Notice of Meeting.

The next regular meeting of the Montgomery county Medical society will be held in Montgomery City, October 12. Every physician in the county is invited to attend this meeting and take part in its deliberations. There are 114 counties in the state and 112 of them are organized and articulate with the state and national organizations. Montgomery county is one of them. Let us not only keep our society in this line as is possible by regular attendance on these meetings and earnest thoughtful work in them. It will not only help our patients but will help us in a practical way by exchanging ideas and experiences. S. S. Cox, Pres. W. M. Wheeler, Secy.

GOV. HADLEY SPEAKS.

The Governor Emphatically States That He Will Seek No Other Office.

HE WILL RESUME LAW PRACTICE

But State's Chief Figure Declares He Will Have Voice in Affairs.

Governor Herbert S. Hadley gave to the Star the first authorized statement of his "policies" and the attitude he will assume in the campaign of next year with reference to the United States senatorship and the other matters of public interest to the voters of the State.

He says he has been greatly interested in the political items that have been published in the Star recently, and, in the main, his statements follow the article referred to. He is not a candidate for any office and does not care who is made United States Senator.

But he does insist on the right to say what shall and what shall not enter into the State platform in 1910; and, utterly regardless of what Senator Warner and Postmaster Akins may want, he means to see to it that the Republican candidates for the Legislature are men who will put the platform promises above their fealty to any senatorial candidate.

Should Warner and Akins persist in the movement already begun to make State matters subordinate to the senatorship, there will be a row in which the Hadley blade will flash on every field in Missouri.

Decidedly, No Candidate.

The governor makes his position plain. He wants party harmony, but he does not want it at the expense of platform promises and laws which he thinks will better the commonwealth and rebound to his credit. Governor Hadley said:

"I am not a candidate or a prospective candidate for any office. On the expiration of my term as governor I shall have been in active life about nineteen years. Fifteen years of that time will have been devoted to the public service. It is my hope and my expectation to begin the practice of the law after my duties as Governor are ended and to earn a competence that will provide for the support of my family and the education of my children.

"I have no further ambition than to give the people of Missouri an administration that will reflect something of lasting credit on efforts in the executive office and leave to the State and its citizenship better laws than were in existence when I came into the office.

"I have never used the power that goes with the position of Governor in building up a 'machine' and I shall not use that power in that way. I do not expect to exert my influence in the selection of any Republican candidate for any place from precinct committeemen to national committeemen.

Will Not Seek Senate.

"I am not a candidate for the senatorship or any other office and I expect to remain entirely out of the campaign for the senatorial nomination. If there is only one candidate for Senator Warner's seat I shall, of course, be for him. If there be more than one I will let the Republican voters of the State make their choice without word or suggestion of mine.

"I am enough of a partisan to desire to leave the Governor's office with a compact, well disciplined and aggressive party organization ready to take up the cudgels for the man the party may name as a successor. I will do what I can to maintain the Republican harmony that prevailed in the last campaign, and, so far as I know, prevails yet.

"Senator Warner is my friend and if his supporters, Federal office holders and others, are seeking to obtain control of the party organization in Missouri to my discomfiture, I do not know it. So long as the committeemen and the candidates they may name are good men and good Republicans there will not be a sign of protest by me.

Will Lend His Advice.

"But I do not mean that I shall have nothing to do with the making of the platform of 1910 or with the selection of the personnel of the Republican side of the Forty-Sixth General Assembly. I expect to be heard from on the platform and where there is more than one, Republican for the nomination for either the House of Representatives or the State Senate, and one of them supports the measures I believe to be the interest of the people of Missouri while the other or others oppose them, I shall not hesitate to take part in favor of the man who stands for and represents what I do.

"I do not mean the so-called 'Hadley policies.' They are not mine any more than they are the ideas of other Republicans of the State. The Republican Convention last year enunciated a platform and went before Missouri voters with certain well defined political ideas. Till a new platform is made this one stands as the law of the Missouri Republican organization.

"The idea I advocated in my message to the legislature last winter and spring were the promises we made in our platform, an instrument on which we appealed successfully to the people. They received the support of every Republican member of the General Assembly. Some of them were turned down by the Democratic Senate.

Must Be Platform Men.

"I want to see Republicans nominated and elected to the next Legislature who will follow the platform of their party. They may favor this man or another man for United States Senator without altering my plans in the least. But I shall insist that Republican candidates for the General Assembly be men who agree that platform promises shall be regarded as sacred and that they be of that sort who will stand by their platform."

