THREE OF A KIND.

"Black Diamond," "Slick" and Cephus Sent to The Jug.

The three juvenile horse-thieves and burglars, Frank Harris, alias "Black Diamond"; Sylvester William Harris, alias "Slick" and Cephus Combs, who has not yet aspired to a distinguished alias, were arraigned before Justice Halstead in the police court this morning charged with the serious offense of having trespassed upon the premises of Prof. Robbins.

"Slick" and Cephus pleaded guilty to the charge, but the "Black Diamond" subornly refused to admit he was equally guilty with his compatriots, and he was given a trial. Before the examination commenced the boys indulged in a duel of "jawing" each other, each laying the whole blame on the others and crimination and recrimination flew back and forth like a shuttlecock.

"Now," said the court, "If you do not tell the truth the devil will get you sure." The culprits opened their eyes so wide that the whites of their eyes glistened like polished billiard balls. "Slick" and Cephus gave evidence which showed that "Black Diamond" and "Slick" himself, were the plotters, leaders and the toughs of the gang. Cephus would have gotten off scot free if he had not lied about the bridle stolen from Prof. Robbins' barn.

"Well, Cephus," said Mr. Cashman, "if you are brought here again do you know what we will do with you?" "Yes sir," blurted Cephus. "Well, what will we do?" inquired the attorney. "You'll hang me!" sobbed Cephus as he wiped his nose and eyes with his shirt sleeves.

"Black Diamond" and "Slick" were given five days each in the "boose" and Cephus got off with only two days confinement in the same institution.

The boys previous to the trial admitted that they had tried to steal a horse from a stable in the rear of No. 407 East Second street but the animal kicked so, they were compelled to give up the attempt. They visited other stables, they said, besides those of Dr. Evans and Prof. Robbins but did not succeed in getting inside.

CHERRY PIE MAKING.

Seasonable Things to Serve on the Home Table.

To make the cherry pie excellent requires a good deal of care. Pie crust wants to be fine but not too rich for cherry pies, and it must not be too thick. Make about a quart of flour into pie-crust, using about the size of an egg in fine lard, which is rubbed in and the crust beaten up soft with cold water.

Blackberries and huckleberries are now in market, and they make the most delicious pies. We should recommend pie-makers to wait at least a week longer before indulging in blackberries, however, as these are now coming from the south and are not as they will be a little later. Gooseberries are also in market and cost from 12 1/2 to 15 cents a pound. These are made into a delightful pie and pudding.

An Ungrateful Horse.

"I don't wonder at the girl's loving flowers as they do, when even horses are affected by their beauty," said a man to a Philadelphia Times reporter. "What horse? Where?" "I saw a young lady while waiting for a car yesterday hold her bouquet to the nose of a poor laborer's horse. The heat-worried brute actually for a moment seemed to inhale its fragrance with as much pleasure as its pretty owner. It was a bit of poetic sentiment that only a maiden's heart could conceive, and while she was looking around to see if anybody was noticing her artless innocence, the noble steed ate the bouquet."

NO REASON FOR DELAY.

The Missouri, Kansas and Texas Needs Receivers No Longer.

"I see," said a prominent railroad official, yesterday, "that Receiver H. C. Cross, of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas says that that road will not go out of the hands of the receivers for some time yet. That is probably true, in fact I have been told that the road will remain under the jurisdiction of the United States court until the close of the present year. Yet there is no apparent reason for the delay. The road is in good shape financially, and the reorganization recently effected has put the company into a condition to make the line first class throughout. The president and vice-president have been selected, and the organization is ready to take charge of the road at any time. Why the delay is made I don't know, except that things are going all right and there is no reason for hurry."

"As to the entrance of the Missouri, Kansas & Texas railroad into Kansas City no steps have been taken to secure one, although one is needed. It is a mistake for the road to come in over a competitor, as it does now. But it has a long time lease of the Parsons Pacific, which is practically useless to the road unless it continues to come over the Memphis line from Paola. The Mastin road would be a splendid piece of property for the Missouri, Kansas & Texas to own, but in order to make it of the most use the road should have in its own hands the line from Paola to Holden, which it has leased to the Missouri Pacific for a term of years. The natural destination of the Mastin road, the Kansas City, Nevada and Fort Smith, were the Frisco line. Since the absorption of that road by the Santa Fe, however, the Mastin road must look elsewhere for a market, and the Missouri, Kansas and Texas is the only road left to which it is really valuable, therefore a great deal between them is not impossible."—Kansas City Journal.

