

A CURIOUS CASE.

Details as told To a Bazoo Reporter by Judge E. M. Zevely, of Linn.

Judge E. M. Zevely, of Linn, Osage county, was in Sedalia this morning, on his return home from Clinton, where he had been a witness in the trial of M. Lockwood who, in July, 1892, shot and killed a young man named McAllister, in Henry county. The affair was both a peculiar and tragic one.

Lockwood, the deceased, and several companions went bathing in a creek near Windsor one day. Lockwood had a pistol and playfully pointing it at his friend, pulled the trigger. The weapon was not loaded then, but later on some one of the boys slipped a cartridge into it, and it so happened that Lockwood repeated his prank, saying to McAllister, as he again pulled the trigger, "how would you like to have a dose of this?" This time the joke—if such it was—proved fatal. The ball struck the boy in the breast and he fell over dead.

Lockwood was arrested and indicted for murder in the first degree. The case was brought up for trial a few months ago, but was continued. Yesterday it was brought to trial again, but on account of a technical flaw the indictment was quashed and the defendant released.

Lockwood had formerly resided in Osage county and Judge Zevely was present in court to testify to the good character he had always borne.

SIGHTS AND SCENES

As Viewed by Judge Dalby in and About the World's Fair.

Judge J. N. Dalby returned bright and breezy this morning from a week's visit in and about the World's fair.

A Bazoo representative found him an hour later at his desk in the Third National bank. During his absence a great pile of correspondence had accumulated and the fluid in the ink stand had dried up until he had to search around to find ink enough to make out a check or two which were handed him.

"There are many things being said concerning the fair, some of which are true, while others are unjust and false."

"That the booth-keepers, restaurant-keepers, and a multitude of people holding special privileges are abusing the management and the public, is unquestionably true and they are meeting with a condemnation that is likely to result in their early downfall."

"I speak from personal experience when I say that one has to pay one dollar on the grounds for a limited cold lunch which could be obtained in Sedalia for less than twenty-five cents."

"Another great money-making scheme is in the use of chairs suspended between two poles, Japanese fashion, in which people are transported about the grounds. These chairs number at least 500 and are carried on the shoulders of men, after the oriental style of doing. In many instances these carriers are college students who resort to this means to obtain a view of the great show. Exorbitant prices are paid for this novel kind of riding."

"Other pleasures, however, are correspondingly cheap. For instance, one may enjoy a long ride on the lake in an elegantly appointed steamer for only twenty-five cents."

Judge Dalby said that not only is the Missouri building, but the whole exposition is yet incomplete, and will not be at their best until at least the first of June, though the sights to be seen are overwhelmingly multitudinous and magnificent.

"What struck you most forcibly, judge?"

"That is hard to say. The foreign features, which generally surpass those of this country, are absorbingly interesting. Perhaps the most impressive and charming exhibition which attracted my attention, was the floral display."

Judge Dalby is a lusty singer in the congregation and not a diffident conversationalist, but he was at a loss to describe the flower department.

Headed his Sedalia friends not to visit the fair before June 1, if they desire to see the exhibition in full blast.

Woman's Underwear.

A dusky maiden, Pearl Gilbreath by name, was placed in jail this morning. She is charged with having purloined a chemise, a mother Hubbard, a lace collar, et cetera, from one Louisa Johnson, also dark skinned.

Armed with a search warrant Constable Gossage unearthed the stolen property in the possession of the Gilbreath woman, and it will be offered in evidence in Judge Fisher's court this afternoon.

BAZOO GOSSIP.

The methods to which many men in Sedalia will resort in order to get a dram at the bar are various, very peculiar and often humiliating.

A man may have been a good customer at a certain bar for days or weeks, but suddenly finds himself dead broke. Then on the strength of his former patronage he will eke out a few drinks on credit.

Another will approach the bartender and tell a pitiful tale of feeling decidedly "rocky" or sick and secure what he wants. Whether true or not, his story will not travel as far as cold cash. Never.

