Strongest Argument!

After all, the best test of accept- bility service on the part of any merchant is the number of permanent customers he secures. Some carpet houses assume "that a bird in the hand is worth two in the bush," and take chances on their customers' return after he has been once plucked. "But, alas, the supply of new customers finally run out and it is only a question of time when the that "can't tear off the roller," are THOROUGHLY RELIABLE, and I lay more stress upon this point than any feature of my business. Downright honesty is what I insist upon, both as regards the manufacture of my goods, and in the treatment of my customers. We make mistakes sometimes—who does not?—but the man does not live who can truthfully assure that when informed of a fault in my goods that I ever refused to make it good.

WAS HE MURDERED?

The Brewery Agent From Illinois Who Has Disappeared With the Brewery's Money.

St. Louis Chronicle
Max Koester, a German, aged 34 left his home in Effingham, Ill., Thursday, week ago to come to St. Louis, expecting to return next day. He came here with over $500 in his pocket. He left Effingham in the afternoon and would arrive here a little after 6 o'clock in the evening. An acquaintance saw him get off the train here and that is the last heard of him. The friends and family for the first few days thought business detained him longer than he expected, but now that a week had gone by without any word of him his brother-in-law, Adolph Gravenhoist, came to the city to-day and related the circumstances of his missing relative to chief of Detectives Watkins. The theory of Koester's friends is that he became intoxicated, was robbed of his money and then murdered.

Koester was agent of the Anheuser-Busch brewing company at Effingham, and his mission here was to visit the brewery and transact some business. Mr. Gravenhoist visited the offices of the A-B. association and ascertained that Koester never put in an appearance here. The $500 he had in his possession when he left home was to be paid to Anheuser & Busch, and was derived from beer belonging to them which Koester had sold. One theory of his disappearance was that he had run off with his money, but the folly of this is proved by the fact that he owned several thousand dollars worth of property in Effingham, which, of course, would several times over satisfy the brewery claim.

Under Bond.

Conrad Thelan, of the Lafayette Garden was arrested yesterday afternoon, charged with assault to do great bodily harm.

It seems that a dead beat of a fellow went into the saloon, called for the drinks and then tried to slip out without squaring the bill.

Mr. Thelan objected to such a course, and caught hold of the man. He resisted and showed fight, when Mr. Thelan struck him once. The fellow came down and swore out a warrant for Mr. Thelan's arrest. This was done, and he promptly gave bond in $500 for his appearance at trial tomorrow.

They were Worsted.

New York, July 8.—Some trouble occurred this morning between the striking freight handlers and the new men. The former were worsted and driven off. Merchandise was being handled somewhat slowly to-day and freight is accumulating at various points.

Discouraging Patriotism.

Chicago, July 8.—Ellen McGarth, in jail here for unnecessary hilarity on the Fourth of July, choked herself to death this morning. She twisted her stocking around her throat.

He Can go Home.

Washington, July 8.—Chief Engineer Melville has been granted permission to return home.

Going to Work To-morrow.

St. Louis, July 8.—The Laclede rolling mills start up again next Monday. A committee of men signed the contract agreeing to resume work under Cincinnati agreement, until a settlement could be made at Pittsburg. About 600 strikers will go to work. Thus, on Monday, all the mills in the third district will be in operation, except the Helmsbocher forge. Two hammers are being run at the Helmsbocher forge and it is believed the men employed in the rolling mill department will soon return to work.

They are Well Hung.

Washington, July 8.—The large oil painting of President Garfield, used in the house of representatives on occasion of the Garfield memorial services, has been hung in the main hall of the executive mansion. The painting of Mrs. R. B. Hayes, presented by the temperance people of the country, has been assigned a permanent place on the wall of the green parlor.

They Cookham.

London, July 8.—At the Marlow Regatta, the Hillsdale crew beat the Marlow crew by a clear length. The Cookham crew was scratched.

Directly after the start the Hillsdales fouled the Marlows badly but the latter, however, did not claim the foul. The Hillsdales went rapidly ahead and, after leading at one time by a hundred yards, won easily by a length and a quarter.

A Traveler's Story.

After spending months at watering places and consulting the best physicians without benefit, I returned home disheartened and expected to die. A friend urged a trial of Parker's Ginger Tonic. Three bottles and careful diet have brought me excellent health and spirits, and I hope my experience may benefit similar sufferers.—Cincinnati lad. See other column.

CONGRESSIONAL.

A Brief of Yesterday's Proceedings.

HOUSE.

WASHINGTON, D. C. July 8.
Crapo submitted the report of conference committee on bill to enable national banks to extend their corporate existence. Randall made the point of order that the report was not accompanied with the explanatory statement required by the rules. The point being sustained, the conference report was withdrawn, but Crapo will endeavor to get it before the house during the afternoon. The house went into committee on sundry civil appropriation bill, pending an amendment, it being that striking out the provision restricting investigations of the national board of health to the diseases of cholera and yellow fever.

