

DARING DALTONS.

Another Attack Was Expected From the Desperadoes Last Night, but they Failed to Materialize.

A Member of the Murderous Gang Fatally Shot—Buried Yesterday—Another One Hit—The Reward

Unless the Government Takes a Hand There seems to be No Way to Punish Them.

The crime of the Dalton boys, in holding up the M., K. & T. train at Adair Station, I. T., last Thursday night, has caused no little agitation among the railway and express officials.

During the late engagement between the guards and the outlaws, two bullets struck home, one so far having proved fatal. Late Saturday night several men rode into Vinita and, calling a doctor, stated that he was wanted about three miles in the country.

The physician could get no satisfaction as to what particular place he was to go and refused to leave Vinita. The men, who are not known, shoved a gun in his face and commanded him to accompany them.

No one followed and the doctor at last accounts, had not returned, to tell the tale of his visit. Yesterday at the trading post of Nenetia, not far from Vinita, a newsboy, claiming to be acquainted with the Daltons, stated that early on the previous morning, a dead bandit had been buried. The bullet from one of the detective's rifles had proven fatal. The injured man lay all day Friday and Saturday in camp suffering terribly from his wound and late Saturday night death came to his relief.

Early Sunday morning, after a brief ceremony, the body was consigned to the earth. It is supposed that the dead man is Jack Walton, and not one of the Daltons, as at first reported.

Another one of the bullets took effect on another bandit, but at last accounts he still survives. Jack Walton, the bandit who is supposed to be dead, was at one time a mine owner in Arizona, but for the last ten years has been holding up trains and stealing horses and cattle for a livelihood.

AGAIN EXPECTED. The Daltons, after finishing their daring deed, withdrew and went into camp on Pryor Creek, about eighteen miles from Pryor Creek tank.

Late Saturday they again moved camp, this time within about five miles of the tank. Word to that effect was sent to headquarters at St. Louis, and a message was forwarded from there to the train crew at Denison. Another "hold up" was expected at Pryor Creek water tank. Guards were placed on the train with James Gossage and Frank Jackson, of this city, in the express car. Messenger Eugene Ott, with the assistance of the two guards, arranged the express boxes, etc., in such a way as to form a fortification. They stationed themselves in the car and were ready to repel any attack from without. When the train reached Pryor creek tank all was still and no one molested the train, but it is safe to say that had they attempted such a thing, the boys would have held the fort.

A FALSE REPORT. It was reported in the city this morning that Messenger Williams had been placed under arrest, awaiting investigation. He was seen at the depot at noon, preparatory to his departure for Jefferson City. "Is there any truth in the report that you have been arrested?" "No. It is a barefaced falsehood," returned Williams. "I am going down the road and will be back to-night."

THE REWARD. The amount that was carried away in last Thursday night's raid is still unknown, or at least that is what the officials say. A reward of $5,000, per man, as long as it does not exceed $40,000, is offered by the M. K. & T. and Pacific officials. This is for the arrest and conviction. Vice-President Waldo, of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas, was asked yesterday what prospects the road had for the capture of the Dalton brothers and what steps had been taken to bring the famous pair of robbers to justice. The road, he said, was leaving no stone unturned to capture the miscreants, and was willing to spend a large sum of money to punish them, but such an undertaking was hedged about with difficulties and embarrassments almost insurmountable. The Daltons, like the brigands of Sicily, had the people around them in complete subjugation and no one dared to give information or aid that would lead to their capture. To betray the Daltons meant death. They are well known throughout the territory and can command a large following in a very short time, so that it would be necessary to take a small army into that country to cope with them successfully. They also have such a thorough knowledge of the country, its fastnesses, canons, rivers and creeks, that to run them down would be almost an impossibility. The pursuing force would also be at an immense disadvantage for the reason that it would not be backed up by the strong arm of the law like a sheriff and his posse in a more civilized community. The so-called Indian courts in the Territory have no jurisdiction over crimes of this class, and can only inflict punishment when an offense has been committed by an Indian against an Indian. When an Indian kills a half-breed or a white man, the United States district court, sitting at Fort Smith, Ark., or Paris, Tex., can indict the offender and bring him to justice, but beyond that the Federal laws seem to be powerless. Just how the Daltons could be punished in case of their capture seems to be a question. The State courts could not interfere for want of jurisdiction, and it is doubtful about the Federal courts, for they have never made any attempt to stop train robbing in the Indian Territory. Had Judge Parker, of Fort Smith, the power he would certainly reach out after the Daltons and bring them in. The officers of the Fort Smith court, backed up by the power of Government, are said to be absolutely fearless in the pursuit of criminals in the Territory. They have run down and brought to the gallows at Fort Smith nearly 100 murderers, and the work is going on now just as vigorously as any time in the past.