Another will promise to pay sometime during the day, when he knows not that he will ever see a dime again. This familiar dodge may work in some places, but it is simply a case of a thirsty man catching at a straw.

Some men, in their desperation, will lay a nickel on the counter and declare that to be their sole financial assets. A compassionate bartender will, now and then, be accommodating and hand out a glass of liquor.

To gather up empty beer, wine and whisky bottles and give them in exchange for a morning bracer, is not uncommon and is recognized as the proper thing in saloon ethics.

When some men are totally "busted" and imagine they must have a drink, they will sit around a barroom and watch and wait with a longing and patience worthy of a better cause, the approach of a friend who, better fixed than they, will invite them up to have something. Then how friendship is plighted afresh! How the benefactor's welfare is scrutinized inquired after! What loyal protestations of "I'll do the same by you sometime," are made! In fact, the false favor, momentarily at least, is in the eyes of the beneficiary, "the greatest thing in the world."

People unacquainted with saloon tricks and habits decry the barkeeper as hard-hearted, grasping and even cruel. They say he makes a fortune easily and by means of a dishonorable traffic. But such accusations, in the main, are not true.

A bartender has dozens of the above named cases to deal with daily. His business, trade and incidental expenses are quite heavy, and, as a rule, he pays cash as he goes. In order to meet the many outlays peculiar to his business, he must sell as nearly on a cash basis as possible, and no one can rightfully deny that he must draw the line somewhere and even on many people. Besides, the law does not permit him to collect a liquor debt, as may be done in other lines of business.

The fact of the matter is simply this: The man who cannot walk up to a bar and pay in the coin of the realm for the drink he may desire, ought to quit right then and there, as a matter of credit to himself and ordinary justice to the saloonkeeper.

L. D. Drake, superintendent of the Missouri Reform School for boys, at Booneville, and his accomplished wife, returned home last evening, after having spent the afternoon sight seeing in the city.

Superintendent Drake was appointed to his present position, at the opening of the school, by the late lamented Governor Morehouse. He was an Indianan and had already had several years of practical experience in a similar institution in that state.

At the time much dissatisfaction was expressed at Governor Morehouse's official action in this matter. This was especially so among a set of Cooper county statesmen who aspired to the position. They claimed that some local or other Missouri man should be appointed because this school was purely a Missouri institution. All or any of them thought they could conduct the school with satisfaction and success, though some of them had never before heard of a reform school and none of them knew anything whatever of its operation.

The governor decided otherwise, and the wisdom of that decision has long since become fully recognized. None but an experienced man could ever have taken the work in hand and accomplished the results which have made this school at Booneville the pride of the people of this state.

As an all-round educator, worker and manager, Superintendent Drake is quite remarkable. He is a Christian gentleman, a thorough disciplinarian, understands practically the several trades taught, and is so much of an athlete that he engages in the various outdoor sports employed to interest and benefit the boys. As a matter of fact, he was once a professional base ball player, having been a member of the Washington, D. C., team in its palmy days. This is still the favorite amusement of himself and the boys, and with his skill and strength he can fill with his old time zest any position on the grassy diamond.

It may be added, also, that he has been most ably assisted in his arduous and difficult work by his excellent wife.

Judge E. M. Zevely, of Linn, Osage county, who was in Sedalia this morning, says that the people of his county are preparing to build an electric line of railroad from Linn to Osage City, a distance of eleven miles.

"At present," said he, "we are compelled to travel by stage from Bonnett's mills, on the Missouri Pacific railroad, to our town; and all freighting has to be done by wagons. This is a great inconvenience and even a detriment to Linn."

"The cost of the electric line, which would be similar to that used in Sedalia, would be about $75,000, and bonds for its construction are being issued. Notwithstanding the route lays over a rocky, broken country, it is estimated that the road would not pay less than 8 per cent, and probably more, on the $100,000. The line is being surveyed and the people are so favorable to the enterprise, that it is likely we shall soon have connection by rail with the Missouri Pacific."

A BIG MEETING

Of the State Druggists Expected at Excelsior Springs June 13.

