

TWO AT ONCE.

Marriage of Miss Anna Norman and Mr. W. E. Reynolds, and Miss Hannah Hill and Mr. J. Birchie, on Last Evening.

The List of Presents—What Was Worn by the Brides—Super and Guests.

The residence of Alderman Wm. Hill was last night the scene of great festivity and happiness, the occasion being in honor of the marriage of his daughter, Miss Hannah Hill, a young lady well and favorably known throughout the social circles of East Sedalia, and Mr. John Birchie, the popular conductor of the K. & T. railroad, also the marriage of Miss Anna B. Norman and Mr. Walter E. Reynolds, the former being a young lady possessing many friends, the latter an efficient conductor of the K. & T.

The marriage of Miss Anna Norman and Conductor Reynolds took place at the residence of Mr. Hill, Rev. Plannett of the East Sedalia Baptist church, officiating. Miss Hannah Hill and Conductor Birchie acted as attendants, after which the entire party repaired to the Catholic church, where in the presence of a large audience the latter parties were united in marriage by the Rev. Father Murphy.

The attendants of Miss Hill and Mr. Birchie were Miss Belle Scott, of Parsons, Kansas, and Mr. Hugh Curran, of Otterville.

Miss Anna Norman wore a dress of ash brown silk, the underskirt trimmed at the bottom with single box plaiting, above this was a shirred mounting, draperies long and full, basque pointed and trimmed with a fall of point lace, square neck finished with the lace, sleeves trimmed with lace, bouquet of pale pink daisies at the left of the corsage, small bonnet of ash gray silk, adorned with shaded leaves and daisies, long gloves and ornaments of etruscan gold. Miss Anna also had a lovely traveling dress of pearl gray ottoman cloth combined with ruby velvet. The underskirt trimmed with kilt plaiting, draperies pointed and opened at the left side with revers of the velvet, vest of velvet with coat basque, buttons of steel and pearl, pearl gray dustable braid hat trimmed with ruby velvet, plumes and steel ornaments, pearl gray gloves.

Miss Hannah Hill wore a costume of cinnamon brown silk, the bottom of the underskirt trimmed with narrow plaiting, above this was deep kilt plaiting finished at the top with a shirring, long full draperies finished at the bottom with lace, basque, neck and sleeves edged with point lace, spray of orange blossoms at the left of corsage, half wreath of orange blossoms in the hair, long full veil of white tulle, long gloves of white undressed kid.

After the vows had been taken which Miss Norman Mrs. Reynolds, and Miss Hill Mrs. Birchie, a reception was given at the residence of Mr. Hill, which was enjoyable in the extreme. A large number of guests were present, probably one hundred in all, and the evening was one of gaiety.

The supper was laid on one large table and was adorned as follows: At either end were placed immense cakes, the bride's cake supporting a basket of orange flowers. Above the table was a large floral horse-shoe, and upon the table were bouquets and pyramids of fruit. The menu embraced turkey, chicken, ham, salads, rolls, ices, jellies, confections, fruits, coffee and tea, the whole being a credit to the hostess, Mrs. Hill.

The list of presents was very extensive, being as follows:

- TO MR. AND MRS. BIRCHIE.
Elegant chamber set, bedspread and set of silver knives and forks, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hill, father and mother of the bride.

Bottle of "chow chow" and can of peaches, Mr. C. F. Spray.
Mr. Reynolds also gave his bride an exceedingly handsome set of etruscan gold ornaments.

There were a number of other presents to each of the newly wedded parties, but it is almost impossible to give the complete list. The wedding march for Miss Anna Norman and Conductor Reynolds was performed by Mrs. Cora Brewster of Otterville. This lady also furnished some very beautiful vocal selections during the evening, as did others.

Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds will take an extended wedding trip to St. Louis, Chicago, and other points in Illinois, they will be absent about three weeks and then return to this city where they will board for a time.

Mr. and Mrs. Birchie go at once to housekeeping in an elegant new home on Fifth street, completely fitted up with every thing necessary to make home a comfort in all that pertains to convenience and ease.

