On March 31 the clocks are to be turned forward one hour again. We believed that since the war is over there would be no necessity for turning the clocks back this spring. It may work all right in the large manufacturing centers but out here in the middle-west in the farming communities we are just old foggy enough to want to let nature take her own way as to the time of day.—Cassville Republican.

Ray F. Stephens and J. O. Mowery, the two young men who have opened a dancing school in town, come with highest recommendations from the club in Joplin where they have been teaching the past month. They have recently been in Chicago and are bringing the latest popular dances used there and farther east. The patrons of their first dance are Monett society leaders. They started giving lessons, Saturday morning. They can be reached by phoning 139.
