WEEKLY BAZOO

SEDALIA, MO., TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 28, 1893.

7% FARM LOANS

5, 10, or 15 years, with privilege of repaying PART OR ALL AT ANY TIME. I also write Insurance.

W. H. RITCHEY, 114 East Second St., Sedalia, Mo.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

The BAZOO is authorized to announce G. W. Driskill, as a candidate for County School Commissioner, subject to the decision of the democratic convention or primary.

The BAZOO is authorized to announce R. M. Scotten a candidate for the office of County Superintendent of public schools, subject to the decision of the democratic party.

A Warning. The business men of Sedalia and other cities and towns in Missouri are warned against solicitors for display advertising in directories, guide books or catalogues of the World's Fair.

Whoso bloweth not his own BAZOO, The same shall not be blown.

SEDALIA BRIEFS.

There are forty-five patients in the M. K. & T. hospital.

There will be a meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the World's Fair, at the Commercial Club rooms, Tuesday, at 2:30 p. m. All are cordially invited.

The Pythian musical and literary entertainment Friday night, was largely attended, greatly enjoyed and a complete success in every particular.

Rev. C. M. Hawkins, of Independence, will lecture in Jefferson City to-morrow evening on "Mind Your P's and Q's"—the same he delivered in Sedalia recently.

J. W. Sandridge came down from Hughesville last night. Owing to the recent fire there, Mr. Sandridge says there will be a good deal of building there this spring.

Jackson Penn, colored, who resides at Georgetown, while tripping a tree Friday afternoon, fell from a limb, several feet, and sustained a compound fracture of the leg. Dr. Sidney Conkright was sent for and attended to the severely injured man.

Through her attorneys, Messrs. Hoffman and Wilson, yesterday, Mrs. Ella Rice filed suit for divorce from her husband, Leonard Rice. They were married in Franklin county, Iowa, in 1876. She charges him with desertion and adultery.

O. A. Crandall and T. W. Sterritt, a well known civil engineer, will go to Springfield to-morrow to make preparations to begin the grading of the S. & M. & N. railroad from that point. Mr. Crandall says the work will be vigorously pushed.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Paxton, who reside on the corner of Ohio and Seventh streets, claim that they were poisoned by coffee which they drank Friday night. Mrs. Paxton was taken very sick and Dr. W. B. Senles was called in. The Paxtons seem to suspect certain persons with whom they have had trouble.

The south wall of the building on East Second street, formerly occupied by David's clothing house, and which is being refitted for the new Bank of Commerce, will no longer be used for bill-posting. It was the best place in town, but the voluptuous figures of the can-can girls and the grimaces of the negro minstrel will no longer greet the passers-by on that corner.

James Crider, Mike Williams and the three Pointer boys who were arrested in Sedalia, Tuesday, for playing the wild west on a Missouri Pacific train, were released from the calaboose yesterday. The Pointers returned to their homes in Osage county; while Criderland Williams, who live in Texas, left for that state last evening. The boys had an experience which they will likely remember for many a day.

Married.

At the home of the bride's brother near Hughesville, Mo., Feb. 16 1893, by the Rev. J. V. Barks, J. J. Franklyn and Miss Nannie Callis, all of Pettis county.

PURELY PERSONAL.

Points of Interest About People You Know or Hear of.

D. M. Overstreet will spend Sunday at Smithton.

Miss Kate McCoy, who has been visiting friends in Syracuse, returned home last week.

O. K. Lingle of Clinton, came up from Jefferson City yesterday afternoon and took the 6:15 train for home.

Mr. and Mrs. Lon Hewett arrived in Sedalia yesterday afternoon and are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis R. Smith.

Elmer Murray, the hustling young insurance agent, spent yesterday in Smithton writing up business for his company.

A. D. Howell and wife left for Peabody, Kansas, yesterday, where they will attend the wedding of Mr. Howell's sister.

Ed. Patterson, the well known Cooper county horseman, who is now traveling for a Chicago firm, was in town last night, en route to Boonville.

F. C. Thomas, clerk of the Union depot hotel at Hannibal, is the guest of his friend, Ora Brown, at Sicher's, and will attend Sunday school this morning.