May no dark shadows shroud the pathway of those who plighted love's vows last night, but may peace, like a white robed angel sit at the fireside and guard and protect until "death do them part."

A double wedding, with its vows and loves, Two twin bound in Hymen's chains, May sweet harmonies be theirs thro' life, Unmarked by sad, discordant strains.

SERIOUS CHARGE.

The Camp Branch Baptist Minister Arrested on the Charge of Rape.

The Jackson County Sheriff Expected This Morning in Quest of His Man.

The Baptist minister at Camp Branch was arrested yesterday evening in obedience to a telegram received by Marshal Shy from Sheriff Murphy, of Kansas City, stating that the minister, Isaac H. Haley, was wanted at that place for rape.

The crime for which Haley was arrested was committed in the early part of last October. At that time a man, alleged to have been Haley, was arrested but was subsequently discharged, and the matter, for the time being, was dropped.

The matter was recently revived and Rev. J. M. Plannett, of the East Sedalia Baptist church, received a communication from Kansas City asking if Haley was here. He answered by saying that he was not here but that he was not far away. Marshal Shy yesterday received the telegram mentioned above and at once proceeded to find his man. He had been in the city in the afternoon, but said he was going to the country and got into a wagon, ostensibly for that purpose. He did not go, however, but rode only a short distance and then got out and walked to East Sedalia.

The marshal then telegraphed to Kansas City that Haley had gone into the country, but that he could be arrested in the morning. In answer he received a telegram asking him to arrest the man, and saying that the sheriff would be down after him at 10:45 last night. Learning that he was in East Sedalia, Officer McPherson went there and arrested him.

The sheriff did not arrive last night, but he is expected this morning. The case is a queer one, and the true state of affairs are very hard to get.

Haley is a young man of rather prepossessing appearance. He has been married about five months. He and his wife reside at Camp Branch. He was interviewed by a BAZOO reporter in his cell last night but nothing of importance was learned. Fuller particulars will be published as the case progresses.

LATER.

James Isaac Haley, an account of whose arrest and incarceration for attempted rape in Kansas City was published in the BAZOO yesterday morning, was taken to Kansas City last evening. He is a man about 35 years old, very tall and broadshouldered, small steel-gray eyes, and prominent nose and chin, and the week's growth of brown beard on his face gave him the appearance of a man well used to the ways of the world.

As stated in yesterday's published account he was arrested by Marshal Shy on a telegram coming from the authorities at Kansas City, his arrest reported to them, and he locked up awaiting their appearance. A reporter called at the calaboose yesterday morning, and found the grated door of his cell curtained with newspapers and his overcoat. Thrusting aside the paper, the reporter attempted to engage him in conversation, but he would not, saying he had nothing new to offer.

At 10:30 Mr. W. H. Keshlear, deputy marshal of Jackson county, arrested and was met by Marshal Shy, who conducted him to the calaboose. Mr. Keshlear told Haley he had come to take him back to Kansas City, to stand trial for an attempt to rape a 17-year-old girl near Wyandotte. Haley replied that he was ready and willing to return.

From Mr. Keshlear it was learned that the attempt was made in October last. Haley, while drunk on the street, met the girl, and overheard her request to be shown a certain house in Kansas City, the number of which she had on a written slip in her hand. He volunteered his services in showing her the place, at the same time calling a hack. Entering the carriage they were driven to a notorious assignation house, and were furnished a room on the second floor. Before they had been in the room many minutes the girl discovered her mistake and claims to have made a great outcry. At any rate the hackdriver suspecting that the actions of his late employer were not intended for the moral good of the girl, called a policeman and took him upstairs. They found Haley struggling with the girl in the attempt to commit the beastly deed, and he was at once arrested.

The grand jury indicted him for attempting to ravish, and at the following term of court he was arraigned for trial. Owing to a misunderstanding of dates on the subpoena the prosecuting witness failed to appear and he was released and soon left town. The next day the girl appeared, and upon search for Haley he was not found.

