

CITY NEWS

Charged With Reckless Driving—Julius Sampson and James Calhoun were in the police court yesterday, charged with reckless driving. Their cases were continued until tomorrow.

Under Probation Officer—Louis Capron, whose parents charge her with being incorrigible, appeared in the police court today and was placed on probation until May 27.

Mrs. Michael Galvin Buried—The funeral of Mrs. Michael Galvin, who died Sunday, was held yesterday morning at Hurley's undertaking rooms, after services at St. Michael's church. Interment was at Calvary cemetery.

Buckman Goes to Washington—Congressman C. B. Buckman of Little Falls started last night on a trip to Washington. He will spend ten days at the national capital looking after departmental matters affecting his district.

Contract is Let—A contract for the erection of a tuberculosis hospital and a cottage at the Fairbault hospital has been let by the state board of control. W. S. Kingsley of Fairbault gets the contract. George A. Keys of St. Paul is given the plumbing contract. The entire amount is $45,000.

Breeze Starts Fire—A breath of wind blew through an open window in the residence of J. Elson, 414 Laurel avenue, at 9 o'clock last night, and brushed the curtains against a lighted gas jet. The curtains caught fire and before the flames had been extinguished $50 damage had been done to the furnishings of the room.

Dr. Appleby's Taxes Cut—The board of equalization yesterday made an abatement of $5,000 in the personal taxes for the year 1905 against Dr. E. Villiers Appleby. Dr. Appleby made a return of $850 on his personal property valuation, and the assessor added an extra $5,000, against which the doctor protested.

Carlton County Gets Taxes—The taxes of the Missabe & Southern and the Duluth & Northern Pacific railroads will be paid in Carlton county, where the roads are. It was claimed by St. Louis county that the taxes should be paid in Duluth because the offices of the railroads are there. The decision was made by State Auditor Iverson.

GOVERNMENT READY TO PAY FOR LAND TO SELL FOR LAND Money for Land to Be Added to Snelling Reservation Sent West

There is a purse of $122,188.70 in the hands of Maj. W. W. Robinson, assistant quartermaster of the department of the Dakotas, awaiting claimants.

Owners of 800 acres to be attached to the Fort Snelling military reservation will receive the money as soon as satisfactory evidence of their ownership is presented to Maj. Robinson.

C. C. Houpt, United States district attorney for Minnesota, who has had charge for the government of the condemnation proceedings, of the land have been in progress for some months to obtain title to land desired for a rifle range on the north shore of the present Fort Snelling military reservation, and the new rifle range will be located along the Minnesota river. Some fifty persons are owners of the different tracts that go to make up the 800 acres to be added to the reservation. Two farmers, Nicholas Kohn and Peter Huber, will receive the largest slice of the big fund to be divided among the property owners. Their joint share will amount to $24,500.

It is expected to close up the whole matter, including the transfer of the money and the passing of the deeds of conveyance, within the next few days.

SHERIFF STARTS AFTER SLOW PAYERS OF TAXES Van Will Not Be Sent Out, but Deputies Will Attempt Collections

Sheriff Mieses and his corps of deputies are busily preparing papers for the spring collection of taxes, and within a week will start out to collect on over 4,000 warrants which have been placed in their hands by the clerk of the district court.

While the time honored furniture van will not be brought into play by the sheriff, every effort will be made in other directions to get the money from the people who are perfectly able to pay.

Argue for New Trial

Judge Hill yesterday listened to arguments from the attorneys in the case for and against the allowance of a new trial in the case of Rose Weinstein against Harry Edison. The suit grew out of the destruction of personal property belonging to the plaintiff in a fire in the defendant's building. Mrs. Weinstein secured a $400 verdict. The defendant seeks a new trial on the grounds that the verdict introduced by the evidence introduced. The motion has been taken under advisement.

