

WEDDED!

Two Fond Hearts Bound Fast in Hymen's Rosy Bonds.

Marriage of Chas. S. Conrad and Miss Louise Bradfish at Sichert's Park Hotel.

Dr. Foster Ties the Knot—Elegant Bridal Gifts—Superb Supper—Honeymoon Trip.

Last night, at Sichert's Park hotel, the marriage of Mr. Chas. S. Conrad to Miss Louise Bradfish was witnessed by a limited number of invited friends. The ceremony was performed by Dr. Foster, rector of the Episcopal church.

Mr. Conrad is well known as the efficient superintendent and secretary of the street railway here. He has for the past seven years had the general charge of Sichert's park and the hotel there. He has a host of friends, who will wish him a happy voyage on the matrimonial sea.

There were present at the wedding Mr. and Mrs. Latour, Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Clarke, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. McNulty, Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Fleischmann, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Deutsch, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Hinsdale and others whose names are given below.

The bridal presents are handsome and elegant, and among the number are the following:

- An elegant bed room set, from Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Sichert.
A handsome cheffonier, from Mr. and Mrs. F. Sichert.
A superb French clock, from Mr. and Mrs. Deutsch, and Mrs. A. T. Fleischmann.
A very rich and elegant rocking chair, with satin drapery, and plush trimmings, the gift of W. A. Radeliff, P. H. Sangree, H. W. Meuschke and F. B. Meyer.
A fine easy chair, from W. W. McNulty.
A very pretty toilet set, from Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Gropingieser.
A handsome fruit set from Mr. and Mrs. Ira Hinsdale.
An elegant Turkish rug from D. A. Clark.
A pretty cake stand, from Miss Ellen Adams.

- A handsome table cloth and napkins, from Mrs. Copeland.
A very elegant Japanese ice pitcher, from Mr. and Mrs. Latour.
A beautiful cut glass fruit dish, from Miss Annie and Miss Mamie Dickman.
A handsome double pickle castor, from Gus Lamy.
An elegant fruit set, from Mr. and Mrs. G. J. Lesure.
A very handsome silver water pitcher, from David Shuler, with the words beautifully engraved upon it: "From Dave, to Charles and Louise."

The bride was arrayed in her traveling dress, and looked charming, as all lovely brides should look. The wedding feast was one in every way elegant and superb. It was a triumph of the art of the cuisine. No finer wedding supper was ever spread in this city. It embraced dainties and delicacies in great variety. The richest wines and champagnes were served with a profusion of hospitality.

After congratulations of friends and cordial "good byes," Mr. Conrad and his bride were accompanied to the train bound east. They will visit St. Louis, Alton, Indianapolis, Cleveland and Columbus, and will spend some days in Cincinnati, where was Mr. Conrad's former home. They will return to Sedalia in about three weeks. Good wishes from many friends for a safe and delightful trip, accompany them.

Conrad tells a good example. Bachelor comrades should not shun it; Conrad shows he has "the nerve." He, as went and gone and done it. Timorous bachelors, oh! brace up! Why this long, unmanly shrinking? Yes should follow Charles's footsteps, Cording to our way of thinking.

TAKEN IN BY A THIEF.

While in a Drunken Condition, Sam'l C. Miller is Robbed by a Sharp.

About 10 o'clock Tuesday night, Officer Gossage noticed a slick looking stranger following Sam Miller, an old man, who is a stone hauer, and who lives on the John Bank's place near this city. Miller, who is a hard working man, came to the city with about $50 in his possession, being accompanied by Charles Wilson, who works for him. Officer Gossage at once worked the fact that the stranger had designs upon Miller's pocketbook and consequently maintained a close surveillance of him during the night. The officer learned that the name of the sharper was Joe Morrison; that he was a tinner by trade, and had for a few days past been in the employ of Jacobs & Schwartz.

Miller began drinking freely upon his arrival in the city, and in a saloon chanced to fall in with Morrison, who staid with him like a brother, and assisted in squandering the old man's wealth.

About one o'clock yesterday morning, Morrison inveigled his new thoroughly drunken victim and the unsuspecting young Wilson to his room at Armbruster's restaurant on West Second street. Miller was undressed and placed in bed, and while Wilson's attention was taken up in waiting upon the old man who was very sick from the effects of his frequent potations, Morrison got in his work and abstracted from the pockets of the unconscious man $38.35.