Until within the last few days his whereabouts were not known to the Jackson county authorities. But when they telegraphed to Marshal Shy, the arrest immediately followed.

Haley claims to be a Baptist minister, and has been preaching in the country near here for several weeks. He has been married but a short time, and yesterday his wife, who is a modest, well behaved young lady, came from their temporary home in the country, and spent a few minutes with him in his cell, weeping by his side when he was taken to the depot. At parting with him she wept bitterly, and by her tears excited the sympathy of all beholders. She says she knew nothing of Haley's misdoings before she married him, but will stand by him now that she is his wife, and will aid his release in every possible way.

Marshal Keshlear, of Jackson county, expressed the opinion that Haley's chances for escaping a term in prison were very slim, he (Haley) having but a slight defense to make. It is easy to prove that he was drunk all the day he made the assault, and then going to preach the gospel, will prejudice the jury against him. His trial will take place at the next term of the criminal court of Jackson county, which begins on the fourth Monday in May. An effort will be made by his friends to get him out on bail, but the marshal thinks it will be unsuccessful.

SICK AT THE HOTEL.

Miss Frankie Bishop, of Atkinson's Comedy Company, Deported in This City.

Atkinson's comedy company which played "Peck's Bad Boy" in this city Saturday night brought to this city one of its members, Miss Frankie Bishop, sick. At the matinee and at night others of the company were substituted for her in the part of "Henry" excuses being made by the manager, Mr. McPherson, for her non-appearance. Yesterday morning Mr. McPherson thought she was able to get up and travel with the company to Boonville, where they showed last night, but the attending physician, Dr. Scott, would not listen to it, saying the trip might result fatally to her.

The baggage was put in the cars and the company got aboard the train, leaving Miss Frankie at the Garrison house. This increased one of the company, Mr. Geo. James, and he said he would not see the young lady left in a strange place without friends. He accordingly had his baggage taken off the train and declared his intention of remaining and looking after the welfare of Miss Bishop. The manager then came up town and tried to have a writ of attachment served on Mr. James claiming that he had overdrawn his account. He was informed that he would have to give bond and deposit ten dollars for costs, on account of being a stranger in the city. He was not willing to do this, and so the matter rests, the company going to Boonville and leaving Mr. James and Miss Bishop in this city.

Miss Bishop's parents in New York have been telegraphed the state of affairs, and aid is hourly expected. Her condition is quite serious.

LOVE'S LOVE KNOT

Neatly Tied by Father Murphy For Mr. Chas. Fleck and Miss Maud McVey.

A Grand Gathering of Friends and Tributes to the Bridal Feast.

The Most Brilliant Mating of the Opening Spring Season.

For some time the social circle of East Sedalia has been in a state of expectancy concerning a wedding which was on the tapis, and last night the event transpired when the marriage of Mr. Chas. Fleck, jr., son of Mr. Chas. Fleck, sr., the popular Missouri Pacific engineer, and himself, a trusted employee of the railroad company and Miss Maud McVey took place. The wedding party repaired to the Catholic church when the ceremony was performed by Rev. Father Murphy in accordance with the beautiful ceremony of that belief, after which a reception was given at the residence of Mr. Charles Fleck, senior, corner of Third and Brown streets.

Miss Maud McVey has long been as a loved daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Fleck, and in giving her to their eldest son they but legalized a bond which had been previously forged by affection.

The attendants of the bride and groom were, Mr. J. Keiley, of Parsons, and Miss Rosa Haygood, of Kansas City. The bride, a handsome brunette, wore a dress of golden brown ottoman silk and velvet; the underskirt was trimmed at the bottom with a deep kilt plaiting, the draperies were long and full, with revers opened at the left side over a panel of the silk. The basque waist had a velvet vest almost entirely covered by falls of oriental lace of a rich pattern, the throat was finished with the same lace and held in place with sprays of orange blossoms, the hair was worn high and ornamented with a half wreath of orange blossoms above which was fastened a long square tulle veil falling to the bottom of the dress. Pearl gray gloves were worn; the whole dress being handsome and appropriate.