Mr. Ed G. Orear, chairman of the attendance committee of the Missouri Pharmaceutical association, was in St. Louis yesterday for the purpose of making arrangements for a special train, to be run from St. Louis to Excelsior Springs, Mo., June 13, at which date the State Pharmaceutical association will hold their annual convention, which will also be their crystal anniversary. A committee has been appointed consisting of D. P. Daugherty, G. H. Charles Klie and Dr. F. L. James, to invite Mayor Walbridge to extend upon the occasion a welcome to members of the eastern part of the state, which committee will act to-day. Another committee composed of Messrs. Ed. G. Orear, F. W. Sickler and A. S. Forker will wait upon Mayor Coward, of Kansas City, inviting him to welcome the druggists of the western part of the state, and the same committee will also confer with Governor Stone, who is expected to respond on behalf of Missouri. The meeting promises to be the largest ever held by the association in the state.

LEGAL WARFARE.

The Messerly-Ferrell Damage Suit on Trial in the Circuit Court To-Day.

In the case of James R. Clark vs. John Fitzgerald, which was tried yesterday in the circuit court the jury returned a verdict of $48 damages and rent at eight dollars per month. It was a case of disagreement about the rent of a building at Lamonte.

The $10,000 damage suit of Charles E. Messerly vs. George W. Ferrell was called in the circuit court this morning and a jury empaneled. This is a case brought by Mr. Messerly, the dry goods man, against Mr. Ferrell, an M. K. & T. conductor, for damages sustained about one year ago at the hands of the defendant, who assaulted Mr. Messerly on the steps leading to the police court. The assault grew out of an altercation over a bill of $2.50 alleged by the plaintiff to have been due him from the defendant's wife. Ferrell was indicted by the grand jury and pleaded guilty to assault and was fined in the Criminal court. Mr. Messerly now seeks redress by bringing the present suit. An array of able legal talent has been retained on either side and the case is being stubbornly fought on both sides.

A WOMAN INVENTOR.

Various Novelties Evolved From Her Prolific Brain.

The most prolific of women inventors is Mrs. Ella Neilson Gaillard, of Maryland. Her first invention was an automatic toy, which she called the "Irrepressible Conflict," consisting of an Irishman and a negro engaged in a fierce contest. Then she took another field altogether and invented the eyes-needle, now used by surgeons throughout the world. Then she invented the musical top, which, while spinning, plays a full operatic selection. Then came her folding-basin for travelers, a folding flat-iron, then a novel bird cage chain. Then she got out a musical fountain that plays a tune and throws a stream of water with such precision that not a drop ever escapes to soil the carpet. She made a dress shield, next a sweat-band for hats. She outdid herself and invented a carriage telephone. Finally she drifted into mechanics and invented a lock, which enables any one by simply looking at the key to tell whether the door is locked or not, the locking being registered on the key. Her last invention is a musical paper-weight with a calendar attachment that looks for all the world like a stem-winding watch, the face indicating the day, month and year.

A Painless Query.

He's a right good-looking fellow, there's no question about that, but he's so conceited about it as to almost spoil it all.

"Did anybody ever tell you you were a very handsome man?" said a young woman visitor in the city after she had met him two or three times.

"No, never," he replied, frowning for further compliments.

"Indeed!" she exclaimed, "how in the mischief did you ever know it so well, then?"

MISSOURI GLANCES.

People and Events as Viewed Through Our Sanctum Field Glass.

—Petty thieving from the farmers near Nevada is a regular business now-a-days.

—The Missouri State Firemen's association is holding its session at Brookfield.

—They have a tailor in jail at Springfield for deserting his wife for another and prettier woman.

—A cedar bucket made by a Springfield Cooper in 1854, is still in use in the family of Aaron Note, of that burg.

—A Kansas City man put a want "ad" in a Sunday Chicago newspaper for a room during the World's Fair and received 110 replies.

—Some miscreant entered the fire engine house at Cartersville and cut the hose all to pieces. Some very mean people reside in Jasper county.

—Female horse thieves are operating in Joplin. A woman giving her name as May Calvin, hired a team of horses at a Joplin stable and has not returned yet.