Carlson Made Too Much Noise

John Carlson and a woman who gave her name as Mattie Gunerson were in the police court yesterday charged with disorderly conduct. Carlson, by the testimony of the woman who claims to be his wife, came home about 4 o'clock yesterday morning in company with a friend and made so much noise that the landlord of the place, 534 East Ninth street, threw them both out into the night. Judge Hine dismissed the case, saying that if there was to be any prosecution it must be on a warrant sworn out by the landlord.

Diphtheria at South St. Paul

Ten cases of diphtheria appeared in South St. Paul yesterday. Two were in the family of Gottlieb Hickman and eight in the family of Albert Krach. None of the patients is believed to be suffering from an acute stage of the disease.

JUDGE DAVIS OF MONEY

Retired Jurist Calls at State Capitol and Collects $11,000

The men who draw a $3,500 salary and who deliberately allow the salary to accumulate for something over three years are very rare. Much more is needed in the matter of holding a public office allows the state to have the use of his salary money for this length of time.

It was something of a curiosity, therefore, when Judge W. C. Williston of the first judicial district came into the office of State Treasurer Block yesterday afternoon and announced that he wished to have the use of his salary money for this length of time.

The treasurer passed over one of his big black bags and began to ask Judge Williston what was doing in politics in the vicinity of Red Wing. Judge Williston was quite willing to tell Mr. Block what he thought about things in general, and the time sped along quite pleasantly.

But it was coming along nicely there it was quite different out in the big room. Richard Pettijohn, chief deputy, and a few of the rest of the court, were having a good time. In great shape. It began to look to them as though Judge Williston didn't have any salary coming at all, for the record of several years had not shown it. Finally Mr. Pettijohn appeared in the doorway.

"How long has it been, Judge Williston, since you drew your salary?" he asked.

"Why, let me see," mused the judge. "It was—well, now I'll have to count up and see."

After some jockeying around, the judge concluded that he had not fed at the public crib since about 1902 some time. Mr. Pettijohn looked over the books, and at the beginning of the fiscal year in August 1902, he found that the judge had quit drawing pay. Then he got his pencil and began to figure up.

$3,500 it was found that in the three years and nine months since the judge drew his salary he had $12,082.29 to his credit, which made him square with the state until April 1. A check was made out for the amount, and Judge Williston went out to inspect the beauties of the new capitol building.

"Say, I wish I could get into the system of doing without my salary for three years," mused Mr. Block, as he watched the judge depart.

PENSIONS FOR COPS

Duluth Police Relief Association incorporated

The policemen of Duluth will be pensioned as soon as the Duluth Police Pension Relief association is in operation. The articles of incorporation were filed in the office of the secretary of the state yesterday. It is intended to pension those men who have been on the force twenty years and have reached the age of 55, or who have become disabled by an accident. The association is formed under the laws passed in 1903. There is to be a governing board of five members of the police force.

The Marshall, Warren county, was incorporated with a capital of $50,000. Rochester is to have a $250,000 brewery, known as the Schuster Brewing company. The incorporators are Henry Schuster and F. W. Schuster and Martha E. Schutte.

The Hanska Milling company, at Easton, is incorporated for $200,000. The Handicraft guild filed articles for $10,000 to do business at Minneapolis. The Birmingham Process Circular Letter association is incorporated in Minneapolis for $20,000, and Weld & Sons of Minneapolis for $50,000.

TAILOR WAVES KNIFE

Reiker's Rough House Methods Land Him in Workhouse

Frank Reiker, a tailor living at 158 Duke street, was sentenced to thirty days in the county workhouse yesterday on complaint of his wife.

She said that Reiker was intoxicated with his daughter, his stepdaughter, May, and was constantly interfering with her, not allowing her to have any friends or go out alone.

Monday she said her daughter did not go to work, and when she wanted to go down town in the afternoon he refused to let her go. The girl finally managed to elude him and left by a rear door. Reiker came back, grabbed a butcher knife, and flourishing it started on a hunt for the girl. Mrs. Reiker became alarmed and went for the police. The officer on arriving at the house found the man leaning out of the window, knife in hand.