Mr. Cox of New York offered amendment providing for abolition of the national board health after the first of September next. The general board had been steadily trenching upon the functions of local boards of several states. He denied the right of federal government to investigate causes of disease. It had no more right to investigate chicken pox or measles.

Cox subsequently withdrew the amendment. The senate joint resolution to allow employees of the government printing office pay for time lost during the Garfield obsequies passed. Brent said as several amendments to house bill regulating internal revenue had been reported this morning from the republican caucus last night, he gave notice of an amendment subjecting duties on imports from abroad after January 1, 1883 to a discount of 10 per cent and after July 1, 1883, to 10 per cent additional discount. The river and harbor bill was taken up and the Hennepin canal project further discussed. The question being upon amendment providing for additional survey and report upon the cost of construction, annual maintenance and use of canal.

SENATE.

The committee on District of Columbia agreed to report favorably the nomination of Ex-Senator West, for district commissioner. There was considerable opposition on the part of democrat members, based upon West's political course in Louisiana and the vote in his favor was strictly a party one. Adopted.

Crop Prospects.

Chicago, July 8.—A Vincennes, Ind., special says: The wheat crop in Southern Indiana turns out wonderfully, and is one of the largest the country was ever blessed with. The average yield is eighteen to twenty bushels per acre, many places showing thirty-five to forty bushels. It is estimated that the yield in fifteen Southern counties of Indiana will be 12,000,000 bushels.

A Lincoln, Illinois, special says the condition of corn is but little improved. The heavy rains have stopped the plows and farmers cannot harvest, although the wheat is ripe and in fine condition.

At Clinton, Ill., it is estimated the wheat will go thirty-five to forty bushels to the acre in many farms.

A Bear Creek, Arkansas, special says: The water spout in this section and in Taney county, Mo., extended over half a mile in width and swept away many fields of corn and wheat, and much stock. No lives lost.

For the Flyers.

Rochester, July 8.—The board of stewards of the National Trotting association offered a special purse for Cleveland, Buffalo and Rochester of $4,000 open to all; $2,000 to St. Julien and Trinkett to enter and start; open to all other horses $1,200 to first, $100 to second, $500 extra to fastest horse trotting in 2:14 or better; $500 additional extra to horse trotting in 2:30 or better; one thousand additional extra to horse trotting in 2:10 or better. No entrance is required or added money. The no record class is changed to the three minute class.

They Will be Pardoned.

St. Louis, July 8.—In the first case against the lottery men, the jury, after being out an hour, returned a verdict, finding three defendants, Herman Bruner, John Black and James Glordon, guilty, and assessing punishment as follows: Bruner and Black two years in the penitentiary, and Glordon six months in jail.

War Imminent.

Malta, July 8.—The British iron clad, Achilles, and the torpedo depotship, Hecla, sailed for Alexandria.

More Victims of the Sciota Disaster.

Cincinnati, Ohio July 8.—The Times-Star special says the body of a young woman, supposed to be Miss Culp and a body of a little girl from the Sciota disaster at Mingo Junction, was found last night. Three bodies have been found near Wheeling not yet identified. Total found, twenty-four bodies. Parties started this morning to drag the river from Mingo Junction to Wheeling.

Seven bodies of the victims of the Sciota disaster on the night of July 4th have been recovered to-day in this vicinity, seventeen miles below the point where the collision occurred. Four more were recovered below and brought to this city on a steamer. A telegram reported that eight others were taken from the water at Short creek. Nine miles above at Bridgeport, opposite here, three women were caught. The bodies are not all yet identified as fast as they are recovered a coroner's jury is empaneled and the work of identification begun.

Relatives of missing parties are here examining the bodies, in search of their friends. The mayor of East Liverpool will be here this evening. Hundreds of people are out in skiffs searching for floaters all along the river. So far as known, the bodies found are those of Peter Wilson, Paul Potter, aged 30, of East Liverpool, W. T. McLain, J. H. Malone, Miss Culp. Each discovery increases the list of drowned as few of those identified were known to have been aboard. To-day an English family was discovered who lately arrived in the city from the old country. Their names are not known to their neighbors. They embarked on the ill-fated boat and have not since been heard of. The bodies are taken in charge here by an undertaker, put in plain coffins and shipped to Mingo for identification.

Following are names of bodies found at Wellsburg this state, up to 2 p. m., to-day. C. B. Armstrong, J. J. Hart, Morris Donaher, C. Stebbins, Miss Madia Booth, of East Liverpool, and Charlie Emet of Wells-ville Ohio. Reports from La Grange show one body found there still unidentified.

Fight in Mexico.

Chicago, July 8.—A special from Piedras Negras, Mexico says this evening news reached here of a battle between eighteen contrabands and forty soldiers acting under the orders of the custom house officials. The contrabands were overtaken by troops ten leagues from here while in camp. Half the troops attacked them mounted and the others opened on them from a ravine. The contrabands fought desperately losing two of their party. Upwards of fifty hales of goods forty horses, nine smugglers and a number of guns were captured.

Going to Start.

Chicago, Ill., July 8.—An Akkanna, Ohio special says: The Puddling mill here signed the scale and will start immediately.