Morrison and Wilson then left the room together, and upon descending to the street the latter was presented with $2.50 by the thief who stated that he had plenty of money, and which he accepted without suspecting that it belonged to his drunken employer. Officer Gossage, although not aware of the robbery, still kept track of the festive confidence man, followed him to the lunch stand of the Missouri Pacific Bar and continued to shadow him throughout the night. In the meantime Morrison returned to his room and gave Miller a $5 bill which he claimed he had taken from him in fun. Then it was that the now thoroughly sober man realized that he had been victimized by a sharper, and he reported the matter to Officer Gossage, who was not at all surprised to learn of the occurrence. Together, Miller and the officer started out about 7 o'clock this morning on a warm trail for the thief. They first went to the restaurant and Morrison noticing their approach, ran up the alley in the rear of Thomas & Haden's store, and was seized by Miller at the corner of Second and Osage streets, but the fleeing thief broke away from his captor and ran east on Second street to Ohio, thence south to Merz & Hal's drug store, closely pursued by Officer Gossage. At the alley Constable Carnes, who was standing at the steps leading to his office, joined in the pursuit and Morrison was overhauled near Lyon's stable, and taken to the cooler. Upon the prisoner being searched eleven dollars in cash and a gold watch and plated chain were found on his person. He was arraigned before Justice Halstead yesterday afternoon and his preliminary examination set for this morning. In default of bail to the amount of $250 he was sent to the county jail.

A FEW FACTS, Learned in an Interview with Mr. James W. Hall, Just from South America.

Mr. James W. Hall, who has just returned from South America, where he has been for the past few weeks in the interest of the Wood binders and reapers, in a casual conversation with a BAZOO reporter yesterday, gave some information concerning that country, which will doubtless prove of general interest.

Mr. Woods' headquarters has been in the Argentine Republic, at Buenos Ayres, the capital of that government, a large and flourishing city, with a population numbering between 350,000 and 400,000 souls. There is a vast amount of capital invested in the city, by principally English merchants. The farmers of the country are mostly Italians, while the majority of the natives are engaged in stock raising. There is at present a large immigration pouring into the country.

In Buenos Ayres there are six daily papers; two English, one French, one German and two Spanish. There is very little manufacturing done, the only establishments in this line being a few breweries, distilleries and sugar refineries. The country is well adapted to agriculture, and the crops are generally excellent, there scarcely ever being a failure. The farmers, however, are not industrious, doing as little work as possible, and hence putting in but small crops. The soil is adapted to any crop that is raised in this country. Horses are not fed except in the cities, where they are used for street cars, carriages, teaming, etc. In all other parts of the republic, horses, mules and cattle are grazed.

The predominant religion of the country is the Catholic, although there are a number of Protestant English churches in Buenos Ayres.

Mr. Hall is well satisfied with his trip, which is the second he has made to that country, and reports the sale of a large number of wood machines.

At Death's Door.

A rumor was current on the streets last evening to the effect that Mrs. Lester, wife of Robert Lester, an engineer on the Missouri Pacific had dropped dead. A BAZOO reporter hastened to the residence of Mr. Lester, at the corner of Fourth street and New York avenue, where he learned that Mrs. Lester had been seized with violent convulsions about 7 o'clock yesterday morning, and that for a time it seemed to friends and neighbors that she could not possibly survive the fearful attack. Medical aid was summoned and vigorous measures adopted for the relief of the unfortunate lady. At a late hour last night she was resting comfortably, although she is still in a very critical condition.

Mrs. Lester has been feeling unwell for several days, but her ailment was not considered at all serious, and the dreadful spasms with which she was seized yesterday, naturally very greatly frightened the members of the family.

Rock vs. Coal-Chisel.

A lively little fracas occurred at C. F. Spray's, the East Sedalia grocer's store, between the proprietor and Cog Watson. It seems that Watson went to Spray's place of business somewhat under the influence of liquor, and said that Spray owed him two dollars on a grocery bill. This Mr. Spray denied, whereupon Watson began using some very abusive language. Mr. Spray ordered him out of the store, but it was not long before he again entered and continued his abuse. The second time he started toward Spray, who grabbed a hatchet and waited some belligerent move on Watson's part. Watson then ran out into the street and picking up a rock weighing about two pounds hurled it with great force at Spray, who retaliated by striking him over the eyes with a coal-chisel, cutting an ugly gash. As soon as Watson could gather his scattered senses he retreated from the field. Both men were arrested by Officer Meyer, but gave bond for their appearance this morning. From the amount of blood on the sidewalk one would suppose that a small battle had been fought.