On seeing the patrolman Reiker opened the knife, and jumping out of the window he ran down the street, closely pursued by the policeman. After a chase of several blocks Miske rounded up the man and took him to the station, but not until after a hard fight.

Mrs. Reiker says she thinks that her husband is insane. The matter of his insanity will be looked into by the probate court.

FINALLY PAYS TAXES

Street Railway Settles With County for $100,152

The street railway company yesterday agreed to pay the tax on the property for the year 1903, together with the taxes for the year 1904. When the 1903 assessment was made and raised by the state board of equalization, the company entered into a legal controversy as to the tax on the property. It was finally abandoned until yesterday, when it withdrew its claim in court and paid the full tax, $100,152.50 on an assessment of $2,128,758.

In connection with this payment it is quite interesting to note that the tax paid equals 6 per cent of the gross earnings of the company for the year, and that over three-fourths of the money with which it was paid is deposited in Minneapolis banks. The company agreed in the recent compromise to pay into the city treasury the difference each year between the taxes for 1903 and 6 per cent of the gross earnings. The tax acts in the amount of 6 per cent. The company patronizes Minneapolis banking corporations to the extent of three-fourths of its total business, according to the proportion of the checks with which the tax was paid.

THE ST. PAUL GLOBE, WEDNESDAY, APRIL 26, 1905

Quarterly Meeting Abridged Because Legislature Reduced Revenues

A quarterly meeting of the board of health was held in the office of Secretary H. M. Bracken yesterday. The meeting was confined to routine business on account of the lack of funds for the board which the legislature had pared down to the limit.

About the only action taken was the appointment of five inspectors of the dairy and food department to be sanitary inspectors of the health department. This is expected to give them an opportunity to make an inspection of tainted meats around butcher shops. These inspectors are: E. H. Heiber, Montevideo; W. C. Graham, Long Prairie; John McCabe; M. J. Moriarty, St. Paul; Harris Bennett, Duluth.

Six members of the board were present at the meeting yesterday. They were: Dr. Henry Hutchings, St. Paul, president; Dr. W. H. Rowe, St. James; Dr. E. Shimpik, Minneapolis; Dr. C. Graham, Rochester; Dr. F. N. Hunt, St. Paul; and Dr. H. M. Bracken, St. Paul.

"The lack of funds will compel us to abandon our plans for enlarging the department," said Dr. Bracken. "We had intended to put in several new things. A Pasteur institute was one of the improvements. Really, that would have been but a small item of expense. We would merely have kept a supply of medicine for treating persons afflicted with the rabies, to be used by our physicians, or some other doctor. The patient would have had only to come here and go to a hotel and have his physician treat him with the medicine furnished by us. As it is now the state has had to send several patients to Chicago, at a heavy expense. People who are able to take themselves here to go to Chicago, when it could have been done here with a small outlay."

"The board of health had also intended to do some work along the line of examining milk for bacteriology. This will also have to be abandoned."

He felt sure that the large amounts of money spent for bettering roads temporarily by a layer of gravel or sand was wasted, and that the funds of the city should be expended for building good streets as far as possible and no farther.

"If we can build only one block on a street," said Aid. Buschmann, "let us build it so the street will last for years. If we can construct a macadamized street, as per every request here presented, let us do it, but for one will refuse to vote for the expenditure of any money for temporarily repairing streets at large expense when the same work will have to be done over again next year."

President Gustav Scholle, president of the Good Roads association, spoke favorably regarding all the improvements contemplated.

Favorable to Streets

City Engineer Rundlett, Aid. Moriarty and Lynn Smedley, assemblyman, Yeorg insisted upon favorable reports upon propositions affecting their sections of the city.

