

Housekeepers Should Remember

The great success of the Royal Baking Powder is due to the extreme care exercised by its manufacturers to make it entirely pure, uniform in quality, and of the highest leavening power. All the scientific knowledge, care, and skill attained by twenty-five years' practical experience are contributed toward this end, and no preparation can be made with a greater accuracy, precision, and exactness.

Every article used is absolutely pure. Chemists are employed to test the strength of each ingredient, so that its exact effect in combination with its co-ingredients is definitely known. Nothing is trusted to chance, and no person is employed in the preparation of the materials used, or the manufacture of the powder, who is not an expert in his particular branch of the business.

As a consequence, the Royal Baking Powder is of the highest grade of excellence, always pure, wholesome, and uniform in quality. Each box is exactly like every other, and will retain its power, and produce the same and the highest leavening effect in any climate, at any time.

The Government Chemists, after having analyzed all the principal brands in the market, in their reports placed the Royal Baking Powder at the head of the list for strength, purity, and wholesomeness; and thousands of tests all over the country have further demonstrated the fact that its qualities are, in every respect, unrivaled.

All chemical tests to which I have submitted it have proved the Royal Baking Powder perfectly healthful, of uniformly excellent quality, and free from every deleterious substance

WANTED NO TRUCK WITH THEM.
 "I don't want nothin' to do with none of your newspapers," remarked a miserable looking wretch who was a passenger on the 10-40 Missouri Pacific yesterday morning.
 The remark was provoked by a reporter's query as to how he happened to be so badly mutilated.
 The fellow's left arm was off, his head bandaged and his face covered with blood.
 Strive as he did to get the fellow to talk, the reporter could get no satisfaction out of him.
 Conductor Merrifield stated that the poor devil got on the train about 50 miles from Sedalia, and was in a state of intoxication when he boarded the car.
 Asked if he knew how the fellow got hurt, the conductor said: "Oh, he's nothing but a deadbeat, and perhaps was hurt when drunk. His arm ought to have been cut off right under the chin."
 The taamp didn't seem to mind his affliction much, but was vehemently opposed to "newspaper notoriety."
DISMISSED.
 The case of the state against John Glazebrook charged, on complaint of John Roe, of peace disturbance, came up in Judge Fisher's court yesterday morning but was dismissed.

ENVELOPED IN FLAMES.
A Woman's Narrow Escape From a Horrible Death.
 About 18:40 o'clock yesterday morning Mrs. W. T. Murphy, of 420, West Fourth street, and wife of the popular undertaker at Ramsey's, was suddenly made aware of the fact that her dress was ablaze and in an instant she was enveloped in flames.
 Realizing her perilous situation, the woman with rare fortitude and presence of mind, seized the folds of her clothing and proceeded to smother the angry flames. It was a desperate struggle, but she at last succeeded in the undertaking.
 Recovering from her fright, Mrs. Murphy for the first time became conscious of her hands and arms being frightfully burned.
 No one save two small children, four and seven years old was on the premises at the time of the accident, and had it not been for Mrs. Murphy's rare manifestation of coolness under the circumstances she had doubtless been dead to-day. As it was, the wounds she received, while very painful are by no means serious. It seems that while standing with her back to the stove one of the children put a newspaper in the stove leaving a portion sticking from the door so that when it burned for a while it dropped out and ignited the dress.
 Mrs. Murphy is to be congratulated on her narrow escape and her husband is to be congratulated for having one of the nerviest women in Sedalia.
ENTERTAINMENT.
 The entertainment given at the Ruth Ann building for the benefit of the Aid Society of the Cumberland Presbyterian church, Thursday evening, was a most delightful affair as well as a decided success financially, nearly $50 being realized. The guests were received in Mr. Chance's beautifully decorated rooms, flowers being placed everywhere, and where also an excellent program of music was most enjoyably given, while the refreshments of salads, oyster patties, coffee, cakes, etc., were tastefully served on small tables in Miss Gallie's rooms. A lemonade bowl was also placed in Miss Fuller's art rooms, and in every respect all the guests were handsomely entertained.

