A motor knocks going up hill and a man knocks going down.

The cleanliness of a city is the measure of its modernity.—Chicago Examiner.

Meat prices declining.—Headline Declining to decline, apparently.—New York World.

The suffragists are eagerly awaiting the day when they can proclaim to the world that they have a perfect 36.—Washington Herald.

The supposition now is that since the peace dove set out to find that olive branch, she must have got hold of a ripe olive.—Columbia Record.

Plant flowers, shrubbery and trees and beautify the home town. We are now a member of the Playgrounds Association and we expect distinguished visitors.

A clean up and paint up campaign disposes of the breeding places of the deadly fly. Have you noticed that since Monett has taken more interest in keeping the city clean that there are not so many flies as there used to be? The little house fly has always been considered a nuisance and a pest, but it is only of late years that we have come to an understanding that he is more than a nuisance. He is a deadly menace to health. He is a wholesale distributor of disease germs of all kinds. Flies breed in refuse. When refuse is destroyed the fly has no home in which to establish a family. Not "swat the fly" but "remove the refuse" is the right slogan for the fly extermination.

Springfield, like Monett, is not satisfied with the census figures. They had been claiming that the census would show 45,000 people, whereas the returns show 5,000 less. Monett expected to show up 5,500 population and the figures showed only 4,206. In both cities the population exceeds the housing facilities, but the census figures do not give the increase in population which the lack of residence room would seem to warrant. It may be that smaller families make some difference in this apparent discrepancy, but we cannot help but think that some of our population has been overlooked.

Delaware has defeated woman's suffrage, but a little thing like Delaware won't stop the movement.—Springfield Leader.
