

A NEW HUNTING GROUND.

Rich Hunting Grounds Invaded By Sportsmen.

The Wild Hills of Polk and Dallas Counties Alive With Game.

The order of the secretary of the interior, prohibiting hunting in the Indian Territory, has changed the course of hunters to the wild and unsettled districts south and southwest of Benton county.

The game in the district south of Benton was not disturbed by the floods and the prairies are fairly alive with all kinds of feathered birds and the timbered sections full of gray and fox squirrels.

The best way to get to the hunting grounds is via the Narrow Gauge to Warsaw. Here an outfit can be procured and provisions secured for a sojourn in an unsettled country.

Impure Blood, Cause of Rheumatism.

HOW IT SHOULD BE TREATED TO EFFECT A PERMANENT CURE.

The supreme importance of purifying the blood and of restoring the diseased liver and kidneys to healthy action has indeed made this subject one of great study, the results of which have enabled us to present to the afflicted, Hibbard's Rheumatic Syrup, a combination of the best known remedies.

By cures unprecedented, it has proven its right to the title of "The Greatest Blood Purifier and Kidney and Liver cure ever discovered."

Cremation.

The subject of cremation has taken a fresh hold on the attention of Europeans. Sir T. Spencer Wells an eminent English surgeon, says public opinion is rapidly coming to favor this disposition of decaying bodies.

THE NEW GRAIN INSPECTION.

A Law Likely to Ruin the Grain Market of the State.

Although the new wheat inspection law has not gone into effect, the grain markets have been almost ruined on account of the possible effect the law will have. So far the men selected for the numerous positions the law provides for have little or no knowledge of the wheat trade and are just ignorant enough of the business to be bullheaded, and fears are entertained that they will establish grades that will not correspond to those of other markets.

An Old Bible.

Mr. Gustave W. Hobercht has in his possession a rare curiosity in the shape of the Hobercht family bible which has been in the possession of the family 132 years. The book is in German and profusely illustrated with wood cuts. It is massive in size bound in leather with brass clasps and was printed in Nuremberg, Germany, in 1716. The fly leaves are used as a family record and contains the names of every member of the Hobercht family for over a century and a half.

Organ Recital.

The organ recital at the Christian church which was to have been given this evening, has been postponed until to-morrow evening, when a fine programme will be given, with Prof. Webb, Prof. Gregg, Misses Cammie Hughes, Nellie Ingram, Lizzie Garriott and others down for special numbers. That it will be a most enjoyable event, those who appreciate fine music and elegant recitations can well be assured and it is to be hoped that a large crowd will be present. The elegant new organ, remember, is now in fine tune and Prof. Webb, representing the Carl Backhoff organ company is master of the instrument.

BEAR HUNTING.

A Sedalian's Thrilling Adventure With a Grizzly Bear.

Mr. John Montgomery's adventures bear hunting in the Rocky mountains, an account of which appeared in the Bazaar yesterday has stirred the hunters about here and it is likely that a number will depart for the place "where there is bar" this week. So far as known none of the hunters about here ever killed a bear, but some have according to their account come mighty near doing so while on some of their hunting expeditions. Mayor Crawford came very near killing one. A few years ago in the same section of country, where Mr. Montgomery found them, the mayor and a party made an expedition into the bear country on purpose to slaughter bears. They had splendid guns and went into camp in the center of the bear district. The first evening after going into camp the mayor took a tin pail in hand and wandered off to a spring about a mile distant. He had just dipped up a pail of water when he happened to look up and to his horror, not over 100 yards in front of him he discovered a huge grizzly bear sitting on its haunches licking its paws and looking straight at him. The mayor looked and the bear looked, but there was a peculiar look in that bear's eye that the mayor did not like. His heart almost ceased to beat and a peculiar trembling affected his limbs, but he managed to throw the pail away and took a bee line for camp. He never looked back for fear of losing time. When he got to camp he announced to his astonished companions that he had found a bear. Excitement prevailed in camp for a time and all armed to the teeth, proceeded to the spot, but the bear had gone. The tracks showed that he had gone in the opposite direction and did not pursue his discoverer. Mr. Crawford's brother shot one a day or two later, but there is no bear blood on his own hands.

HORSESTEALING MADE EASY

How Hundreds of Horses Are Spirited Away by Thieves.

A great horse-stealing scheme has been unearthed in several Missouri river counties in Dakota. The gang working the scheme is quite large and may have a branch as far south as this state, which may account for the mysterious disappearance of horses in this section. The plan is worked in the following manner:

Take a number of old broken down horses out among the hills, which are totally uninhabited, and strays will come in with these, when they will be caught and sent out to other parties connected with the gang, and in a few days they will have the horse hundreds of miles from where it was picked up, and then offer it for sale with safety. Facts lead to the belief that this organization leads from near Pierre, S. D., to Great Falls, Mont., and possibly to the British possessions. Horses that are stolen near Pierre are run north through the counties, traveling stated distances by night and are sold in the northern field, while horses that are stolen in the north are sent south or traded between Fargo and Pierre. Of course, if the drove is overtaken the parties driving it can easily escape by claiming that the horses had come to the drove unnoticed.