The results of the recommendations made yesterday will become apparent through preliminary orders which will be introduced at the next meetings of the different bodies of the council. The total amount to be expended in these improvements will exceed by about $10,000 the $25,000 appropriation, but the members of the council feel that the macadamizing should be done at once and gravel will be made for taking care of the deficit.

Opposes Temporary Paving

He felt sure that the large amounts of money spent for bettering roads temporarily by a layer of gravel or sand was wasted, and that the funds of the city should be expended for building good streets as far as possible and no farther.

"If we can build only one block on a street," said Aid. Buschmann, "let us build it so the street will last for years. If we can construct a macadamized street, as per every request here presented, let us do it, but for one will refuse to vote for the expenditure of any money for temporarily repairing streets at large expense when the same work will have to be done over again next year."

President Gustav Scholle, president of the Good Roads association, spoke favorably regarding all the improvements contemplated.

Favorable to Streets

City Engineer Rundlett, Aid. Moriarty and Lynn Smedley, assemblyman, Yeorg insisted upon favorable reports upon propositions affecting their sections of the city.

The results of the recommendations made yesterday will become apparent through preliminary orders which will be introduced at the next meetings of the different bodies of the council. The total amount to be expended in these improvements will exceed by about $10,000 the $25,000 appropriation, but the members of the council feel that the macadamizing should be done at once and gravel will be made for taking care of the deficit.

Commiskey's Suit for Damages to Be Tried Again

The Northern Pacific and the Soo railroads will their appeal in the United States circuit court of appeals from the judgment of the United States district court for the district of Minnesota that gave Thomas Commiskey a verdict for $15,000 for personal injuries.

Commiskey was injured Dec. 10, 1902, while taking a Soo line train across the Northern Pacific yards in Minneapolis between Northtown Junction and Atlantic Junction. He brought suit against both companies, and at the second trial a jury, sitting with Judge Fager, found for the plaintiff for $15,000.

Judge William C. Hook writes the decision, reversing the lower court and remanding the case for a new trial. The evidence showed that the passenger train being some minutes behind its schedule time, and the superior court held that the railroad was liable for the injury.

Judge Hook holds that the trial court erred in his instructions to the jury as to contributory negligence not being proven, and remanded the case for a new trial.

KERST IS EMPHATIC

Charges Against Beltrami Officials Far-reaching

The investigation of affairs in Beltrami county will be commenced May 2. The commission which has been appointed by Gov. Johnson consists of Cleve Van Dyke of St. Paul, Graham M. Torrence of Bemidji, and one other man who will probably be announced today. He was named yesterday afternoon but had not signed his acceptance.

Assistant Attorney General R. A. Stone, who will represent the state, will leave for Bemidji today. The other two will leave on Monday. Public Examiner P. A. Kerst will be in Bemidji part of the time. It was on a report made by him to Gov. Johnson that the investigation was ordered.

Public Examiner Kerst yesterday filed specific charges against County Attorney H. C. Lord, and Commissioners F. O. Sibley and Wes Right. The commissioners are charged with allowing public moneys to be diverted, and profiting personally at the public expense. The charge against the county attorney is very sweeping, holding in general that he refused to prosecute crime and did not protect the county with legal advice.

HEALTH BOARD LACKS SUFFICIENT FUNDS

Quarterly Meeting Abridged Because Legislature Reduced Revenues

A quarterly meeting of the board of health was held in the office of Secretary H. M. Bracken yesterday. The meeting was confined to routine business on account of the lack of funds for the board which the legislature had pared down to the limit.

About the only action taken was the appointment of five inspectors of the dairy and food department to be sanitary inspectors of the health department. This is expected to give them an opportunity to make an inspection of tainted meats around butcher shops. These inspectors are: E. H. Heiber, Montevideo; W. C. Graham, Long Prairie; John McCabe; M. J. Moriarty, St. Paul; Harris Bennett, Duluth.