Miss Rosa Haygood wore a dress of pale blue satin, the underdress made with narrow plaitings and panels. The panels were richly hand-painted with daisies, wild roses and lilies of the valley, the draperies were short, bouffant and finished with rose-pointed Spanish lace, the basque was pointed, buttoned with pearl buttons and finished with the Spanish lace.

The groom and groomsmen wore black French cloth suits with white ties and gloves.

An elegant supper was laid in the handsomely decorated dining room, flowers and fruits and wands being handsomely intermingled on the tables. The bride's cake was adorned with a wreath of leaves and a bridal favor. Cakes were at either end of the tables, and meats, salads, jellies, etc., were abundantly served. The cakes were made by Miss Nellie Fleck, and all were loveliness.

The tributes of esteem which were tendered the happy couple may be enumerated as follows:

- Elegant extension table, Mr. Charles Fleck, father of the groom.
Large quantity of groceries and fine oil paintings, Mrs. Charles Fleck, mother of the groom.
Fine moquette rug, Eddie Fleck.
Very pretty macrame tidy, Miss Nellie Fleck.
Silver swinging ice pitcher and goblet, also two tubs, wringer and clothes rack, Mr. J. Keiley, of Parsons.
Blue glass water set, J. M. Pilkington & Co.
Pair of bronze glass water goblets and pitcher, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Wills.
China chamber set, Mr. James Kelly and Miss Mollie Kelly.
Two cases of imported wine and demijohn of brandy, Mr. John Kelly.
Berry bowl and servers, Mrs. Holcroft and Miss Maggie Holcroft.
Pair of individual salts, Miss Jennie Curran.
Silver and crackle glass spoon holder, Mrs. J. H. Curran.
China grape service, James G. Nesbit.
Beautiful little nickle clock, little Buntzen Brown, of Kansas City.
Pair of silver napkin rings, Mrs. H. R. Hardy.
Large parlor lamp, Miss Alice Hollenbeck.
Kitchen lamp and bouquet of lillies, Miss Cora Hollenbeck.
Silver dinner caster, Miss Emma Swan.
Revolving silver butter dish, J. W. Murphy.
T. B. Reade's "Brushwood," handsomely bound, Mr. and Mrs. Owen Brown. As a notable instance of this present, Mr. and Mrs. Brown, being blind wrote the name of the bride in the volume in the calligraphy of the blind.
Linen table cloth, Mrs. Charles Graves.
Chair tidy, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stone-man.
Toilet brush and comb, Misses Hannah Hill and Anna Belle Norman.
Dining cloth, Mr. and Mrs. D. O'Brien.
Set of napkins and towels, Mr. and Mrs. William Hill.
Oriental lace fichu, John N. Casey.
Elegant white brocade fan, hand-painted, Miss Mollie O'Brien.
Black satin parasol, with lace finish, Mr. Wm. Curran.
Set of table linen, Miss Julia Segger-son.
Napkin rings and napkins, M. V. Bur-nap.
Set of napkins and "Five o'clock" tea cloth, Mrs. John Rhodes.
Two handsome camp rocking chairs and camp reception chair, A. S. and E. E. Fern-ly. The former also gave two brooms.
Pair of fine, large mantle bronzes, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Burrows, of St. Joseph.
Two rolls of butter, "Grandma" McVey.
Silver pickle caster, Mr. and Mrs. John Murphy.
Pickle caster, Mr. Frank Wager.
Wicker chair, Mr. and Mrs. Bryson Brown.
Large hanging lamp, beautifully decorated, Messrs. J. A. Wrong, Nash, Fontaine, Fitzpatrick, Dubois and P. Latch.

