PRIZE MONEY NEVER CLAIMED.

British Admiralty Has Sums on Hand for Destroying Slave Ships.

The days when prize money was looked upon in the navy as an ordinary source of income are recalled by a notification from the British admiralty of money waiting to be claimed—the proceeds of bounties for the destruction of pirates and of the sale of slave ships.

There is a sum of $25,000 from the sale of slaving vessels captured in the '60s awaiting claimants, also a goodly amount of naval prize money and bounty for the destruction of pirates which nobody applies for.

Some of those to whom money is due are, no doubt, still alive, but if they are dead they probably left descendants who if the names were advertised would be forthcoming to substantiate their claims.

As it is, there is little demand for the money in hand. During 12 months dealt with in the statement issued from Whitehall under $40 have been paid out.—Court Journal.

DAYS OF MALE DANDIES.

Feminine Display Outdone by Duke of Buckingham.

Until the last century, in variety and magnificence, the human male followed the rule of the lower animals that the male shall predominate in brilliance. No woman has ever ruled through pure modishness; there has never been a feminine counterpart of Beau Brummel. All varieties of exquisite are male, whether dandy, macaroni or beau—and not because they are exceptions to a general rule of sobriety, but because of a superior originality and more forcible and distinguished expression.

In the point of extravagance there never has been (until the last century) any difference between male and female costume. The duke of Buckingham took 27 suits of clothes to Paris in 1625, one of white uncut velvet set all over with diamonds, worth £14,000. He also wore a diamond feather and diamond buttons and earrings. A curious fashion for men prevailed in 1612 of ornamenting the ear with strings of black velvet ribbon, also of placing a rose behind the ear.

Old Man Made a Guess.

Prof. Brander Matthews, along with his belief in spelling reform, believes in short words and in simple constructions. The simplicity of his prose style as it is manifested in his books is only equaled by its grace. Apropos of simplicity, Prof. Matthews said the other day: "In my youth I once passed the summer in the country. One of my friends, an elderly farm hand, visited New York during my country visit and on his return I said to him, employing a word needlessly complex and long: "Well, Jabez, how did you like the metropolis?"

"'Wot say?' asked the old man. "'How did you like the metropolis?' I repeated. "'Twa'n't open,' said he."

Ignorance at a Premium.

Education, according to commander Gambler, was not valued in the British navy in the '50s. The future commander began his life at sea aboard the Retribution with an education which included Greek, an acquirement of which "our second master, who had joined the navy straight out of a merchant ship," made light. "We don't want none of this here kind of hogwash at sea," said my friend. I also quickly discovered that to know anything about music—beyond being able to sing a comic song or play a hornpipe on a tin whistle—was likewise an offense; while the crowning infamy was to be able to talk French or any foreign tongue.

Safety in Coupling.

A new and useful invention is now being tested on the railroads and tramways of Belgium, which promises to do away with the most prolific cause of accidents during shunting.

The apparatus is in two parts, the first an automatic coupling arrangement, and the other an automatic brake whereby if a coupling snaps the detached vehicles are at once brought to a standstill.

On a trial trip in which nearly all the chief railway officials participated, all sorts of tests were made and the arrangement was declared to be a complete success.

E. C. D. Witt & Co., of Chicago, at whose laboratory Kodol is prepared, assure us that remarkable digestant and corrector for the stomach conforms fully to all provisions of the National Pure Food and Drug Law. The Kodol laboratory is a very large one, but if all the sufferers from indigestion and stomach troubles could know the virtues of Kodol it would be impossible for the manufacturers to keep up with the demand. Kodol is sold here by J. K. Schooler.

JASPER DEFEATS JOPLIN

JOPLIN HIGH SCHOOL TEAM DEFEATED BY LOCAL HIGH SCHOOL.

Jasper High School Basket Ball Team Wins First Place at Beginning Of Season.

The unexpected happened when the Jasper High School basket ball team defeated the Joplin High School team on their own grounds on last Saturday. Joplin has always led in this sport, having been the first city in this region to organize a team and has always had the champion team of the southwest. Even the Galena won the cup in the Mineral Cities League, the Joplin team beat them two games out of three played by the opposing teams. The team which the Jasper boys defeated Saturday by the decisive score of 29 to 23 is the best team Joplin has this year and contains two of last year's champion Y. M. C. A. team.

Considering the reputation of the opposing team together with the fact that the game was played away from home and the sympathy of the rooters were against them, the Jasper boys feel especially proud of the outcome of the opening game of the season.

Basket ball is pre-eminently a school game. It has none of the roughness that characterizes foot-ball and does not require so much playing space nor present the dangers to children not playing that base-ball does, while it requires enough of science and skill to be intensely fascinating to those who are too large to be interested in the sports of little children. To be successful, each member of the team must work for the benefit of the team rather than his own benefit as an individual and thus a community of interest is taught as opposed to a selfish policy.

The game is really an indoor sport and many of the neighboring teams who have indoor courts refuse to play our team because we have no room in which to play. The boys are now negotiating for the use of the opera house, which is the only building having a large enough floor space and high enough ceiling for the playing of the game, and if it can be procured the people of Jasper will doubtless be given some good exhibition of the popular sport.