Six members of the board were present at the meeting yesterday. They were: Dr. Henry Hutchings, St. Paul, president; Dr. W. H. Rowe, St. James; Dr. E. Shimpik, Minneapolis; Dr. C. Graham, Rochester; Dr. F. N. Hunt, St. Paul; and Dr. H. M. Bracken, St. Paul.

"The lack of funds will compel us to abandon our plans for enlarging the department," said Dr. Bracken. "We had intended to put in several new things. A Pasteur institute was one of the improvements. Really, that would have been but a small item of expense. We would merely have kept a supply of medicine for treating persons afflicted with the rabies, to be used by our physicians, or some other doctor. The patient would have had only to come here and go to a hotel and have his physician treat him with the medicine furnished by us. As it is now the state has had to send several patients to Chicago, at a heavy expense. People who are able to take themselves here to go to Chicago, when it could have been done here with a small outlay."

"The board of health had also intended to do some work along the line of examining milk for bacteriology. This will also have to be abandoned."

He felt sure that the large amounts of money spent for bettering roads temporarily by a layer of gravel or sand was wasted, and that the funds of the city should be expended for building good streets as far as possible and no farther.

"If we can build only one block on a street," said Aid. Buschmann, "let us build it so the street will last for years. If we can construct a macadamized street, as per every request here presented, let us do it, but for one will refuse to vote for the expenditure of any money for temporarily repairing streets at large expense when the same work will have to be done over again next year."

President Gustav Scholle, president of the Good Roads association, spoke favorably regarding all the improvements contemplated.

Favorable to Streets

City Engineer Rundlett, Aid. Moriarty and Lynn Smedley, assemblyman, Yeorg insisted upon favorable reports upon propositions affecting their sections of the city.

The results of the recommendations made yesterday will become apparent through preliminary orders which will be introduced at the next meetings of the different bodies of the council. The total amount to be expended in these improvements will exceed by about $10,000 the $25,000 appropriation, but the members of the council feel that the macadamizing should be done at once and gravel will be made for taking care of the deficit.

Commiskey's Suit for Damages to Be Tried Again

The Northern Pacific and the Soo railroads will their appeal in the United States circuit court of appeals from the judgment of the United States district court for the district of Minnesota that gave Thomas Commiskey a verdict for $15,000 for personal injuries.

Commiskey was injured Dec. 10, 1902, while taking a Soo line train across the Northern Pacific yards in Minneapolis between Northtown Junction and Atlantic Junction. He brought suit against both companies, and at the second trial a jury, sitting with Judge Fager, found for the plaintiff for $15,000.

Judge William C. Hook writes the decision, reversing the lower court and remanding the case for a new trial. The evidence showed that the passenger train being some minutes behind its schedule time, and the superior court held that the railroad was liable for the injury.

Judge Hook holds that the trial court erred in his instructions to the jury as to contributory negligence not being proven, and remanded the case for a new trial.

GIVE SOP TO ST. PAUL

Trolley Company Will Buy Cement in Saintry City

The St. Paul City railway company permitted the information to leak out yesterday that the Marshall avenue in-burn plan will be in operation by Sept. 1. The information was leaked out through the St. Paul Dispatch, which has been reported to the city engineer.

The St. Paul City railway company permitted the information to leak out yesterday that the Marshall avenue in-burn plan will be in operation by Sept. 1. The information was leaked out through the St. Paul Dispatch, which has been reported to the city engineer.

DAKOTA CITIZENS AFTER NEW TOWNS

Building of Branch Railroad Lines into State Starts Boom

The building of branch lines by three big railroad systems in North Dakota has stimulated interest in settling on the new lines, and several delegations of North Dakota citizens were in St. Paul yesterday interviewing railroad officials as to prospects for new towns in that state.

A delegation of the citizens of Edgely, Steele county, seventy-five miles in length, it is claimed will surely be completed this season.