VICTORY!

It Will Be Here Tuesday

An Immense Meeting at the Court House Last Night—One Thousand People.
Speeches by Messrs. Longan, Jackson, Dalby, Stevens and Steele—Enthusiasm Prevailed.
 The greatest and most enthusiastic demonstration ever witnessed at a city election in Sedalia transpired at the court house last night.
 It was a citizens' meeting—men who had congregated to endorse the administration of E. W. Stevens and show that it was their purpose to support the leader of the democracy in the coming election.
 Hon. O. A. Crandall, a veteran democrat and a prominent citizen was called upon to preside.
 When called to the chair he thanked his fellow citizens for the honor conferred, and briefly alluded to the campaign and the duty of all good citizens to stand by a tried chief executive.
 Hon. George F. Longan took the floor and made a short talk replete with logic and good advice regarding the future of the city.
 George P. B. Jackson made the chief speech of the evening.
 It was a masterly effort in defense of Capt. Stevens. His talk was directed to the thinking people—the substantial citizens of both parties giving sound and logical arguments, backed up by facts and figures that were convincing and beyond dispute; by the most ardent admirers of the opposition.
 The speaker did not resort to abuse but he held up in sarcasm, and ridicule, supported by argument, the acts of the "steering committee" their organ and its shameless course of vituperation and personal malignity.
 The speaker's allusions to Bailey and his very gauzy pretensions, hypocrisy and probable capabilities of getting closer to the "man and brother" provoked wild cheers of endorsement of the words as they fell from the speaker's lips.
 He closed his remarks by an appeal to the better judgment of the best people to give an unqualified endorsement to Capt. Stevens and his administration.
 Capt. Stevens was called out and gave the meeting one of the best short speeches he has made this campaign.
 It was good seed, and fell upon rich ground.
 Judge Dalby, after repeated calls, said a few words commending the democratic ticket, after which Hon. W. D. Steele made a mirth-provoking talk that kept the audience in an uproar.
 John Cashman closed the meeting by thanking the audience for calling him out.
 It was a grand meeting.
 It was a good meeting, and will bear fruit.
 —Mathias Splitlog, the venerable Indian who founded the Splitlog railroad, was in the city yesterday. From his personal appearance one would not think that he once owned a railroad, and at the present time has wealth enough to buy one. He is getting pretty old, and has gray chin-wiskers and long gray hair. He is not very familiar with the formalities of running trains on the Splitlog road, and he could not see how his train was going to Neosho when it was headed west. He asked several questions about it, and when it backed up to the platform he asked Conductor Ashley if he was getting on the right train. The official informed him that they only backed down to the "Y" and then went on to Neosho head first. He was the last passenger to board the car.—Joplin News.

FAILED TO FIND THEM.
 A young lady came up last night from Ottaville. She expected to meet friends here. Her name was Nora Burnett. Who she expected to meet was Philip Eikka. Philip failed to materialize, and the girl, not knowing his residence, was in a quandary, being penniless. Officer Scally, noting the situation, sent her to a good boarding house until her friends could be heard from.

CLUB ENTERTAINMENT.
 The Glee and Banjo Clubs of the Washington University, St. Louis, thirty in number, gave a concert at opera house Friday night, which although not largely attended, yet was well patronized by many of the most prominent residents of the city. The clubs presented a fine appearance, dressed as they were in evening suits and with an easy bearing, which, if not particularly graceful, yet showed them to be accustomed to appearing in public. The programme as published in Friday's BAZOO was carried out to the letter, but in nearly every instance so well pleased were the listeners that they were given hearty encouragements, to which they kindly responded. The "Deux Temps," by two members of the banjo club attired in full negro costume and with banjo accompaniment, was an especially catching number, while the chair drill, with a well worked in joke on Columbia, the cane drill, the bull-dog song, etc., brought forth rounds of applause. The banjo club had some expert instrumentalists, while the glee club contained many voices of power and culture. All in all, the club gave a good entertainment and in their brief stay in Sedalia they won many friends who will be glad to see them again.