A Chicago man is looking over the country with a view of locating a colony in Benton county. The Chicagoan will insist upon moving the county to Chicago if it suits.

—A Nevada wife seriously injured her husband Tuesday by playfully tossing him a pair of scissors. They stuck in his knee near the knee cap and the attendance of a physician is required.

—G. W. Long, of Bois d' Arc, gave a grand banquet at his home last Sunday in honor of his acquittal for the murder of a man named Fred Rowland. Seven of the jurymen before whom he was tried—one of them a negro—were among the party.

—Sam Fling left his home at Maryville six years ago. Financial reverses was the cause. He has recently been discovered, employed upon a ranch in South Dakota, by a son. The father was upon his death bed, however, when the son reached him.

—The much maligned town cow came near causing a fatal shooting at Sheldon Monday. Marshal Dixon was attempting to impound Newt Riley's cow and they got into a street duel over the matter. Both men were badly wounded, but the town cow escaped unhurt, as usual.

—Governor Stone disposed of the Amos Avery case yesterday granting a stay to May the 24th, to allow him to prepare for death on the gallows at Lamar. At the same time, the governor declared that he would not further interfere as he was fully convinced that Avery was not insane.

—The voraciousness of gas companies has long been a matter of comment, and now comes a farmer resident three miles out of Springfield and absolutely refuses to pay an account rendered him by a Springfield company. He only watched the gas burn when in town which was infrequent.

—Higginsville Leader: Prof. Jarvis has just expressed to William H. Martin of Bates county a rare curiosity. It is a wedding ring worn by the late Mrs. Martin fifty-two years ago, at her betrothal in England. It has been worn down to about the size of a small broom wire. It was made to order in Bristol, England, from "guinea gold."

Physicians Have Found Out

That a contaminating and foreign element in the blood, developed by indigestion, is the cause of rheumatism. This settles upon the sensitive substance covering of the muscles and ligaments of the joints, causing constant and shifting pain, and aggregating as a calcareous, chalky deposit which produces stiffness and a distortion of the joints. No fact, which experience has demonstrated in regard to Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, has stronger evidence to support than this, namely, that this medicine of comprehensive uses checks the formation and at once removes it, nor is less positively established that it is preferable to the poisons often used to arrest it, since the medicine contains only salutary ingredients. It is also a signal remedy for malarial fevers, constipation, dyspepsia, kidney and bladder ailments, debility and other disorders. See that you get the genuine.

—Mrs. McClellan, aged 70 years, residing nine miles southeast of Sedalia, died at 8:30 last night. The funeral will take place at 1 p. m. to-morrow and the remains will be interred in a cemetery near her home.

AUBREY'S HISTORIC RIDE.

Eight Miles an Hour on Horseback for 110 Consecutive Hours.

The ride of the German officers from Berlin to Vienna recalls a much more remarkable one made by F. P. Aubrey, a native of St. Louis, Mo., about thirty-six years ago in the West. He bet $3,000 that he could ride from Santa Fe, N. M., to Independence, Mo., within five consecutive days. According to the terms of the wager he was allowed only such remounts as he could procure en route; that is, he was not to arrange for any in advance. As the country to be traversed was then a perfect wilderness to within a score or two of miles of the finish, the only chance of obtaining fresh horses was from some roving band of wild Indians he might encounter, who were as likely to take Aubrey's scalp as to swap horses with him. But fortune favored him, and he did obtain a fresh horse at the "Crossing of the Arkansas," and at Council Grove, and won his bet in four days and fourteen hours—distance, 860 miles—so that he covered an average of nearly eight miles an hour for 110 consecutive hours, a feat of endurance that seems truly marvellous.

Bureau of Information.

"The Burlington" has recently established in a convenient quarter of its elegant and commodious passenger station, at Chicago, an office designed to afford travelers information on the thousand-and-one things they need to know, with regard to routes, rates, connections and accommodations. It has been placed in charge of an experienced man, supplied with all railway guides, maps and time tables, and is known as the "Bureau of Information."