Judge Hook Thinks Differently

Judge William C. Hook of the United States circuit court of appeals dissents from an opinion by the majority of the bench in a decision involving the insurance on a burned reduction plant in Colorado, filed in the federal court yesterday. The case is the Atlas Reduction company v. Colorado corporation, George W. Dodge and A. M. Stevenson, against the New Zealand corporation. The insurance company de-nies that it is the ground that the plant had been mortgaged contrary to the provisions of the policy. The decision is sustained by the court.

The insurance company de-nies that it is the ground that the plant had been mortgaged contrary to the provisions of the policy. The decision is sustained by the court.

Michael Moresynski, aged 53 years, was ordered committed to the insane hospital at Rochester yesterday after having been adjudged insane by a jury of physicians. Moresynski's particular mania is in the excessive use of prayer. He was in the county jail a little while ago. He prayed incessantly, and the deputies thought that he must be insane. He talked so freely and logically to the jury that he was freed.

Immediately he fell into the meshes of the law again, and this time he goes to Rochester. When Moresynski appeared in the probate courtroom he carried a hat decorated with several shades of green, while from his breast hung numerous medals collected at various fairs and expositions, but found his belief by him to be saved trusts and pledges imposed upon him.

ANNOUNCE DEATH OF JUDGE F. M. HAYES

District Bench Takes Judicial Notice of Demise of Noted Jurist

Judicial notice of the death of Judge Amos M. Thayer of St. Louis was taken by the bench of the eighth judicial district yesterday when court convened. When the United States circuit court of appeals for the eighth district had been called to order, Judge Walter H. Sanborn, the senior judge of the court, announced the death of the deceased jurist.

The governor, and adjourned court until after the funeral of Judge Thayer is held at St. Louis on Thursday. Judge Sanborn, in speaking of the death of his colleague, said:

It is the painful duty of the court to announce the death of our beloved associate, Judge Amos M. Thayer, who died at his home in St. Louis last night, at the age of seventy years. His death deprives the court of invaluable wisdom and experience and inflicts upon each member of it a lasting personal loss. A committee of the bar will be appointed to prepare a memorial of his life and services and a time will be named for its presentation to the court for its respectful remembrance.

The court adjourned until Saturday, April 29, and its members will attend his funeral.

Big Delegation to Funeral

Judge Sanborn, Judge W. H. Van Devanter and Judge W. C. Hoek, assisted by the members of the bar, Judge Thayer, left last night for St. Louis to attend the funeral of the dead jurist. Mr. and Mrs. Howard Elliott and Capt. L. Mahan, librarian of the court, accompanied them, and they will attend the funeral of Judge Thayer Thursday afternoon at St. Louis.

