THE REPUBLICAN HOME-COMING.
 The Republicans of Missouri met Saturday at Forest Park Highlands, St. Louis in their annual home-coming and to discuss matters of political interest and confer on the conditions of the state. The general opinion seemed to be that by united effort and good organization work the Republican party can and will carry the State in 1908. Representative men from all sections of the State were there and the general confidence shown by the working Republicans is an assurance to all that when the ballots are counted in November of next year the Republicans of this state will be in a position to receive the congratulations of the Republican party of the nation. The orators of the day were, Senator Wm. Warner and Hon. Henry J. Allen of Ottawa, Kansas. Senator Warner was the first speaker, his address was able and will be a great help to the party throughout the state. Among other things he said: "What excuse can a man have for being a Democrat? In its history that party's rule has been fraught with financial ruin, while Republican administrations have been marked by years of prosperity. The fact is that the Democratic party is unfit to rule. It has been objecting so long that the Democrats are now unable to take the initiative in anything. Progress is not a portion of the Bourbon platform. A good driver does not put the brakes on his wagon while the horses are climbing up hill. The record of the Republican party speaks for itself. It is one stretch of prosperity. There is work for every one that wants it."

Concerning the tariff, I would say in the words of Mr. Taft in his Columbus speech, that the present business stability of the country depends on a protective tariff, and free trade would ruin the nation. The Republican party has never held that the tariff schedules are sacred or inviolate. They should be changed as the conditions in the commercial world change. The Democratic party has no definite tariff policy. Any of its plans would cripple American industry, and as long as there is prosperity in the country and honest industry the Democratic party will not get into power until Gabriel blows his political horn. The last Republican Congress enacted more laws for the good of the people than any other previous assembly. The laws that were passed were needed and let me state here, that there is no one in the country above the law, nor any one so low that he will not be defended by the arm of justice."

Mr. Allen, who was fittingly introduced as "the brilliant young orator from Kansas" followed the senator with an eloquent address. After talking in general lines and incidentally giving Sec'y. Taft's boom a boost, he said: "Coming down to politics, let us for a few minutes see what the Republicans and Democrats have done for the country. Let us take the two representatives of the parties and discuss them—Bryan and Roosevelt. The only resemblance between the two is that Bryan is an honest, clean man but there the resemblance ends. Bryan is like a Jaybird that awakens up in the morning with his chatter; Pres. Roosevelt an eagle that flies a straight line. Bryan has been talking for a number of years for one-half the gate receipts; Roosevelt does not talk, he acts. Some patriots have called Bryan the David of the Democratic party."

If that were a fact he would devote the greater part of his life hunting for a pebble to put in his sling. Roosevelt on the other hand, picks up an old jagged stone and hurls it. Roosevelt is the concentrated essence of the Republican party. Bryan is a fine example of the conversational powers of the Democratic party.
 Roosevelt is an ideal executive. Some men have declared him a boss and unsafe—notably J. J. Hill and Harriman. That is true. He is unsafe for grafters and other law violators. He is a boss, but a boss that wants other people to do right and does it himself. He has the confidence of the entire country. For his successor we have a number of good men—Hughes, who has made great sacrifices to do his duty as a citizen; Root, the most powerful intellect in the administration; Fairbanks, a well-balanced statesman; Cannon, of the old school; Knox, who has unquestionable ability, and Secretary Taft who has all the necessary qualifications.
 Bryan claims that the Republican party has stolen all his issues. Have we stolen the divine ratio of 16:1? Have we stolen his Phillipine policy? Have we stolen his government ownership of railroads policy? The last one we could have gotten easily. He dropped it and ran, and we could have picked it up without trouble. We do not have to steal issues. The Democrats are not able to put them into effect and we can do what we want to with them."

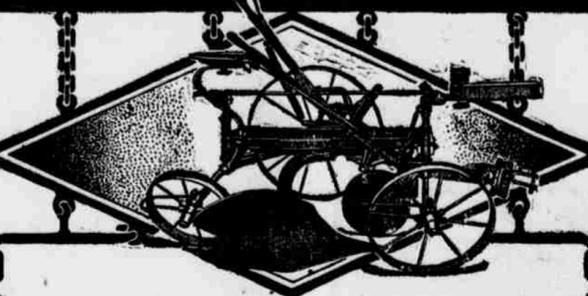

William Jennings Bryan the great national objector performed his usual stunt at Springfield, Ill., Saturday as follows:—"President Roosevelt in his speech at Provincetown, Mass., the other day advocated the government incorporation of the railroads and other great corporations and taking the power from the states, where it now lies. I consider this one of the most dangerous of doctrines as tending toward the still further centralization of power in the Federal Government. It is a doctrine which Alexander Hamilton would have heartily approved in his day. It is a doctrine which is opposed to the principles of the Democratic party, and which, if an effort should be made to carry it into effect, should be bitterly fought by the Democrats." As Senator Warner said Saturday at St. Louis: "It (the Democratic party) has been objecting so long that the Democrats are now unable to take the initiative in anything."

