

ONCE MORE.

Missouri Disgraced by Another Train Robbery.

Another train robbery occurred last Friday night on the Rock Island road at Winston, in Daviess county, near Cameron Junction. The train was boarded at Cameron by four men, and at Winston, twelve miles east, by three more. Just as the train left Winston, and as the conductor, W. Westfall, was taking tickets, a large man, with black whiskers, jumped up and said, "Hold up your hands," and at the same time fired. The conductor's back was toward him, and the first shot plowed through his shoulder, the second entered his back near the spine and passed through his body, killing him almost instantly. While this was going on firing took place in the baggage car. Murry, the United States Express messenger, was knocked down and the safe robbed of nearly fifteen thousand dollars. During the melee two men on the front end of the baggage car fired at the engineer but did not hit him. Near where the fight took place there was a number of masons at work on bridge piers, and one of them named McWilliam, who was in the smoking car, was killed while trying to assist the conductor.

A scouting party headed by Sheriff Timberlake, of Clay county, has been in search, assisted by other parties, since the robbery, but no clue of their whereabouts has been ascertained. It is conceded on all sides that the robbery was committed by Jesse James, Frank James, Jim Cummings, Ed. Miller, Poke Wells, a man named Palmer, a brother-in-law of James, and their half-brother named Samuel.

It is believed the robbery was planned in the territory between Hall's station and Atchison, and that all their movements were made from that point. The best of horses, well gaunted, were tied in the timber for them near Dog creek, where the train was stopped after the robbery, and on these their flight was made. Wells is believed to have been one of the gang that recently robbed the bank at Riverton, Iowa, where he is supposed to have been on a horse-stealing expedition.

Westfall was some five years ago, on the train that brought a number of Pinkerton's so-called detectives to Kearney, where they raided the James stronghold and threw a hand-grenade into the house of the James boys, blowing an arm off their mother, now Mrs. Samuels, and killing her little son. It is said the James boys swore to kill every man who was on that train, and it is said Frank James was the man who fired the shot that killed Westfall. Again, Westfall was known to be a cool, brave man, and to be armed, and that he would protect his passengers and the property on the train against any odds, and when he started for the baggage and express car where the robbery was underway, it became necessary to their plans to get the drop on him and dispose of him at once.

A reward of $5,000 for the gang, or a proportionate amount for each one has been offered by the railroad company. This reward will not get this gang of outlaws after the first excitement is over. If our State authorities, combined with the express and railroad companies will make the reward fifty thousand dollars, we have little doubts but that this gang of outlaws would be brought to justice.

How long, oh how long must Missouri bear this odium.

The Republicans of New York are to be congratulated, for their almost unanimous wish has at last prevailed. The Hon. Warner Miller was, on Saturday last elected United States Senator for the term ending in 1887, and succeeds Thomas C. Platt. Mr. Miller is a devoted friend of the National Administration. He graduated at Union College in 1860, began to teach in the Fort Edward college institute; when the war broke out enlisted as a private in the cavalry; served with distinction in the Shenandoah; was promoted to Major, was taken prisoner at the battle of Winchester and kept till the close of the war. He is at present a manufacturer of paper and has served in Congress several terms.

That he has to be taken from the House, where the Republicans need all their elected members, to sup a gap in the Senate, may be charged to the rule or ruin fight which Mr. Conkling has made.

The latest vote for successor to Mr. Conkling—E. G. Lapham received 68 votes, being five short of an election. He will doubtless be elected to-day, Friday.

A special to the Times from Jefferson City says that Gov. Crittenden will not interfere any further in the Talbot case, and they will be executed to-day (Friday). His reasons are that he cannot find anything in the confession which he says he has looked into and examined very closely in connection with the facts in his possession bearing on the case to warrant him in interfering with the judgment of the court.

The President's medical attendants and the friends who see him every day are now confident of his ultimate recovery. He is feeling the regular recurrence of appetite, as he can take substantial meals. He is cheerful and feels convinced of his own speedy convalescence.

GRITTEAU's bullet seems to have missed Garfield but it killed Conkling too dead to pickle. The latest bulletins from that much renowned gentleman are about as follows: Conkling is breathing hard, possessing a hot temperature, saying little but thinking a great deal, occasionally murmuring something concerning Arthur and Sharpe. His case is critical.

Personal and Society.

—Rev. P. M. Best and wife are visiting the family of J. B. Payne.

—Henry Thomas, one of Craig's leading business men was in our city last Monday.

—E. A. Kutzner of Scotland county is visiting his son-in-law, Rev. Carothers of this city.