A Field Marshal on Naval Affairs.

If an American man-of-war out on a trial trip is unable to keep off the rocks and avoid smashing great holes in her, what can be hoped for her conduct and fate should it ever be her misfortune to get into a hot engagement? In excuse to the recent mishap to the cruiser Boston it is stated that her commander has not been at sea for eight years, and it is incidentally mentioned that a commodore in charge of another new ship has seen but five months of sea service in twenty years. To say the least of it, the excuse is lame. If the commanders of the government's costly war-ships are so rusty in navigation, they might, at small expense, be provided with an oyster boat pilot smart enough to keep the big vessels in deep water.—Cincinnati Commercial Gazette.

Clifton Aug. 13. —The "Wheeler's" are talking of erecting an elevator here. —Miss Mamie Todd has returned from a visit with friends at Boonville. —Dr. Culp, whose team ran away with him last week and hurt him badly, is much improved. —A well known farmer who resides one mile and a half east of here, claims that he will have 45 bushels of corn to the acre. —Ollie Zollinger will give a moonlight party to-morrow evening at his home one mile northeast of here, to which a large number have been invited. —A festival will be given to-morrow evening for the benefit of the Methodist Church South, under the management of Mrs. Bettie Bruce of Sedalia. —W. J. Cresgan of St. Louis, formerly of this place, has been spending a week or so here. Together with his sister Mattie, he visited friends in Pilot Grove last week. —William Cooper leaves this week for Oregon county, Mo., where he has rented 640 acres of Dr. Culp's land. It is understood that Eddie Kinchard will remain with Judge Zollinger one year. J. D.

The effect of using Hibbard's Rheumatic Syrup is unlike all medicines containing opiates or poisons, it being entirely free from them. It cures rheumatism by purifying the blood. W. E. Bard, druggist.

Harrison and the Negro.

President Harrison has certainly done nothing to encourage the darkey. Although the colored vote went solidly for him in the Northern States he has repeatedly given the colored delegates to understand that it was hardly worth while for them to apply. The colored gentleman's contribution has been accepted, but Editor Harrison does not publish it or pay for it. In fact he does worse. He treats the negro pretty much as a certain editor did a patron who wanted a puff for his dry-goods store. "Why didn't you publish the notice I gave you?" asked the indignant patron. "Didn't I?" asked the editor. "No, sir, it wasn't published at all." "Did you write on one side of the paper only?" "Certainly." "Then I guess I must have published the wrong side of the manuscript," replied the editor. In obtaining recognition from the Administration Sambo has certainly drawn a blank.—Texas Siftings.

The Maybrick Case.

London, August 14, 1889.—There are no new developments of importance in the Maybrick case. The army of letter-writers is still filling the newspaper offices with waste paper. Home Secretary Matthews, in spite of the deluge of letters and petitions, keeps his own counsel. Fifty-two members of parliament have signed the memorial asking for the commutation of Mrs. Maybrick's sentence. The signers of the petitions in Liverpool number 46,000. Mrs. Briggs was about the only interesting feature of the case to-day. Goaded by yesterday's interview with Baroness von Roque, Mrs. Briggs came to the front and denied she had worked up the case against Mrs. Maybrick, of whom she was a friend, she affirmed. Mrs. Briggs contradicted herself curiously in the first part of the interview. She said she had first heard of the poison when the woman Yapp told her her mistress was poisoning the master. Toward the finish of the interview she said the idea of poison never entered her head until the doctor refused the death certificate. All sorts of rumors touching Mrs. Maybrick's health are afloat. The latest ailment is quick consumption.

A Lover's Quarrel.

Hannibal, Mo., August 14.—Intelligence received here to-day is to the effect that George Clark, a young man living near Kinderhook, Ill., ten miles east of this city, committed suicide Monday evening. The particulars of the sad affair are meager, but it is known that young Clark had been waiting on a young lady for some time, and that they were probably engaged to be married. He called on her Monday evening and asked her to accompany him to the Griggsville fair during the week. She declined the invitation, and finally dismissed him entirely. He ended the lover's quarrel by drawing a revolver from his pocket and shooting himself in the head in her presence. Death was the result in a few minutes. The funeral took place this afternoon. The deceased was about 25 years of age, and stood high in the community. The lady, a Miss Hubbard, belongs to an excellent family.