"This done and a platform with the policies of which I can heartily concur constructed as a lantern to the feet of these legislative candidates and I shall be pleased personally and politically. If this is done I shall not care whom the State Committee or the State Chairman favor for United States Senator or for any other office.

"For there is not and there will not be a Hadley machine. I have told all my appointees that they are as much at liberty to support Republicans of their own choosing for all offices as I am. Some Governors have used the enormous influence of the official position to the good of their own political ambition.

"I have none, and police boards and excise commissioners named by me have nothing to do but their official work. They will not be required to sit in any game of politics for my benefit.

Treasurers Confidences.

"In the law office back in which I expect to return I shall have no need of political rings or the influence that goes with them. The confidence of the people will stand me in better stead than the true friendship of all the politicians in the country."

"Suppose that you realize that the friends of senator Wm. Warner are banded together to unhorse you before the convention and primaries next year. What then?" was asked of Governor Hadley.

"Public men as a rule are too busy to think of what may happen," he answered.

"I said I mean to have a share in the shaping of the next State platform and that I intend looking after the material from which the Republican members of the Legislature will be fashioned.

"In both of the instances I shall not only be earnest but active. Beyond that my political activity will not be more than that which should be exercised by the humblest voter of the party."—St. Louis Star.

City Council Meeting.

In the absence of Mayor Chadwick, who was in St. Louis, Acting Mayor, Frank Sabourin, presided at the regular Council Meeting held last Tuesday night. All members of the board were present. A number of bills were allowed and other routine business transacted. An ordinance requiring that all sidewalks hereafter laid in the city be of granite was adopted. W. H. Hammock was appointed as committee on printing.

Live Stock Market.

National Stock Yards, Ill., October 5, 1909.

Cattle receipts 6500. Market steady. Nothing choice here. Choice steers scarce, and 25c higher than week ago; other kinds steady. Liberal runs of medium killing grassers expected for another two or three weeks. Demand for choice cattle good. Calf market strong. Top yearlings $8.00.

Hogs 11,000. Trade opened strong on good kinds; top $8.25. The market closed fully 15c lower. The bulk sold at $7.50 to $8.00. The quality averaged common. Tendency is toward lower hog prices.

Sheep receipts 3000. Steady. Top lambs $7.15; best sheep $4.65. They were not choice. Choice sheep and yearlings mixed $4.75 to $5.00. Outlook Steady.

Friday, this week will be a holiday. All stock received will be cared for as on Sunday. No sales.

Federated Woman's Club.

Mrs. James Ferguson and Miss Patie Rosenberger on last Tuesday and Wednesday attended at Columbia a district meeting of the Federated Woman's Club of Missouri. They represented the Wednesday Club of Montgomery. Mrs. Ferguson served on the resolutions committee, while Miss Rosenberger gave the report of the club they represented. They report a most enjoyable and profitable meeting.

The attendance of the delegates was the largest this district had ever had. Mrs. I. C. Demsey of Bowling Green is president of this, the fourth district. Both Mrs. E. H. Shepherd, of Springfield, the state superintendent, and Mrs. W. R. Chivvis, of St. Louis, state vice-president, attended and gave inspiring talks on both days. The members of Columbia's two federated clubs gave the visitors a royal good time and Columbia, being one of the prettiest small cities of Missouri, the visitors returned delighted in every particular with the meeting.

Moberly was chosen the next place of meeting, a year hence.

Christian Church.

Mr. Meloan will deliver a talk on the following subject: "Studies in the Old Testament," beginning with Moses and the Law." October 10 at 11 a. m.

At the evening hour, 7:30, subject: "Who Wrote the Bible" or "Some Thoughts on Inspiration." A cordial welcome is extended to all lovers of the truth.

May God bless you in coming and hearing. Remember Paul said to Timothy, his son in the Gospel: "From a child thou hast known the Holy Scriptures which are able to make thee wise unto salvation through Faith in Christ Jesus." Come let us reason together. Reason is the highest gift of God to man.

W. A. Meloan.

Methodist Church Notes.

Revival services begin Sunday at the Methodist Church. A singer has been secured from Chicago who will be in charge of the music. We hope all singers of the city may feel free to join the chorus. They are cordially invited and urged to take part in the song service.

Cottage prayer meetings are being held in the different sections of the town this week. Get ready for the meeting. The public is cordially invited.

The members of the Epworth League rendered a good program Sunday night.

Sunday School begins at 9:45 a. m. Be on time. Are you a member of the Sunday School? If not, Why not?