—Mrs. T. I. Kreek was visiting her son-in-law, Prof. W. F. Drake, of Mound City last week.

—P. B. Cook of Craig came down to our city last Monday and held a consultation with Collector Morrison.

—W. G. McIntyre of Liberty township came down to see his old friends at the county seat last Thursday.

—Miss Nettie Gardner has returned from her California trip much improved in health, we are pleased to learn.

—E. A. Bennett of Kansas City, formerly of Mound City, was in our town last week, the guest of L. R. Knowles.

—Joseph R. Stone of Maitland has one of the finest saddlery and harness shops in northwest Missouri, outside of St. Joseph.

—Jacob Book was in the city last Thursday, to see that the improvements on the court house were going ahead in a satisfactory manner.

—The many friends of "Baby" Cook of St. Joseph, will be glad to learn of his return from Texas. He reports his cattle ranch as booming.

—C. W. Krum, a former merchant of Maitland, who has been in Denver, Colorado, several months, is back among his many friends in this county.

—Bryant Peter who left here a few weeks ago, for Butte City, Montana, is one of the clerical force of a large freighting company at that place.

—Miss Fannie Meyer who left here several weeks ago in company with her brother Jacob, writes from Lander City, Wyoming, that she is delighted with the country and is much improved in health.

—Willie Graham of Maitland has, since he has been located in that thriving little city, built up a trade that is well to be proud of. He and his excellent wife made a flying trip to Oregon one day last week.

—Miss Susie Dunn, an interesting young Miss of thirteen, is visiting her aunt, Mrs. Dr. Lehmer of this city. Miss Susie has had the honor of reading the Declaration of Independence at Graham for three successive years.

—H. J. La Tour of the Missionary Baptist Association was in our city last week looking after his flock. He will commence a series of meetings at Mound City the first Sunday in August, and at Forest City the second Sunday in August.

SITTING BELL has surrendered.

Forest City.

—Wheat 85c, corn 25c.

—The Union cemetery is being cleared off by John Crittenden.

—Kid Stewart and Joe Williams went to St. Joe Tuesday to see the show.

—The rain fall for Forest City on the 12th inst., 1.19, on the 14th 0.01 in., on the 17th, 1 in., making a total of 2.20 in.

—Esquire Wilkinson was called on to marry one of the Schaefer boys to some body—of course it was a woman—last Tuesday.

—Wm. Harrison, son of Blair Harrison, died of brain fever on Sunday, and was buried in the Union cemetery on Monday. He was sick but a few days.

—The experience of the past few weeks proves that Forest City should be on a more elevated location when the winds blow and scatter the musquitos.

It is not a common thing to register dropped letters, and yet that was done a short time ago by a young man who was determined that his girl should get his missive of concentrated sweetness.

—E. Van Buskirk, Tom. Hinde, Amos Castle, Sheriff Frame, David Foster Jas. A. Keeves, Ira Peter and other Oregonians visited our city recently in search of fish. They met with the usual fisherman's luck, except that there wasn't water enough to do much damage.

—The streets are now receiving a thorough stirring up by commissioner Alaback. The hill on the Oregon road has been graded and now the street west of Muirhead branch is being graded down. Some sidewalks are to be built and Forest City will be made passable for man and beast.

—Horse thieves are reported all over the country. It seems there is a regular organized band which infests North Missouri and Iowa, and they are thinning out the horse population rapidly. Keep a sharp lookout for suspicious characters, and if they molest your horses treat them to a dose of lead.

—Now that Vennor can show us what he can do in the way of extreme cold and extreme heat, we trust that he is conservatively inclined for the next six months. If he is anything but an extremist in the weather line, he will moderate the weather and give us that happy medium for the rest of this year we are so well prepared by recent experience to properly appreciate.

—A dry goods clerk not far from here, who has a most outlandish way of walking, had to go to a distant part of the store to find some goods which a party of feminine customers desired to see. "Walk this way, ladies," he called, as he swung himself off. "Walk this way." "But we can't walk that way," cried a pert miss, "we never learned that style, you know." The clerk has since been seen in the back yard drilling his tibia in the motions of a new gait.

Corning.

The farmers have got their grain up in good shape.

No rain yet. Everything needs it, even the musquitos.

The merchants say they never know business better for this time of the year.

The Street Commissioner promises to finish the crossings next week, and grade the same.

Bad Overman is convalescing. His many friends are glad to see him back at his old place.

John Cameron is sick again. Don't work so hard John, the railroad company don't ask you to.

What shall we do to be saved from this hot weather? The thermometer seems to do no good.

De. J. S. Currier has permanently located here. He has several cases that he has been very successful with so far.