An Unnatural Father.

The BAZOO of yesterday made mention of the fact that Mrs. Mugford, well known in Sedalia, and who has been supported at the expense of the city for several months past, is lying sick and destitute at her room on the corner of Fourth and Linn streets, depending entirely upon charity for subsistence.

A BAZOO reporter learned yesterday that Mrs. Mugford has a father residing in the city who is reputed to be very wealthy, and although he knows her sad condition, does not come near her, nor contribute one cent to her support. If this state of facts exists, as there is little reason to doubt that it does, this inhuman father should be discontinued by all respectable people and held up to the indignant gaze of the community.

A STRANGE MARRIAGE

Resulting From a "Personal" Published in the Kansas City Papers.

The denouement of one of the most sensational cases which has ever occurred in Jackson county, was reached at Independence Wednesday evening, in the marriage of Mr. Greene H. Bradin of that place, to Mrs. Suda A. Watson, aged about 27 years, for a short time past a resident of Kansas City.

Bradin is a man of some means and is about 50 years of age. He was married in Independence in 1881 to Mrs. Alice Laws. Together they lived at Independence until November, 1882, when a separation took place, the wife leaving Bradin because, as she charged, he utterly failed to provide for her and her three children by her former husband. No formal papers were drawn up, however, until the 11th day of last February, a short time previous to which a "personal" had appeared in the Kansas City papers which caught the eye of Bradin and inflamed him. He answered it, and after a short correspondence between the parties the divorce suit was filed by Bradin, abandonment being the grounds alleged.

Last Saturday in Judge Black's court at Independence, the divorce was granted by default, the defendant not entering an appearance or attempting any defense. As soon as the result was made known preparations were made for the marriage of Bradin and his new found friend, and on Wednesday morning she left Kansas City for Independence, and quietly made arrangements to become mistress of his home and fortunes. In accordance with these arrangements she returned to Kansas City in the afternoon, took her little daughter, aged 8 years, and in company with a man whom she introduced as her brother, left for Independence. Re-paring to the residence of Mr. S. L. Fleming, a marriage license was procured, few witnesses were called in and G. H. Bradin and Mrs. Suda A. Watson were made man and wife.

Fair Association Meeting.

The Board of Directors of the Sedalia Exposition met yesterday afternoon at the office of the secretary, Mr. W. L. Beiler, and the following business was transacted: Mr. C. G. Taylor was elected to fill the place in the directory resigned by Mr. Albert Parker. A letter was read from Mr. C. F. Ernst, secretary St. Joseph fair, and acting secretary Grand Western Circuit, asking that a representative from the Sedalia Exposition be on hand at St. Joseph on Thursday next, March 20th, at the meeting of the circuit. The association that will form the circuit are Council Bluffs, St. Joseph, Topeka, Kansas City, Sedalia and St. Louis. The meetings to be held in the order named, and Mr. Bothwell and Mr. Beiler were appointed to attend such meeting.

The subject of the revision of the catalogue came up and the chair appointed committees to revise the premium list thoroughly.

The chair also appointed three committees to consider upon and hunt up special attractions for the coming exposition. Considerable time was taken up discussing the best mode of issuing exhibitors tickets and furnishing the grounds with water for sprinkling purposes and other important questions.

The board seemed unanimous in the opinion that all questions should be settled early, and the association get in the field at once, and to boom the exposition from this time to its finish, giving to Sedalia the grandest fair she has ever had.

Robbed of $160.

Mr. S. P. Hoff, a farmer living two and a half miles east of Syracuse, Mo., came in on the Pacific yesterday afternoon. Mr. Hoff is looking for a burglar who entered his house Saturday night, and stole $160 therefrom. He says he went home at about 8 o'clock and went to bed; that a little while afterward he thought he heard some one in the house, but paid no particular attention to it. Yesterday morning he arose at 6 o'clock and found that his pants, which he had placed under his head the night before, were missing and with them a pocketbook containing $160 in bills—six twenties, two tens and some smaller change. The pants he afterwards found in his barn. He immediately went to Syracuse and from there to Tipton on horse back, where he boarded the train and came to this city, and informed the police of the robbery.

