

DEMONT'S BILLEMA.

The Shadows Grow Longer and Darker Over His Official Head.

Washington, D. C., June 19.—Several newspaper correspondents were examined under oath this morning by the senate committee on public lands in respect to their interviews with R. C. Demont, Surveyor general whose renomination is pending before the committee.

A CERTAIN SENATOR had been influenced in his action upon public measures by the payment of large sums of money. The material and sensational features of the interviews were denied by Mr. Demont at an examination made by the committee last February, but the newspaper men told the committee that the utterances imputed to Demont were actually made by him. At the examination of February none of these witnesses were placed upon the stand. Since the present inquiry was begun by order of the senate, Demont sent a sworn statement to the committee reiterating his denials. The newspaper men this morning repeated the statements and gave additional corroborative information. They gave the names of several gentlemen to whom Demont is said to have made the sensational statement, some of whom have been subpoenaed by the committee.

A HITCH IN THE HOUSE. A fight occurred in the house to-day over the item in the naval bill which makes an appropriation for the erection of the observatory building at Washington, for which the site has been purchased.

Mr. Warner, of Ohio, said that it was his understanding that it was the intention to construct villas for the officers in charge of the observatory. The clause was so framed, he thought, as not to limit the expenditures to the construction of the observatory buildings, but so as to admit of the building of five country houses to be occupied by the officers. He offered an amendment limiting the cost to $100,000, providing that no money should be expended except on the observatory building proper.

Mr. Adams, of Illinois, tried to make a point of order but was too late.

Mr. Buck asked Mr. Warner where he got his information about the villas. He replied that there had been considerable talk about the matter in the newspapers and he had himself seen the plans.

Mr. Breckenridge said he thought the clause should be stricken out and the matter was not acted upon until the plans were adopted.

Mr. Warner withdrew his amendment and submitted another which made no limit as to the ultimate cost of the buildings, but described their character.

Mr. Blanchard then showed that the plans had already been adopted. This amendment was agreed to by a vote of 34 to 6.

Mr. Breckenridge moved to strike out the clause as amended. The motion was lost by a vote of 51 to 14 and the clause was allowed to stand. The clause appropriates $50,000 to start the buildings with.

A BOND CALL. It is expected that a call for the redemption of $4,000,000 of three per cent bonds will be issued early next week.

Crowing Hens and Bridal Traps.

New York, June 19.—The rivalry between the Wallace and the Bijo Theater people, growing out of the playing at each house of a different version of Audrain's opera, called The Crowing Hen at Wallace's, where McCaull's company produces it, and The Bridal Trap at the Bijou, led a comical rivalry to see which could most successfully, by stereopticon, lime lights and other contrivances, cover the front walls of the rival houses with advertisements of its piece. Wallace's people started it by hiring a dead wall next the Bijou for Crowing Hen posters. Last night the Bijou stereopticon advertised The Bridal Trap on Wallace's front. To-night for two hours the employes of each theater kept devising new means of putting up its own signs and keeping invisible the other house's. Finally, on account of the great crowds in the streets, Police Captain Williams ordered a suspension of hostilities.

Under the Wheels.

Kansas City, June 18.—[Special.]—William Green, an employe of the Missouri Pacific road, was fatally injured, yesterday afternoon, by falling under the wheels of a freight train. He was working in the capacity of switchman at Quindaro and from all that can be learned stumbled while attempting to board the train and fell under the wheels. Both legs were cut off and the unfortunate man was practically in a dying condition when picked up. He was taken to the Wabash hospital, Fourth and Campbell streets, where he died at 3 o'clock this morning. Green lived at Wyandotte and leaves a wife and five children.

Trouble for Labor Troublers.

Milwaukee, June 19.—A sensation was created here to-day, in court circles, by the sudden and unexpected turn in a number of conspiracy cases growing out of the recent labor riots. At the opening of the municipal court, Murphy, counsel for the defendants, withdrew his motion for a continuance in a number of cases and then left the court room. In his absence District Attorney Williams suspecting a trick called the cases. The defendants, none of them appearing, the judge declared the bail in thirteen cases, amounting to $15,000, forfeited. Murphy returned soon afterward and endeavored to have the judge reverse the decision, but the latter refused. The matter will be argued further this afternoon.