AS TO PERSIANS.

Rev. Abraham Moorhatch Lectures Entertainingly at the Broadway Presbyterian Church.

Rev. Abraham Moorhatch is a native of Oroomiah, Persia, the city where Zoroaster lived, taught and died, and main seat of the ancient Persian fire worship. His father was a member of the Nestorian church of that country, one of the oldest Christian churches now existing. He himself was raised under the care and teaching of the Presbyterian Mission at Oroomiah. For nine years he held a professorship in Oroomiah college, interspersed with evangelistic work among his native brethren in the surrounding districts.

At the Presbyterian church last night Mr. Moorhatch, in the presence of a large audience, lectured on the customs, manners and life of his countrymen. He wore native costume. All Persian cities are surrounded by a high, thick wall, through which ingress and egress are gained by gateways. At 10 o'clock at night watchmen mount towers and proclaim the closing of these gates. Residences are also surrounded by high, thick walls which shut out entirely all view of the streets. These houses are constructed of stone, brick or adobe, occupied respectively by the rich, the middle class and the poor people.

The Persians use no tables or chairs. They sit on the floor and eat with their fingers—Indian style. They have a variety of dishes and their meats are mostly mutton and beef.

There are no hotels in Persia, but places called inns, where only a cent is charged for a night's lodging for man and horse, though the tourist is required to furnish food and bed for himself. The expense of a day's journey does not amount to over three cents a day.

There is only one railroad in Persia, about twenty-five miles long. It is the private property of the shah. Most of the traveling is done in caravans, on camels and horses.

Marriage engagements are made entirely by the mother-in-law, the young people never seeing each other until brought face to face at the ceremony. Among the higher classes the wedding festivities continue seven days and everybody for many miles are invited.

There is only one newspaper in the whole kingdom of Persia, and is issued only once a month. The rich people however, get European journals.

The common salutation is: "Peace be with you!" When people are engaged in work the salutation is: "God give you strength!"

FELL FROM A SCAFFOLD.

T. B. Howe, a Carpenter, Overcome by the Heat, Faints, Falls and Dies.

Shortly before six o'clock yesterday, a carpenter named T. B. Howe, while at work on a new building on Ingram avenue, between eleventh and twelfth streets, was overcome by the extreme heat and fell from a scaffold to the ground, a distance of two or three feet. He struck upon his neck and shoulders and was thrown into convulsions. Howe was conveyed to his home at 905 East Sixth street, and a physician was promptly summoned. The spasms continued until at 10:10 o'clock last night the patient died.

Deceased was 48 years old and leaves a wife and one child. He formerly resided at Pilot Grove, Cooper county. He was a member of the Christian church, and of Amity Lodge No. 69, A. O. U. W., from which his widow will receive $2,000. The funeral will take place at the Christian church at 3:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria. When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria. When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria. When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

A LOCAL PHENOMENON.

A Heavy Flow of Coal Oil on Grand Avenue—The Earth Ablaze With Kerosene.

One of the most singular phenomena ever witnessed in Central Missouri, is reported by several reliable persons, among them Mr. Davenport, a grocerymar in the southern part of Sedalia, to have taken place yesterday morning on a small tract of land on the corner of Grand avenue and Twentieth street. The tract contains five acres and is the property of Frank Landmann, a well known real estate dealer.

Immediately following the heavy rain and thunder storm yesterday morning, quite a number of persons residing in the vicinity indicated were astounded to see bright flames of fire blaze up suddenly and spread over a considerable portion of this particular lot, lasting for several minutes. The phenomenon naturally created much excitement in the neighborhood, but no one could find a solution for it until, upon close examination, it was found that not less than a half barrel of real coal oil had flowed from the ground. As the lot is not near the railroad and as no coal oil barrels or vessels of any kind are near it, the assertion that it flowed directly from a natural deposit in the earth, can not be disputed.

The BAZOO is informed that oil deposits are sometimes located in a similar manner in the oil regions of Pennsylvania.

Mr. Landmann hasn't raised the price of his land as yet, but may do so should another display of this kind occur.

A MOTHER'S MISTAKE.

