A Dog-gone Good Obituary.

An exchange pays the following tribute to a departed dog of the common our variety:

"The dog had some good qualities that read well in an obituary notice, which can be written without lying. He was never drunk in his life and never chewed nor smoked in the presence of ladies. He recognized that other dogs had a right to live no matter what their color or their religious creed, and he did not snarl and growl and bite at every dog on the townsite that was engaged in the same kind of business that he was. He was a friendly dog and liked to have folks around; and when once he admitted you to the circle of friends his disposition never changed. He was your friend to-morrow as sure as that he had become such today or yesterday or last year. He appreciated a friendly turn, accepted it as such, and was grateful, not receiving it as his grateful due, but holding it precious enough that he was Johnny on the spot to help you. Still he was just a common dog—and it is according to the nature of some human folks to poison a dog like that."

"The Next Counter, Ma'am."

A certain proprietor of a shop is very strict, says a writer in the Woman's National Daily, about teaching his employees not to be indifferent in the matter of possible sales. One day, hearing an assistant say to a customer, "No, we have not had any for a long time," the proprietor, unable to countenance such an admission, attempted to take a hand himself.

Fixing a stern eye on his clerk, he said to the customer:

"We have plenty in reserve, ma'am—plenty down-stairs!"

The customer looked dazed, and then, to the amazement of the proprietor, burst into laughter and quitted the shop.

"What did she say to you?" demanded the proprietor of the clerk.

"She said, 'We haven't had any rain lately.'"

Carthage Enjoined in Water Works Fight.

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 30—Judge John Philips of the federal court here today issued a temporary injunction restraining the city from starting any suit which would interfere with G. Ralph Laignon, grantee of the Carthage Water & Power company, removing the corporation's plant from Carthage if he sees fit to so act.

The injunction is very wide in its application and denies the right of the city of Carthage to bring any suit, law or equity, to interfere with Laignon removing the water plant. The hearing of the case is set for next Monday in the federal court here.

Purcell "Cleaning Up."

Deputy Sheriff Ralston went to Purcell Sunday and arrested Arthur Cox, a druggist, on a charge of selling whiskey without a license. Cox was brought to the county jail and gave bond Monday morning.

It is said Purcell has a number of joints and the moral element has determined to clean them out. The arrest of Cox is the first move toward a thorough house cleaning. Cox will be given a trial one day this week. He has hired an attorney and intends to fight the case. It is claimed that the evidence against Cox is very strong and the state is confidently expecting a conviction.—Carthage Democrat

Fast Detective Work.

A chronic thief was arrested in Maryville, charged with the theft of a pair of trousers. The evidence was strong, but they could not find where he had hidden them. They locked him up and sweated the suspected man for two days, but he still protested his innocence. The sleuths then happened to observe that the prisoner had the trousers on.

Looking One's Best.

It's a woman's delight to look her best but pimples, skin eruptions, sores and boils rob life of joy. Listen! Bucklen's Arnica Salve cures them; makes the skin soft and velvety. It glorifies the face. Cures pimples, sore eyes, cold sores, cracked lips, chapped hands. Try it. Infalible for Piles. 25c at Webb Bros.

To Investigate Riley's Death.

Speaking of the death of the Jasper county man, John Riley, at the Nevada asylum, recently, the Nevada Mail says:—Prosecuting Attorney Ewing stated today to a Mail representative that there is a possibility that he will ask Judge Thurman to call a special grand jury to investigate the death of John Riley. The matter of a grand jury rests entirely on developments. Should any evidence be found tending to show who is guilty of injuring Riley, if he was attacked, a grand jury will be asked for, as Mr. Ewing will not hesitate if he believes it justifiable to have a grand jury make an investigation. Supt. Lamson, of the asylum, is doing everything he can to clear the mystery.

The Class Smiled.

If Jennie Jones had obeyed the teacher's command literally, she would have subverted the discipline of the school-room far more than by her original offense. A writer in the New York Times tells the story.

One of the girls in a Brooklyn teacher's class was busily chewing gum, in defiance of school law. To make her crime the more heinous, she was sitting with her feet sprawled out in the aisle.

The teacher, entering the room suddenly, was quick to call attention to the misbehavior.

"Jennie Jones," she said sharply, "take that gum out of your mouth and put your feet in!"

Oil Burners Saved Apple Crop.

Here's what we call real enterprise. L. K. Haseline, a big apple grower down in the West Plains country, has twenty thousand apple trees, and he has ordered twenty thousand crude oil burners—one to put under each tree when the frost threatens the blooms next spring. He tried several thousand last spring and though he had little faith in the experiment the smoke from the burners protected the tender buds from the frost, and the trees thus shielded made a fine yield of apples.

Lincoln Twp. Couple Wed.

A quiet little wedding occurred in the presence of a few witnesses at the Methodist Episcopal parsonage Thanksgiving at 3 p.m. when Mr. James Farmer and Miss Ethel Lafon both of Lincoln township were united in marriage Rev. Requa officiating. Both the young people are well known and highly respected in church and social circles in their community. Soon after the wedding they returned to Lincoln township, where they will make their home for a while with the bride's mother.