Mr. Hoff left yesterday evening for Lamonte, but as he has no clue, it is doubtful if he will ever again see his money. He says he has only lived on the farm about two weeks.

Hard to Believe.

It is hard to believe that a man was cured of a kidney disease after his body was swollen as big as a barrel and he had been given up as incurable and lay at death's door. Yet such a cure was accomplished by Kidney-Wort in the person of M. M. Deveraux, of Jona, Mich., who says: "After thirteen of the best doctors in Detroit had given me up, I was cured by Kidney-Wort. I want every one to know what a boon it is."

Death of an Old Citizen.

At twenty minutes past one o'clock yesterday afternoon Frederick G. Dean breathed his last. He was a German, 53 years of age, a carpenter and contractor, the father of the well known Rudolph Dean. He has resided in Sedalia for the last sixteen years and was noted for his honesty, industry and upright life. He has been sick for more than a year past, and suffered intensely. The doctors have pronounced his malady a mystery and have decided to hold an autopsy this morning to arrive at some conclusion.

The funeral services will be held this afternoon at half past two o'clock, at the First Baptist church, Rev. Fuller officiating.

GRAVE ROBBERS.

The Body of the Negro, Matt. Lewis, Said to Have Been Disinterred.

The body of Matt. Lewis, the negro murderer who was hanged at St. Louis last Friday, was sent to Jefferson City for burial. It is now said that the grave has been robbed of its ghastly contents and the body sent to this city or Kansas City to be dissected. A BAZOO reporter, learning the above facts, at once started out to see if there was any truth in the report, and ascertain, if possible, if the body was really here. Up to a late hour last night he had found nothing that would in any way verify the statement, and, although the body may have been stolen it is not at all probable that it ever came within the limits of Sedalia. The following, from the Jefferson City Tribune, however, will be interesting, and is given for what it is worth:

A rumor reached the ears of a Tribune pencil pusher late yesterday evening that the body of Matt. Lewis, the negro murderer, hanged in St. Louis last Friday, and whose remains were buried here on Saturday, had been surreptitiously exhumed and shipped to Kansas City or Sedalia, for dissecting purposes. The rumor was traced by the reporter, and the fact was developed that a prominent physician of Kansas City and an obscure county doctor from the rural district of Pettis county had been seen in the city several times during the day, and further inquiry elicited the fact that they had arrived on the night train Sunday. Following up this clue the reporter ascertained the fact that they had not registered at any of the hotels, and had been seen in consultation with several hard looking characters. Connecting this with the fact that at a very early hour yesterday morning a wagon was heard passing by people living out towards the cemetery, it is very evident that the rumor was well founded. The lateness of the hour and the difficulty of working up such a case prevented the scribe from following up the search. The matter will be thoroughly sifted to-day, and the readers of the Daily Tribune may look for interesting developments in to-morrow's paper.

The New Court House.

As stated in the proceedings of the county court, published elsewhere, the greater part of the time of the county court yesterday, was consumed in the examination of the various plans submitted to the court, and an elaborate explanation of them by the architects by whom they were executed. A lively interest is of course exhibited in this matter by all of our citizens, and a number of our most prominent capitalist and business men were present during the day.

All of the designs presented are handsome and complete, and a court house erected upon either one of the plans exhibited will be an ornament to the city and a credit to Pettis county.

Ever since the proposition to issue bonds for the construction of a new court house carried, plans have been pouring into the county court. Many of the designs are excellent, but some of them, as Recorder Conner remarked to a BAZOO reporter are not fit for a respectable school house, "in fact," said Mr. Conner, "there are plans here drawn from the design of the Broadway school house."

The architects who appeared before the court yesterday and explained their plans in a terse, but lucid manner, are all gentlemen who have won enviable reputations in their profession, and who are abundantly able to furnish the heavy bond required in an undertaking of this nature. They are as follows:

Lynch & Masters, of Sedalia; Parsons & Son, of Columbia, Mo.; McKean & Cairns, of St. Louis; Eckel & Mann, of St. Joe; W. R. McPherson, of Omaha. The court listened patiently and very attentively to all of these gentlemen, frequently questioning them about points in the plans which were not altogether clear.