Rt. Rev. Bishop Atwill, of the diocese of Western Missouri, arrived in the city yesterday, and is being entertained by D. H. Smith and family, corner Broadway and Ohio streets. The Bishop will officiate at Calvary church to-day.

J. K. Elkins, who left Sedalia in October, for Texas, on account of his health, is much better as THE BAZOO learns from friends. He expects to locate permanently at San Antonio, in the employ of the Southern Pacific railroad.

Depotmaster Mont Carnes, arrayed in his best suit of clothes, arrived home yesterday afternoon from a three days visit in St. Louis and Jefferson City. He spent a very pleasant time at the capital among his friends, with many of whom he served in the thirty-sixth general assembly.

J. D. Hail, the enterprising and popular head of the well known dry goods firm of J. D. Hail & Co., of this city, returned yesterday from a trip of two weeks' duration to New York, Boston and other eastern cities, where he purchased a large stock of spring goods for the firm.

O. Martin Brooks returned from Moberly Friday evening at 6 o'clock with his brother, E. P. Brooks, whom he brought home from Moberly, quite sick with typhoid fever. The sick young man is now at home, 303 East Fourth street, where he is being cared for. His attack is a severe one.

W. L. Reid, of the Monroe City News, and Walt Monroe, of the Tipton Times, were in the city yesterday. They met here as a committee, appointed by the Missouri Press association to arrange advertising rates that would be equitable and report to the association meeting at Columbia March 15, 1893.

Senator Charles E. Yeater, who has made a splendid reputation in the thirty-seventh general assembly, arrived home yesterday afternoon and will spend Sunday here. The handsome young senator is in excellent health, notwithstanding his hard work in the legislature. He will return to-morrow.

Mr. Patrick Egan arrived Friday evening for the purpose of taking his brother Martin to their home in Chicago last night. The latter has been confined to his room for the past ten days with rheumatism and his many friends hope that home care may soon restore him to health and permit him to return to this city.

W. B. Mumford, general agent of a life insurance company, was in the city yesterday. Seventeen years ago, Mr. Mumford, a beardless young man, resided in Sedalia, being in the drug business. He purchased the stock of drugs belonging to the firm of Dakin & Dixon. He marvels at the growth of Sedalia and also compliments it for the appearance it has of a metropolitan town.

It is generally known that J. K. Hart of East Sedalia has been for the past three months so incapacitated by rheumatism that it was feared he would be permanently crippled. About two weeks since he was induced to try the Magneto-Conservative garments sold by Prof. A. J. Maury of 107 East Sixth street, Sedalia. As the result he may now be seen walking around enjoying life, and he frequently talks of the wonders of these health producing garments. The professor, while not professing to perform miracles, invites patients who are suffering from the most painful and complicated disorders, to interview him. Consultation costs nothing, and no expense need be incurred unless relief is given. He states home truths and gives rational treatment.

Positively the Last Week of the Great Clearing Sale.

There will be a big rush of trade. Do not miss this, the opportunity of a life time, to secure the best bargains ever quoted in Sedalia.

BOONVILLE BREVITIES.

Items and Incidents Collected From Various Sources in The Vine Clad.

Mrs. M. K. Gentry, of this city has been visiting Sedalia friends during the week.

Rev. B. G. Tut, a Missouri Baptist divine of eminence, is in the city on ministerial work.

There was a general break up of the ice in the river last Monday, and the ferry boat is making its old time trips.

Clarence, the son of George and Betty Stegner, and who died at Norborne yesterday, will be buried here to-morrow.

Frank Orr, living in the Bell Air neighborhood, has sold his farm to R. L. McCormick, the consideration being $3,000.

E. C. Mason, of the Midland Saving and Loan company of Sedalia has been here during the week in the interest of that institution.

The M. K. & E., has reached a point opposite this city, and the final spike—and a gold one at that—is expected to be driven to-morrow.

A. B. Windsor and other prominent stockmen, have been doing considerable shipping during the week to St. Louis and Chicago.

It is expected that more buildings will be constructed in Boonville the coming season than in any other in the history of the city. A large number are already under contract.

It is very probable that the post office, which has been located under the Central National Bank for the past ten or twelve years, will the coming week be removed to the Fetzer block.

The friends of Hon. John R. Walker, of this city, are much encouraged over his prospects of being the next United States attorney for the Western district. His recommendations are first class, and his ability is undisputed.

