POUR POISON DOWN THE THROAT OF A GIRL

Young Woman Meets Death While Spying Upon "Black Hand" Gang

JAMISON CITY, Pa.—Nellie Corter, a farmer's daughter, while in the mountains near Peale, Clearfield county, caring for cattle, ran upon a cabin constructed of rough boards in which there were three foreigners who, it is now believed, were members of the Black Hand, During the time that her parents lived there the girl, in caring for the cattle, frequently went to the ren-

Hand, During the time that her parents lived there the girl, in caring for the cattle, frequently went to the rendezvous of the foreigners, and learned some of the secrets of the gang.

Corter and his family moved several months ago from Peale to Jamison City. The girl was recently warned by a young man now living here that enemies would soon be in Jamison City to do her harm. This man had left the gang and was trying to live a different life. She realized the danger she was in, and for some time stayed close to the life. She realized the danger she was in, and for some time stayed close to the house. Last night, however, she was in front of the house, when she was suddenly grabbed by three men, who held her while one of the number poured a liquid poison down her thread ed a liquid poison down her throat. The man fied. The man fied.

The girl's mother worked over her until morning before she recovered. At daybreak members of the family found a note under the front door, addressed to the girl and signed by "The Black Hand" society. It stated that if she was not then dead they would be back on a certain date to complete their job. At the time the girl lived in Clearfield county she told the authorities of the existence of the society, and for that the gang resolved to murder her.

DOMINICAN CREDITORS MUST WAIT LONGER

They Are Expected to Oppose the Gov

SANTO DOMINGO, March 30.—The proposition of Santo Domingo for the payment of the foreign creditors of the republic, as finally revised, contemplates the payment to the government of 45 per cent of the customs revenues for current expenses, the remaining 55 per cent to be deposited in a bank in the United States, Pending decision as to the fate of the Dawson-Sanchez convention, all payment of claims will be suspended. All duties, including the port charges, will be payable in American gold. The government to morrow will call a meeting of its creditors. There seems to be no doubt of the accentance of the plan.