All of the plans were placed in the custody of the county clerk, and the court took the matter under advisement until next Tuesday.

Death of Mrs. Cummings.

Mr. Geo. W. Cummings last night received a telegram from St. Louis announcing the death of Mrs. Lulu Cummings, wife of his brother, T. J. Cummings, of that city, which occurred at 5 p. m., after long suffering with that fell destroyer, consumption.

Mrs. Cummings was thirty-three years of age and leaves two living children. She was a daughter of Col. T. A. Switzler, formerly of Sedalia, and was long a resident of this place, leaving here eight years ago with her husband, who located in St. Louis. She was widely known and much respected in Pettis county.

The remains will be brought to this city for interment in the family grave yard where lie three of her children who have preceded her.

The funeral will take place from the First Presbyterian church at 10 a. m., Friday, Rev. G. A. Beattie officiating.

CRANKY OR CRAZY.

A Young Man's Unsuccessful Attempt to Play the Role of a Deaf Mute.

He Procures a Revolver and Attempts to Get the Drop on Charlie Holland.

Who Was too Slick for Him, and Soon Had the Young Fraud in Durance.

A rather well dressed young man entered the Postoffice Exchange saloon Wednesday, and after looking around a few moments, produced a card on which he wrote: "I will play any man in the house a game of pool for $10." Supposing the man to be deaf and dumb as he pretended, Charlie Holland, one of the proprietors, wrote on a card: "No playing for money allowed in this house. If you want to play for the drinks or cigars, all right."

One of the parties in the saloon finally engaged the stranger in a game of pool for the drinks. Several games were played, when the deaf and dumb man becoming engaged at his ill luck, broke his cue on the floor. He was given to understand that he would be required to pay $1 for the cue, which he finally reluctantly consented to do, and left the house.

Shortly afterwards he met one of the parties who was present in the saloon when he broke the billiard cue, and approaching him he applied to him a vile epithet in a loud tone of voice. An altercation was prevented by bystanders and the alleged mute lit out.

About twelve o'clock, as Mr. Holland was out in front of his saloon for the purpose of extinguishing the light, his wheel customer approached, and drawing a revolver, demanded the return of the $1 which he had paid for the broken billiard cue. Holland darted into the saloon for the purpose of securing his revolver, while his assailant ran to the Hotel Kaiser, where he entered and registered as "Charles J. Lewis, Cincinnati, Ohio."

Mr. Holland notified Officer Gossage of the occurrence and the officer went to the hotel and noted the number of the room occupied by the erratic stranger, but did not molest him then, intending to arrest him in the morning. It had been but a short time after his retirement, however, before "Mr. Lewis" was observed on the street. Officer Gossage recognizing him from the description furnished by Holland, Lewis was taken to the lunch room of the Missouri Pacific bar, where he was arrested. He resisted arrest and talked gibberish as any one could. He was safely landed in the cooler, but upon being searched no revolver was found upon his person.

Lewis was arraigned in the police court yesterday morning on the triple charge of late hours, disturbing the peace and carrying concealed weapons. He was fined $4 on the first charge and $50 on the latter two.

Lewis was interviewed in his cell yesterday by a representative of the BAZOO, and found to be a young man of more than ordinary intelligence, and of rather prepossessing appearance. In answer to a question as to the reason of his strange conduct, he stated that he had enacted the role of a mute merely for fun, and became enraged when the party with whom he was playing pool stole a ball from him, and when he found that others in the saloon were endeavoring to play him for a sucker. He denies having a revolver in his possession, and says that he has not carried one for some time. He says that he has been drinking some, but was not at all intoxicated.

Mr. Holland in response to the inquiries of the reporter as to the course he would pursue in the matter, stated that it was his intention to prosecute the young scoundrel to the full extent of the law, as he had positive evidence to the effect that Lewis, or whatever his name is, skulked in the rear of the saloon for some time, endeavoring to shoot him through the window. Also that he had heard that the young crank had made threats that he would get even on account of being made to pay for the broken billiard cue.

Lewis takes the matter quite coolly and is doubtless a hard young citizen.