Another Murderous Crank.

Milwaukee, June 19.—At Stephens Point, Wisconsin, three shots were fired with fatal effect by W. W. Hazeltine at A. E. Morse, cashier of the first national bank. Hazeltine walked coolly to the jail and surrendered himself. The shooting occurred at 5 o'clock p. m., and was witnessed by many people. Morse had been riding with his wife and was returning to the stable with the team, having taken her home. On Main street he was halted by Hazeltine, who fired three shots in rapid succession. Morse leaped out of the carriage and fell dead upon the public square, while the horses dashed madly down the street. Morse came here from Montella three years ago, and started the bank with Stevens Point citizens. Hazeltine is a member of the firm of Raymond & Hazeltine.

An effort will be made by the church people to induce Dr. Thompson still to carry out his projected European tour.

Pat's Pick.

New York, June 18.—Several months ago Annie Sheedy, a young Irish lassie, waiting at the table of her master, Mr. Carroll, in Ireland, was insulted by one of the guests, who had been drinking very freely. John Carroll, a son of the family, knocked the insulter down and followed up this bit of gallantry by falling in love with the pretty Annie. He said he would marry the girl and Carroll never turned him out of the house. He came to America and dug ditches for a living. This week Annie arrived at Castle Garden and was scarcely ashore before her ditch-digging, disinherited lover seized her, and lagging her off to Rev. Father John J. Riordan, married her on the spot.

A Lecherous Minister's Fate.

Parkersburg, W. Va., June 19.—News comes from Jackson county of the terrible punishment inflicted upon Rev. Hezekiah Alltop, a Baptist preacher, by a mob last night. Alltop has for a long time been conducting himself in a most licentious manner with members of his flock, showing a decided preference for a widow from whom he leased a farm. Last night a mob of his neighbors took him from his home to the woods, whipped him in a terrible manner with switches and mutilated his person in a shocking manner. Alltop was left lying in the woods where he was found this morning. He will recover.

FATAL FIRE.

A United States Hydraulic Dredge Boat Burned by a Lamp Explosion.

Washington, D. C., June 19.—An immense hydraulic dredge lying in the river was burned to-night by the upsetting of a lamp. The flames spread with great rapidity. Half an hour afterward Wm. Schaefer, who was sleeping on the vessel at the time was found wandering aimlessly through the white house grounds and was taken to a hospital, where it was discovered that he was fearfully burned. He says he was awakened by the flames, rushed on deck, plunged into the river and swam ashore. There were eight men on the dredge when the fire began, and Schaefer is the only one accounted for. It is not known whether the others were unable to make their escape from the burning boat and met their death in the flames, or jumped overboard and were drowned. The dredge was valued at $50,000 and was insured for about $35,000.

There is considerable excitement over the affair, as the defendant is quite prominently connected.

LUDWIG'S FUNERAL.

Affecting Scenes Witnessed at the Last Sad Obsequies Yesterday.

Munich, June 19.—The excitement among the Bavarian people over the death of King Ludwig remains unabated. The lower classes, up to the hour of the funeral, to-day, thronged the gates of the royal palace awaiting admission to the chapel, and exhibiting all the signs of severe grief and sympathy. People from the country and mountains flocked into the city all day long. Among the mountaineers was a Tyrolean woodsman to whom Ludwig once gave a diamond ring for some service. When he reached the coffin in the palace chapel he fell on his knees beside it and sobbed and wailed. The crowd in and about the palace was so great that when dinner was being laid for the German crown prince, Frederick William, the servants engaged in conveying the gold plate from the treasury to the palace dining hall found themselves unable to obtain access to the building by the regular doorway and were compelled to reach the first floor

BY MEANS OF A LADDER.

Men and boys passed all of last night on the steps of the loggia in Ludwig's plaza in order to secure places to witness the funeral. The hotels of the city are filled and lodgings have been at a premium for several days. It is not possible to doubt that both chambers of the Bavarian parliament will recognize Prince Luitpold's regency. The committee having the matter in charge will on Monday next report upon the question and settle Prince Luitpold's appanage.

