

Santa Fe Boy is Killed

Eugene Vanlandingham, 7 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Vanlandingham, was run over by a wagon and instantly killed near the west approach to the bridge east of Santa Fe, Tuesday afternoon. The wagon was loaded with lumber. The wheel passed over the little fellow's neck, breaking the bone. He died without a struggle. His father, who was driving another wagon, reached his side in an instant and carried his lifeless body to the home of Mrs. Frank Hanna, near by. Both the father and mother were almost prostrated and crazed by the shock.

It seems that Mr. Vanlandingham had taken two wagons to Santa Fe for lumber for a new barn. The little boy, who was unusually bright and quick for his age, drove one of the teams. All went well until his wagon wheel suddenly plunged into a rut as he was coming down the hill which leads to the bridge on the east side. The unexpected jerk caused Eugene to lose his balance and fall, with the above awful result.

Funeral was conducted by Rev. O'Heran at the Christian Church in Santa Fe on Wednesday afternoon. It was one of the saddest events in the history of that community. On every hand tears were shed for the untimely end to a very promising life and for the parents who had been so suddenly and sorely bereaved.—Paris Appeal.

Moore-Ely Marriage

Mr. Homer James Moore and Miss Gwendolyn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac M. Ely of South of Perry were united in marriage at the home of the officiating minister, Rev. C. A. Mitchell, at Mexico on last Thursday afternoon.

The groom is of an excellent family, industrious and thrifty, good habits an all round fine young man.

The bride recently finished a term of school in the Hutchison district, endearing herself with the pupils and patrons. She graduated from the Perry High School with honors, and is a lovable, sweet young lady. To this fine young couple we take pleasure in extending congratulations. May Heaven bless this union with happiness and the many comforts of life.—Perry Enterprise.

Dr. Wilson, wife and baby visited Mr. and Mrs. Joe Quinn, at Monroe City, Thursday. They made the trip in the doctor's car, but on account of the heavy rain Thursday night, were compelled to return Friday morning on the Katy.—Stoutsville Banner.

MRS. MCGILL BROKE DOWN

Gives the Real Facts in Regard to Her Case and Tells How She Suffered.

Jonesboro, Ark.—"I suffered a complete break down in health, some time ago," writes Mrs. A. McGill, from this place. "I was very weak and could not do any work. I tried different remedies, but they did me no good.

One day, I got a bottle of Cardui. It did me so much good, I was surprised, and took some more.

Before I took Cardui, I had headache and backache, and sometimes I would cry for hours. Now I am over all that, and can do all kinds of housework. I think it is the greatest medicine on earth."

In the past fifty years, thousands of ladies have written, like Mrs. McGill, to tell of the benefit received from Cardui.

Such testimony, from earnest women, surely indicates the great value of this tonic remedy, for diseases peculiar to women. Are you a sufferer? Yes?

Cardui is the medicine you need. We urge you to try it.

Keeping the Record Straight

When you are a candidate for president, you should have a good memory. As proof of which, is the example of Colonel Roosevelt who in a recent speech before a Methodist convention, after making his customary savage attack upon President Wilson's Mexican policy, declared that, while he was president, "not one man, woman or child of this country was slain by representatives of any foreign nation." Upon which, the New York Evening Post went searching through its files for the period of Roosevelt's reign and published some of the records of that time as follows:

July 22, 1904 "Two Americans shot in Mexico," January 18, 1905 "A. I. Sanger murdered in Mexico," January 22, 1905, "Yaquis killed four Americans," the same year "American fishermen jailed in Mexico," and American sailors charge tortures in Mexico," in June 1906, several Americans were killed at Cananea, and the survivors demanded that troops be sent to protect them, when "Root denied American troops to Cananea."

All of these events in Mexico occurred under the rule of Colonel Roosevelt. Has he really forgotten all about them? The record also fails to show anywhere that he took any steps whatever to protect Americans in Mexico, as a result of these violent acts. Apparently he was not in such an heroic mood then as now.—Brownsville (Tex) Herald.

Six O'clock Breakfast at Lake Monroe

Thursday morning, Miss Webb the teacher of the Teachers Training Class invited us out to the lake for a six o'clock breakfast. Having gathered at her home, we started on our joyous journey. After a pleasant walk of twenty minutes we reached our destination where we decided to build our camp fire near a shady elm, about one hundred yards from the lake. We enjoyed a very delicious breakfast, eating roasted weenies and bacon, bread and butter, hot coffee, bananas, oranges and cookies. Then we engaged in a very lively game of "Drop the Handkerchief." We also went to see the lake, but as it was nearing nine o'clock we started to town each expressing their appreciation of the pleasant outing and her presence with us as a teacher, counselor and friend. She will always be remembered by the following: Daisy Crigler, Ellen Overly, Gladys Ernst, Mary Loyd, Hazel McGee, Elsie Lewellen, Ethel Batty, Aurelia Ely, Alfred Longmire and Herbert Hedberg. Also Mary Kern and Harry Hedberg although they were unable to be present.

Mr. and Mrs. Carrol Jackson went to Quincy Thursday for the purpose of having the latters tonsils removed.

Chewing Up Our Navy.

Recently a little girl, named Marjorie Sterrett, started something by sending Uncle Sam a dime to help build a battleship.

The story was published and the next morning the dimes began to roll in.

Your Uncle Samuel was somewhat embarrassed by not having any law under which the money could be accepted and directed Secretary Daniels to return the dimes.

The idea had gotten loose and couldn't be stopped. The Chicago Tribune took it up and other papers all over the country are boosting it and an organization has been formed to handle the fund.

Now it is said that if the chewing gum girls will lay off the habit for awhile and put the money into the ship it will be built in a short time.

The chewing gum habit in the past ten years has cost ten times as much as we paid for Alaska.

In other words the annual grist of the beautiful maxillary muscles totals $3,500,000.

Here is a source of revenue which could be used for a navy without loss to anyone.

Doubtless the saving in energy of mastication would equal several broad sides fired from the 14-inch guns.