It is a place to which all travelers may apply for information and receive full and correct answer. This is the only office of the kind west of the sea-board cities, and it cannot but prove a help and convenience to the traveling public. All trains of the "Burlington" enter and depart from this station, and the intelligent and valuable service of the Bureau may be enjoyed by all patrons of this line.

A special pamphlet will be issued by the "Burlington" in the near future, giving accurate information as to "How to get to the World's Fair grounds;" "How to secure rooms and board at the various hotels, boarding and lodging houses."

Trustworthy agents will be at the C. & B. & Q. depot in Chicago to impart all information to visitors. Arrangements will probably be made by which some trains will be run direct to the World's Fair grounds without change or delay. 3314m

Abraham Lincoln

When leaving his home at Springfield, Ill., to be inaugurated president of the United States, made a farewell address to his old friends and neighbors, in which he said, "NEIGHBORS GIVE YOUR BOYS A CHANCE."

These words come with as much force to-day as they did thirty years ago.

How give them this chance?

Up in the Northwest is a great empire waiting for young and sturdy fellows to come and develop it and "grow up with the country." All over this broad land are the young fellows, the boys that Lincoln referred to, seeking to better their condition and get on in life.

The country referred to lies along the Northern Pacific R. R. Here you can find pretty much anything you want. In Minnesota, and in the Red River Valley of North Dakota, the finest of prairie lands fitted for wheat and grain, or as well for diversified farming. In Western North Dakota and Montana, are stock ranges limitless in extent, clothed with the most nutritious of grasses.

If a fruit farming region is wanted there is the whole state of Washington to select from.

As for scenic delights the Northern Pacific Railroad passes through a country unparalleled. In crossing the Rocky, Bitter Root, and Cascade Mountains, the greatest mountain scenery to be seen in the United States from car windows is found. The wonderful bad lands, wonderful in graceful form and glowing color, are a poem. Lakes Pend d'Oreille and Coeur d'Alene, are alone worthy of a transcontinental trip, while they are the fishermen's Ultima Thule. The ride along Clark's Fork of the Columbia River is a daylight dream. To cap the climax this is the only way to reach the far famed Yellowstone Park.

To reach and see all this the Northern Pacific Railroad furnishes trains and service of unsurpassed excellence. The most approved and comfortable Palace Sleeping cars; the best Dining cars that can be made; Pullman Tourist cars good for both first and second class passengers; easy riding day coaches, with baggage, Express, and Postal cars all drawn by powerful Baldwin Locomotives, make a train fit for royalty itself.

Those seeking for new homes should take this train and go and spy out the land. To be prepared, write to

THE DIRECT ROUTE EAST.

The Ohio and Mississippi Railway, running east from St. Louis, is the short and direct line to the National Capital, and offers a through train service which is not equaled by any other line. It is, properly speaking, the only direct through car line from the Mississippi River to Washington.

The Ohio and Mississippi Railway is the only line running all trains through solid from St. Louis to Cincinnati; the time being less than ten hours; and the only line running double daily lines of Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars from St. Louis to New York via Washington, Baltimore and Philadelphia without change.

The O. & M. has an enviable reputation for speed, comfort and safety, and the regularity of its trains is proverbial with the traveling public; in practice it almost realizes the ambition of every railroad management—to have trains always on time.

The popularity of the O. & M. Railway compels it to run three daily trains to Cincinnati and two to Louisville, to accommodate its steadily increasing travel; fully 95 per cent of the business from St. Louis to and via Cincinnati eastward being accredited to the O. & M.

Both the day and night express trains of the O. & M. are equipped with elegant Vestibule Day Coaches and Pullman Vestibule Buffet Sleeping Cars, Pullman Parlor Library Cars are also on day express and Free Reclining Chair Cars on night express trains.

All trains on this line connect in Union Depots with those for points in above named territories.

For tickets via the O. & M. Ry., and further information, call on agents of connecting lines or address G. B. Warfel, General Western Passenger Agent, Ohio and Mississippi Railway, 105 N. Broadway, St. Louis, Mo. 43-w-tf