LUDWIG'S INSANE BROTHER, and successor to the throne, King Otto, when informed of the accession, received the news apathetically and replied, "So so. The soldiers must march out then." He is mentally incurable, but his bodily health is perfect. Ludwig was buried this evening. The concourse of people at the funeral was immense. A number of persons were crushed in the crowd and injured. Many of the people wept and sobbed aloud as the King's coffin was borne along to its last resting place.

THE FUNERAL.

London, June 19.—The funeral pageant of the late King Ludwig in Munich is described by foreign newspaper correspondents as the most imposing they have ever witnessed. The procession was of great length, taking over an hour to pass a given point. The programme as arranged, was executed to the letter and without a hitch. The arch bishop of Munich, who officiated at the church was terribly affected during the service, and the crown prince Frederick William, of Germany, also showed signs of emotion.

A Preacher's Punishment.

Parkersburg, W. Va., June 19.—News comes from Jackson County of the terrible punishment inflicted upon Rev. Hezekiah Alltop, a Baptist preacher, by a mob last night. Alltop has for a long time been conducting himself in a most licentious manner with members of his flock, showing a decided preference for a widow from whom he leased a farm. Last night a mob of his neighbors took him from his home to the woods, whipped him in a terrible manner with whips, and mutilated his person in a shocking manner. Alltop was left lying in the woods, where he was found this morning. He will recover.

The plaintiff, Joseph McCoy, sues the defendant, Sarah Horner, for $10,000 damages, alleging in his petition that Sarah promised to be his lawful wife, and he, the plaintiff, having waited a reasonable length of time, now seeks redress through the court. Ladies frequently sue for damages in breach of promise of marriage, but men are rarely so reckless. Hon. John Hutchings is the plaintiff's attorney.

Mad Dog Matinee.

Garnett, Kan., June 19.—This little city was thrown into a furore of excitement last night by the appearance of what was supposed to be a mad dog. The animal had been clubbed away from the railroad camp, southeast of town, and appeared on Fifth street followed by an excited man armed with an ax. A crowd put chase and several revolvers were fired at the dog without effect. A boy, armed with a breech-loading shotgun, joined the howling mob, and as the dog became cornered the lad ran forward and stumbled down. The gun went off, shooting the proprietor of the shooting gallery through the legs, at about twenty feet range and badly mangleing the thumb of a boy who was further away. The charge also shattered the window and came within an inch of shoemaker's head. In the melee the dog came near escaping, but was finally shot down. No persons were bitten, but several dogs received bites and were killed at once.

They Want Out.

Leavenworth, Kas., June 19.—The prisoners in the county jail here were neatly foiled in an attempt to escape from jail yesterday. Each evening about 5 o'clock the men are allowed to go into the yard. The yard is surrounded by a fence some fifteen feet high. The scheme was laid by John Morris, a man who is waiting transportation to the penitentiary to serve a term of four years for burglary. He had taken his blanket, torn it into strips and made a rope of it. To this he attached a bucket bail, bent to form a hook. The intention was to knock the guards down and then scale the fence. The scheme was frustrated by the discovery of the rope by one of the guards about an hour before the contemplated escape. About thirty prisoners are in the jail.

Sandy Hook, June 19.—6:15 p. m.—The Puritan and Priscilla finished so close that it is hard to state who won first place. The Mayflower finished third, about one minute ahead of the Atlantic.

Not Satisfied.

New York, June 19.—The race between the giant sloops Puritan, Priscilla Mayflower and Atlantic to-day, held under the auspices of the Sea Wanshaka Corinthian yacht company for a subscription cup worth $1,000, was more satisfactory than either of those that have preceded it, but it did not prove which of the quartette is the best boat for the international match. There was an unfortunate start, every yacht being handicapped and the winds being light and variable most of the time. The general opinion expressed by expert yachtsmen who witnessed the race was that the Mayflower was the best boat of the day. The far northward position of the Mayflower prevented her from getting down to the start until twenty-three minutes after the Puritan and this unfortunately proved enough to take the prize away from her.