Garland G. Lewis, publisher of "The El-Rino American" and son of Warner Lewis of Montgomery City was selected at the Republican County Convention of Canadian County, Oklahoma, last week as the chairman of the County Central Committee of that County and which is one of the largest Counties in the Territory. The American is making a vigorous fight against the adoption of the Constitution for the Territory along the same lines pointed out by Secretary Taft in his Oklahoma speech.

C. L. Clark, vice president of the Commercial Club, this week wrote a letter to Mr. D. P. Boone, president of the Boone Tobacco Company of Clarksville, soliciting his company to come here and re-build there tobacco factory. A reply will probably be received in a few days.

A Hair Dressing
 Nearly every one likes a fine hair dressing. Something to make the hair more manageable; to keep it from being too rough, or from splitting at the ends. Something, too, that will feed the hair at the same time, a regular hair-food. Well-fed hair will be strong, and will remain where it belongs—on the head, not on the comb!

THE P. & O. CANTON DIAMOND SULKY PLOW

 There is one feature on the Canton Diamond Sulky that makes it stand head and shoulders above any other riding plow made anywhere, by anybody, at any price.
 It is the Automatic Controlling Rod which provides for the rigid locking of the rear wheel when plowing, and the automatic unlocking of the same when turning a corner. A square corner can be turned without touching a single lever. Even the deviation of the team does not affect the true, straight path of the rear wheel or plow. In other words, you do not have to watch the Diamond Plow at all. It works automatically in its changes.
 This is but one point. There are others equally as telling.
THE DIAMOND SULKY
 Is a high grade, up-to-date plow, made to do the best work. It has stood the test of ten years and to-day is the leader of all riding plows.
 The automatic foot levers for raising and lowering the bottoms are perfect in their simplicity and ease of operation, and the bottoms can be locked or left in a floating position. The beam hitch takes all strain from the frame. The Diamond Sulky has the strength to withstand any strain, is heavy, well built, and made throughout of the best materials. Come in and let us show you this famous plow. We know it is the best plow made, and that is why we are handling it.

TONS OF DIAMONDS.
 An Estimate on the Output of the Mines of the World.
 Like all precious metals and stones, the unit of weight usually employed in regard to diamonds is the carat, of which 151 2/3 go to make up a single ounce. To think of sacks of diamonds by the ton staggers the imagination; indeed, the average annual output of the Kimberley mines is not more than half a ton all told.
 Statistics have been published recently at Cape Town giving the output for several years past of the Kimberley mines and the river diggings. These yielded in the three years 1903-05 nearly 7,250,000 carats, say a ton and a half. The monetary value of these diamonds was £10,450,000. Since the first diamond was discovered by the banks of the Vaal in 1867 down to the end of 1906 it is estimated that the total weight of diamonds extracted from the Griqualand mines is over 13 1/2 tons, of a market value of fully £95,000,000.
 If statistics of this sort can be trusted—and in the case of the South African, said they closely approximate to the facts—only 17 tons of diamonds had been mined all over the world to the end of 1901. With the same relative output since that year from Brazil and India the world's output of diamonds is now more than 20 tons.
 The figure seems small, considering the ages diamonds have been worked in India and elsewhere in the east, and must be largely guesswork with respect to the output in antiquity. It is, however, certain that more diamonds have been placed on the market in the last 40 than in the previous thousand years.—Pall Mall Gazette.
Nature Fake.
 Boxer, a handsome bay horse, was well known in Joliet for his powers of reason. A loose shoe had been annoying him for several days, and when his master turned him into the yard to graze, Boxer leaped the fence, trotted down street to the shop where he was regularly shod, and held up his hoof for the inspection of the astonished smith. After resetting the shoe the smith turned Boxer into the street and the intelligent animal returned to his pasture and his feeding as if the performance were an everyday occurrence.—Chicago Tribune.