Judge Thayer had been on the bench of the eighth circuit court of appeals for the past eleven years. Prior to his service on the bench of the United States court he had served in the Missouri state courts. He was elected in November, 1876, to the eighth judicial district, and re-elected in 1882. He was appointed a United States district judge for the eastern district of Missouri, Feb. 25, 1887, and was commissioned Aug. 13, 1894, federal judge for the eighth circuit United States court of appeals. Judge Thayer's professional career covered a period of thirty-four years. He was born in One Hundredth and Twelfth New York volunteers in 1862, and the following year was a lieutenant in the United States signal corps. He studied law in St. Paul, Minn., and came to the bar in the Missouri metropolis in March, 1868. He became a notable figure at the bar of his state and after serving four months as a lieutenant in the One Hundredth and Twelfth New York volunteers in 1862, and the following year was a lieutenant in the United States signal corps. He studied law in St. Paul, Minn., and came to the bar in the Missouri metropolis in March, 1868. He became a notable figure at the bar of his state and after serving four months as a lieutenant in the One Hundredth and Twelfth New York volunteers in 1862, and the following year was a lieutenant in the United States signal corps. He studied law in St. Paul, Minn., and came to the bar in the Missouri metropolis in March, 1868. He became a notable figure at the bar of his state and after serving four months as a lieutenant in the One Hundredth and Twelfth New York volunteers in 1862, and the following year was a lieutenant in the United States signal corps. He studied law in St. Paul, Minn., and came to the bar in the Missouri metropolis in March, 1868. He became a notable figure at the bar of his state and after serving four months as a lieutenant in the One Hundredth and Twelfth New York volunteers in 1862, and the following year was a lieutenant in the United States signal corps. He studied law in St. Paul, Minn., and came to the bar in the Missouri metropolis in March, 1868. He became a notable figure at the bar of his state and after serving four months as a lieutenant in the One Hundredth and Twelfth New York volunteers in 1862, and the following year was a lieutenant in the United States signal corps. He studied law in St. Paul, Minn., and came to the bar in the Missouri metropolis in March, 1868. He became a notable figure at the bar of his state and after serving four months as a lieutenant in the One Hundredth and Twelfth New York volunteers in 1862, and the following year was a lieutenant in the United States signal corps. He studied law in St. Paul, Minn., and came to the bar in the Missouri metropolis in March, 1868. He became a notable figure at the bar of his state and after serving four months as a lieutenant in the One Hundredth and Twelfth New York volunteers in 1862, and the following year was a lieutenant in the United States signal corps. He studied law in St. Paul, Minn., and came to the bar in the Missouri metropolis in March, 1868. He became a notable figure at the bar of his state and after serving four months as a lieutenant in the One Hundredth and Twelfth New York volunteers in 1862, and the following year was a lieutenant in the United States signal corps. He studied law in St. Paul, Minn., and came to the bar in the Missouri metropolis in March, 1868. He became a notable figure at the bar of his state and after serving four months as a lieutenant in the One Hundredth and Twelfth New York volunteers in 1862, and the following year was a lieutenant in the United States signal corps. He studied law in St. Paul, Minn., and came to the bar in the Missouri metropolis in March, 1868. He became a notable figure at the bar of his state and after serving four months as a lieutenant in the One Hundredth and Twelfth New York volunteers in 1862, and the following year was a lieutenant in the United States signal corps. He studied law in St. Paul, Minn., and came to the bar in the Missouri metropolis in March, 1868. He became a notable figure at the bar of his state and after serving four months as a lieutenant in the One Hundredth and Twelfth New York volunteers in 1862, and the following year was a lieutenant in the United States signal corps. He studied law in St. Paul, Minn., and came to the bar in the Missouri metropolis in March, 1868. He became a notable figure at the bar of his state and after serving four months as a lieutenant in the One Hundredth and Twelfth New York volunteers in 1862, and the following year was a lieutenant in the United States signal corps. He studied law in St. Paul, Minn., and came to the bar in the Missouri metropolis in March, 1868. He became a notable figure at the bar of his state and after serving four months as a lieutenant in the One Hundredth and Twelfth New York volunteers in 1862, and the following year was a lieutenant in the United States signal corps. He studied law in St. Paul, Minn., and came to the bar in the Missouri metropolis in March, 1868. He became a notable figure at the bar of his state and after serving four months as a lieutenant in the One Hundredth and Twelfth New York volunteers in 1862, and the following year was a lieutenant in the United States signal corps. He studied law in St. Paul, Minn., and