The little daughter of Joseph Hurst was buried July 17th. She suffered about two weeks with the summer complaint.

Potatoes are scarce at $1.00 per bushel. Everything that a man can eat is bringing a good price, with plenty of buyers.

We understand that the Little Dutch Corner Band is to have a picnic in the near future. We hope so, and success to them.

I fear these items are already too long, and it is to be any hotter, it will be considerably longer before you hear from me again.

Gus Sideman's weight is a ton; and the smile on his face resembles a pumpkin after a wagon wheel has passed through it.—It's a girl.

The K. C., St. Jo., & C. B. surface gang is stationed here, and it makes the boarding bosses skirish around lively to keep the tables filled.

Samuel Mavery was appointed Road Overseer last week, and he has commenced work in earnest. Sam is the right man in the right place.

Sedwick, Walters & Co. are putting in a pair of trunk scales at their elevator. Then they will be able to handle all the grain in several hundred miles of here.

Messrs Flint and Johnson were over in Nebraska last week looking after their threshing. They have a new "Minnesota Chief" that has been run only one season. They do clean work and quick.

Mr. Collor and J. Gillmore had a "wow and wumpus" last week. Mr. Collor plead guilty to an assault, but Mr. Gillmore thinks that is thin; it neither mends his hide nor takes the morning off his eyes, so he goes from home to Craig for justice. We wait with patience.

John Smith was passing by the 'boose the other night and hearing the voices of some one within, quietly peeped in and found the Marshal making a bed for George Collor, so John snuck the door and left Mr. Hooton and his prisoners in that take over till morning. We thought you was smarter, Hooton.

J. R. Dadds has just returned from Wymore, Neb., where he is building a hardware and store room. He will settle up with the railroad company this month and Corning will lose one of her best friends, and Wymore will gain one of the best families in Holt county. Mr. Dadds, if you ever feel like returning to your first love, our arms are ever open and we would gladly welcome you back.

The new railroad map of the C. B. & Q. road has caused considerable talk. The map shows Corning to be one of the greatest railroad towns in the west. Our hotels and boarding houses are inadequate to accommodate the public now, and when the public finds out that the T. V. railroad is to be a direct line from Chicago to Denver, via Corning Short Line, the rush will be much greater. There is no better place along the Missouri valley for a first class hotel than Corning.

H. A. Danders says they didn't surprise him a bit, although he and all the family were in the arms of Morpheus, when all at once there was a murmur and a giggle heard all around the house. Mr. D. pondered in his mind for some moments: "Am I awake or dreaming." Finally he demanded an explanation of this intrusion. On opening the door, to his great surprise, there stood a host of the young folks of his intimate acquaintance. To say the door was thrown open and the crowd welcomed in is putting it mild. A pleasant evening has not been passed in this neighborhood for some time. "Oh no, I wasn't surprised; I was just beat."

A. R. Todd, of Hamburg, has been here several days moving a house for Mr. C. H. Walters from the bank of the river to Corning, a distance of two miles. It has been a very difficult job. Other contractors commenced the work but gave it up and pronounced it impossible. Nevertheless Mr. Todd has landed the house in town at its proper place, and in good shape. He has raised Mr. P. C. Scholtz' drug store two feet, and has the contract of moving Mrs. Helm's house and barn to Corning, a distance of one and a half miles; also to raise August Heinstorf's property. Mr. Todd understands his business thoroughly, and has proved himself competent and responsible, and has made a host of friends.

THEODORE GREENPICKLE.

THE newspapers are enjoying another boom. The Albany row is settled and Conkling is busted. The Talbot boys will soon hang and Jesse James has robbed another train.

—Lost: two eight-weeks-old Poland China pigs. Female has some yellow spots, male some white spots. Anyone giving information leading to their recovery will be liberally rewarded.

J. N. MENIFEE.

Nodaway County Items.

Messrs EDITORS:—Our quiet community was thrown into excitement last Wednesday at the sad intelligence of one of our prosperous citizens being found dead, having committed suicide. Mr. Shade, who has lived for several years about four miles north of Graham, last Spring manifested some signs of derangement and gradually grew worse, until it was certain insanity was inevitable, and for some time his family have considered themselves unsafe, living in constant dread; now their dread is dispelled by a deeper sorrow. It is sad to part with our loved ones under circumstances that are natural. It is shocking to know their lives were taken by the hand of another, but oh, how terribly awful to be snatched into the presence of God by the violence of his own hand.