There is considerable interest being manifested here regarding the settlement of the claims of the various aspirants for the post office, some favoring a primary and others advocating the old system appointment. Mr. A.

THE DEACON'S JARGON.

A Reminiscence of 1843 and a Methodist Church Founded Since Noah's Ark.

A Bass Viol Fifty Years Ago and a Prize Fight in 1893 Both Made Trouble.

Brownville is a small village in Jefferson county, New York.

The place was founded about the close of the revolutionary war. A few people got lost who were escaped officers of that war and desired to seek a place where but few would ever desire to locate.

They were correct in their surmises. It has been an aristocratic community, being the abode of a lot of people who were noted for their aristocracy, shabby genteel clothes, little brains and no money.

I don't speak of the present generation. I think there is an improvement now.

Recently I see in a Jefferson county newspaper an account of a prize fight in the place one evening in January, 1893.

The Methodist church of the place is about as old as the village.

The church has a hall adjacent to the place of worship which is used for social purposes and they rent the same when not in use, to outside parties.

Watertown is a city four miles away.

It is a good city.

It is a pretty city and has plenty of goodly people.

It is the home of Gov. Flower.

The governor was born in that county, as was also your own deacon.

Watertown has quite a sprinkling of inhabitants, like any city, that has the devil in them larger than a meetin' house.

They do some bad things in Watertown:

They play draw poker.

Fight chickens.

Have "sparring matches," better known as prize fights.

A few of their people tell lies.

Those who tell the truth are in the majority, I guess.

Those who went out staid until the singing and playing had subsided and then returned.

Then the good old preacher would preach from that pulpit with a sounding board over his head, from first to twenty-third—two hours to two and a-half, quitting when he had exhausted himself and his hearers too.

Another hymn was given out, putting special emphasis on the metre, be it long or short.

The choir sang and the feline intestine did duty again.

Of course about one-half of the congregation withdrew, only to return and hear the benediction.

Those who went out, intended to show their disapproval of the bass viol, for in those days the devil was supposed to have an abiding place in all stringed instruments.

After preachin' it was go with others of the family to the class meetin', where another hour was put in lookin' solemn, sad and sedate.

The church quarreled then, which made a commotion in the surrounding country over the introduction of a big fiddle into the meetin' house to assist in making music.

They could not stand that then, and now they are rebelling against having prize fights on and in the church property.

What will be the next innovation to trouble the Methodist church which stands near a hotel known as the "Upper Tavern," where whisky has been sold since the last gun of the revolutionary war was fired.

When we all started for home on a Sunday, after all the services, I did not know my stomach and bowels from a lot of shoe strings or chips I was so famished.

Now-a-days the kids and old folks cat more on Sunday than any other day, wear white collars and cuffs, and actually sing and chew gum.

And they have prize fights in the church hall, besides.

Nearly all who were interested in church matters in those day are on the other shore.

It is to be hoped there will be no music introduced there but that all can endorse.

Thine for the people now on earth.

SIMEON DINWIDDIE, Deacon.

CALLISON & ROBINSON.

SIMEON DINWIDDIE.

Sometimes about the middle of January "a club" in Watertown, had an arrangement for a couple of the town thugs to have a test of "manly skill."

The managers of the mill were very secretive about the time and place for the set-to.

An agent went to one of the trustees of the Methodist church, of Brownville, and secured the use of the social hall of the church for a "club debate," a private affair, it was alleged by the agent. He paid the rent for the hall $2.00, and departed.

The fight took place in the church hall, and $3 was the admission asked at the door for each person.

A high priced entertainment.

That was not much of an affair to make a kick about, but that country is all stirred up over the matter.

When I was a boy, your own deacon went to this same Methodist church to Sunday school, to preachin' and class meetin'.

It was fifty years ago.

That church stood then in the same place it does now.

It did some awful things then, but did not have any prize fights.

It was fight, but no prize went with "the scrap."

How well I remember the old meetin' house. It stood up high, and wide steps led to the audience room—the women on one side and the men on the other to take seats on wooden benches with straight backs.

But, they were hard.

Underneath the audience room was

DR. PRICE'S Cream Baking Powder. The only Pure Cream of Tartar Powder.—No Ammonia; No Alum. Used in Millions of Homes—40 Years the Standard.