- Pair of towels, Mrs. B. W. Vedder.
Set of napkins, Mrs. T. P. Berry, of Cham-ouis.
Marseilles spread, Miss Nellie Fleck.
Silver caster, Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Rogers and John Brocksmith.
Set of hand painted plates, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Grow.
Perfume bottle, Miss Aggie Burt.
Pair of bohemian vases, Miss Maggie Newman.
Carving knife and fork, Mr. Wm. Johns, cashier of the freight office.
Barrel of flour, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. New-man, of Otterville.
Silver sugar spoon and silver thimble, marked "M. F.," from Mrs. J. L. Parrish.
Three rolls of butter, Mrs. Wakefield, of Otterville.
Handsome thread tidy, Miss Rose Hay-good.
Silver bouquet holder, Miss Nannie King.
Silver berry bowl, Miss Miza Lester.
Pair of individual napkin rings, H. C. Dean.
Bohemian glass vases, Mr. and Mrs. Al. Goodwin.
Half dozen napkins, Mr. and Mrs. R. Roach.
Fruit bowl, Miss Mary Meyers.
Majolica fruit basket, Misses Hattie and Grace Ashworth.
The list of presents being so large, it is possible that many have been unintentionally omitted.
Miss Hannah Hill rendered the wedding march as the bridal couple entered the church, and did it well.
Mr. and Mrs. Fleck will dispense with a wedding tour at present, and will at once go to housekeeping in their own neat home which has been furnished completely for them at 720 Fourth street.
The BAZOO joins in the congratulations of the newly wedded Mr. and Mrs. Fleck's friends and trusts life's blessings may always be theirs.

MERRY MASKERS.

A Pleasant Time at the Residence of J. O. Holcroft Last Night.

One of the most enjoyable private social events of the season was the ball, en masque, given at the residence of J. O. Holcroft, corner of Sixth and Summit streets, last night. A large number of invitations had been sent out which were mostly responded to. Nearly every nationality and vocation was there represented, and as the merry maskers flitted to and fro, keeping time with the music of the dizzy waltz, one could not help imagining that he had at last found a place where naught but joy was known and where strife was not allowed to enter. At the proper hour delightful refreshments were served, which were heartily partaken of by the tired and hungry assembly. Dancing was continued until early morn, when the guests departed, one and all declaring that they had spent one of the most enjoyable evenings of their lives. Among the many present and the characters taken, the reporter noticed the following:

- Crimson domino, Miss Crocker.
Phantom, Miss Holcroft.
Summer duds, W. M. Berry.
Sailor girl, Miss Edgar.
Johnnie Bull, Frank Costin.
Peasant girl, Miss Agnes Britt.
Girl of the period, (Caddie Van Epps) S. R. Johnson.
Columbia, Wm. Gunn.
Rosa Pearle, Miss Ella B. Bulkley.
Morning, Miss Ross.
Scotch lassie, Miss Holcroft.
What is it, Mr. Pilcher.
Oscar Wilde, Mr. Fisher.
Rainbow, Mr. Rhodes.
Coachman, Mr. J. Costin.
Clown, Bud Stevenson.
Western miner, Mr. Merrifield.
Peasant girl, Miss Bertha Scott.
Arab, Mr. Blunt.
Clown, Mr. Holcroft.
Arab, Mr. Norton.
Clown, Geo. Palma.
Pink domino, Mr. W. H. Norton.
Nun, Miss Maggie Holcroft.
Some of the guests were not masked. Among the number were: Mr. Thomas Meyers and sister, Miss Wade, Fillberry, Boatright, Ada Palmer, Mr. and Mrs. Hibbert, John Tregurtha, Mr. and Mrs. Roter-mund, Mr. Ernest Weise, Mr. Van Cleve, Mr. Daniels, Mrs. Woods and Mrs. Costin.

NOTES.

S. R. Johnson, as a girl of the period, completely captivated some of the boys. Miss Ross, as morning, was a bright as day itself. Miss Edgar, as a sailor girl, looked very pretty. Merrifield had lots of fun with his Colt's revolver. The peasant girl was well represented by Miss Scott. Bud Stevenson was much talked of by the boys and laughed at by the girls.

Died.