The same day Mrs. McAnally of Maitland, made an attempt at suicide which may possibly prove fatal. We have not learned the particulars, only that it seems there had been some dispute or difficulty between her and her husband, and that he threatened to leave her. The thought was more than she could endure. She went to the river in the morning to drown herself, but her heart failed. She then prepared to cut her throat, but falling in this, she resorted to burning, by saturating her clothes with coal oil and setting them afire. There is—there can be no law to control this great moral, social and national wrong, yet we think much of it might be deterred by educating the minds of the people against it. Such a presentation of the criminality of the deed; such an earnest setting forth of the wrongs perpetrated against humanity, should be made from every pulpit, every platform and every order loving citizen; in every Sabbath school, in every book, in every newspaper in the land, that the consciousness of the people would be aroused to a true sense of the terrible nature of this crying evil. But it is to be regretted that by many of our prominent citizens it is complimented, and gives the occasion of a lively jest.

Mr. Hale, who was so badly hurt the 24th of June by the running away of the notorious team of Mr. Bobbit, of Graham, will probably recover the health of his body, but it is thought can not recover his mental loss. Think of a man tampering with two uncontrollable horses until they kill a wife and mother of six or seven children, most of whom are small, and then deprive a man of rational powers, a wife of her husband, and her children of their father, and all because they were ambitious and appeared well together.

Corwin Johnston, Dr. Morgan, Mr. Burruss and others have gone with families to the "Denver Springs" in Worth county. Reports of good to the afflicted already reach us.

Mr. Lovelock Moore, one of Nodaway's most successful farmers, is suffering from what is pronounced by his physician as cancer in the stomach.

By the way we have a Methodist minister who, "they say," does his own cooking, his wife is off visiting. I assure you if he eats according to his size life must be a burden to him this hot weather. He is doing his best to "keep cool."

NOW AND THEN.

THE LIQUOR CASES AGAIN.

EDITOR COUNTY PAPER:—Justice Three is evidently a little out of temper because anyone dare assume that there are two sides to the liquor prosecution cases. But then it is characteristic of these rabid prohibition people; they always lose their temper if the world does not move as they say it shall; they are the people who shall prescribe just how and what other people shall or shall not drink; and no matter whether they are in the majority or minority, everybody must move at their beck and nod. They evidently forget that this is free America, and that others have just as good a right to their opinions as they have to theirs, and it isly because they to abuse everybody they imagine speaks or writes on the other side. Neither is it an exhibition of christian grace to call any attorney a pettifogger because he differs in opinion with them. "Justice Three" should be man enough to name the attorney who gets his cases through by pettifogging; but whoever he is, he can stand it just as well as Judge Kelley can stand to be charged with rendering a decision directly in the face of the law. That although Judge Huitt was proven guilty, yet the court (Judge Kelley) so instructed the jury that they had to find him not guilty, and that the law was so construed in their favor because they were needed in political campaigns. That those in authority have determined in advance to construe the laws in favor of liquor. That our courts have set a premium on the liquor traffic. Now I submit the above five charges made to "Justice" in the Press of July 2d, to the people of Holt county, and let them decide whether Judge Kelley is guilty of any one of them. He has served the people as judge for nearly nine years, and his majorities in 1874 and 1880 show what the people think of him. As a temperance man his character and record will speak for him. He is not a prohibitionist; he is conservative in everything, and as a judge trying liquor cases he has always construed the laws in the strictest manner against the men who were on trial for violating them. And no man has complained more bitterly of that strict construction than your attorney, T. H. Parrish. Yet you good men, better than any on the liquor side, would convict a man, law or no law, and falling to do so you would indiscriminately assail judge, jury, defendants and their attorneys. Shame on you! Then you say the Temperance men employed an attorney to tell Judge Huitt his duty; yes, and the whole people of Holt county last fall elected L. R. Knowles prosecuting attorney for that same purpose, and the Statute Law of Missouri makes him the only legal advisor of the County Court, and John Curtis and Judge Huitt both testified in court that Judge Huitt asked L. R. Knowles as to the law, and acted on his advice. Now the Temperance and sane men both had counsel present, each was by the court heard; then the county attorney was afterwards consulted, and now in all fairness, could Judge Huitt be convicted? even if he had been charged with any offense known to the law. You temperance men refused to trust in the honesty and ability of L. R. Knowles (and it is an admitted fact that he has lost fewer cases than any prosecuting attorney Holt county ever had) and so employed Mr. T. H. Parrish to prosecute the cases. He lost both cases, and you know how as well as anybody, for you were all there, like a lot of turkey buzzards, ready (in a christian spirit) to gorge yourselves to repletion on the carcasses you thought had been so well prepared for you, and when you failed to get them you began (and have kept it up) yelping and howling like a lot of hungry coyotes.

The Motive Power.

