THE BIG RED STRAWBERRY.

An interesting letter from a Successful Grower.

Mr. J. C. Webber, the successful strawberry grower of Dublin sends the following letter on that popular fruit: EDITOR NEWS:—

Dear Sir:—Perhaps the readers of the News would like to know something about strawberries. As to growing them for market, it requires experience.

Find out the variety suited to your particular soil and climate then put out good plants early in the spring or late in the fall and winter. And cultivate them the following summer. Pull off all blossoms or berries that form the first season so as to leave the plants healthy and strong for first crop. You can't grow strawberries or any fruit for market without close attention and work during the growing season. The unfavorable season and conditions must be watched closely in order to be successful.

The next thing of importance is how to approach the market, which will require as much experience as growing them. The value of the strawberry for immediate use cannot be over estimated. It is ripe just when the system requires the medicinal qualities that is only found in the strawberry. The price they are usually sold at on the home market is low, but all the people have never thought about the strawberry as a medicine. They think of the pleasing qualities of a nice dish of the big red berries.

If a man comes home to a meal and is inclined to be a little cross, and the good wife has a nice dish of strawberries on the table, I will venture to state, his anger will change to a smile.

Referring to the price again, I will say I was a planter. "Search for improved varieties," regardless of price, for "as we sow, so shall we reap." I wish to state here that sometimes the grower of choice varieties of fruit is expected to give away "just a few plants only of some of the nice large kind." I never got them that way. Anyone wishing such results as I have had with the strawberry must be willing to send to a plant specialist. This is a business within itself, growing the berries is another.

In conclusions I will state we cannot all raise berries to sell or be in the same business. Seek that trade or occupation you think you would like, and enter into it with all your might with the determination to succeed and your efforts will be crowned with success. Respectfully, J. C. Webber.

INTERESTING TO THRESHERMEN.

So Per Cent of the Grain Separated at Cylinder.

The new Red River Special Separator is a wonderful thrasher. Men who run Red River Specials last year are so over run with work that they have in many cases had to buy a second outfit to do the work that comes to them unsolicited. This machine is made by the Nichols & Shepard Co. and J. D. Clark son at Carthage is the General Agent. He gives a written guarantee that each of these separators "Will do more and better work than any other make." He has shipped three carloads into Jasper City already and keeps two or three carloads on hand at Carthage ahead of his orders.

Virulent Cancer Cured.

Startling proof of a wonderful advance in medicine is given by druggist G. W. Roberts of Elizabeth, W. Va. an old man there had long suffered with what good doctors pronounced incurable cancer. They believed his case hopeless till he used Electric Bitters and applied Bucklen's Arnica Salve, which treatment completely cured him. When Electric Bitters are used to expel bilious, kidney and microbe poisons at the same time this salve exerts its matchless healing power, blood diseases, skin eruptions, ulcers and sores vanish. Bitters 50c, Salve 25c at Webb Bros.

SOIL ADAPTED FOR FRUIT.

A Scientific Study is Now Being Made of the Soil of S. W. Missouri.

An important thing to Missouri fruit growers is the soil survey now being made in this state. The investigation is being carried on by the United States department of agriculture in co-operation with the Missouri experiment station at Columbia. Already the work has begun and West Plains is now the headquarters of those having charge of the investigation, which is being there.

It is proposed by tax experts to make a careful study of the soil formation and the physical composition of the portions of south Missouri where fruit growing has reached its highest developments with a view in the first place of determining the character of those soils and other factors that render this section so well adapted to the industry of fruit growing. After this preliminary survey it is planned to map the undeveloped fruit areas of the state, and show what portions are adapted to fruit and what are not.

It has been claimed that a large portion of the land in the south part of the state is useless. Just because much of it is upland and rocky many say the land cannot be used for anything. Look at the fine fruit farms in Howell and Oregon counties that are found on the flint hillsides. They produce peaches the flavor of which will equal the nectar of the gods.

The survey will be thorough and at different places the soils found will be examined to a depth of several feet. Samples will be taken to the laboratories of the government experiment station at Washington and the states experiment station at Columbia. Subsequently the facts found will be distributed by bulletin.

J. T. Flippin of the department at Washington is in charge of the party to Howell county and Dr. George M. Tucker of the Missouri experiment station will join the men to a few days. At the present time Mr. Flippin is in the north part of the county making examinations and he will visit every section of this county before going to other parts.

The result of this investigation by the government will prove of untold benefits to this section of the state. It is being made at the time when the trees are loaded down with peaches, and the apples, plums and other fruits are equally as plentiful. When the reports are scattered broadcast over the U. S. the attention of the outside world will be attracted to the "Land of the Big Red Apple and the Home of the Luscious Peach."

Obituary.

Mary A. Estey, daughter of James and Nancy Autrey was born in Indiana, June 1, 1834, and died June 11, 1902, aged 68 years and 11 days. She was married to John Ferris September 1859. To this union were born three children, one of which died in infancy. The remaining two are Mrs. Mary Prutsman, of Joplin, and Mrs. Sarah Owings who resides near Jasper. Her second marriage was to Michael A. Estey January 1, 1872. To them were born two children, Mrs. Nora Busby and Arlo Estey, who reside south of Jasper.

Mrs. Estey has been a member of the German Baptist Brethren church for a number of years and has lived a consistent Christian life. During the last weeks of her life she was a great sufferer, yet her faith in God was strong and she was often heard to express a desire to depart this life and be with Christ. She was a great reader and lover of the Bible and as a mother her excellent worth was very manifest as it was helpful. Her children rise up to call her blessed while the whole community unite in bearing testimony of her Christian character, and feel assured that she has entered into that rest that remaineth for the children of God.

If the predisposition to worms in children is not cured they may become unacclimated, weakly and in danger of convulsions. WHITE'S CREAM VERMIFUGE is the most successful and popular remedy. Price 25c. E. I. Lauderbaugh Drug Co.

LETTER FROM MICHIGAN.

A. Page Writes Interestingly From that State.

ALMA, MICH., R. 1, JUNE 15, '02. Editor Jasper News:—

I thought I would write again, thinking that some one of our many friends there would like to hear from us again.

We are feeling as well as usual, with plenty of work ahead. We bought a pair of green c's last fall, and broke them. We have put in 16 acres of corn, 4 of potatoes and 3 of sugar beets, which was not bad for a pair of 3 year-old colts. We had a meas of new potatoes today, 7 weeks from planting, which is not bad. I see by the News that harvest is there. It will be 20 days before she gets here. Wheat is very heavy.

We have been having most too much rain for farm work. I expect that you down there have corn cultivated 2 or 3 times, but we have not gotten ours all planted yet, but we will catch up in the fall. If we can get corn knee high by the 4th of July we have extra corn.

We have a very large acreage of sugar beets planted but they have not secured a very good stand on account of too much rain and washing out or covering up. Apples are well loaded, peaches are fine, plums were frosted but we have a right smart lot of cherries. We found on coming back on the place that two years neglect has been too much for our berry patch so we plowed up three acres of red raspberries and cut away 1 acre of strawberries.

I see by the News that there is to be a right smart lot of building in Jasper. I am glad of that as it will help the looks of the town and furnish work for the boys. I can almost see Ad and Tom and a lot more of them at work. I am back there in thought almost every day but probably will never be there in person again.