came to the bar in the Missouri metropolis in March, 1868. He became a notable figure at the bar of his state and after serving four months as a lieutenant in the One Hundredth and Twelfth New York volunteers in 1862, and the following year was a lieutenant in the United States signal corps. He studied law in St. Paul, Minn., and came to the bar in the Missouri metropolis in March, 1868. He became a notable figure at the bar of his state and after serving four months as a lieutenant in the One Hundredth and Twelfth New York volunteers in 1862, and the following year was a lieutenant in the United States signal corps. He studied law in St. Paul, Minn., and came to the bar in the Missouri metropolis in March, 1868. He became a notable figure at the bar of his state and after serving four months as a lieutenant in the One Hundredth and Twelfth New York volunteers in 1862, and the following year was a lieutenant in the United States signal corps. He studied law in St. Paul, Minn., and came to the bar in the Missouri metropolis in March, 1868. He became a notable figure at the bar of his state and after serving four months as a lieutenant in the One Hundredth and Twelfth New York volunteers in 1862, and the following year was a lieutenant in the United States signal corps. He studied law in St. Paul, Minn., and came to the bar in the Missouri metropolis in March, 1868. He became a notable figure at the bar of his state and after serving four months as a lieutenant in the One Hundredth and Twelfth New York volunteers in 1862, and the following year was a lieutenant in the United States signal corps. He studied law in St. Paul, Minn., and came to the bar in the Missouri metropolis in March, 1868. He became a notable figure at the bar of his state and after serving four months as a lieutenant in the One Hundredth and Twelfth New York volunteers in 1862, and the following year was a lieutenant in the United States signal corps. He studied law in St. Paul, Minn., and came to the bar in the Missouri metropolis in March, 1868. He became a notable figure at the bar of his state and after serving four months as a lieutenant in the One Hundredth and Twelfth New York volunteers in 1862, and the following year was a lieutenant in the United States signal corps. He studied law in St. Paul, Minn., and came to the bar in the Missouri metropolis in March, 1868. He became a notable figure at the bar of his state and after serving four months as a lieutenant in the One Hundredth and Twelfth New York volunteers in 1862, and the following year was a lieutenant in the United States signal corps. He studied law in St. Paul, Minn., and came to the bar in the Missouri metropolis in March, 1868. He became a notable figure at the bar of his state and after serving four months as a lieutenant in the One Hundredth and Twelfth New York volunteers in 1862, and the following year was a lieutenant in the United States signal corps. He studied law in St. Paul, Minn., and came to the bar in the Missouri metropolis in March, 1868. He became a notable figure at the bar of his state and after serving four months as a lieutenant in the One Hundredth and Twelfth New York volunteers in 1862, and the following year was a lieutenant in the United States signal corps. He studied law in St. Paul, Minn., and came to the bar in the Missouri metropolis in March, 1868. He became a notable figure at the bar of his state and after serving four months as a lieutenant in the One Hundredth and Twelfth New York volunteers in 1862, and the following year was a lieutenant in the United States signal corps. He studied law in St. Paul, Minn., and came to the bar in the Missouri metropolis in March, 1868. He became a notable figure at the bar of his state and after serving four months as a lieutenant in the One Hundredth and Twelfth New York volunteers in 1862, and the following year was a lieutenant in the United States signal corps. He studied law in St. Paul, Minn., and came to the bar in the Missouri metropolis in March, 1868. He became a notable figure at the bar of his state and after serving four months as a lieutenant in the One Hundredth and Twelfth New York volunteers in 1862, and the following year was a lieutenant in the United States signal corps. He studied law in St. Paul, Minn., and came to the bar in the Missouri metropolis in March, 1868. He became a notable figure at the bar of his state and after serving four months as a lieutenant in the One Hundredth and Twelfth New York volunteers in 1862, and the following year was a lieutenant in the United States signal corps. He studied law in St. Paul, Minn., and came to the bar in the Missouri metropolis in March, 1868. He became a notable figure at the bar of his state and after serving four months as a lieutenant in the One Hundredth and Twelfth New York volunteers in 1862, and the following year was a lieutenant in the United States signal corps. He studied law in St. Paul, Minn., and came to the bar in the Missouri metropolis in March, 1868. He became a notable figure at the bar of his state and after serving four months as a lieutenant in the One Hundredth and Twelfth New York volunteers in 1862, and the following year was a lieutenant in the United States signal corps. He studied law in St. Paul, Minn., and came to the bar in the Missouri metropolis in March, 1868. He became a notable figure at the