The most beautiful illustration of perfect mechanism and wonderful strength to be found on the globe is a steam engine. It is the embodiment of conscious power, and will walk away with 30 or 40 heavy laden cars as easily as you would take a pound weight and toss it about, or push a baby carriage down hill. Isn't it a picture to look at as it stands calmly on the rails—every point and band throwing back the rays of the sun like burnished gold, the engineer's cab looking as neat as a lady's parlor? Did you ever think how worthless this grand machine would be without the power to start into life the wonderful coils and levers? Let us point a moral from this simple sketch and apply it to every day business life. You will see at a glance that the point in this illustrates the grand principle of existence itself—the motive power. You can't start the engine without steam, and a business house wont run successfully without the energy and push of live men to keep it going. The principle is the same in both cases—the steam runs the engine and the live men the business. They would both be valueless without the motive power. We have labored for years to perfect our business machine, we've "tightened the bands, oiled the cogs" and introduced a great many new features. We think now that it makes good time on the track and we want you to come and see it work. We have been obliged to get more room and have moved into the store room just east of King & Prouds' drug store, where you can see the finest line of Furniture in Holt county. Nor can my stock of Collins and undertaking goods be surpassed in Northwest Missouri. The finest hearse in the Northwest is also my property.

Obituary.

Died, at his home near Forest City, July 17th, 1881, of Wood person, William F., son of Blair B. and M. J. Harrison, aged 15 years, 11 months and 10 days.

Deceased was sick one week; suffered much, but bore it patiently. His spirit gently passed away at five o'clock on Sunday morning. Services were held in the evening at five o'clock, Monday, at eleven A. M., with the neighbors, friends and heart-stricken and bereaved family, laid the body in the cemetery at Forest City.

This leaves in this house a vacant chair, and in the hearts of the family an aching void that time can never fill.

Willie had worked hard and faithfully, and his father intended to send him to school, but he has gone to that school where they do not see through a glass darkly, or know in part, but where they see face to face and know things as they are.

Willie never obeyed his father in Baptism. Speaking to his mother about it, she told him to wait and study the matter well, as she would hate to see him take this most solemn of obligations and then break it. Besides this, Willie possessed all the christian graces, and was in all things a model young man.

In thought he was pure; in conversation, chaste; in manners, child like; in obedience to parents, faultless. Who can say that, with a character formed under the care and prayers of a christian home, Willie is not in Paradise? For one, I have no doubt but that he attained that character which the Master sought to secure, through the Gospel, to those who obey.

The family have the prayers of all God's people in this hour of affliction. They have much treasure in heaven; treasure which moth and rust doth not corrupt, nor thieves break through and steal. We believe that God aims thus by all the ties of love and hope to firmly fix the affections of the family in heaven. Seven are over here and seven are here, and we hope, in mercy, God that all may pass over and constitute an unbroken family with their now departed boy in heaven.

Oh! Willie, my boy. We know your face is hid Under the coffin lid; Closed are your eyes; it is the forehead fair; Our hearts that murmur 'R. O. G.' in prayer we know; Yet our hearts whisper that he is not there.

Not there? Where then is he? The form we used to see Was but the rainbow's bow, The grave that now doth press Upon that out-of-sight Is but his warlike lock—his is not there.

He lives! In all the just He lives; 'tis to the just, Of seeing him again will we despair; In dreams we see him now, And on his angel brow, We see it written, "Thou shalt see me there!"

Yes, we all live to God! Father, thy shining God! No lie, thine angels come to hear, That in the Spirit Land, 'Tis kneeling at thy right hand, 'Twill be our heaven to find him—he is there.

T. J. WILLIAMSON.

—W. T. Scott will preach at Forbes next Sunday morning and at Highland school house in the evening.

TO BRIDGE BUILDERS.

I will, until 12 o'clock noon, Saturday July 16, 1881, receive sealed proposals at my office in Mound City, for building a forty-five foot span combination bridge, three miles south east of Oregon; also a forty-five foot bridge three miles south west of Forest City.

We reserve the right to reject any bids and to alter the plans and specifications as we see fit.

W. M. MORRIS, Road and Bridge Commissioner.

Sarsaparilla

Is a compound of the virtues of sarsaparilla, stillingia, mannikia, yellow dock, with the iodide of potash and iron, all powerful blood-making, blood-cleansing, and life-sustaining elements. It is the purest, safest, and most effectual alterative medicine known or available to the public. The sciences of medicine and chemistry have never produced so valuable a remedy for use so potent to cure all diseases resulting from impure blood. It cures Scrofula and all scrofulous diseases, Erysipelas, Rose,