Mr. Henry Farmer, a well-known colored citizen of Sedalia, died at his home yesterday at 1 o'clock, p. m. The funeral will take place at 3 o'clock this afternoon at the colored M. E. church.

If Pangborn, when a newspaper man, displayed half the ingenuity and originality he has since his advent with the B. & O., he certainly must have kept things lively. He is out with another B. & O. book, as wholly different in conception and general style from last week's publication as possible to imagine. The latest is entitled "Mountain and Valley Resorts" and is a most exquisite thing. It is printed upon heavy paper; the views of the different resorts most exquisitely rendered (in no one can tell how many colors), and counterfeiting nature to perfection. The letter-press is in maroon, and throughout the reading pages are ornamental panels in various shades, and producing lovely contrasts. The book is a gem, and unquestionably reaches the highest standard of art yet accomplished by any railroad company. As usual, a request made by mail to C. K. Lord, G. P. A., Baltimore, with a two cent stamp for postage, will secure a copy.

A SAD CASE.

Mrs. Adkins, Ten Years a Lunatic, Confined in the Pest House.

She Has to be Tied in Bed, and Becomes Violent on the Change of the Moon.

One of the saddest, most tearful cases of lunacy that has been presented to the people of this city for many a long day is that of Mrs. Mary Adkins, whose malady is not of the common order, and whose ravings at times are enough to excite the sympathy of a wooden man.

She is a married woman, twenty-five years of age, the mother of three children aged six years, four years and fourteen months respectively. Her husband, Isaac Adkins, has long been a resident of Sedalia, and for some time has done little or nothing to support his family, spending his scanty earnings at the saloons, and in his drunken passions beating his helpless and afflicted wife until her arms, body and feet are covered with scars and bruises.

A reporter called at the city pest house yesterday afternoon, where Mrs. Adkins is confined, or, rather, guarded, for only at times does she show a disposition to BREAK AWAY FROM HER KEEPERS.

She was sitting by the cooking stove reading a copy of the BAZOO aloud, in a voice one would hardly take for that of an insane person. She was clad in a plain calico dress, over which was fastened a heavy woollen skirt. Her hair, long enough to reach to her shoulders, was uncombed, and spread over her shoulders, neck and face, and it was with some difficulty she could keep it from her eyes. The reporter engaged her in conversation as to her history. She freely told of the terrible beatings she had received from her husband and mother-in-law, and placed all the blame on the latter. She said her husband had never struck her when she did not deserve it, but was very bitter in her denunciation of his mother. She has lived in Sedalia for a number of years, and has been afflicted about ten. She has twice been an

INMATE OF THE FULTON ASYLUM

for the insane, returning the last time only a few weeks ago. She can give no satisfactory cause for the refusal of the asylum authorities to keep her.

For the first half hour of the reporter's presence she was, apparently, sane, and talked like a woman who had received no small degree of education, but at the end of that time the malady again beset her, and she became, in an instant, a gibbering maniac. No cause is known for this sudden change, nor could she, afterwards, remember anything that had been said or done during the attacks.

She would take the paper, spread it smoothly over the top of the stove and drum on it with her hand, at times in time to a tune she was humming. Once when this beating she glanced out of the window and saw passing a funeral cortege. At this she set up a still more furious thumping, saying she was drumming for the passing of an army of soldiers.

This over, she laid her head down on the stove, keeping it there until her hair began to smoke from the heat. After lifting her head she would claim the loss of her eyesight, and before she would again try to see. It is not known whether her eyes were affected or not, but her keeper said complaints of loss of sight were frequent, and caused him much uneasiness.

All at once her mind would become serene again, and the conversation begin where it was dropped by her flighty actions.

Clearly, it is a case of genuine lunacy, she herself saying that the moon affected her most wonderfully. In one of her sane moments she told the reporter that she would have to be when the moon becomes full, or she might do great harm to herself or her keepers. It is a case to attract the attention of the medical profession, and unless something is soon done, she will be beyond the hope of recovery.

TIED NEXT SATURDAY,