Forty-Five Years Bondage.

GENS: For forty-five years I have been afflicted with blood poison, liver and rheumatic difficulties. Part of the time confined to my bed. My blood was badly diseased. Six bottles of Hibbard's Rheumatic Syrup did me more good than all the other medicines I have taken. My friends have used it and in every case it has proven a wonderful remedy. I have known of some wonderful cures of dyspepsia and neuralgia.

The Square Shoulder Beauty.

It may be gratifying for the fair sex to know that square-shoulder beauty is demode. That section of femininity that effects the mannish and ruins the waistscoats, blazers, starched-shirt bosoms, four-in-hands and tarpaulins may adhere to the military carriage, but the conservative woman, who, after all, queen it over the world, fashion and all, have returned to the sloping, graceful droop that artists have always daaped and painted with beauty.

IS HE DEAD?

Mysterious Disappearance of W. S. Holmesley, the Lineman.

His Pass Offered for Sale—Was He Murdered in Kansas City?

Is W. S. Holmesley dead? This is a question that his wife, five children and a host of friends would like to have answered.

Holmesley is a lineman who has been in the employ of the Missouri Pacific telegraph department for several years past. He lived with his family in the southern part of the city, and in addition to being a sober, industrious citizen, was a devoted husband and affectionate father.

One week ago to-day Mr. Holmesley bade his wife and children farewell and left on the afternoon train for Phoenix, Arizona, where he went to settle up the estate of his dead brother.

Before leaving he informed his wife that he would write to her every day—would drop a postal card, at least. Notwithstanding this promise, not a word has been heard from him, and in consequence his family and friends are greatly alarmed.

As is usual with railroad men, Mr. Holmesley was traveling on a pass, and last Thursday, two days after his departure from Sedalia, the pass was offered for sale to a Kansas City scalper.

Col. L. F. Sheldon, assistant superintendent of telegraph, was apprised of the fact, and left for Kansas City this morning to clear up the mystery of Holmesley's disappearance, if possible.

Those who know the missing man speak of him in terms of praise only. His domestic relations were of the pleasantest, and it is almost certain that he would have communicated with his family if some misfortune had not befallen him. He is not a man who would have offered his pass for sale under any circumstances, and the fact that it was presented to a Kansas City scalper leads his friends here to believe that he has been foully dealt with.

Further information on the subject is awaited with deep interest.

JESSE JAMES JR.

Two Boys Led by One as Daring as Jesse James, Rob a Stable—The Whisky.

Sylvester Robinson, aged 10 years, Frank Harris alias, "Black Diamond," aged 10 years, and Cephus Combs, aged 10 years, were arrested this morning by Officers John Murphy and Mooney, for stealing two horses out of Prof. C. W. Robbins' stable, corner of Fifth and Osage streets, last night. Mrs. Wm. Mathews heard some one talking near the stable this morning about 6 o'clock, but thinking it was the hostler attending to the horses, she paid no attention to it until the property was missed. Officer John Murphy found Sylvester Robinson and "Black Diamond" on the prairie, near the electric cars, with the animals and proceeded to lock them up. When questioned they admitted having taken the animals and also that they effected an entrance to Mrs. Campbell's house on Lafayette street between Sixth and Seventh streets, and taking a jug of whisky, an album and a jar of preserves. They said that Cephus Combs was with them and tried to make some "tody" with the preserves. They said that yesterday they got Dr. Henry Evans' buggy and harness out of the stable but were caught by some neighbors and made to replace the articles. They stated that while in South Sedalia Sylvester turned a horse loose and started home on foot, but he became frightened at some object which appeared to him like a "ghost," and was allowed to ride behind one of the others. Officer Mooney found Cephus Combs on an express wagon and immediately arrested him. He corroborated the story. The youthful "bandits" were turned over to Sheriff Smith to await trial. Sylvester Robinson and Cephus Combs were the color of gingerbread while Frank Harris, alias "Black Diamond," resembled the ace of spades.
