

My Free Dollar Offer

Any sick one who has not tried my remedy may have a Full Dollar's Worth Free. I ask no deposit, no reference, no security. There is nothing to pay, either now or later. I will send you an order on your druggist which he will accept in full payment for a regular, standard size Dollar bottle. And he will send the bill to me. C. I. Shoop, M. D.

I realized, too, that all ailments which result from one cause may, of course, be cured by one remedy. I resolved not to doctor the organs but to treat the one nerve system which operates them all. For those who treat only the symptoms need a different remedy for each. Such treatments are only palliative; the results do not last. A cure can never come in derangement of the stomach, heart, liver or kidneys, until the inside nerve power is restored. When that is done, Nature removes the symptoms. There is no need of doctoring them.
