CANT GET ALONG WITHOUT THE TIMES

In renewing his subscription to the Times, M. P. Randolph, of Estancia, N. M., writes as follows:

Please find herewith my check for two dollars in payment for one year's subscription to Weekly Monett Times. Intended to send it in the first of the year but neglected it. I certainly do not want it stopped as it is almost like being back in Monett to receive a copy of it.

We are getting along nicely out here and this is certainly a fine country. That is as to climate and health, however you can't say so much about it as a farming country as about all they raise here is pinto beans.

Here's wishing the Monett Times, and all my old friends the greatest success possible and expecting to pay Monett a visit along about holiday time.

FAVORS CROSS COUNTRY ROADS

Resolution Calls For Roads of No Higher Grade Than Gravel or Clay Bound Gravel. With Federal Money To Aid.

Jefferson City, Mo., July 9.—The house committee on roads today adopted a plan calling for distribution of most of the $60,000,000 road fund among the counties, according to the "square root of their areas."

The plan also calls for expenditure of the state road fund on roads of a higher type than gravel. Hard surfaced road advocates on the committee appeared to be greatly in the minority. Leaders expressed the opinion that the resolution adopted will make more difficult the task of reconciling the views of the house with the hard surfaced plan of the Ralph road bill, engrossed by the senate yesterday.

At the suggestion of Representative Whitaker, Hickory county, the resolution provided that three-fourths of the $60,000,000 state fund and $10,000,000 of the estimated $35,000,000 federal aid money, if not obtained, shall be divided among counties according to "the square root of their areas."

F. E. ENGLEMAN RECEIVES STUDENT HONORS

Finis E. Engleman, superintendent of the Monett public schools, has been given student honors at the Southwest Teachers College this year.

Several years ago the faculty decided to have a place on the commencement program for two students who would be representative of the type of student the school is desirous of producing. The honor is not bestowed on high scholarship alone, although that is an important factor in making the selection. Only students of high moral character can be considered. The general attitude of the student toward the school and faculty and toward student activities is one of the chief points of selection. Professional promise is also a consideration.

Mr. Engleman and Miss Freda Marshall were the two students selected by the Literary Society Committee.

LAWRENCE COUNTY MAN MAKES GOOD WITH JERSEYS

From one cow to one of the highest producing herds in Southwest Missouri, in eight years is the record of Fred Bigelow of Aurora. He started in the dairy business in 1913 with one jersey cow. By saving her calves he has built up a notable herd. This cow was the mother of one bull and four heifer calves.

Mr. Bigelow leaves nothing to chance so tested these heifers. One produced 407 pounds of fat at two years and 7 months of age, another 427 pounds at 3 years and 10 months, and another 474 pounds at 3 years, an average of 436 pounds. From this blood he now has 12 females in his herd. Only one of the granddaughters of this foundation cow has been tested but she is running true to form with a record at one year and ten months of age of 301 pounds of fat in 325 days and two heifer calves to her credit.

During the last few years Mr. Bigelow has bought other cows but his main herd was developed from the blood of the one cow. The owner is not satisfied with the records and believes at the present time that he can increase the former record by a hundred pounds per cow by better feeding and handling.

He is a firm believer in testing, to know what his cows are doing and is trying to start a cow testing association for Lawrence County.

LAWRENCE COUNTY FARMERS GET RESULTS FROM LIMESTONE

By L. L. Hunt, County Agent. Limestone has only been used to a limited extent in Lawrence County but all that have used it on a large scale and with the right crops have obtained excellent results.

One of the pioneer users of limestone in this section was F. D. Coleman of Marionville. In 1907 he began in a small way with limestone and air slacked lime. After a few attempts he discontinued the use of air slacked lime because it put the soil in bad condition by burning out the organic matter. In 1911 he started buying ground limestone in car lots. He failed on growing alfalfa until he started liming heavily but since has grown twenty acres of excellent alfalfa. Mr. Coleman left check strips through his soy beans and cow peas and found that lime more than doubled the yields of such legumes. "Manure and phosphate plowed under and an application of limestone," says Mr. Coleman, "has enabled me to raise 44 bushels of wheat to the acre, and 37½ bushels of soybeans. It also increases the average height of yellow blossom sweet clover from 3 to 7 feet. Ground limestone rock is what we need for our soil more than any thing else."

Henry Rathmann of Mt. Vernon tried limestone in a small way for three years then began buying by the car load. According to Mr. Rathmann it has always given him excellent results, and by its use he has been able to raise clover where it always failed before. "I know my land is sour" Mr. Rathmann said, "and that I do not use enough limestone but it certainly has paid me well and I want another car load this fall."

Otto Obermann of Freistatt got his car load last fall and sowed in on wheat and clover. "Certainly showed up on my wheat and I got a fine stand of clover" writes Mr. Obermann. "Tried some on a patch of Red Sorrell and it sure checked that. I don't know how well it has paid me but it paid me well enough that I am going to use another car load this year."

Similar results have been obtained on the farms of H. H. Bloss, Aurora; Jim Shelton, Phelps; Simon Baumgartner, Peirce City; T. E. McClure of Aurora, and others.

Experimental evidence from all over the county bear out the experiences of Lawrence County farmers. Results obtained on the University Experimental fields on sour land in Southern Illinois show that $4.50 was returned for every dollar invested in limestone. Indiana experiments on seven of their state fields show an average net profit of $2.68 for every dollar's worth of limestone used. Experiments conducted by the Missouri Experiment station on a rotation of corn, soy beans, wheat and clover gave a return of $1.95 for every dollar invested. Many of these experiments were conducted on land that is not as acid as the soil in Lawrence county so it can be safely assumed that results here should be as great if not greater.

Mrs. Lynn Williams, of Peirce City, is spending her vacation with her sister, Mrs. L. A. Blood.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Erwin Rose, Genevieve and Anna Martin and P. J. Anderson of Springfield, motored to Joplin and Neosho Sunday.

Allen Ogburn, of Duquoin, Ill., traveling salesman for Pochontas Moccasin Company, of Bombay, N. Y., is visiting Dr. and Mrs. M. E. Trumbower. Mr. Ogburn was a former schoolmate of Mrs. Trumbower.
