A SONG OF ELATION.

Respectfully dedicated to Mr. and Mrs. Walter Williams, of Columbia, Mo., upon the birth of their first-born, by George W. Ferrel.

Hail! little darling sweet With dimpled, dainty feet!

Into this world of ours Thou'rt come in time of flowers.

The sun in silvery space Lights up the old world's face.

The streams in gracious glee Go singing to the sea.

The rose and lily nod In silent prayer to God.

At morning's dewy gate The breeze blows in, elate,

And scatters where it goes The breath of pink and rose.

The stars are brighter still On heaven's highest hill,

And cast their softest gleams To down us deep in dreams.

The night and day combine To make earth more divine.

Hail! little stranger sweet With shell-like tinted feet!

Stranger? Ah, no! 'tis wrong To call thee thus in song.

Though but a breath since birth Gave thee in joy to earth,

The feeling thrills and cheers, We know thee as of years!

No matter what betide In this world, wild and wide,

A stranger thou canst be To us, not while the sea

Sways skyward to and fro, Not while the rivers flow,

Not while the planets beat Down bright paths of retreat,

Not while the mountains stand Lone sentinels o'er the land.

Thou art our angel-guest On mother's happy breast!

RARE LEGISLATION.

A Curious and Outrageous Bill That Once Passed the State Senate.

Many erratic things were done in the days of radicalism in Missouri—1862 to 1870.

The General assembly met to enact laws to make life a burden to those who were or had been engaged in rebellion or acts of disloyalty to the United States or the State of Missouri.

In hunting the dusty archives of the past was discovered that Senator Elias V. Wilson of the Seventh Senatorial district on January, 31, 1865 introduced the following bill in the senate:

An act in relation to Divorce and Alimony.

Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Missouri as follows:

Section 1. Any married person, whose husband or wife shall willfully engage in any insurrection or rebellion against the government of the United States, or this state, or in any partisan or guerrilla band in opposition to the authority of the United States or this state, or who shall willfully give aid and comfort to any person so engaged, shall be entitled to a divorce from the bonds of matrimony for any of said causes and a judgment or decree may be rendered therefor at the first term of the court having jurisdiction.

SEC. 2nd. In all cases under this act wherein the plaintiff shall recover a judgment or decree he or she shall have the custody and control of the minor children, should there be any, and shall recover full title to all property real, personal and mixed, which belonged to the guilty party at the time of the filing of petition by plaintiff for the divorce.

This act to be in force from and after its passage.

The bill was referred to the judiciary committee, which committee, on February 4 following reported favorably on the bill and advised its passage and it was passed. The senate journal does not give the vote by which it passed.

The bill failed to pass the house and did not become a law, hence husbands who were in the Confederate army could come home with a fair prospect of finding their wives waiting and watching.

Major A. C. Marvin, of Sedalia, was in the senate from this district. Col. R. T. Van Horn, editor of the Kansas City Journal, was also a member of the same senate and Frank H. Hickox, of Moniteau county, was a member.

Abjourned Term.

There will be held, Judge Field presiding, an adjourned term of the circuit court next Tuesday, to try back tax suits.

UNHOLY LOVE.

I loved her for her eyes of blue And yet her heart was bad; I loved her for her lips of dew That made my lips so glad.

I worshipped at her beauty shrine, Though gods impure were there, I pressed her bosom close to mine In passion—not in prayer.

Swift fell the day of righteous wrath, The withering curse of care; Thorns, thick and keen, beset our path, And blackness and despair.

No sunlight shed a single ray, No song nor any bloom, We passed down Dante's darkest way Into the depths of doom.

And there our souls shall yet remain— When earth has passed from view— O that my love had been in vain! O blasting eyes of blue!

—George W. Ferrel.

BLOOD FLOWED FREELY.

James Painter Stabbed Professor Tamblin, of Robbins' Business College.

Great excitement was occasioned on East Fifth street late Friday afternoon by an encounter between James Painter, a Missouri Pacific railroad brakeman, and Prof. F. W. Tamblin a teacher of penmanship in Robbins' business college.

Painter's residence adjoins the college and a 10 year old son of his, while playing around the college yard sometime ago, was maltreated, so it is claimed, by one of the students. A warrant was sworn out for the offender, but Justice Levens dismissed the case for lack of evidence.

Friday afternoon some one threw water on the boy while he was burning paper beneath a college window and throwing it into where the students were at work, and when the father came home and heard of it he was very angry. He called upon Professor Tamblin, who was alone in the college building. Painter was aggressive and insulting and asked Tamblin if he (Tamblin) was a better man than he?

Tamblin replied that he did not wish to have any trouble, that he wasn't in the fighting business. Tamblin then went out the front door, and Painter out the back door.

A few minutes afterward Tamblin started for supper and as he passed Painter's house, Painter came out and grabbed him by the arm and told him to "hold on; I want to see you." Tamblin jerked loose and started off and told Painter he did not want to have any trouble with him. Painter then grabbed him with both hands around the waist. A scuffle ensued, in which Painter drew a knife. Two of the students caught him and took the knife away from him, as they thought. Then Tamblin and the boys carried Painter into his house, thinking him drunk. Just as they let go he struck Tamblin in the right arm with the knife, making an ugly wound. He was cut in the right leg also.