The Record Broken.

Detroit, June 19.—The record is broken but whether it was the brooms that did it or the broken fingers of two of Detroit's catchers is unknown. The down town ticket offices were thronged all the early part of the afternoon with people buying ball tickets. The Woodward avenue and Brush street car lines tried in vain by putting on extra cars to accommodate the crowds going to see the first Chicago-Detroit ball game at Recreation park. It was worse than any Fourth of July.

THE CHICAGO PROCESSION of carriages was noticeable for their brooms in the whipcock of each. At 3 p. m. it was estimated that there were 10,000 people on the grounds. Rows of chairs were placed in front of the stand ten deep and were all occupied. By 3 o'clock it was found necessary to stretch a rope about half way between the diamond and the back fence to keep the crowd back. This necessitated making special rules, barring all home runs and three base hits. An incident occurred which created much enthusiasm among the Detroiters. The

which the Chicago brooms bore, was displayed the words "Record breakers; the big four and five men."

At 3:35 p. m. the Chicago team arrived on the ground in carriages, each vehicle being drawn by four horses. The first carriage contained Capt. Anson and the celebrated young mascot. Their appearance was the signal for an outburst of cheers and applause. The Detroit nine hustled themselves to-day to procure a mascot as an offset to the one in possession of their opponents and the result was the appearance on the grounds this afternoon of young Charles Gallagher, a 8 xth ward kid, who was adorned with the uniform of the home team. He is said to have been born with teeth, and is guaranteed to possess all the magic charms of a genuine mascot. The Chicago commenced the run getting in the first, (Flynn) driving the ball into the crowd for two bases, and was brought home by Ryan's single.

The game resulted in the defeat of the Detroitis by a score of 5 to 4.

British Bulldozers.

London, June 19.—A meeting held in Islington, a northern suburb of London, last night to support the Conservative candidate for a seat in the house of commons, ended in a riot. The furniture of the room in which the meeting was held was smashed by the turbulent mob. Several women were so badly frightened by the uproar that they fainted. One lady had an arm broken and was conveyed to the Hospital. The speaker's platform was stormed by the crowd. The Duke of Norfolk, who is a whig, and was an occupant of the platform, was roughly seized by the neck and jammed up against the wall, and he then rushed off the stage. A number of aristocratic companions who were with the duke, were roughly handled. The police were summoned and succeeded in stopping the rioting.

Glad to See Gladstone.

London, June 19.—Mr. Gladstone returning from a visit to-day alighted a mile outside of Edinburgh, his intention being to walk the remainder of the distance. He was recognized by the people along the road and soon had such a crowd at his heels that he was compelled to take refuge in a train car. He could not escape the crowd though and 2,000 men, women and children, cheering and yelling, followed him until he entered his hotel and disappeared.

AN ENJOYABLE TRIP.

A Sea-Sick Traveler's Blessed Season of Relief.

"Have I ever been to Yurrip?" exclaimed the middle-aged and bald-headed passenger; "should say I had. Half a dozen times. Like it? Rather. 'Tain't so much Yurrip I care for as the ocean voyages. How I do love those ocean trips, though!"

"Don't you get sea-sick?"

"Sea-sick? I should say I did. Why, I just lie in my berth five days out of the eight and hope the infernal ship will sink in ten miles of water. There seems to be a whole slaughter house inside of me. I feel like a sick egg. But I enjoy it, all the same, you bet."

"Enjoy a voyage under such circumstances. How do you make that out?"

"Well, you see, my wife she's always along with me. She gets sick, too—sicker'n I do. In fact, she gets so awful sick that she can't talk till after we've anchored on the other side, and if I were to try for a week I couldn't tell you what blessed days of relief they are for me."—Chicago Herald.

Flying, Pickled and Preserved.

One of the stories told in which the peculiar Christian name figures is of an accident that happened when Preserved Fish, just twenty-one years old, had been made Captain of a New Bedford whaling vessel. A revenue cutter bore down upon him and demanded the name of the brig. "The Flying Fish," shouted back the young commander. "What's the cargo?" was the next question. "Pickled Fish,"