Mothers frequently make a mistake in neglecting the cough of a child. A Fort Wayne, Ind., lady writes: My little daughter, 6 years old, had a severe cough, but as it was nothing unusual, I thought nothing of it, and allowed it to run on for four or five weeks, when it became so obstinate she began losing flesh. I called in a physician who treated her three weeks without benefit. A neighbor insisted on my trying Ballard's Horehound Syrup: it relieved her from the first dose and she began gaining flesh rapidly, when she had used two bottles her cough had entirely disappeared. I would not be without it. It does not constipate my children. Ballard's Horehound Syrup is free from opiates. It is the most soothing Throat and Lung medicine in the world. Price, 50c and $1.00. For sale by Overstreet, the Druggist.

The Old Man.

CRACKSMEN AT WORK.

Jefferson City, July 20—[Special.]—Cracksmen got their work in last night at the Madison House and City Hotel. F. M. Crow, of Ralls county, lost $12, a revolver and a return railroad pass. Sam Downing, of Ralls, $15 and some notes; Dr. Parrish, of St. Louis, rooming with two newspaper men at the Madison, lost $50. The reporters suffered no loss.

A FAMILY POISONED.

Samuel Boswell and wife, of Sedalia, Made Deathly Sick After Drinking Coffee.

A well known and respectable colored family by the name of Boswell, who live on the corner of Montgomery and Seventeenth street, had a peculiar experience last Sunday morning.

A little grandson was told to get water and fill up a coffee pot preparatory to making coffee for breakfast. Instead of getting fresh water, he used some which had stood in the bucket over night.

Mrs. Boswell prepared the coffee and she and her husband, Samuel, drank it. The children drank milk. Soon after the colored man and woman were taken deathly sick and vomited violently. A physician was summoned and he was convinced that the water or coffee had been poisoned in some way.

The husband has considerably recovered, but the woman is still seriously ill, and for a time fatal results were feared.

TRIED THE WHIP.

A Prominent Lady in Caddo, I. T., Attempts to Thrash An Editor.

The little village of Caddo, I. T., yesterday morning furnished a Simon Pure sensation, to the outside world. Some time ago, a lady, who claimed to be a temperance lecturer billed Caddo for her appearance. J. Y. Skanks, editor of the Caddo Weekly Banner, and who is against temperance, came out in the Banner denouncing the lecture. Mrs. S. S. Thompson, wife of a prominent doctor of that city, is a member of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, and at the appearance of the article, became very indignant. She immediately wrote a note to the editor, ordering her paper stopped and stating that hereafter she would give her money to the cause of temperance. Skanks published the note in full, representing it spelled in a very bad and careless manner. At the sight of the publication, Mrs. Thompson's indignation had reached its height, who armed herself with a revolver and horse whip proceeded to find the editor. She met him yesterday morning, Sunday, on the main street of the town, and without a word of warning rushed up to Skanks and attempted to apply the whip. Skanks relieved her of the whip and broke it in pieces. She then drew a revolver and attempted to use it, and would have accomplished her purpose had Skanks not disarmed her. The affair caused no little excitement at the time, but as no one was injured, there is no probability of it going any further.

BALLARD'S SNOW LINIMENT.

This liniment is different in composition from any other liniment on the market. It is a scientific discovery, which results in its being the most penetrating liniment ever known. There are numerous white imitations, which may be recommended because they pay the seller a greater profit. Beware of these and demand Ballard's Snow Liniment. It positively cures rheumatism, neuralgia, cuts, sprains, bruises, wounds, sciatic and inflammatory rheumatism, burns, scalds, sore feet, contracted muscles, stiff joints, old sores, pain in back, barb wire cuts, sore chest or throat and is especially beneficial in paralysis. Sold by Wm. Bard.

Love's Young Dream.

Love's young dream was a very bright one, and its fulfillment will be bright, too, if the bride will remember that she is a woman, and liable to all the ills peculiar to her sex. We remind those who are suffering from any of these, that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will renew the hue of youth in pale and sa'low cheeks, correct irritating uterine diseases, arrest and cure ulceration and inflammation, and infuse new vitality into a wasting body. "Favorite Prescription" is the only medicine for women, sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee from the manufacturers, that it will give satisfaction in every case, or money will be refunded. This guarantee has been printed on the bottle wrapper, and faithfully carried out for many years.

CROWDING THE WORK.