Two surgeons were hastily summoned and the professor's wounds, which are not very serious, were dressed, after which he was taken to his home at 423 East Broadway.

Deputy Sheriff Ramsey shortly arrested Painter and he gave bond to appear before Justice Levens next Thursday, at which time the case will be tried.

Prof. Tamblin was in no manner to blame for the unfortunate affair. He is a quiet, peaceful gentleman and the quarrel was forced on him. Public opinion is decidedly and strongly in his favor.

At the World's Fair.

L. M. Monsees, of Smithton, Mo., proposes to "stand up for Missouri" at the World's fair, says Colman's Rural World, by showing his prize winning saddle stallion—Piedmont 198, the young saddle stallion Lee Rose 175, and the saddle mare Edna 174. For the labor animal of this state he will show the great jack, Superior Mammoth, Jr., 124. He says of this latter animal: "If he looks as well when I get him to Chicago as he does now, the jack that beats him will be worth $4,000 to his owner." We might add that to beat any of them they must be good ones.

"Dandy Jim" a Victor.

"Dandy Jim," the property of W. H. Ewing, of Pilot Grove, won the 2:18 trot at the Louisiana fair in 2:17, breaking his record made on the kite-shaped track in Sedalia last August. "Dandy Jim" is a great trotter with a homely name, and he would be worth thousands of dollars if he could be depended on, but he is very erratic and likely to run away with his driver in any race.

Releases.

The following parties were released from the county jail to-day, having served their sentences; James Hayden, petit larceny, and William Biltz, same offense.

TO THE LADIES.

If You Subscribe for the Weekly Bazoo You Get Much for Little.

The Bazoo is Always up with the Procession and now it is in the Lead.

New Subscribers is what THE BAZOO desires most.

Regardless of cost THE BAZOO proposes to have them and to accomplish this end we have just completed an arrangement with one of the noted inventors of this county who has agreed to supply us with a line of goods which have a far greater demand than any article ever given as a premium with a newspaper.

The name of Prof. D. W. Moody is almost a household word throughout all America as well as the greater part of Europe. Therefore we are sure he would not offer anything in his line to the public which was not fully up to the standard as represented by him, and the public, we believe will bear THE BAZOO out in such claims.

It is well known by the ladies that Prof. D. W. Moody is the original inventor of the first and only true tailorsystem ever known, for cutting ladies' and childrens' garments. Many hundreds of thousands of ladies now use and endorse Prof. Moody's first invention for dress cutting.

We are fully aware of the fact that those who are now using Moody's first system could not be induced to exchange it for any other system ever offered the public, except it could be replaced with a new improvement invented and endorsed by PROF. MOODY.

It is also known that Prof. Moody has for the past several years been expecting to offer the ladies a new improved system for dress cutting, but to improve his old system was among the almost impossibilities, and as a matter of fact, he does not now claim to have improved his old system, but he does claim, and the public bear him out in his claim, that he has recently invented a system of dress cutting, which is unlike in every way shape and form any system heretofore offered the public. This new invention is known as

Moody's New Improved Tailor System

And Combination of Squares For Dress Cutting, he having made and completed the first one of these new systems April 4th, 1893, and in less than four months sold over thirty thousand, and in many instances he has received an order for one single system in some districts and in just a few days after the buyer of a single system would secure it he received many other orders from ladies who would examine the system purchased by their neighbor, and on this account alone has Prof. Moody consented to allow THE BAZOO to make this our extraordinary offer for new subscribers. We are informed by Prof. Moody that we may offer his new system known as Moody's New Improved Tailor System and Combination of Squares for Dress Cutting, copyrighted, March, 1893, as a premium with

THE WEEKLY BAZOO

We to allow him to withdraw the offer on 15 days' notice.

Remember ladies this offer is one that you should not overlook, because this new system is just what you want and when you can get it for nothing you should not expect more. We deliver the system to you postpaid, it contains the most complete printed and illustrated instructions ever before given with a dress cutting system. The lessons are short, simple and easily learned without the aid of a teacher. The curves, and in fact every line of the waist is more graceful than has ever been obtained through the aid of a dress cutting system before.

The New Skirt Instructions are worth more than the entire cost of the complete system if you were to pay the full price for one which is $3.50, and if you send us your subscription at once we will mail you THE WEEKLY BAZOO post-paid for one year, and as a premium we will also mail you one of Prof. Moody's New Improved Tailor System and Combination of Squares for Dress Cutting, for one dollar. Remember ladies, this system is mailed post-paid to you and also that it is ready for use the moment you unfold it, no paper or patterns are required to be used with it, you make your drafts directly on the cloth and what is more with Moody's New Improved Tailor System and Combination of Squares for Dress Cutting, you can cut a complete dress while you would be getting started with any other system and when you have the dress cut and stitched it will fit without the alteration of a single seam.