The Grading of the Missouri, Kansas and Eastern Railroad to be Completed by August 1

The M. K. & E. now has more appearance of a genuine railroad than ever. A force of men are at work on every mile of the line from Franklin to Hamburg, while the road is completed in many places and the track laid. Contractor Dooling, above Rocheport, is finishing up the grade on his contract, and the work of laying the ties and rails has already been commenced. Neal & O'Connor have the track laid on nearly a mile along the bluff below town. These gentlemen a very large force of men at work and are making rapid headway, although they have the heaviest work on the line, being compelled to blast off numerous boulders and place the track on solid rock.

Smith & Gillett, who have contracts both above and below town, are also progressing nicely with their work, while Henry & Evans, in the vicinity of Hunts, have several miles of road almost ready for the ties.

The general superintendents of this road are crowding the contractors each day, and are demanding a larger force of men along the entire line. They say that the grading of the road must be completed by October at all hazards, and tell the contractors that if they can not secure help at one place they must pay wages that will secure it. The construction of the road has been pushed more rapidly from Hamburg up to Providence than in this section. The contractors have worked under disadvantages, from the fact that it has been almost impossible to keep men at work along the bluffs on account of the extreme heat.

Contractor Ward, who is to do the grading through town, will begin this work in a few days, and must have it ready for the ties by the first of September. The people along the line are anxious to see this track laid, as they will not know until this is done, where the depot will be located. It is claimed that the depot will be erected on the Silas Warren property south of Byfield's lumber yard. This location would be very satisfactory and is the most desirable place in town for that building.

UNITED AGAINST IT.

The Force Bill as Described and Denounced by Democratic State Conventions.

New York Sun.

Alabama—A usurpation of power unwarranted by the constitution. Arkansas—Unalterably opposed to it.

California—Denounced and condemned. Despotism and centralizing in its tendencies, dangerous to the liberty, peace and prosperity of the people and a contravention of the principles of free government as bequeathed to us by the framers of our constitution.

Colorado—A measure intended to perpetuate one party in power, regardless of the expression of the public will.

Connecticut—A dangerous and revolutionary measure, begotten in partisan desperation to perpetuate the power of the republican party.

Delaware—A menace and insult of bayonets at the polls.

Florida—Unjust, partisan, iniquitous.

Idaho—A menace to freedom, calculated to create discord and discontent between the sections of the country in the interest of partisan rather than the public benefit.

Indiana—It strikes down home rule and local self-government; fosters sectionalism and beyond rule; outrages the traditions of a century by giving life tenure to partisan returning boards; involves the unnecessary expenditure of millions of the people's money.

Iowa—A menace to freedom and purity to elections.

Kansas—The creature of republican necessity, a legitimate offspring of the party which s'ched a president and whose leaders are willing to sacrifice for place and power the liberties of their fellow-citizens.

Kentucky—Unjust, iniquitous and partisan.

Maine—It takes the ballot box from the people and gives it to returning boards. With one voice we denounce it.

Maryland—A notorious bill which the republican party will certainly renew the attempt to enact if continued in power.

Massachusetts—A radical innovation and a dangerous step toward centralization.

Michigan—It strikes down home rule and local government where every interest of the people invites to peace, fraternity and unity. An instrument of oppression and corruption.

Minnesota—The attempt to enact into law monstrous proposals for overturning the electoral laws of the several states.

Missouri—An assumption of power unwarranted by the Constitution and an arbitrary attempt to encroach upon the rights of the several states.

Nebraska—An attempt to revive sectional issues.

New Hampshire—We denounce the promoters of it as enemies of their country and practical disunionists.

New York—No centralization.

Nevada—Dangerous to liberty, peace and prosperity of the people; revolutionary in its nature and purpose.

North Carolina—A bill to subvert the wishes of our people and influence race antagonism and sectional animosity.

Ohio—A measure to abridge the established rights of the citizens. It would surround the ballot box with armed hielings and give power to bayonets instead of ballots.

Pennsylvania—A law designed to excite a race war.

Rhode Island—A threatening danger.

South Carolina—A bill to establish supremacy of ignorance over intelligence in the southern states.

Tennessee—A bill designed to engender a conflict between the races of the south.

Vermont—Unjust, contrary to the spirit of the constitution, and prompted by a spirit of the meanest partisanship.

Texas—We condemn all the recent encroachments by the Federal judiciary upon the powers of the state.

West Virginia—A most iniquitous contrivance of partisan legislation, unpatriotic in principle, unconstitutional in detail, and malicious in purpose.

Wisconsin—An endeavor to make political power self-perpetuating by placing congress directly under republican control.

Wyoming—We are opposed to any law that implies a suspicion of patriotism, and we denounce the republican party for a bill whose effect will be to destroy republican government by usurping constitutional rights of the states.
